I'm Cheryl. Fly me.

I've got a lot going for you.

Like convenient daily nonstops between places like California and Miami, and New York and Miami.

I've got great planes like the 747 and, starting this winter, the spanking new DC-10 (the only DC-10 between New York and Florida). Which means you get the most modern equipment in the sky today.

But most important, I'm not just another pretty face. I'm a whole fresh attitude towards air travel. A bright look on the outside, a personal way of thinking on the inside.

Fly me.

Fly Cheryl.  Fly National.

As in all tourist areas of the world some public porters, taxicab drivers, hotel information guides may attempt to mislead you by stating that the hotel or apartment house of your choice is filled — or make some other misrepresentation.

This lovely lady is enjoying the beach and the sun. However it is very dangerous to stay in the sun for long periods of time when you first arrive on Miami Beach. Many a visitor has had her vacation ruined by a painful sunburn. Stay in the sun for only a few minutes at a time when you first arrive and use a sun tan lotion.

The History of Miami Beach

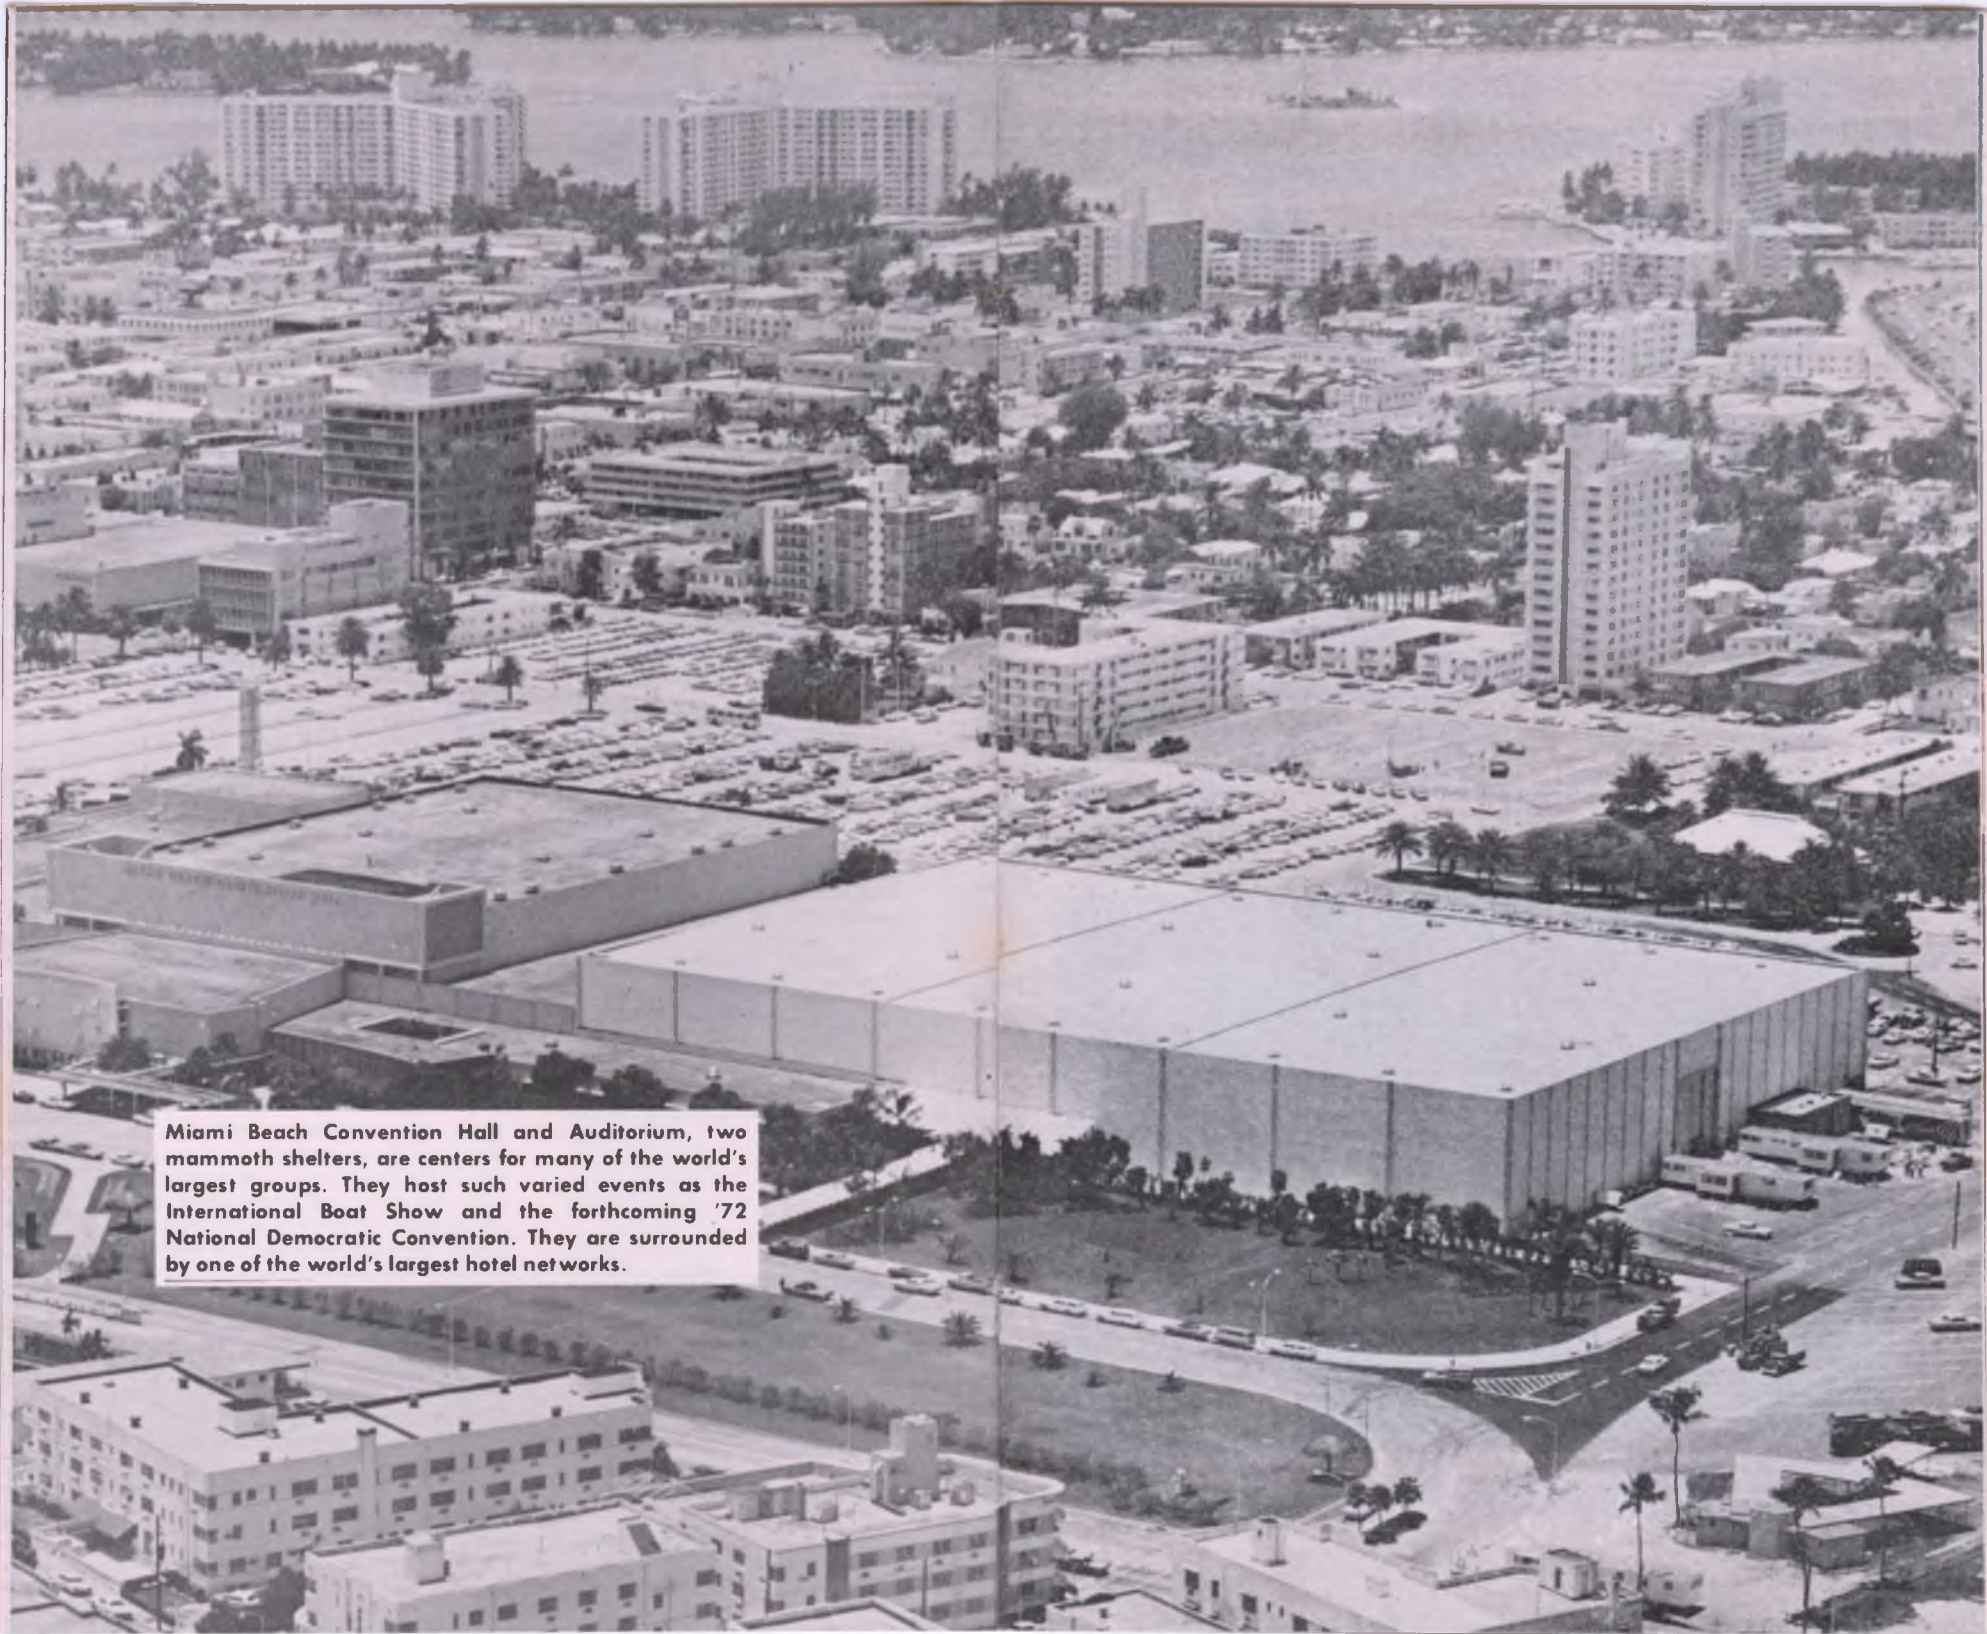

Population figures probably describe the success story of Miami Beach better than anything else. The first census, 1920, counted 644 residents. In 1930, there were 6,494; 1940, 28,012; 1950, 46,282; 1960, 61,435; today's estimate, 87,072.

But figures are abstract. They are as the girders of a building, supporting the structure, but containing nothing to the original dream, the human effort in construction, the final beauty and utility when completed. So census counts leave the humanities out of the Miami Beach story, and these run the gamut of emotions.

Let's go back to 1868 — exactly 102 years — and see Miami Beach through the eyes of Henry Lum, a New Jersey native, a California 49'er, a man obviously with an itching foot and a dream of wealth, who first saw Miami Beach from the deck of a schooner and observed a few coconut palms growing along the sands. At once Lum envisioned himself as a rich copra planter.

But for a variety of reasons this didn't work out for Lum, or for those who followed him, until much later when John S. Collins, a nurseryman, also from New Jersey, entered the picture with new money and a different idea — to grow fresh vegetables for the northern winter market, along with avocados. He would ship via the new railroad that had just reached Miami across Bsicayne Bay. But Collins, too, ran into financial difficulties.

Carl Graham Fisher, Prest-O-Lite millionaire from Indiana, came to the rescue produced money and in return obtained lots to convert to a winter resort for wealthy northern residents. The village of Miami Beach was incorporated and in five years was a city beneath the coconut palms.

Miami Beach Convention Hall and Auditorium, two mammoth shelters, are centers for many of the world's largest groups. They host such varied events as the International Boat Show and the forthcoming '72 National Democratic Convention. They are surrounded by one of the world's largest hotel networks.

What To Wear

"Follow the three C's. Be Cool, Casual. Comfortable. You'll be in good company.

"Spectator sportswear clothing is the almost universal attire in Metropolitan Miami. Swim suits, casual beach wear, slacks, shorts — also sun glasses
— should be on your list. Bring normal summer sportswear for golf, tennis, riding, boating. Spectator sports dresses are suitable for races. Jackets are in order for the men.

"After sundown — for dining and dancing — women wear casual street clothes, cocktail dresses and evening gowns — in about even proportions. Men wear regular suits, dark dinner jackets
or summer dinner jackets of light hues."

After arrival in Miami Beach, phone the Chamber (538-6731) tell the Information Department your name, local address, telephone number and your home city and state. Then, if your friends want to locate you all they have to do is call and find you.

SPARKLING CLEANLINESS

This maintains what always is one of the first impressions a stranger receives in Miami Beach — the sparkling cleanliness of the city. Smoke, smog and dust are pleasingly absent, as also are most of the pollens that cause hay fever.
Many people come here in summer to escape the latter.

FISHING

In the waters around Miami and Miami Beach, more than 600 varieties of salt and fresh water fish may be found in abundance. You can leave your hotel, motel or apartment and walk or ride a short distance to angling that will bring unforgettable thrills! You can fish from boats, sea walls, piers, beaches, bridges, jetties, causeways; in bays, canals, ocean and rivers . . . for tarpon, snook, bonefish, sea trout, snapper or redfish. Large mouth black bass and bream and panfish abound in fresh lakes and streams found in our city.

Bridge fishing . . . You can fish comfortably and safely from the MacArthur, Rickenbacker, North Bay (79th St.) and Sunny Isles causeways. A total of 2,800 feet of catwalks, spaced every 20 yards and equipped with 8 foot hardwood benches, are provided along Rickenbacker Causeway.

Deep Sea Fishing . . . Charter boats are available for hire, complete with captain and mate, equipment and bait. Cost-sharing for trips can be arranged thru your hotel or motel. Also you can go bottom fishing or drift fishing from larger boats at a normal charge per person, day or night. Bait and rods are supplied. Arrangements can be made at most county marinas too. All along the miles of waterfront, from Florida City to the northernmost point in Greater Miami, there are hundreds of places to find the fishing craft, bait, rigging, etc., to answer your needs. You will also find that experts at the majority of these places will be only too happy to show you how to rig for the different types of fish.

Fresh water fishing . . . There are many places in this area where good bass fishing may be found . . . also panfish, catfish, rough fish, bream, stumpknockers and warmouth perch. Fishing spots range from the manmade canals to small lakes deep in the Everglades. If you prefer to fish by boat, you can rent skiffs or rowboats in camps along many of these canals . . . along the Tamiami Trail, and along U.S. 1 near Homestead. A license is required for fresh water fishing- issued from the Office of County Judge, Dade County Courthouse, downtown Miami . . . or you can obtain one for an extra nominal fee from many tackle stores.

Pier fishing . . . from the piers, kingfish, bonita, mackerel, and bluefish can be caught, principally in fall and winter months . . . and night angling in the summer will bring in snapper, snook and tarpon.

GETTING AROUND

Miami Beach is an island 7.2 square miles; it lies just 3 miles across Biscayne Bay from the mainland of the City of Miami. It is connected by six causeways from north to south at 163rd Street, 125th Street, 79th Street, 36th Street, 15th Street and 13th Street. Getting around in Miami by automobile is not difficult but mileage consuming. The street numbering system begins at Miami Avenue and Flagler Street and is divided into quadrants from that point; for example, northeast, northwest, southeast, southwest. Streets run east and west as do the terraces. The avenues and places run north and south, but there are exceptions to these rules in the outlying areas, so use a map for such places as Hialeah. The system holds up to 215th Street on the north, 360th Street on the south and 217th Avenue on the west. Flagler Street divides the north and south and Miami Avenue east and west.
