Graduate asserts force on the court and in the classroom

RICO ALBARRACIN
Asst. Sports Director

After falling short in the Sun Belt Conference tournament a season ago to North Texas in the championship match, the FIU women's tennis team came back strong this year to capture its second conference title in three years. It is the fifth SBC title the team has won as a program.

Many players stepped up to provide a consistent winning season for the Golden Panthers, including Seniors Maria Spenceley and Liset Brito. They formed a good tandem as they went 15-8 as doubles partners, including winning nine of their last ten matches.

With the conference title in hand, FIU is practicing and waiting to play in the NCAA tournament. In the midst of preparation for the tournament, Spenceley is gearing up for another event—graduation.

For Spenceley, the title is not only vindication for the entire team, but also a parting gift as she graduates from the University.

"It was amazing since we struggled last year. I'm grateful that we did it this year, since I'm a senior, and it's my last year and I won't get this opportunity any more. I'm really happy for me and my girls for winning the title this year," said Spenceley.

Coming off the heels of this victory with her team, Spenceley feels that FIU has an opportunity, more now than ever, to become a stronger presence on and off the tennis court.

"I feel that the program can be way more appreciated if FIU goes out more. I feel like it's always a budget problem. We're not as big as the University of Miami in many ways. I don't why but my hope is that one day FIU is as big as UM, if not bigger," said Spenceley.

Majoring in hospitality, Spenceley is planning to work in the hotel business and pursue a real estate license simultaneously. Off the tennis court, Spenceley appreciates the guidance she has gotten from the University to pursue her career.

"Since I changed my major to hospitality, I felt the professors' were very helpful and also impacted me in a very personal way as well. FIU has helped me in a lot of ways," said Spenceley.

As her final days at the University and in the tennis team approach, Spenceley realizes what words of wisdom could be passed down to incoming students to ease the transition and journey.

Spenceley added: "I would say know what you want. Know what your goals are. When I came in, I really didn't know what I wanted and it really affected me and it slowed down the process. I would definitely say know your goals and follow through with it."

Despite the plans she has set ahead of her, Spenceley knows that she will miss her team, even "all the drama and practices that go on."

"I'm going to miss the physical workouts that I have. I'm not gonna work out as hard anymore obviously since no one is going to make me. But I'll definitely miss the girls the most. We're all friends, we're all family and we all love each other," said Spenceley.

Student Government President reflects on past year

Fellow Panthers,

Almost one year ago today, I was elected to serve as the 38th president of the Student Government Council at the Modesto Maidique Campus, a voting member of the Board of Trustees of the University and Vice President of the Florida Student Association. As my term comes to an end, I reflect on the accomplishments of SGC-MMC in advancing the general welfare of the student body.

My administration and the 38th Legislature of SGC-MMC had to work collaboratively to overcome many obstacles and to have many successes for the students.

In the summer of 2010, the SGC-MMC Senate created and established the Graduate Student Funding Committee, a standing committee within the Senate whose primary objective is to allocate funding to over 9,000 graduate and professional students at MMC.

Over the course of the fiscal year, the GSFC allocated in excess of $100,000 to the graduate community in support of the scholarly forums and other university-wide graduate and professional events, in addition to funding for conference attendance, support for research and professional development.

Next year the GSFC will change its name to the Graduate and Professional Student Committee to reflect the true function and purpose of the Committee and will have a fiscal budget of $175,000 to disseminate in support of the graduate and professional community.

To preserve school spirit in athletics, SGA created the Panther Rage Committee, a standing committee within the Executive Cabinet for the purpose of continuing the traditions of the former governing council. Through collaborations with the Department of Athletics, participation in tailgates, programming and events, SGA's Panther Rage Committee has been an instrumental aspect of increasing student spirit in FIU athletics.

In Dec. of 2010, SGA sponsored over 70 students to attend the award winning football game between FIU and the University of Toledo.

SGC-MMC has made significant strides in the area of influencing state policy. Most prominently, in the summer of 2010, Nicholas Antiello and I were members of a team of University administrators and officials who collaborated for the purpose of ensuring that then Governor Charlie Christ did not veto a state budget line-item of over $17 million in funding for a student support academic complex, a future project of the University that will improve the student experience at the University.

Since SGC-MMC's Legislative Session convened, officials tackled issues on behalf of the Student Body include firearms legislation and preserving funding for higher education in Florida.

SGC-MMC has raised funds on behalf of two important and compelling causes: student scholarships and disaster relief. In the aftermath of the Haiti Earthquake of January 2010, the University facilitated a year-round fundraising drive, calling on each FIU student to donate $1 of a relief fund that went directly to providing essential resources to victims of the Haiti Earthquake.

SGA, in conjunction with the FIU Office of University Advancement facilitated the second annual First Generation Scholarship Benefit. Started by former SGC-MMC Vice President Mykaelle Figueiredo, the Scholarship Benefit assists first generation students in Florida pay for college tuition and fees. After 50 percent state matching, the Benefit raised in excess of $120,000—a 500 percent increase from the amount raised after the first Benefit.

After the FIU Football team captured the 2010 Little Caesar's Bowl, SGA's Panther Rage Committee, in conjunction with the Department of External Relations and Little Caesar's, facilitated the Hot-n-Ready Panther Party—which over 2,000 students attended—as a celebration and show of gratitude to the 2010 FIU Football champions.

Led by SGC-MMC's Sustainability Coordinator, SGC-MMC has been able to effectively engage the general student body on issues regarding sustainability by assisting with the programming and helping student organizations, such as the Kill-a-Watt Program that earned residential student scholarships and the Black Out, Green On Party which encouraged residential students to 'turn off the lights' and engage in a series activities in the housing quadrangle.

Even further, SGC-MMC has been instrumental in securing and improving student spaces on campus, amongst them a new lounge in the Engineering Center, and improving the Law Student Lounge at the College of Law.

My undergraduate experience at FIU has been exponentially increased by my involvement in SGA. From my early beginnings as lower division senator and member of the Senate's Finance Committee, to becoming senate speaker pro tempore, then being elected to serve as both at large senator and senate speaker, my three years of service in SGA University Wide Budget Committee and SGC-MMC Budget Committee in allocating student activity and service fees, and most recently serving as your Student Body President and University Trustee.

I am truly humbled, honored and blessed to have served in all of my capacities. As a student, I would have not traded my experience here at FIU for any others because as the finest institution in the universe, FIU is an amazing institution that caters to the needs of and invests heavily in the future of each of its students.

FIU has been and will forever and always be more than just an educational institution. I am so grateful to be given the opportunity of serving you and to have worked with so many on your behalf. Thank you and may God bless you all in your endeavors!

In Panther spirit,
Helena Ramirez

College newspaper shaped editor in chief's career and life

If you work your way up the ranks of a college newspaper, you won't just be a better journalist; you'll be a better person.

COLUMNIST

JORGE VALENS

Take me for example. Two years ago, I walked into The Beacon as a young marketing major wallowing away in business school with nothing but a mildly successful opinion blog to my name.

My patient mother had been witnessing my demise as a career minded individual up until that point. Working at a law firm paid the bills, pretty nicely actually, but both her and I thought it definitely wasn't a career move that screamed "there's a future in this."

Hoping to utilize my decent writing skills, I walked in to The Beacon with the hope that a massive pay cut and a fresh start might point out my direction.

My first article assignment was on a faculty member who was conducting research on the Large Hadron Collider, the machine that was supposed to accidentally create a black hole on Earth and kill us all.

Turns out that wasn't the case.

Something about this story got me hooked to the job and has kept me coming back to the same office for two years, eventually working my way up to editor in chief—something that I never thought I'd be.

Since I've been at the paper, I have learned more than I could anywhere else. The knowledge and character I've gained from the advisors and colleagues along the way have proved that a college newspaper will eat you up and spit out a good journalist and a damn decent human being.

By learning how to report a story I learned how to approach people, how to develop sources and how to get what I need from them to make a good story.

As an assistant editor I learned how to work well with others, how to put together a section and I chased some of the best stories of my young career, each contributing something to me as a person.

As editor in chief I was humbled to find a group of people who were excited to work with me and who shared my vision for what the newspaper should be. We did a lot of great things and published a lot of great stories.

But to be fair, I learned a lot from them and in return gained some life long friends.

So what's the point? How does a college newspaper make a better person? Well the reasons and the lessons are too many to list, but I'll pick one.

The Beacon taught me a lot, but the way it taught me was by giving me the responsibility and letting me learn on my own.

No matter what position you get, a job at a college newspaper will make you a better, more capable person.

When I dropped off my job application I was a guy who had no idea what I wanted to do.

In the process I gained countless friendships, two mentors, great sources, knowledge, experience and the confidence to apply it without fear.

The best part of it all was that they paid me to do it.
