Frisbee demonstration

Friday night at the Rat

Wild, wild Fall Festival

The Crepe Cafe, Fall Festival's opening celebration got rained on, but that didn't stop the 500 students and faculty who got a taste of the delicious crepes and wines

Friday night was a hot night in the Rathskellar, as an FIU female employee danced topless for a crowd of unexpected lookers. The dance was not a scheduled event.

The night, designated as "Wunderbar nite in the Rat," proved to be the wildest event of Fall Festival.

About 1,00 people attended and consumed 14 kegs (3,290 glasses) of beer were sold at 25 cents a glass.

Jeff Kabot, assistant manager of the Rat said, "The crowd was so thick, it took about ten minutes to walk from the front of the door to the back."

Self-study reveals positive points about FIU

ROSE BROWN
Contributor

A year-long self-study of FIU, "The University's Odyssey To the Year 2000," will be released to the FIU community this week, according to Steve Fain, the study's director.

The study was prepared by FIU and presented to the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools for Reaffirmation of Accreditation.

Florida universities periodically must conduct such studies for accreditation.

The 263-page report covers all areas of FIU including the University's current status and plans and recommendations for the future.

President Gregory Wolfe states in the opening letter; "Our non-traditional self-study was designed to help us sharpen our capacity to meet our commitments and our responsibilities for public higher education with an international dimension.

I believe it has helped significantly to make us aware of the need for continuing self-examination."

The section on the current status of FIU states:

The University is located in a dynamic, ethnically diverse urban center and should satisfy the demands of individuals seeking to upgrade their technical/professional skills in an urban community.

Approximately 11,000 students are served by the University. Their average age is 29 plus.

93 per cent of the students served are Florida residents.

27 per cent are unclassified or non-degree seeking students.

43 per cent of all courses begin after 5 p.m. during the week.

The University is beginning to meet its international image since nearly 5 per cent of the students currently enrolled are on student visas. They represent 61 counties.

About FIU's faculty, the study reveals that faculty members are dissatisfied with their lack of influence over the running of the University.

The study recommends that FIU have fewer administrators.

Presently, there are more than 12 faculty members with titles of vice-president or associate vice-president.

The study's section on plans and changes states:

Off-campus programs offered by the University will continue to play a role in the total program development of the University.

The student population will continue to grow until 1985.

The section on recommendations suggests:

Establishment of a lower division; building of dorms on both campuses and development of a range of masters programs.

Add an international experience to its course requirements.

Conduct more research directly related to South Florida.

Contribute more to the culture of Miami by staging extra curricular events.

The study concludes on a high note about FIU's future:

"By the year 2000, FIU will be a university recognizable to all as an institution of higher quality and integrity with a lower division and a complete range of graduate programs and doctoral studies."

Kennedy delegates fight for votes

GEORGE VIA
Staff Writer

Florida for Kennedy, the committee to draft Sen. Edward Kennedy for president, announced its slate of delegates to the State Convention at the DuPont Plaza Hotel, Oct. 2.

A crowd of over 500 Kennedy supporters attended the rally to hear their chances of drafting Kennedy delegates to the convention.

Mike Abrams, chairman of the committee and Dade Democratic chairman, read the list of delegates and gave a speech outlining the difficult voting procedure for the Oct. 13 Democratic Caucus.

The caucus is responsible for selecting the delegates to the convention.

Over 800 candidates are seeking 87 delegate seats. Each candidate is listed individually on the ballot with no preference as to which slate the delegate represents.

Half of Florida's 1,717 delegates are already seated for President Carter, so the real battle is for the half not seated.

Apparently, it was not in the Carter interest to make voting (for a slate) easy," Abraham, a one-time strong supporter of Carter, said.

Further complications in the rules allow only one polling place per county, even in populous Dade.

Once elected, delegates go to the State Convention in St. Petersburg in November. There, they cast a personal preference vote for president.

While the vote is non-binding, it will indicate how much organization and determination the Kennedy forces have in Florida.

The caucus will take place at the Joseph Caleb Community Center, 5400 NW 22 Ave., Saturday, Oct. 13.

For more information, contact Florida for Kennedy at 3550 Biscayne Blvd., or call 573-2427.

Bitá brings classis to campus

FIU's Theater will present a performance of classical Greek theater and poetry, in Greek and English, by Lili Bitá on Oct. 12, at 2:30 p.m. in DM 150.

Greek-born Lili Bitá, is a native of the island of Zante, and the only classically-trained actress now resident in America. Bitá, a graduate of both the Greek Conservatory of Music and the Athens School of Drama, was trained under the celebrated head of the Theatre of Technis, Karolos Kuhn.

After a notable career in Greece performing Electra, Medea and Helen of Troy for leading Greek directors, Bitá performed in Munich and Rome before settling in the United States.

In this country she has appeared widely on stage, radio and television, and conducted workshops and master classes in the art of technique of the classical drama at leading universities from coast to coast. Most recently she has toured with her widely-acclaimed one-woman show, "The Greek Woman Through the Ages."

Author as well as actress, Bitá has written plays, short fiction, a novel, and several volumes of poetry. Her poems have been widely anthologized, and her plays have won performed awards at the Malverne Festival and the Zachary Scott Theatre.

The performance is open to the public at no charge.

Commencement ceremonies face changes

LUISA YANEZ
Editor

Forget the presidential handshake, the march across the stage and your name resounding on center stage, from now on graduation ceremonies are a meat and potatoes affair.

Beginning with the Dec. 15 graduation ceremony, the location the affair will alternate between Tamiami Campus and the Miami Beach Convention Center. The December ceremony is at Tamiami Campus.

But the major change is the omission of the traditional graduate march across the stage for the presentation of diplomas and the reading of each graduate's name.

"The reason for the change is time," Judy Merritt vice president of Student Affairs said at the commencement committee meeting, Oct. 9.

Merritt said, "The President wants to make the ceremony as short as possible."

The proposed schedule for the ceremony goes something like this.

Students and faculty will congregate in AT 100, and walk single file to the PC building where the ceremony is scheduled to begin. Students in two files, the faculty in one.

The commencement speech will be given by the president of Venezuela, President Calderon. A student graduate will speak and so will President Wolfe.

Between 600-700 students are expected to attend the graduation ceremony. About 650 guests are expected to attend.

Walking for UN promotes coevolution

To The Editor:

I would like to draw the attention of the FIU community a significant tribute to the United Nations that is being organized by the Coral Gables United Nations Association and the Miami Sri Chinmoy Center.

The event is 340-mile walkathon, consisting of 34 teams of walkers, each walking 10-miles, 10 miles for each year of the U.N's existence.

Although U.N. day officially falls on October 24, the walkathon is being held on Sunday, Oct. 21, to allow participation by as many walkers as possible. The event will also draw attention to the International Year of the Child.

Walkers will assemble at the Torch of Freedom on Biscayne Blvd. at 7 p.m., and participate in a brief ceremony with civic and UN leaders and then begin the procession. The route for the walk leads along SE/SW 8 St., Douglas Road and Coral Way, finishing at Kennedy Park in Coconut Grove via 17 Ave.

At the conclusion of the walk, there will be a tribute from either the mayor or his representative and the singing of songs specially written for the United Nations and the IYC.

We project a finishing time of about noon. Thus, the slow pace of the walk (2½ miles per hour) does not require any prior physical training.

However, we will ask walkers to sign a waiver if they wish to participate.

This significant commemorative tribute provides an excellent opportunity for the manifestation of FIU's international and global aspirations. A functional viable United Nations needs public support and understanding of the essential values which it embodies.

These values are founded upon global sharing and caring, communication, cooperation and coevolution. Those wishing to take part in representing those values are cordially invited to join the walkathon.

There is no charge for participating. If you are interested, please contact me by Oct. 15, at 552-2605, or come by OE-206.

Adios, Thoreau

"Listen sweetie," my friend was telling me, "you've got to get out of this concrete jungle, go out to the country, breathe some real air, feel dirt beneath your feet instead of this crummy asphalt ya'll have here."

I smile, "Asphalt is the same everywhere, Pam; New York, Houston, Miami, even on Walton's Mountain for Chrissake."

"Oh sweetie, you know what I mean, it's the city, you've got to get out of the city!"

"Out," I say, "out of the city...out of here and into where?"

"Anywhere," my friend answers, "as long as you leave urban America behind. I mean, how can you even sleep at night knowing that people are being murdered and stores are being robbed and drugs are being peddled all around you?"

"You're making me neurotic, you know that? Besides, when you live in the city you get used to those things, you read about them all the time in the paper, it doesn't mean they affect me directly, in fact, they don't affect most people at all."

My friend is unimpressed. "You're missing my point entirely," she says. "The mere fact that you think you're not affected proves you are. Urban life has dulled your sensitivity, you're unaware, not in tune."

"You've got to get back with nature, with the trees and clouds and flowers...the real things in life."

I sigh and am tempted to tell her she's been watching too many Coke commercials, but I refrain from that and ask her instead if leaving the city to escape its unpleasantness amounts to running away from reality.

"Sweetie," she answers, "this isn't reality, this is all illusion, the city has nothing good to offer. I've found there's a lot more, but you just can't find it here."

Well, I know when I'm being baited, but honestly curious as to what she had found and where she found it, I pressed the issue. "Okay, so there's more, and you've found it. What's it made of, where is it at?"

"It's in nature," she retorted. "It's in walking up with the sun, hauling up your own drinking water from a well, bathing in an ice-cold stream, growing your own food, mending your clothes...that's reality."

I frowned, then smiled, then frowned again. You're kidding, you are kidding me, right? I mean, you can't be serious, about the ice-cold stream and all?"

"Oh, I'm totally serious. See, it's all in the...what's the matter sweetie, you look a little pale...hey, where are you going?"

"Back to urban America. If hauling water and bathing in ice-cold streams are your ideas of reality, I'd rather live in illusion."

Goodbye, Thoreau.

Student regent loses her bid for appointment

LINDA KAVANAGH
Contributor

Julie Jett, a University of Florida law student, and member of the Board of Regents (BOR) for the past seven months, stepped down from the prestigious position September after serving only half her term.

The BOR, which consists of 10 members, manages the State University System. This past year, a student representative was granted a position with voting status on the Board.

Jett, the student appointed by the Regents and by Gov. Bob Graham in February, had been surrounded by controversy since her appointment.

Rumors surfaced regarding her place of residency and later, concerning her father's business.

The allegations were aired through the media for several weeks, holding up the final approval for her membership.

Jett said she could not attend classes during winter quarter because reporters would wait outside her classrooms. She was harassed constantly by phone.

Yet, she held on to the almost-position.

She continued working with students from all the State universities and made their concerns known to the BOR.

"I feel when a person is right they should not give in. A person has to stand up for what he believes," Jett said about the students concerns.

The question of her appointment was sent back to the BOR selection committee, where they listened to the allegations, none proved to be valid.

Again, they voted (unanimously) to support Jett for the appointment.

Graham took the nomination to his cabinet where they, too, voted to nominate Jett. All that was left now was the legislature's approval.

However, the legislature never took up the nomination during their session, and the BOR's nomination of Jett was nullified.

Jett's term was Sept. 21, when the BOR met, ironically, at her school. The Board passed a resolution commending Jett's work as a Regent member and presented her with a plaque.

Betty Ann Staton, a member of the BOR, said, "Julie worked very hard. It's a shame she had to go through all that."

Anita Tejon, FIU Student Government President said, "During Julie's on-again-off-again status, she was still instrumental in helping with the problems we had at FIU.

"She visited North Miami Campus Aug. 15, and addressed the Senate. While at NMC we presented her with a gold shovel, symbolic of her controversial term on the BOR.

"It's too bad that hard working and sincere people become victims of the bureaucracy and get hurt," Tejon said.

Jorge to assist President Wolfe in Hispanic Affairs

Dr. Antonio Jorge, distinguished educator in Latin American Affairs and International Economist, has been appointed by president Wolfe, as his assistant for Hispanic Affairs.

This opponent reflects the university's increased emphasis on the priorities and concerns of the Hispanic community, both on local and international level.

President Wolfe stated, "FIU is committed to becoming more involved in the community. Dr. Jorge's deep knowledge of the local hispanic population will bring FIU closer to the problems and potential of this population."

In his new role, Jorge will work directly with the president and his staff to increase the effectiveness of the university's activities in serving both internal and external Hispanic communities.

Dr. Wolfe stated, "Plans are being developed for frequent meetings with Hispanic business and community leaders to discuss ways in which the university can be of service. Our intent is to establish special lines of communication which will increase our awareness of Hispanic concerns and bring them to the attention of the institution."

SGA fall election lineup:

COMPTROLLER

JIM McDONALD

Don't lose two years experience in your Senate. Vote Jim McDonald for Comptroller. Protecting your dollars thru A & S expenditures is my prime concern. I have the experience and knowledge necessary to properly screen and hold beneficiaries of your money accountable. In the past, as a member of the A & S, I have demonstrated the ability to research a legitimate request and bargain to a realistic amount. I assure you that I can do my job in regards to properly representing you as I have previously done as a Senator for a full two years at FIU. Now is the time for you as Students to stand up and serve notice to the President, Career Service Employees and Faculty that you do care how your dollars are spent. Do this by turning out to vote. Vote Jim McDonald as Comptroller.

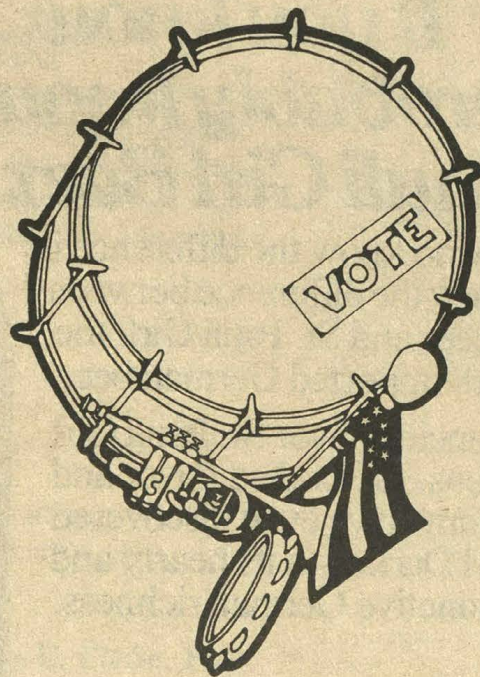

BOB RODRIGUEZ

I have been in Student Government for one-half a year. In a short time, much has been accomplished. The Senate has started a study for housing, University House is now run by students, students have a greater voice in what occurs. I have been a part of the above, and want to be a part of our future progress. Nothing worthwhile is easy, and everything is possible. Your help will go a long way. Voting means you care. Care a lot!

INTERNATIONAL COURT

MICHAEL HURST

As a candidate for the International Court, I can assure you that all activities and concerns of your Student Government will be directed toward implementing the goals of the University. I feel as though my familiarity with the process of judicial review, backed by my two years experience in law enforcement, will qualify me for this position. Apathy won't get the job done. Your support of my candidacy will!

ZOGORE JOHNSON

Fellow Students, my name is Johnson Lee Zogore II in the School of Hospitality and Arts and Sciences. I am running for a position in the International Court. As you might be aware, one of the functions of the International Court is to settle disputes among Students Organizations. I am therefore very willing to participate greatly in this to see that real justice is administered to fellow students. I shall devote most of the time serving in the International Court for the interest of the entire fellow students. I shall appreciate your contribution toward my success to serve in the International Court. Thank you all for taking your time to read this piece.

ARTS & SCIENCES

ALAYN CINTRON

Hi, fellow students. My name is Alayn Cintron and I'm running for a Senate seat in the field of Arts and Sciences. At last I feel you have the opportunity to vote for a candidate who is willing to hear what you have to say and act on your behalf. I am a student of action rather than words and so I'll tell you that when you the students want something done, you can bet that you will get results quickly. I feel many students get lots of hassles from the Registrar's office as well as other Bureaucratic Departments here at FIU. One of my main concerns will be to eliminate this. So if you want someone who will stand up for the students' rights and take quick action on any issue which is of interest to the student, then vote for Alayn. You can count on him to get things done and get them done well!

DONNA FONG

My name is Donna Fong running for Associate, College of Arts and Sciences. I have been here a year and have been an active member of the International Student Association. I would like to see Arts and Sciences represented more, wouldn't you?

SUSAN PURCELL

Are you tired of having your fees increased, of having YOUR tuition money spent on activities that benefit only a few students? Do you want a voice in your Student Government, a chance to participate in activities that you will enjoy? If so, put your vote in the right place. Vote SUSAN PURCELL for Associate. I will back the STUDENTS!

TECHNOLOGY

DAWN SILVERMAN

Because I'm a Communications Major, I feel being in Public Relations, I can be more accessible to the students and represent them better because I am trained as such. I have proven this in the past by representing the School of Technology on several occasions.

RISA DRANOW

I have been a Senator for the past year. I feel I have gained the insights into a faster process for bill appropriations. I have been active in many committees within SGA and I am presently working on a few projects that are pending for the benefit of our school. I strongly pledge my commitment in helping students achieve their goal at FIU. But I need your support. Please vote — Risa Dranow.

ALFRED INDE

Being in the School of Technology for over a year and a quarter, I feel that the School of Technology has not been properly represented. As an experienced student representative in different college levels I found out that the students of the School of Technology need 1) outspoken representative, 2) a person of self confidence, 3) a man of action not of many words, 4) a man of kick and go. Fellow students, remember most of our grievances have always been overlooked because we have no outstanding representation. So I bet you 100 percent satisfaction.

PUBLIC AFFAIRS

HENRY VILA

Hi! My name is Henry Vila and I am running for re-election to the S.G.A. representing the School of Public Affairs. I feel I'll make a good Associate, because I am persistent, aggressive and sensitive to my constituents. Also, due to my major and because of my previous exposure with the SGA, I can guarantee the students of FIU I will be fair and represent all to my fullest capability.

BUSINESS

MARIA AGUILAR

I am running for Senator in the School of Business and my main concern is working with the students and recognizing their needs. If elected, I promise to support you in every possible way. Please take time out to vote. GET INVOLVED!

RICHARD CAP WEINSTEIN

If I'm elected, I will give my approval to pass all Business Students from FIU with High Honors. This may not work, but what ever does in the S.G.A. Although SGA's record in the past has not been the best, we cannot give up. Without the Association, we the students, would have no say about the affairs of the University. The $5 health fee has stimulated many students to find out the reason for this new fee. I am in agreement with the students' concerns. The problem of extra money coming out of our pockets stems a lot deeper than this particular issue. FOR INSTANCE, FULL TIME STUDENTS PAY OVER $100 PER YEAR FOR ACTIVITY AND SERVICES WHICH UNLIKE THE HEALTH FEE, THEY WILL PROBABLY NEVER TAKE ADVANTAGE OF. SO REMEMBER MARK THE LAST NAME ON THE BALLOT FOR BUSINESS.

Very Truly Yours,
Richard 'Cap' Weinstein

CECIL RODRIGUEZ

I'd like to be a Senator because I like politics, and feel I could fairly represent the students from my school. As far as experience goes, I've been a Senator and Secretary of State in Student Government at MDCC-South, and I've also served on several Student Activities committees there. I will work very hard for the business school, and for the University-at-large and would greatly appreciate your support.

RICHARD BLAKE

My name is Richard Blake. I am presently taking a dual major of Management Information Systems and Accounting; I'm also running for Business School Senator. I am running with the hopes of helping bridge the gap of apathy between students and FIU. Two years ago, I graduated with a B.S. in communications, and upon re-entering FIU I see much physical change but no mental change. There are a lot of good times ahead if the University and students work together. Together we can do it!

EDUCATION

CARMEN BROWN

As a graduate student in Education and an appointed Senator in the SGA for Spring quarter to the present, I have proven that I can be an effective Senator. My active participation in different committees and organizations reflects my strong commitment and dedication to my school and our great University. I need your support. Vote October 15 — 19. Thank you.

HOSPITALITY

DRUSCILLA ARMBRISTER

Druscilla Armbrister, Nassau, Bahamas, graduate in H.F.T. I would like to become a member of SGA and serve H.F.T. students for several reasons. I am competent. I have previous knowledge of SGA from serving on Social and Cultural and Public Relations Committees while attending SGA meetings for the past semester. I find the intimacy of SGA very imaginative.

PATSY BRID

Vote for Patsy Brid in the School of Hospitality and I will sincerely and openly voice your opinions. Become an active part of FIU and VOTE!!!

DAWN WONG

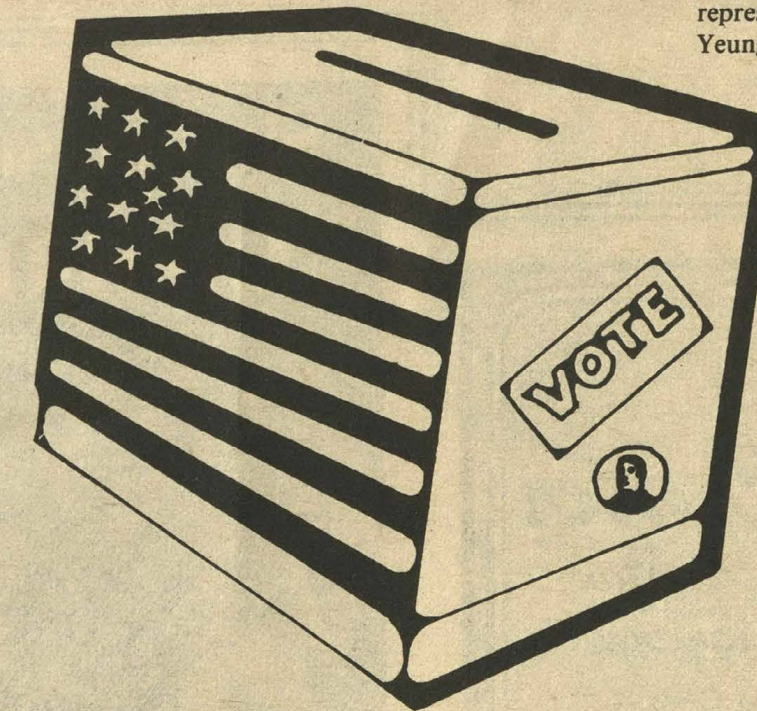

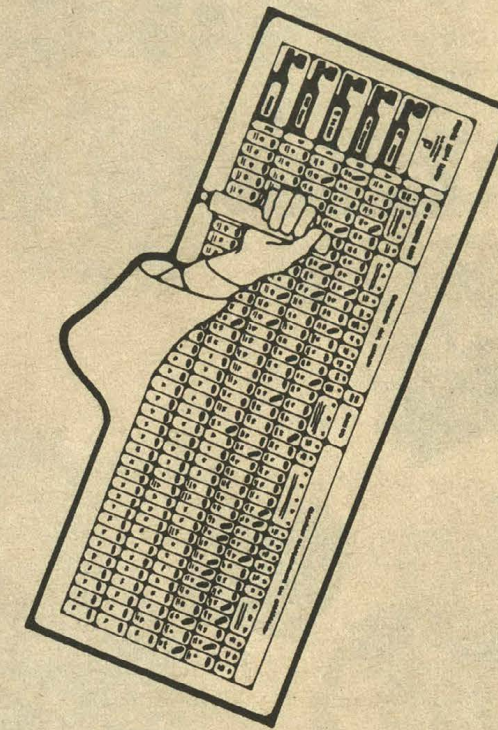

Hi! I'm Dawn Wong of the Hospitality School and I'm running for Associate position in the Student Government Association. I'm an active member of the International Students Association and HFTA. I want to help you, as a student of the Hospitality School, to communicate with the Student Government, to get your complaints listened to and your individual problems solved in any way possible. So help me to help you by giving me your support during election week.

ELVIS YEUNG

Being involved in the SGA for quite some time, I have learned the need for proper representation which the department has not yet gotten. If you're tired of ineffectual leadership, then cast your vote for a hard-working, responsible representative. Vote for me, Elvis Yeung. Get Involved!!!

MICHAEL ZURITA

I, of sound mind and able body, truly believe in 'Student Representation' in every sense and meaning. This means TRUE representation of ALL Students, especially Hospitality majors. This I will achieve by maintaining various lines of communication constantly active along with an open mind. Vote right, elect Mike!! P.S. I welcome your ideas, opinions, and constructive criticism, as I am YOUR representative.

NMC BUDGET COMM.

JOSEPH STEGMEIR

Vote for a working winner, Joe Stegmeir, North Miami Campus Budget Committee. I believe in active student participation in student government. During my first quarter at FIU North Campus, I have attended the meetings of both the North Campus Budget Committee and the Social & Cultural Committee. As a member of the Social & Cultural Committee, I serve on the Movie and Media Committee and work on the October Fest.

I wrote and circulated the petition to open the 135 gate to vehicular traffic which is now before the North Miami City Manager and our own President Wolfe for action. My major field of study is Business Management, in addition to which I have actively worked in the private and public sector. It is my goal to work actively on your behalf to maximize the use of Budget Committee Fund, through active student representation and sound management practices.

One man's view of the groove tube

GEORGE VIA

Staff Writer

Flash, flash!

The NBS network has decided to break with T.V. tradition and do what no other network would dare attempt: They are going to put actual funny shows on the air.

The exploit is being dubbed the NBS 6th Week Post-Season Replacements," and it is said to portray modern American life in a new light. Brother, have we ever heard that one before.

Anyway, with the help of some expert reporting, The International has this exclusive preview of some of the post-season, pre-conclusion biggies. Here they are:

"The Gynecologists"

A spinoff from "The Associates."

It's about a couple of doctors, Dr. Ben Dover and Dr. Hymen, who make their living taking urine specimens from the prostitutes of famous men.

In the first episode, Dr. Ben discovers he is a homosexual and decides to become a proctologist.

"Pork & Windy"

"Pork" is a giant pig who escapes from a Smithfield farm and goes to Chicago (the Windy City) where he is mistaken for Robin Williams.

The fun begins when "Pork" is abducted by a band of hoodlums and cut up for sausage.

"The Dumb Men"

The dumb men played by John Ritter, John Belushi and DEVO, spend a night slugging beer, frothing at the mouth, and slobbering over anything that even remotely resembles a woman's leg.

There are some hilarious scenes with a broomstick dangled in front of an open window. They also take various drugs and throw up.

"Disco Legs!!"

Un-famous, soon-to-be ex-hookers (apparently there is no other role for women in Hollywood) uncover their legs and cavort around the dance floor, Sodom and Gomorrah style.

The guys all slobber and drool and also do stunts of "The Dumb Men Show."

So there you have it. These shows are all guaranteed winners or else they'll be total flops.

But NBS isn't worried. If these bomb, there is always the "NBS 12th Week Post-Season Replacements."

Clayburgh, Reynolds and Bergen

'Starting Over' offers a lucid view of divorce

LUISA YANEZ

Editor

Breaking up is hard to do, and so is starting over.

Up to now, Hollywood has explored only the women's point of view in a divorce, but divorce can be as painful for men as for women, and that's what "Starting Over" is all about.

In his new movie, Burt Reynolds plays a bewildered divorcee trying to start over after his divorce from his wife, played by Candice Bergen.

She needed to find herself and lost him in the process.

The movie opens as Reynold's life in a plush New York apartment ends, and his new oneness in a bleak Boston flat begins.

Quickly, the post-divorce depression syndrome a la man begins.

Reynolds is depressed, insecure lonely and confused about the bum cards life has dealt him.

He just muddles through life until he meets Jill Clayburgh, an equally insecure nursery school teacher.

Love's more wonderful the second time around begins to play in the background. But old ties are hard to break.

Reynolds is legally divorced from his wife but he can't emotionally sever himself from her. The two dangle together, tugging at each other.

Consequently, Reynolds, Bergen and Clayburgh enter an emotional menage a trois

"Starting Over" offers Reynolds a new kind of role, that of a sensitive man.

The movie, directed by Alan J. Pakula ("All the President's Men"), has Reynolds without his beer drinking, truck driving buddies, and the swarming females.

In fact, Pakula has toned-down Reynolds so much that he looks more like a well-groomed accountant than a sex-symbol.

The screenplay by James L. Brooks, a Mary Tyler Moore Show alumni, is sharp-witted and touching.

Bergen and Clayburgh, two screen powerhouses, are good sparring partners for Reynolds. The three play well off each other and make "Starting Over" a winner.

Tale of egg throws, three legs and horse manure

MARCIA GOODHART
Sports Editor

"Watch out for the horse manure," the coordinator of the event, Larry Coffin told the 12 participants of FIU's Fall Festival Olympics, as they prepared to start the opening event. Six male-female teams were competing for the title, 'Olympic Champion for 1979.'

For the first event, the mile run, the athletes ran around the grassy area of OE on the Tamiami campus. The quarter mile grass track took them past the pony and carnival rides. This event was easily won by Bob Grosse, with a time of 5:18. Debbie Jackson was the first female to complete the race two minutes and 37 seconds later. When his wife crossed the finish line, the Grosses took an early lead.

With a combined total of 203.2 feet, the Grosses won the football throw for distance and accuracy. They dominated the competition by nine points after this event.

After a short rest, the competitors tied their inside legs together for the three legged race. The Grosses were beaten at the finish line by the coordinator of recreational sports, Gary Montour and his partner Rita Stafford, who won by a leg. "We started out on the wrong foot," lamented fourth place finishers Sandy Scherr and Juan Gomez. With only two events left, the Grosses maintained a six point lead. Only eight points separated the first three teams.

Motivated by their eight point deficit, Scherr and Gomez turned in a combined time of one minute, five seconds on the obstacle course, good enough for first place in that event. The fastest individual time for the men was turned in by Bob Grosse at 25.2 seconds.

Scherr led the women on the course by seven seconds with a time of 30.2.

"I felt my first run was rather slow and I wanted to better it," Scherr said after the results were tallied.

A box of eggs was brought out for the last event of the day, the egg toss. This was won by the nimble fingers of Scherr and Gomez, who took home second place overall losing to the Grosses by only three points.

"We never gave up, but we had too many points to make up," Gomez and Scherr agreed.

Bob and Chris Grosse were eliminated early in this event. "This was a tough trick. I had visions of scrambled egg all over my face," Bob Grosse said.

Goal passion

In Sunblazer soccer action, the men are now 5-0, with their last two victories against Jacksonville University (5-0) and Eckerd College (3-1).

High scorers for the season thus far are George Moysidis with five goals and three assists, and Jose Brizo with six goals.

Brizo set a school record for one goal in each of five consecutive games. The win over Jacksonville moved the soccer men up in ranking to fifth in the South.

Spikers spike Dade

Last Friday the Sunblazer spikers added another feather to their cap with their win over Miami-Dade North, 16-14, 15-10, 15-8. Earlier in the week they defeated Miami-Dade South 10-15, 15-10, 16-14, 15-3.

"They did not play up to par," said coach Linda Miskovic. The women got off to a slow start, but picked up their momentum about the middle of the second game.

Captain Lorraine Susil, senior Mary Dueker and Carrie Halpin propelled the Sunblazers to their victory with sharp thinking and accurate setting and spiking. The team is now 14-1 on the season. Their only loss was to Florida Southern in tournament action.

Sparring par

FIU won the Pat Bradley Invitational golf tournament, finishing 17 strokes ahead of second place University of South Florida. Lauri Blair of FIU was the individual champion with a two-under-par 147.

Handicaps exposed

One hundred thirty-two golfers turned out for the Steve Clark Celebrity Golf Tournament this past weekend. The winning team for the low gross scores was: Dave Fiesler, Dr. Jimmy James, Harvey Wettmore and Senator Ross Bass.

For the low net score, the winning team was: Ralph Piscetello, Charles Dahdak, William Sabella and Jaime Waite. The tournament was considered an overall success by the athletic department.

THE INTERNATIONAL will accept applications from any FIU students interested in journalism, photography, art or business. Call 552-2119 today.

If it's sick to love a pen, then the world's going crazy.

It happened to secretaries first. Then lawyers, bookkeepers, waitresses, cabbies, housewives, and businessmen succumbed to the beauty of our Pilot Razor Point and Fineline pens.

Some people felt it was sick to get so emotionally involved with our pens. But is it really so crazy to love a Pilot Razor Point pen that writes with a sharp smooth line and costs a mere 79¢? Is it nuts to flip over its unique little metal collar that smartly helps to keep its point from going squish?

If it is crazy, it's going to surprise a whole lot of people. In fact, we understand that Pilot Razor Point even has what it takes to score extra points with football players.

It also comes to our attention that many coaches are fans of the Pilot Fineline.

Along with all the other Razor Point features, the 69¢ Pilot Fineline has the strength and drive to go through carbons.

It's hard to resist a pen that holds the line like a Pilot.
