

Arrangement and Description

The Fisher Papers are organized into three series: (1) correspondence; (2) newspaper clippings, scrapbooks, and ephemera; and (3) photographs. Letters and printed materials (except clippings) are filed together chronologically in folders labeled according to individual correspondents or topics, and arranged alphabetically.

It is unclear whether the file folder headings for the correspondence were established by Carl Fisher or by Polly Redford. Redford is believed to have extensively rearranged the papers while writing her history of Miami Beach, Billion Dollar Sandbar (New York: Dutton, 1970).
