VIEW OF OUR SCHOOL

GYMNASIUM BUILDING

An Appreciation

OUR SCHOOL SYSTEM IS ONE OF WHICH EACH AND EVERY STUDENT SHOULD JUSTLY BE PROUD. WE HAVE MODERN EQUIPMENT, BUILDINGS AND A GYMNASIUM COMPARABLE TO THAT OF ANY CITY OF OUR SIZE, AND SOME LARGER ONES, IN FLORIDA.

WE CANNOT FULLY APPRECIATE THE OPPORTUNITY OFFERED US BY THIS SYSTEM. THERE IS MUCH WISDOM IN THE OLD PROVERB WHICH SAYS, "ONE CANNOT APPRECIATE ONE'S BELONGINGS UNTIL THEY ARE TAKEN AWAY." WHEN WE THINK OF THE SCHOOL SYSTEM OUR FATHERS AND MOTHERS WERE EDUCATED UNDER WE CAN GRASP THE IMPORT OF WHAT THE LOSS OF THESE ADVANTAGES WOULD MEAN TO US.

THEREFORE, WE URGE EACH AND EVERY BOY AND GIRL IN THE COUNTY TO STRIVE TO UPHOLD AND PROTECT THE EXCELLENT SYSTEM OF SCHOOLS WITH WHICH MONROE COUNTY IS NOW BLESSED AND OF WHICH WE ARE EXCEEDINGLY PROUD.

Class Poem

The curtain falls on our school years,
Our class with a muffled sigh,
Takes a path that leads from the doorway
Of dear old Key West High.

We lift our eyes to a hill crest
Where banners blithely wave
O'er a people that claim success theirs—
A place for only the brave.

Will anyone fall by the wayside
Before attaining the goal?
Will failure, proclaiming weakness,
Triumphantly take its toll?

No! We'll fight till our hearts bleed,
And, constantly playing the game,
Will attain that which we're seeking—
That hill crest is our aim!

Old High, our spirits sadden
At thoughts of leaving behind
The scenes of pleasant memories—
The best we'll ever find .

It's hard to repress our feelings
As we leave these dear old halls,
But with a faith triumphant
We go where Duty calls.

We bid farewell to our comrades
Hoping when again we meet,
A glance will show the profits
Of the class that scorned defeat.

—ANIBAL ARMAYOR.

History of the Class of '32

By RICHARD COSGROVE

The history of the class of 1932 is not one of phenomenal rises or fallings, but rather it is one of a long series of calm, unruffled happenings covering a period of three years. Upon our entrance into High School in 1929 we were fifty-nine (59) in number. This group was divided into two distinct sections, one under Mrs. Addah J. Ramsey and the other under Miss Jeanne Smith, and both supervised by Mr. Carter, our principal. The class was characterized by its excellent showing of co-operation and class spirit. Our officers, headed by Anibal Armayor, president, were very efficient in the discharge of their duties. Our basket ball team made an excellent showing, considering our lack of experience and the size of our opponents. The latter months of this term, our first in High School, rolled swiftly by and before we realized it our Junior year was near at hand.

This term found the class united under the supervision of Miss Doris Long, with Mr. Everett as our new principal. The untimely and sad death of Miss Long temporarily disorganized us but with the arrival of Miss Lorace Peeples, our new teacher, conditions bettered and again the routine of school life went on uninterrupted. Our class officers for this year were Anibal Armayor, president; Fred Knight, vice-president; and Clara Lankford, secretary-treasurer. The class won many of the awards offered by the Parent-Teacher Association for having the largest number of parents present at the regular monthly meetings.

April 1st, Conch Day, found us nervous and apprehensive as to the nature of the pranks to be played on us by the Seniors, as is the custom on this day. President Armayor received the historic shell and replied in a most witty and complimentary manner to President Dopp's speech of presentation. Our class was honored at this time by the selection of two of our class-mates, Lorraine Caviness and Fred Knight, for the honor of being Monroe County's "Best Citizens" on Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen's "Second Patriotic Pilgrimage to Washington."

On May 8th the class presented the Seniors with a banquet, as is the annual custom. The "Hawaiian" motif was successfully carried out in the decorations and the costumes of the waitresses. The Seniors and all the other guests present were unanimous in their praise and thanks for the enjoyable evening that had been arranged for their entertainment. The remaining months of the term passed uneventfully, and soon we were enjoying our hard-earned vacation.

September, 1931, found us back in school again and Seniors at last! Once more we were divided. This time Mr. Edwin Phillips headed one section and Miss Lorace Peeples the other, with Mr. Everett as our principal as before. This division lasted until February, 1932, when the class was combined under the supervision of Miss Peeples. Our class elected Anibal Armayor as president for the third time; Joseph Lopez, vice-president; Gerry Steadman, secretary, and Clara Lankford, treasurer. When an Athletic Association was organized we furnished the president and vice-president, Alvin Smith and Joe Lopez, respectively. We had three players on the boys' basket ball team and five on the girls' team. The majority of the cast of the Glee Club operetta, "The Gypsy Rover," was drawn from among the members of the Senior class. The annual play presented by the Senior class ably displayed our histrionic ability. Miss Peeples' efficient and painstaking direction and supervision were responsible for the extraordinary success attained by the production. The play, "Applesauce," was a comedy of American life and was presented in three acts. For the second time the cast of a Glee Club entertainment was composed mainly of Seniors. This time it was in the minstrel, "Land o' Cotton."

April 1st gave us the opportunity for wreaking vengeance on the Juniors. President Armayor cleverly presented the "Conch" to President Lightbourne, of the Juniors. He told of the remarkable scholastic record established by their superiors and said that he doubted their ability to uphold such a record. President Lightbourne made a reply that was typical of all Juniors—she attempted to "talk back" to a Senior! We feel sure that the Juniors will never forget the program that followed the presentation of the old shell.

Immediately after the program was completed the Seniors left for Pine Key for an all-day picnic. Pajamas were the style with the girls and old clothes were favored by the boys. Fourteen of our class-mates embarked for the State Music Festival at Tampa with the Glee Club. Three officers of the Glee Club are members of the Class of '32. They are Joe Lopez, president; Anibal Armayor, vice-president, and Rosemary Lopez, secretary-treasurer. The club, of course, stood high in the ranks of the competitors. A cup for second prize and one for third prize were brought back as evidence of the club's ability.

For a second time our class was honored by the selection of two of its members, Anna Perez and Howard England, as delegates on Mrs. Owen's "Third Patriotic Pilgrimage to Washington." Out of a total of six delegates in three years the class had the honor of furnishing the two for the second and two for the third. Joe Lopez and William Demeritt represented Monroe County in the state interscholastic golf tournament at Gainesville during the latter part of April. The boys came close to winning the championship, and though they were defeated we know that they fought hard all the way.

Our valedictorian and salutatorian are Howard England and Lorraine Caviness, respectively. The class published an annual very successfully under the direction of a well-chosen staff headed by Howard England.

The Senior Class of 1932 is the second largest class to graduate from Key West High School. The Class of 1929 was the largest.

We leave the old school sadly, knowing that we have formed many friendships that must be left behind as we go out to find our place in the scheme of life.

“Crystal Gazing”

CHARACTERS

Itelyo Destinya, a thinker prophet.

The King of the Isle of Understanding, Valedictorian of Class of '32.

Jester, President of the Class of '32.

Time: An evening in June.

Scene: Court of the King of the Isle of Understanding. His subjects are grouped to the right and left of the King and Queen. (Jester announces Itelyo Destinya).

Jester: Oh, King, the great Hindu prophet is without and desireth to see thee. He would reveal to thee and thy clansmen your and their destinies and destinations after departing from this isle.

King: Bid him enter, fool. (Prophet enters). Welcome, Itelyo Destinya, wisest of the prophets. Kind fortune brings you to us tonight. My clansmen and I are soon to leave this happy isle, and are to enter a strange and unknown land, the land of Experience. Roll back the curtain of the future, I bid you, and reveal what the future of each of the fair young women and brave young men will be.

Itelyo Destinya: What! Art thou not afraid to look down the vista of things to be? Art thou sure?

King: We fear not.

Itelyo Destinya: Oh, aspiring youth, knowest thou that a glance into the future is never a pleasure unmixed with pain? To know what the future holds may be nothing but a never-ending curse. But as thou hast spoken—as thou hast been brave enough to tempt the gods by challenging the revelations of thyself and thy clansmen—listen and it shall be prophesied unto thee what thou dost wish. My crystal will reveal unto thee thy future, good or bad, what e'er it chances to be.

King: I will introduce them to you. This is the Queen, Lorraine Caviness.

Itelyo Destinya: You shall be a queen the rest of your life, the queen of some fortunate young man.

King: Richard Cosgrove.

Itelyo Destinya: A rambling wreck

from Georgia Tech and a helluva'n engineer.

King: Anna Perez.

Itelyo Destinya: It seems as if you are destined to be the equal of Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen.

King: Matilda Knight.

Itelyo Destinya: I dare to say that you shall nurse some of your clansmen back to health, for I see you are head nurse at St. Luke's Hospital, Jacksonville, Florida.

King: Marjorie Key.

Itelyo Destinya: My crystal reveals you as a saleslady, head saleslady for Best Clothes Co., New York.

King: Clifford Hicks.

Itelyo Destinya: Dancing shall make you a fortune, for your New York dancing studio shall introduce all of the future dance steps.

King: Zoraida Ortiz.

Itelyo Destinya: You shall first train your voice in Italy and then become director of vocal music at Miami University.

King: Anibal Armayor.

Itelyo Destinya: Things look dark. Now they are clear. I see you as Editor-in-Chief of The Saturday Evening Post.

King: Ida Weintraub.

Itelyo Destinya: Your 5c and 10c store will be very popular.

King: Rosemary Lopez and Grace Olsen.

Itelyo Destinya: “Ladies Ready to Wear” shall be the name of the Chicago firm of which you two shall be partners and owners.

King: Joe Aritas.

Itelyo Destinya: I see that you are officially recognized as poet laureate of Florida.

King: Flossie Allen.

Itelyo Destinya: Ah! Your "Blue Moon Tea Room" shall become very popular because of its management.

King: Gerry Steadman.

Itelyo Destinya: In your future I see a great journalistic career, but also a happy marriage.

King: Annie Gardner.

Itelyo Destinya: Gardner's Pharmacy has become a much larger business under the management of Annie Gardner.

King: Edna Pinder.

Itelyo Destinya: Through your acting ability you shall become director of dramatics at the Florida State College for Women.

King: Nathalie Thompson.

Itelyo Destinya: You shall be matron of the Children's Home Society, Macon, Ga.

King: Clara Langford and Dot Elwood.

Itelyo Destinya: Hollywood has made a place for you among her stars owing to your screen ability, demonstrated in "Key West Moonlight."

King: Henry Renedo.

Itelyo Destinya: Key West's own dentist, Henry Renedo, has again been rewarded for his invention for painless extraction.

King: Marguerite Johnson.

Itelyo Destinya: Your name foretells your future for in Hindu Johnson means success and Marguerite shows a life of happiness.

King: Nell Rose Knight.

Itelyo Destinya: Agnes Scott College shall be honored to have you as its new physical director.

King: Alvin Smith.

Itelyo Destinya: At a late date in life you shall become Chief Justice of the United States Supreme Court.

King: Mary Trout.

Itelyo Destinya: Because of your commercial work at K. W. H. S., my crystal reveals you as private secretary to the Governor of Florida.

King: Esther Grossman.

Itelyo Destinya: Books and stories that you have written shall be widely read.

King: Georgia Saunders and Adeline Cullingford.

Itelyo Destinya: Turkish baths, sun baths and other methods of cure appear. Ah! Now I see. Your sanatorium at Hot Springs, Arkansas, shall attract world-wide attention.

King: Mary Felton.

Itelyo Destinya: You shall find a good position in the Wand of Experience, but my crystal tells me not what it shall be.

King: Norman Lowe.

Itelyo Destinya: Throughout the entire South your chain of grocery stores shall be exceedingly popular.

King: Florence Pinder.

Itelyo Destinya: As the first woman to circle the globe by air you shall enjoy wide popularity.

King: William Demerritt.

Itelyo Destinya: I cannot say anything of his future for I already know too much of his past.

King: Doris Sawyer.

Itelyo Destinya: Your unusual intellectual ability shall carry you far in the field of education.

King: Virgerine Lowe.

Itelyo Destinya: Life shall treat you well, and some day you will be manager of a Kress store.

King: Emil Hamilton.

Itelyo Destinya: In the air lies your future, for you shall be the greatest stunt flier in the world.

King: Grace Gonzalez.

Itelyo Destinya: A stenographer of outstanding ability in the Cuban capital.

King: Joe Lopez.

Itelyo Destinya: Many "tin cans" shall lie at your feet, captured through your ability as a golf pro.

King: Leota Lowe.

Itelyo Destinya: You shall continue your life on this isle, but as a teacher instead of a student.

King: Louise Soldano.

Itelyo Destinya: Millions of people shall hear your voice each night. I see you as a radio announcer and performer for N. B. C.

King: Goldie Lewinsky.

Itelyo Destinya: Ah! A woman lawyer. Your fame in different murder cases shall receive world-wide attention.

King: Gladys Russell.

Itelyo Destinya: Children come into view. Oh! I see, a kindergarten teacher shall be thy life's work.

King: Otis Carey.

Itelyo Destinya: Boats, sailboats appear. Sir Thomas Lipton's yachts shall be as nothing compared to those that you shall build.

King: Ruth Kirchheiner.

Itelyo Destinya: As a news reporter on The Associated Press staff you shall become renowned for your exciting stories.

King: Edith Carruthers.

Itelyo Destinya: Your Hollywood Beauty Shoppe shall become well-known for its introduction of styles of hair-dressing.

King: Hector Cruz.

Itelyo Destinya: The leading singer for the Metropolitan Opera.

King: Ottilee Sawyer.

Itelyo Destinya: Concentrate please. Now I have it. You shall be chief stewardess on the U. S. S. Leviathan.

King: Ruby Buckley.

Itelyo Destinya: I see you as a chief among foreign clansmen, for you shall be principal of Miami High.

King: Dolly Charlow.

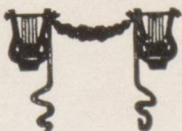

Itelyo Destinya: Ah! The head librarian at Carnegie Public Library, Pittsburgh.

King: And what do you see in my future?

Itelyo Destinya: Oh, mighty King, after your departure from this isle your fame shall be world-wide due to your new aeronautical designs. My crystal has done its duty for you and thy clansmen, so I will say,

Hasta la vista,

Until we meet again.

Last Will and Testament

We, the clan of 1932, in individual and distinct parts being about to depart from this Isle of Understanding do make and publish this our last will and testament, hereby revoking and making void all former wills.

We do wish to dispose of our estate as follows:

Item 1:

We give and bequeath to our efficient directors, who have instructed us in the way of living, an unbroken succession of restful nights and peaceful dreams.

Item 2:

To our principal, G. E. Everett, we do give and bequeath our heartiest gratitude for his direction and our sincere wishes for his success with future clans.

Item 3:

To Superintendent Melvin E. Russell we make over, here and now, as a partial payment for his kindness to us through the years, a heavy mortgage on our future accomplishments in the Land of Experience.

Item 4:

To the Clan of 1933 we hereby bequeath all our many and numerous privileges, provided they can find them.

Individually, we bequeath as follows:

1. I, Howard England, do hereby bequeath my ability for leadership to Anthony Cruz.
2. I, Nell Rose Knight, leave my self-conceit to Elizabeth Ayala.
3. I, Anibal Armayor, do will my winning smile to Douglas Durden.
4. I, Esther Grossman, do sadly leave my shocking habit of ending someone's conversation with a beginning of my own to Julia Jones.

5. I, Henry Renedo, confide my secret of muscle building to Randall Page.
6. I, Gerrye Steadman, impart my literary knowledge to Edna Mae Nottage, with sincere hope that she will make use of it.
7. I, Alvin Smith, impart my reputation as a star in basketball to Louis Birs.
8. We, Marjorie Key and Dolly Charlow, do hereby bequeath our store of endless chatter to Dorothy Knowles and Elve Esquinaldo.
9. I, Clifford Hicks, leave my exceptional grace in dancing to William Saunders.
10. I, Edna Pinder, impart the secret of my bewitching eyes to charm handsome men with to Clara Yates.
11. We, Hector Cruz and Joe Lopez, leave our ability to carry a tune to Maud Johnson and Marietta Silveira.
12. I, Clara Lankford, wish to impart my ability to make what is commonly known as breaks to Lila Mondul.
13. I, Richard Cosgrove, bequeath my formula for escaping the clutches of attractive girls to John McMahon.
14. I, Rosemary Lopez, sadly leave my slow Southern drawl, with ways to speed it up, to Virginia Roberts.
15. I, Norman Lowe, bequeath my personal diet to Gilmore Parks.

16. We, Marguerite Johnson and Leota Lowe, gladly leave our secret of graceful slimness to Anna Tuttle and Edna Bearup.
17. I, Florence Pinder, will my art of collegiate style to Sylvia Guito.
18. We, Goldie Lewinsky and Mary Trout, leave our ability to argue to Mary Guzman.
19. I, Joseph Aritas, do leave my poetic ability to Philip Niles for inspiration.
20. We, Doris Sawyer and Ida Weintraub, jointly will our giggles to Violet Filer.
21. I, Matilda Knight, leave my magnetic personality to Kathleen Ackerman.
22. We, Mary Felton and Gladys Russell, wish to impart our pleasant dispositions, with instructions for their use, to Dorothy Dobbs and Albert Arnao.
23. I, William Demerritt, leave my store of "wise cracks" to Maynard Lowe.
24. I, Grace Olsen, leave my superior knowledge of etiquette to Walter Norman, hoping that it will prove profitable.
25. We, Adeline Cullingford and Annie Gardner, leave our business ability to Mary Cleare.
26. I, Georgit Saunders, leave my place on the basketball team to Ida Kerr.
27. We, Lorraine Caviness and Anna Perez, leave our love for study to Jennie Fae Lowe and Florence Torres.
28. I, Otis Carey, leave my vast knowledge of civics to John Blackwell. He will find lots of use for it.

Conch Day

April 1st, Conch Day, found the Seniors prepared to play the usual round of pranks on the lowly and apprehensive Juniors.

The Seniors marched down the aisle singing a song consoling the poor Juniors and telling them of the sad fate that they were about to meet. The class formed a group upon the stage and sang a song of welcome. Their costumes were varied and numerous, ranging from pajamas for the girls to old clothes for the boys. President Armayor called President Lightbourne, of the Junior class, upon the stage and in a witty and flowery speech presented the historic old shell. He told of the great scholastic achievements and other accomplishments of the Seniors, their superiors, and hinted that he did not have much hope of the lower classmen insofar as upholding such a record went. President Lightbourne's reply was typical of that "cheek" which is common to all Juniors; she attempted to "talk back" to a Senior!

Each Senior carried a tag bearing the name of some famous movie star. As each Junior was called up on the stage he was given one of the tags and made to perform some antic peculiar to the star that he was impersonating. Needless to say, this brought much laughter from the audience and many pangs of discomfort to the Junior.

At the conclusion of the program the Senior class filed out of the auditorium singing one of their favorite farewell songs. The parties formed outside of the building and embarked for Pine Key for an all-day outing. The day was spent in hunting, loafing and in making general "whoopie." A number of the picnickers went on "walking tours" of the island, while others loafed and went in swimming. The greatest joy was when the cry, "Come an' get it!" was heard from the direction of the kitchen. Fifty hungry and tired Seniors made one mad dash for "grub." After about five or six plates of food, each one felt much better and all were ready to make "whoopie" some more.

Around 3 o'clock the party left Pine Key and returned to Boca Chica for an attempt at swimming. The water was too cold for this sort of sport so the remaining time was spent in riding up and down Boca Chica and in "ducking" one another. The picnic broke up at 4 o'clock and although the Seniors were having a fine time, no one was reluctant to leave and head for the bottle of sunburn lotion that was much in need. Many were the sunburned backs and faces in evidence on Monday morning. Sunburn or no sunburn, April 1st, 1932, is one day that will linger for a long time in the memory of each and every member of the Class of '32.

Senior Play

"Applesauce," a comedy of American life, was very successfully presented by the Senior Class on March 11, 1932, under the efficient and talented direction of Miss Lorace H. Peoples and Miss Mary Louise Brooks. Their efforts were responsible for the ease with which each member of the cast presented his or her part. To Hector Cruz and Alv'n Smith we extend our sincere thanks and appreciation for their skilful and speedy handling of the scenery between acts.

The auditorium was filled to capacity long before the time for the curtain to rise. The play was heralded with much publicity and tickets sold with remarkable ease.

"Applesauce" was a comedy in three acts. The cast was selected from the native talent of the Senior Class.

Bill McAllister, the hero, was exceedingly true to life, as portrayed by Anibal Armayor. Bill was one of two suitors for the hand of Hazel Robinson and wins her through his clever speeches to Rollo Jenkins, his rival, and his uncanny method of reasoning with Hazel. He cunningly tells Rollo that all women are alike and that Hazel is not such a prize after all. This discourages Rollo and he leaves the scene hurriedly, leaving the field clear for Bill. Bill then proceeds to explain himself to Hazel. After much thought concerning the matter the heroine accepts his explanation and agrees to marry him. The marriage proceeds without the consent of Hazel's parents. Pa is all for having Bill arrested for kidnapping his daughter. Bill finally shows his uncle that he can sell coal and convinces his father-in-law that he is not such a bad son-in-law at that. Bill's uncle, Matt McAllister, is reconciled to Pa Robinson and the two become fast friends as the play draws to a conclusion.

Hazel Robinson, a young woman with a will of her own, was ably presented by Edna Pinder in a manner creditable to that of a professional. Hazel was the young woman who caused so much trouble for Pa and Rollo.

Pa Robinson, Hazel's father, a grouchy, irritable husband, as enacted by William Demeritt, was a constant laugh producer. Pa was constantly entering into arguments with Ma and the methods of reasoning used by both created many laughs.

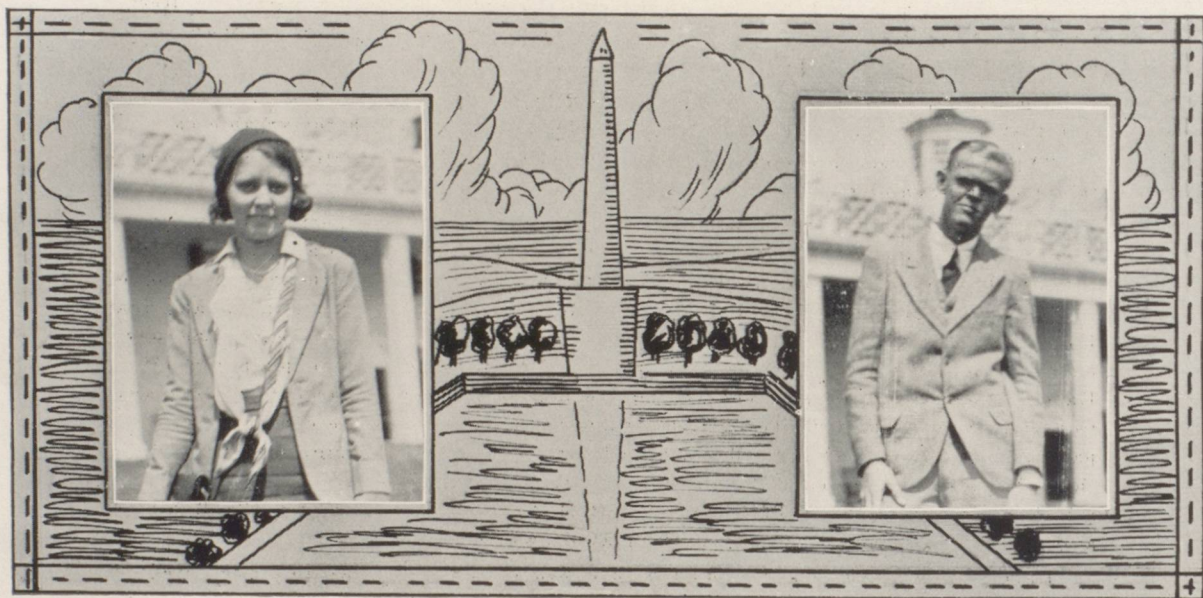

Ma Robinson, Hazel's mother, was brought to life through the excellent acting of Clara Lankford. She portrayed a typical, fussy wife and mother.

Rollo Jenkins, Bill's rival for Hazel's hand, was splendidly handled by Richard Cosgrove. He produced a great amount of amusement in the second act. He had been the object of Bill's sales talk and had been so influenced by it that he had left the room hurriedly, pausing only to retrieve from the sofa a box of candy that he had brought for Hazel.

Matt McAllister, the hero's uncle, a wealthy coal dealer, was taken to perfection by Otis Carey. His Scotch nature often burst out in the course of the action and proved to be a constant source of worry to Pa.

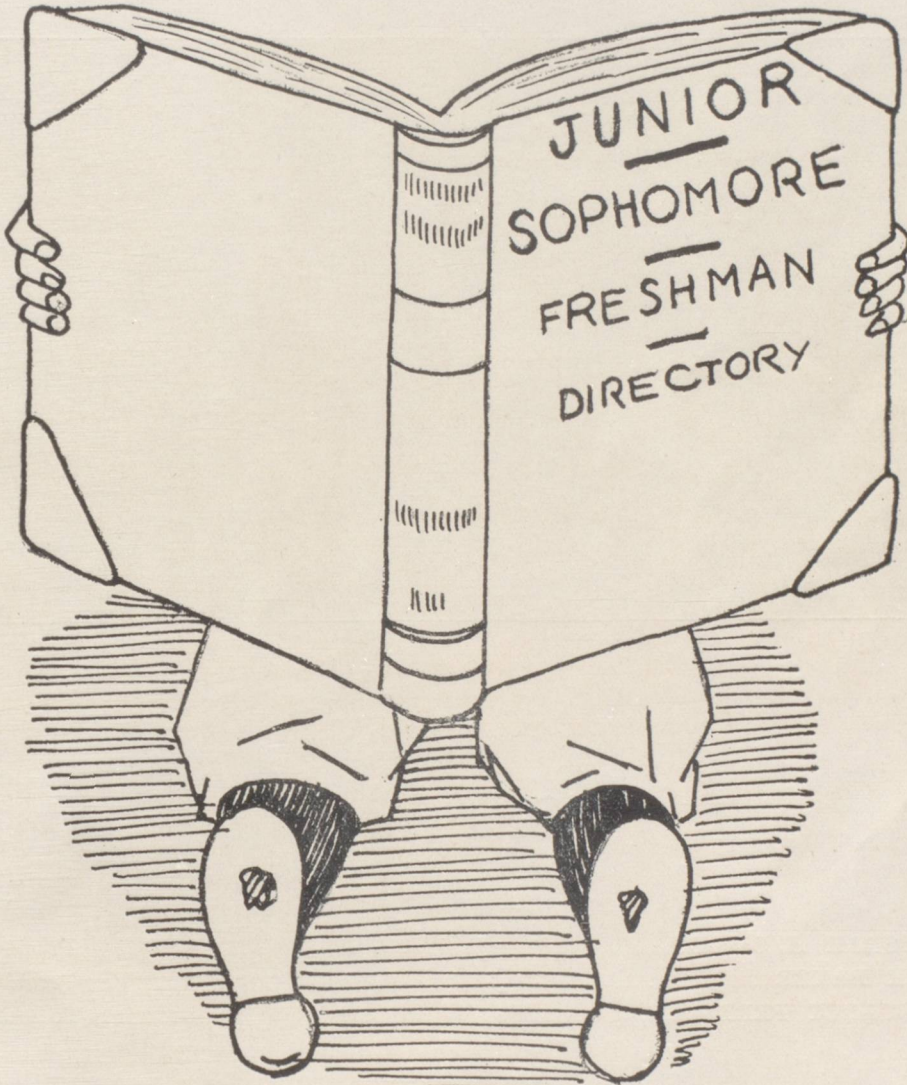

Jennie Baldwin, a gossiping friend of the Robinsons, was cleverly portrayed by Goldie Lewinsky. Jennie was a typical will-'o-the-wisp news-gatherer and gossip. Her many and humorous observations on marriage and married life produced constant laughter throughout the entire time that she appeared on the stage.

Thanks to a humorous and well-constructed plot the play was very funny and complicating. The audience evidenced its approval by generous applause and laughter during the action and its many complimentary remarks in the intermissions.

ANNA AND HOWARD AT MOUNT VERNON

For two consecutive years Monroe County's representative "Best Citizens" on Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen's annual "patriotic pilgrimage" to Washington have been chosen from the Class of '32. The first two were Lorraine Caviness and Fred Knight, who went in 1931.

Officers of the Glee Club

The officers of the Glee Club were elected by the members at a special meeting held at the beginning of the year. They are the following students:

Joseph Lopez .....	President
Anibal Armayor .....	Vice-President
Rose Mary Lopez .....	Secretary-Treasurer
Alvin Smith .....	Chairman Entertainment Committee

The Glee Club

The Key West High School Glee Club is one which we should be proud of. During the short time it has been under the efficient direction of Miss Mary Louise Brooks much latent ability has been cultivated and the result is that last year we won one first prize and this year one second and one third prize at the annual Music Festival at Tampa. Our Glee Club is ranked high among the class in which we are placed. The competition was keen this year and though we did not take first prize we showed them that we were a worthy opponent. Many of the members and all of the officers will graduate this year.

The Orchestra

The Orchestra is another achievement made possible under the expert direction of Miss Brooks. Early in the first semester the orchestra was organized and practice was begun. Many people do not know that we have an orchestra because of its infrequent public appearances but we do and we know that we have one of the best in town.

The Golf Team

Joe Lopez and William Demeritt were representatives of Monroe County at the State Interscholastic Golf Tournament held at Gainesville during the latter part of April. Joe and William made an excellent showing against heavy odds and though they were defeated we are proud of their efforts.

We Are Grateful

TO OUR PARENTS WHO HAVE MADE IT POSSIBLE FOR US TO ENJOY THE WONDERFUL OPPORTUNITIES OFFERED US BY KEY WEST HIGH SCHOOL AND TO THE MERCHANTS AND FRIENDS WHO HAVE MADE THIS ANNUAL POSSIBLE WE ARE DEEPLY GRATEFUL.
