Class History

In the year 1947 we began a "Sentimental Journey" with "Sonny Boy" Schweitzer, "Margie" Wellons, and "Goodnight Irene" Dumm as directors. During this year we enjoyed many "Happy Times," including our class picnic and the freshman prom.

"Nevertheless," we were happy when we discovered we had passed our exams and were now sophomores. Our new directors were "Sweet Lorraine" Thompson, "Mam'selle" Stark, and "Ain't She Sweet" Salis. We enjoyed a very successful year and were more than proud when we found that we measured up to the high standards of juniors. Because we were "Bewitched, Bothered and Bewildered," we were granted three months' vacation in which to get used to our newly bestowed title.

For our junior year, "My Hero" Lazier, "Ain't She Sweet" Salis, and "Sweet Lorraine" Thompson were directors. We got "In the Mood" by presenting the Jr. Minstrel under the direction of "Mam'selle" Stark. Soon after this the junior and senior girls donned "Buttons and Bows" for Big Sister Day. All junior and senior girls met for lunch. The junior girls used this opportunity to rest from the ordeal of carrying their Big Sisters' books! Conch Day arrived without the usual bang! The juniors and seniors had "Passed That Peace Pipe" and everything went along quietly. Each junior thought "I Can Dream, Can't I?" as he looked forward to the day when he would be a senior and enjoy Conch Day. In the "Merry Month of May," we held the Junior-Senior Prom at which the seniors were guests of honor. Our usual "Feudin', Fightin', and Fussin'" was forgotten long enough for everyone to have a wonderful time. "Again," the juniors had come along with something worthwhile. Through the hard work of "Five Feet Two" Delgado, our school became a member of the National Honor Society.

Once more we were bothered by "The Thing," commonly known as the report card, but by much studying and "Homework," we emerged victorious. Since we were "So Tired," of books and classes, we again took a three months' vacation.

The juniors—oh! "Beg Your Pardon!"—seniors! elected their class officers for the year. They were "In the Groove" Cathy, president; "Red Wing" Hudgins, vice-president; "Personality" Thompson, secretary; and "Penny Wise" Bell, treasurer. Another exciting event was the ordering of class rings. We were learning by now that "The Best Things in Life are NOT Free." "High on the List" of special occasions was the coronation of "Pretty Baby" Higgs as P.T.A. Queen for the year. On October 20 the girls ruled the city with a reign of terror. Many boys sang "I'll Never Smile Again" as they were thrown into jail by the girls who stood "Laughing on the Outside." In December everyone was entertained with "A Bushel and a Peck" of laughs at the annual staff play, "Inner Willy."

"Can Anyone Explain" all the excitement on Senior Activity Day? Maybe it was "Because" the seniors had taken over all the classes. After lunch we went to Bayview Park, where the juniors were heard singing "You're Breaking My Heart" as they were defeated at both softball and football by the mighty seniors! Then at last came the day when we were wearing those senior rings!

However, our day to shine as seniors really came later. Senior Skip Day was here! "Now Was the Hour" we had longed for since we were mere freshmen. We went on an all-day picnic while the underclassmen remained in school. Many of us "Didn't Sleep a Wink That Night" because of our sunburn, but it was worth it!

After the Prom everything seemed to happen at once. There was Investiture. What a glorious feeling when we wore our robes for the first time! It was at this time that we presented the traditional "Conch" to the president of the junior class. Next came Baccalaureate, and though we were proud and happy to be seniors, we could not help feeling sad as we thought of leaving our friends and teachers. We realized that "The Best Years of Our Lives" were those spent with our classmates and teachers. And no matter what the future holds for us, "There's No Tomorrow" to compare with "Our Yesterdays" at Key West High.

I, Charles Wells, leave my ability to play basketball to Bobby Cooper.

I, Paul Gibson, leave my ability to keep order in the halls to Billy Osterhoudt.

I Paul Watler, hereby leave my undying love for the Ford products to Sonny Alexander.

I, Betty Conant, leave to Marilyn Leahy my wonderful job with Kress.

I, Betty Sands, do hereby will my shy ways to Alice Garcia, who really needs them.

I, John Bell, bequeath my ventriloquism to anybody who can find my voice.

I, William Hilton, hereby give my big feet and a few inches of my height to the junior class; there's enough for everybody.

I, Wesley Brooks, do hereby leave my seat in 105 to anybody fool enough to take it.

I, Betty Filer, hereby will my giddiness and height to Dolores Perez.

I, Martha Gandolfo, hereby will my small features to any of those junior creatures.

I, Zola Camus, leave to Pam Russell my love for tall men.

I, Barbara Beard, leave my quiet dignity and bashful ways to Nancy Watkins.

I, Edward Sheppard, leave my dancing feet to Hoke Holcomb.

I, Bill Hartman, hereby will my ability to be an "Arturo" to Bill Neblett, who needs it.

I, Clayton Sims, leave my love for hillbilly music to Bobby Cooper.

I, Gerald Hernandez, will hereby leave my ability to play baseball to Clinton Warren.

I, Randolph Richardson, hereby will my ability to talk to my brother, Donald.

I, Donald Malone, hereby will my love of speed to Jose Padron.

I, Betty June Higgs, leave to Pam Russell my soft voice.

I, Ruth Gibson, do hereby will to Elsie Butler my ability to keep my mouth shut.

I, Elena Monzon, leave to Barbara Pritchard my ability to keep one boyfriend.

To anyone who takes bookkeeping from Mr. Keiser, I, Lillian Sawyer, leave my ability to make mistakes and lose my temper.

I, "Cookie" Roberts, leave my knowledge of every history phase to Lorenzo Murguia, who gets straight A's.

I, Velma Butler, leave my clerical ability to my sister Elsie.

I, Margie Gomez, do hereby leave my ability to talk and annoy Mr. Keiser to Glendora Sawyer.

I, Frances Meggs, do hereby will my shortness to Nancy Watkins, 'cause she hates to be tall.

I, John Knowles, do hereby leave to Sam Butler my ability to play football.

I, Don Williams, do hereby leave my leadership ability to Eugene Roberts, who I am sure will use it wisely.

I, Millard Solomon, leave my love of the Ford and its power to Morton Hall.

I, Kenneth Key, hereby will my ability to be a football star to John Griffin.

I, Gail Wallace, hand to Margaret McCormack my undying love for one man.

I, Shirley Spencer, leave my well-rounded personality to Glendora Sawyer.

I, Albert Garcia, do hereby will to "Squeaky" Vidal my ability to dance.

I, Samuel Torano, hereby leave my books to Eugene Roberts of the junior class; that's plenty for him.

I, Shirley Albury, leave my ability to keep a boyfriend to Barbara Gibson.

I, Jackie Sanchez, leave my ability to play softball to any capable, industrious junior.

We, Angela and Magnolia Martinez, leave our ability to keep the teachers guessing to Elizabeth and Camille Walterson.

I, Bob Carter, do hereby will my ability to play football to James Cooper.

I, Mary Murray, leave my weight to James Cooper, who needs it.

I, Everett Rivas, hereby leave my ability to play the sax to Steve Trevor.

I, Patty Brady, do hereby leave to my sister Katherine my success in getting along with teachers.

We, Terry Doughtry and Dorothy Miller, leave our big eyes to "Squeaky" Vidal, who needs them.

I, Carrol Henning, do hereby leave to Nancy Watkins my ability to act and have fun.

I, Delores Washington, do hereby leave my ability to mind my own business to Dorothy Lowe, who will someday be able to use it.

I, Manuel Santa Cruz, will my ability to study and do good work to Doris Tyson, who I think will need it in the near future.

I, Gary Thompson, hereby leave my musical ability to Bill Neblett.

I, Jacque Callahan, leave my guilty looks and innocent ways to Judy, Gail, and Yvonne.

I, Diana Gonzalez, leave my ability to get along with Mr. Keiser to Glendora Sawyer.

I, Jay Higgs, leave to Bill Neblett my strength to carry the bass in the State Fair next year.

I, Mary Knowles, do hereby bequeath my love for the cafeteria to Doris Tyson and Laverne Carrero.

I, Albert Pita, do hereby bequeath my short height to James Baker.

I, George Cathy, leave my ability to get along with teachers to John Curry.

I, Peter Diaz, leave my ability to make A's in physics to Bookie Henriquez.

I, Bill Crawford, leave my ability to get any woman I want to Hoke Holcomb and Dave Stephan.

I, Elsie Thompson, leave to Mary Sweeting my love for the harp.

I, Louis Smith, leave my love and ability for football to John Griffin.

I, Michael Padron, leave my ability to look like an "angel" to Jim Ward.

I, Anne Yates, leave to my "little" sister, "Junie Bug," the pleasure of being the only Yates in school.

I, Barbara Delgado, leave the fun I had being a cheerleader to Pam Russell.

I, Laurell Walker, leave to my brother Mark my love for history, in hopes . . . ?

I, Don Spiel, leave to my successor my sympathy.

I, John Foh, hereby leave my ability to remain calm in any situation to Roy Butler.

I, Connie Hudgins, leave my ability to always win any argument to any junior who wants it.

I, Alice White, leave my love for reading to Nancy Watkins.

I, Marlen Zorsky, hereby leave my shy ways to Billy Osterhoudt.

I, Roy Duke, leave my ability to drive safely to Hoke Holcomb.

I, Juanita Sanchez, leave to Yvonne Malone the ability to get along with the Senior High teachers.

I, Enrique Esperdy, leave to Jose Padron my love for Seven-Up.

I, Joe Ward, leave my sour disposition to Tommy West.

I, Leeza Degtoff, leave my ability to get along with people to Madeline Bazo.

We certify this to be our true last will and testament, hereby revoking all previous wills and codicils. In witness whereof, I, as president of the senior class, set my hand this fifth day of May, 1951.

--George Cathy

DEARIE, DO YOU REMEMBER ?

Class Prophecy

EDWARD. It is the year 1961. Barbara and Connie have decided to take a sight-seeing tour. Having just bought their tickets on Wesley Brooks' sight-seeing bus, they are eager to go. As they board the bus, Barbara exclaims in astonishment.

BARBARA. Look, Connie! Jacque Duane is the hostess!

CONNIE. So I see. She certainly has come down to earth. Her ambition always was to be an airline hostess!

BARBARA. One thing hasn't, changed—they're still together.

EDWARD. As Wesley shuts the door, they hear a loud shout: "But they're good brushes! Toothbrushes, back scratchers, brooms!" So Wesley throws open the door, and there stands that famous Fuller Brush traveling salesman, Kenneth Key, draped in brushes.

BARBARA. Well, Connie, it looks as if Kenneth hasn't changed much either—he's still handing out a line.

EDWARD. After getting rid of Kenneth, the bus rolls on. Connie notices a billboard along the highway with a picture of Betty Sands, advertising her chain of beauty shops.

CONNIE. Her motto is, "Save the surface and you save all."

EDWARD. Their first stop, a rather unexpected one, is at Summerland Key. Randolph Richardson, chief wrecking truck driver for the Skaggs Filling Station, hauls them into the station, where, after much investigation, Morris finds that they have run out of gas.

CONNIE. Let's go into the station and watch the television.

EDWARD. Before entering, they see Michael Padron emerging from his old '37 Chrysler. He still has high hopes for it. After greeting him, they go in.

BARBARA. Listen to that wonderful voice, Connie!

CONNIE. Why, look, that's Clayton Sims singing "If I Had a Nickel" on the television.

EDWARD. Suddenly a loud "All aboard" is heard and the passengers scramble back on the bus. Wesley grinds away, and it's a smooth ride to Lake Worth, where the high school district tournament is going on. Wesley stops to see how Key West is getting on.

CONNIE. Those referees better go back and learn the rules! That wasn't a foul!

BARBARA. Don't say that, Connie. They look very familiar to me. I know—it's Terry Dougherty and Charles Wells!

CONNIE. Look at number 13 go!

BARBARA. Why, that's Cookie Garcia! I thought he was supposed to graduate with us.

EDWARD. At intermission the girls buy some of the best corn on earth from Mary Murray. After the overwhelming defeat of South Broward, Key West's old enemy, the bus is on its way again. The passengers stop for supper at Daytona Beach and then stroll down to watch the famous stock car races. When the cars have completed the fifteen laps, the loud speaker blares out the results: "...and tying for last place are number 88, Donald Malone, and Number 44, Millard Solomon."

BARBARA. Doesn't that voice sound familiar to you, Connie?

CONNIE. It certainly does! Yes, that's Gerald Hernandez. So he did get into radio work after all.

EDWARD. They decide to stay overnight, so they get a room at Bill's Haven, whose proprietor is their old classmate Bill Hilton, still keeping up the family tradition. Next morning they start off early. Not long after they are stopped abruptly by a stern-looking policeman, Albert Pita, who gives poor Wesley a ticket. The girls go with Wesley to the court in Savannah to pay the fine.

BARBARA. My, that certainly is a stern chief of police!

CONNIE. I guess he should be! That's Paul Gibson! Remember all the experience he had in school as monitor chairman?

EDWARD. The bus then cuts over the Smoky Mountains to Oak Ridge, where they all visit the atomic energy plant, now open to the public. They see a sign on the door which says: "President, Marlen Zorsky; Vice-President, Don Spiel."

BARBARA. This is where Peter Diaz was working when he made the headlines.

CONNIE. Headlines?

BARBARA. Yes, didn't you know that he has been working on the problem of putting the neutrons BACK into the atoms?

EDWARD. The bus starts again, this time for Raleigh. On the way Connie sees two familiar figures hanging from a billboard.

CONNIE. That's Jackie Sanchez, and Alice White. They always were artistic.

BARBARA. Look at that sign they're painting. That's Paul Watler!

CONNIE. So he's selling Chevrolets! Time certainly does change people's ideas!

EDWARD. A few hours later they see Shirley Albury hanging from one of the tallest peaks in the mountains.

CONNIE. I see Shirley is still sculpturing.

BARBARA. But now it's mountains instead of soap.

EDWARD. Upon inquiry they find that she is sculpturing the head of George Cathey, now the most famous man in America. Finally the bus pulls into Raleigh, and the passengers leave the bus as they have a two-hour stop. They go straight to the Cat and Dog Hospital, which they hear was constructed by Bill Crawford, the famous engineer.

CONNIE. I hear Zola Camus is the head nurse of cats here.

BARBARA. Yes, and Betty Conant is head nurse of dogs.

EDWARD. Patty Brady, the receptionist, shows them around. They see Bobby Carter, the friendly undertaker, pacing up and down the halls in a sober mood. Business has been dead lately. His ambulance driver, Samuel Torano, is sympathizing with him.

Class Prophecy

CONNIE. There's Frances Meggs. Patty says she's quite a success as a laboratory technician.

BARBARA. I see Gary Thompson is the dentist here. That's close to what he wanted to be. I guess there isn't much difference between animals' teeth and people's teeth.

CONNIE. Let's get a coke from that machine. There's Enrique Esperdy filling it with cokes.

BARBARA. I wonder what happened to his Seven-Up business? Look, Connie, isn't that Joe Ward across the street? In that admiral's uniform? Doesn't he look handsome?

CONNIE. Yes, he does. Let's stop in here. I hear Billy Hartmann owns this factory.

BARBARA. What is it? Oh--it's the Nicotine Cigarette Factory.

EDWARD. In two hours the bus is on its way again.

CONNIE. Tell me, Barbara, did Betty Higgs ever marry that young man?

BARBARA. No, Connie. After seeing "Inner Willy," and observing how Betty would someday look, he changed his mind. She is now president of the Lonely Hearts Club.

EDWARD. Picking up a newspaper, they see that the weather forecaster, Jay Higgs, forecasts clear skies for North Carolina that day. Of course, it's raining quite hard outside. The next important stop is New York. There they visit the Stork Club, where the big-name band of Everett Rivas is playing. Also in the band are Elsie Thompson, who plays almost any instrument, and Laurel Walker with her magic clarinet.

BARBARA. John Bell is the soloist, featuring "Lovely Bunch of Cooanuts."

CONNIE. And Cynthia Perez is the featured dancer.

EDWARD. They also visit Carnegie Hall, where Manuel Santa Cruz is producing his latest ballet, "Crimson and Gray Shoes."

BARBARA. I hear Gail Wallace plays the part of the dancer who dances all night and can't stop.

CONNIE. Yes, and Carol Henning plays the old lady who bewitches her, while Laurie Roberts is the prince who frees her from the spell.

BARBARA. Look here. It says the scenery was designed by Madame Anne Yates, the famous interior decorator.

CONNIE. And Barbara Beard is the prompter. She's very good at that sort of thing.

EDWARD. Another stop in New York is the home of the United Nations. Bobbie and Connie note that some of their old friends are now interpreters--Leeza Degtoff for Russia, Roy Duke for China and the Martinez twins for Spain. Their last stop in New York is at Forest Hills, Long Island, where the passengers see a tennis match between Helen McDonald and Margie Gomez. After the great tennis match the bus heads for Detroit. On a lonely road Barbara notices the Smith Lumber Camp. The girls learn that it is owned by their husky school chum, Louis Smith. Finally the bus stops at Detroit and the girls are told they will have time for a side trip. Connie sees a sign and points it out to Bobbie.

CONNIE. Look, Bobbie. There are two more of our classmates. "Averette and Foh, Partners in Motorcycle Speed."

BARBARA. They always were great motorcycle lovers.

CONNIE. Barbara, there's a phone booth. I thought you wanted to call home. Now's your chance.

BARBARA. Operator, give me Long Distance....Key West 1-3....Operator, your voice is certainly familiar.

EDWARD. Barbara finds that the operator is Velma Butler and that she will connect her with the long distance operator, who is Betty Filer. Shortly after the phone call the girls are once more on their way, this time to California, the land of everlasting sunshine, better known for its dew. There they make their first stop at a Chinese school in San Francisco's Chinatown.

CONNIE. I hear there are four of our old classmates on the faculty.

BARBARA. Yes, Dorothy must have learned the Chinese language quite well, as she's now teaching it.

CONNIE. I see Martha Gandolfo has finally developed a love for sports, as she is the coach of girls' sports.

BARBARA. Yes, and Jacque Callahan is teaching book-keeping and Lillian Sawyer is teaching business math.

EDWARD. The girls decide to stop in Hollywood to watch the filming of "Little Black Sambo," starring Donnie Williams as Little Black Sambo, with Lorraine Lewis as Black Mumbo, and Clay White as Black Jumbo.

CONNIE. Well, we certainly do have some famous friends.

BARBARA. Yes, and Elena Monzon is running the cameras.

EDWARD. After a day's visit in Hollywood, the girls are on their way again, not stopping until they reach Fallen Arch, New Mexico. There Connie buys a pair of shoes at Clarke and Betancourt's Rising Foot Shoe Shop. Faye and Carolyn have a thriving business among the dudes and cowboys. Time is growing short, so it's a quick trip to Sarasota, Florida, where they visit the Ringling Brothers' Museum.

CONNIE. There's Sarah Roberts. She's a history teacher at Key West, you know.

BARBARA. I guess she brought her class to visit the museum.

CONNIE. And there's Ruth Gibson, with her science class.

BARBARA. There's Coach Knowles too! Everyone says he really has a winning football team.

EDWARD. The passengers board the bus once more and this time they head for--last but not least--sunny Key West. They see some more of their old school friends on Key West's busy streets.

BARBARA. There goes Ed Felton in the back seat of his 1961 All-Exclusive Calladach. His chauffeur is the weary and overworked Delores Washington.

CONNIE. Poor Delores. It used to be a woman's world, but no more.

BARBARA. I don't know about that. What about Anita Fernandez? She owns most of Key West.

EDWARD. After getting off the bus, the two girls go to the Wilson Drug Store, which is now owned by Dorothy Wilson.

CONNIE. There's Shirley Spencer, still dishing out ice cream.

EDWARD. Shirley tells them that Mary Knowles has settled down and has a nice little family. After the trip the girls feel so exhausted that they buy a bottle of Hadacol from Juanita Sanchez, who has taken over the Hadacol business in Key West. And so ends one of the most successful tours of the Brooks Sightseeing Company.

D C T

The Diversified Cooperative Training Program is planned on the idea that every boy and girl should have the opportunity to discover and develop to the fullest their interests, latent aptitudes, and abilities which will enable them to become more valuable citizens with a satisfying feeling of confidence and vocational security. This is accomplished through a part-time work program with the cooperation of local business firms where high school students receive actual work experiences while attending high school.

BOYS' VARSITY SPORTS

The Key West High basketball team started off this year with high morale, which was later justified by the season's achievements. Besides having won 16 of 23 games and coming in second in the district tournament, the team made a fine reputation for sportsmanship of which they are justly proud. The 1950-51 team took pride in putting into our trophy case the first basketball trophy in 7 years.

Starting with only 2 seniors, the squad showed promise by defeating the alumni in a pre-season game. Of a total of 23 games the team played 18 conference games, winning 10; they finished the season with 16 wins and 7 losses. Five out-of-town trips gave the Conchs an opportunity to play on the courts of Redlands, Lake Worth, Belle Glade, and Homestead. They voted the game with Miami Freshmen their most exciting game.

After the encouragement of a successful season, the team left for the district tournament with the determination to bring back a trophy. They DID bring back a trophy, for, having breezed through the first 3 games, they lost a heart-breaking last-minute decision to South Broward. Although the ambitious Conchs had to be satisfied with a second-place trophy, they came home resolved to work hard for first place next year. Armando (Bookie) Henriquez was named on the All-District Team. As the team will lose only 2 seniors, Terry Doughtry and Charles Wells, the Conchs can look forward to an even more successful season.

The Junior Varsity is expected to contribute valuable members to the team next year. This year the younger squad went on 2 trips with the Varsity. They played 15 games, winning 5.

SOUTH BROWARD 48 -- KEY WEST 42

For the 1950 baseball squad the season was extremely successful, with 9 wins and 2 losses. They defeated Leesburg 7-0; Redlands 12-4 and 17-2; Homestead 1-0, 5-1, and 4-2; Delray Beach 9-3; and St. Leo 12-2. In 3 district play-off championship games with Fort Pierce the Conchs won the first game but lost the second and third, bringing home a second-place trophy. Members of the squad were: pitchers Joe Lewis and Jose Fernandez, Gerald Hernandez, John Solomon, Ralph Henriquez, John Knowles, Oscar Oropeza, James Sheppard, Terry Doughtry, Raymond Gwynn, Don Cruz, John Cruz, and Charles Wells.

Next year the Key West Conchs are looking forward to having their first football team in 20 years. With the encouragement and financial support of the Jaycees, plédgés have guaranteed the necessary money. As we go to press Coach Jones reports that the equipment has already been ordered, the stadium is being repaired, and 40 boys are out for practice this spring.

THE GIRLS' TENNIS TEAM

The girls' tennis team in its first year of competition has achieved a record which is nothing short of miraculous. The season started with the girls destined to go down to certain defeat before the powerful team of the Convent of Mary Immaculate. Before school opened, the Convent had routed the Key West High forces, but Coach Van, through hard work and the gathering of new material, brought a powerful array together, which trounced the Convent 7-2.

With this fine start the High School girls went on to win the famous Harvey Cup, donated by Wilhelmina Harvey, in four straight matches. They also defeated a strong South Broward team 4-3 and Coral Gables in a curtailed unofficial match. At this date the girls are undefeated and have made a remarkable record for a first-year team.

The team has had many fine players in the matches, as can be attested by this list: Helen McDonald, number 1 and the only senior player, Captain June Yates, Carol Carruthers, Alice Vila, Diana Fernandez, Ann Parrish, Carol Price, and Barbara Delgado. All these players were in matches and did their part in making a fine school record.

THE BOYS' TENNIS TEAM

The High School boys' team is made up of a group of young, determined, and promising players who have not as yet hit the win column for one sure reason -- too much competition.

They have played matches thus far this season with Coral Gables High School, the best high school team in the East, if not in the United States; South Broward, about third in Florida; and Fort Lauderdale, which is also in Florida's first five. Against this competition no first-year team could ever stand up. But if any of the slightly weaker teams will ever give the Conchs a break this year and play us, all may rest assured that our strong first-year squad will make a good showing.

The improvement in the boys, according to Coach Van, is tremendous. At the beginning of the year, there were no boys who could play on the same court with some of Key West's better men players. At this time any of the boys can get on the court and make a good showing, while a few of them can go out and defeat some of those very same men players. Since John Cruz, Don Cruz, Peter Knight, Tony Dopp, Frank Hernandez, Leo Carey, and Leebug Knowles all have years ahead of them, much may be expected in the future.

JUNIOR HIGH STUDENT COUNCIL AT WORK

Junior High Student Council provides for active participation of the students in school affairs. Through the Council the boys and girls plan parties and social gatherings the way they wish them to be. It is a small-scale version of the government of the United States. The officers are nominated and elected by the students; the members of the Council are elected by the various homerooms, each being entitled to one vote in Council decisions.

The Student Council also protects each student's individual rights by seeing to it that the student's personal "Bill of Rights" is not infringed upon. To enjoy the benefits of the Student Council or to do something for the good of the Student Body the student need not be an officer, for in the upstairs hall there is a suggestion box into which he can put his constructive advice for improving the school.

"Junior Scoops" is a valuable and active part of the "Snapper," Key West High's own newspaper. Its staff gathers and reports news of Junior High.
