Last Will and Testament

We, the undersigned Seniors of the Key West High School, Class of '53, being of sound mind and disposing memory, do hereby declare this to be our last will and testament, thereby revoking all previous wills and codicils.

I, Barbara Adams, leave to Katherine Boaz my educated pencil in the hope that it will render as much help to her as it did to me.

I, Blanche Alligood, leave my sales talk and appetite to Barbara Pritchard, the hungry Junior.

I, Charles Baker, leave to George Lastres my retiring ways and quiet manners to use as he may.

I, Rose Baker, leave to Clara Gardner my shorthand book.

I, Vita Barroso, do hereby leave to Deanna Archer my big mouth, hoping that she can get more out of it than I have.

We, Neil Bergstrom and Donald Geck, do present to Butch Stewart our ability to be bad and look innocent.

I, Clements Betancourt, leave my ability to get along with Mrs. Prinz to her future students.

I, Janice Bopst, leave to the future Senior High students my miraculous ability to stay awake in office practice class.

I, Katherine Brady, do hereby bequeath my red hair to Myrna Gohring.

We -- Maxine Hatley, Gale Curry, and Osa Branthoover--leave to Sylvia Eley and Arlene Semler our height because they need it more than we do.

I, Paul Brain, leave my chair in the trombone section to anyone who will work for it.

I, Nancy Brooks, do hereby leave all the fun I had in the band to Teresa Bardwell.

I, Hortensia Calleja, leave to Jo Ann Stickney my ability to make a report without giggling.

I, Yvonne Camalier, leave to Jackie Conant my ability to be devilish and look coy at the same time.

I, Johnny Camfield, leave to Barbara Hunter my ability to skip school without being caught.

I, Jeanne Canova, leave to Ray Winkle my ability to make everyone think I am shy.

I, Eddie Castro, leave to my sister, Dora Castro, all the nice times I have had in high school.

I, Murphy Cates, leave my undying love for convertibles to Charles Hjort.

I, Jimmy Collins, hereby leave all the troubles of the Senior treasurer's job to the unfortunate treasurer of '54 with the hope that he enjoys it.

We, Betty Cooper and Basil Tynes, leave to Barbara Pritchard and Mario Roque our ability to catch the eye of all likely pickups and to carry on from there.

We, Shirley Thompson and Margaret Cornack, leave our ability to flirt so innocently and when caught to blush so quietly to any upcoming Senior who can use it as well as we did.

I, Tom Cornell, leave to anyone who is willing to work my chair in the trombone section.

I, Faye Curry, leave to my cousin, Norma, my ability to be bad and look innocent.

I, Lorraine Curry, leave to Jerry Navarro my place in the D. C. T. room and all the privileges of a D. C. T. student.

I, Myrna Curry, do hereby leave my ability to sleep through all my classes to Richard Watson, who is always so wide awake.

I, Carol Dalton, leave to any Junior girl who takes physics my ability to concentrate on the class.

I, Alice Garcia, hereby leave to Barbara Pritchard, an incoming Senior, my ability to be class photographer.

I, George Gibson, will to my good friend, Ervin Higgs, my second year algebra grades and my ability to obtain information when it is needed.

I, Jack Gibson, leave to my little sister, Virginia Gibson, the pleasure of being the only Gibson in school.

I, Lucy Gonzalez, leave my sports ability to Don Cruz.

I, Sonny Harden, leave my desire to be a mortician and my skill in driving to Donnie Carbonell.

I, Mona Honey, leave to my sister Wanda Jo my ability to sing in the bathtub -- at home.

I, Gloria Hyre, will my love for dancing to Deanna Archer in the hope that she may have as much fun as I have.

I, Geraldine Ingraham, hereby leave as my last bequest to Jo Ann Pinder my undying love for one boy.

I, Annette Johnson, leave my favorite bottle of 33 Bleach to Lee Bopst to use as she may.

We, Francine Johnson and Barbara Jolly, leave to Patsy Jones and Linda Jolly our ability to skip classes and get away with it.

I, Joe Ladd, leave to PeeWee Johnny Vidal my excess height.

I, Gene Lang, leave my nickname "Juicy" to Phil Atzert.

I, Patricia Lewin, leave my seat in the D. C. T. room to any of next year's students with the hope that they have better luck in finding a job than I have.

I, Joyce Lounders, leave to Barbara Splaine my ability to be late everywhere I go.

I, Faye Lowe, leave my burning desire to nurse people to anyone interested in that profession.

I, Sherman McCaslin, leave my ability to fail English tests without extra effort to Bob Miles.

I, John McKillip, leave my ability to play bass drum but not scotch drum to anyone.

I, Harold McMasters, leave to any poor Junior my seat in solid geometry class.

I, Dale Mitchell, do hereby leave my title of wittiest to Jeanne Carbonell in the hope that she will win it in her Senior year.

I, Evelyn Nettles, leave to Peggy McCrea all the fun I have had as a Senior.

I, Anthony Niles, leave my ways of getting out of class to Jim Solomon.

I, Javier Oropeza, leave to Ronnie Pinder my ability to outrun the guards and tackles and forget signals.

I, Candido Barcelo, leave my glasses to Stu Logan and I believe that he will need them.

I, Robert Pages, leave my Spanish books and worries to Mrs. Milner's future pupils.

I, Marlene Park, leave my ability to make good grades without trying to any up and coming Senior who can do it.

I, Peggy Paulk, leave my ability to turn blue in the face from arguing in Mrs. Martin's class to Barbara Walterson in hope that she can turn bluer.

I, Martha Perez, do hereby leave to Deanne Archer my love for cheering for the team and also my love for Fords.

I, Jimmy Pettis, leave my playboy ways to Norman Hicks.

I, Doris Piarrot, leave my Spanish-speaking ability to Mary Clark.

I, Harry Pritchard, leave to my dear sister Sharon the honor of upholding the Pritchard name and fame at Key West High.

I, Jean Pumphrey, leave to my sister Louise my ability to get along with the teachers and stay out of detention hall.

I, Carol Reeves, hereby leave to Mary Fernandez my ability to flirt and the hope that she will live up to it.

I, Claude Roberts, leave my reputation as a pessimist to Norman Harris.

I, Frank Roberts, leave my ability to play tennis to Leo Carey.

I, Kermit Roberts, leave my ability to miss one day of the week and get away with it to my brother Harry.

I, Georgia Bailey, leave to my sister Beverly my cap and gown.

I, Billy Roberts, leave my oratorical ability to the up-and-coming Republicans in the Junior Class.

I, Betty Rowan, leave my love for flag-twirling and my ability to argue to Kathryn Sanchez.

I, Lillian Russell, do hereby leave my shyness to any Junior who wants it.

I, Joe Sasnett, leave my corny jokes to Harold (Cowboy) Solomon.

I, Betty Sheppard, do hereby leave my musical ability to Joe Russo in hope that he will someday play at Carnegie Hall.

I, Marie Spencer, leave to the Junior Class my ability to get along with others.

I, Imogene Stansell, do hereby leave my ability to get dirty looks from Mrs. Barr to Ruthle Moore, who is off to a good start.

I, Bob Staves, leave my office of vice-president to Bobby Sawyer.

We, Elizabeth Walterson and Charles Taylor, do hereby bequeath the honor of being selected the "best dancers" of the Senior Class to Nidy Lopez and Deanne Archer, Seniors of '54.

I, Dolores Taylor, leave my love of flirting with the boys to Barbara Dickens.

I, Peggy Tift, leave to Aubrey Richardson my ability to be early to class.

I, Phillip Thompson, will my zeal for ministerial work to whoever may appreciate its value.

I, Doughtry Torano, leave my secret of making "A's" without studying to Jack Clark.

I, Delia Touchton, do hereby leave to Marilyn Marsh my ability to sing bass in Mr. Whitley's chorus and get by with it.

I, Leo Tougas, leave -- period.

I, Shirley Trudeau, leave my football crown with a sigh to any Junior will appreciate it as much as I did.

I, Ernie Valdes, bequeath to my best friend Mary Fernandez my love for sports, school, and tall men.

I, Consuelo Valdez, leave to my cousin Franklin Hernandez my determination to hold a diploma in my hand.

I, Dolores Valdez, hereby bequeath my dark brown eyes to my sophomore sister.

I, Aldo Vidal, leave my ability to skip manual arts without getting into trouble to Jim Solomon.

I, Lolly Villate, hereby bequeath my ability to tell a lie with a straight fact to my cousin, Peggy Lou Jordan.

I, Camille Walterson, leave my ability as a flag-twirler to Gloria Knowles.

I, Jack Ward, leave to Robert Ward my ability to borrow pencils and paper every day.

I, Lorraine Warnock, leave my love for my studies to the younger set.

I, Clinton Warren, leave ability at sports to Richard Salgado.

I, Rex Weech, leave to Johnny Vidal my ability to talk a lot and say nothing.

I, Shirley Weech, leave to my brothers, Earl, Jr., and Jasper, my desk, my books, and my pencil.

I, Jack Wells, do hereby leave my ability to say more than Mrs. Martin in civics class to Barbara Dickens so that she too can make "A's."

I, Tom West, leave my ability to argue with the referees and win to Joe Pineda.

I, Peter Knight, leave my desire to play football to all the boys on the football team.

I, Peter Hilton, leave to any Junior capable of incultivating the semantics of words, so leave my ability.

I, Howard Matheny, leave my ability to keep quiet to Albert Sinclair.

To the Senior Class of '54, with best wishes for a successful Senior Year, we the Senior Class of '53 bequeath Mr. Schweitzer and the faculty.

Prophecy of The Class of 1953

SCENE: The Grand Opening of the Castro Theater

TIME: 1972

Arriving at the movie we see Adolph Alcala selling tickets. We buy some candy from Mary Baker and start looking for seats with an usherette who turns out to be Geraldine Ingraham. Looking around, we see some familiar faces -- Shirley and Tommy West, and Margaret and Murphy Cates, quieting the children.

The feature film, "My Friend Irma," starts. We notice that Marie Wilson has retired and that Myrna Curry is playing the title role, with Blanche Alligood co-starring. After the feature, we see a sportsreel. Candido Barcelo, the Mad Russian, and Javier Oropeza, the Crazy Cuban, are the featured wrestlers. Dolores Villate and Lucy Gonzalez have just returned from the Olympics, where they walked off with all the honors. Clinton Warren is now an All-American basketball star. In the football world, Aldo Vidal and Anthony Niles are managing the Chicago Rams. Starring with the New York Yankees is Joe Ladd. A short on latest fashions is next. The fashions are from Clements Betancourt's "Chez Francois," where the fashion directors are Francine Johnson and Lorraine Curry. The charming dresses, styled by Georgia Bailey, are worn by Vita Barroso, Osa Branthoover, Gale Curry, Martha Perez, Barbara Jolly, Yvonne Camalier, and Faye Curry, all models from Betty Rowan's charm school. The make-up was by Imogene Stansell.

The newsreel comes next with some very exciting local news. The two super markets in town, owned by Charles Baker and Alfred Link, are waging a price war. Scenes show eager house-wives Hortensia Calleja, Gloria Hyre, Faye Lowe, Peggy Paulk, Pat Lewin, Jean Pumphrey, Lillian Russell, Marie Spencer, Consuelo Valdez, and Dolores Valdez, shopping while prices are low.

Featured in the society news, Barbara Adams Van Allen gave a coming out party for her daughter. Entertainment was furnished by performers from Basil's Stork Club. Dancers included Marlene Park, Camille Walterson, Nancy Brooks, Ernie Valdes, Elizabeth Walterson, and Charles Taylor. Guests attending the party were: James Pettis, wealthy oil dealer; Joyce Lounders, Metropolitan opera singer; Claude Roberts, owner of the New York Times; Kermit Roberts, famous film star; Jack Wells, owner of Texaco Enterprises; Joel Sasnett, millionaire playboy; Robert Staves, Senator from New York; Shirley Thompson, President of the National BPW; Lorraine Warnock, Professor at the University of Florida; Doughtry Torano, President of Florida National Bank; Dee Touchton, Head of Religious Education at FSU; John Camfield, cattle rancher; George Gibson, owner of the Waldorf-Astoria; John McKillip and Harold McMasters, partners in a large ship construction industry; Mona Lee Honey, well known commercial artist; Donald Geck, motorcycle tycoon, Sherman McCaslin, who is replacing Red Skelton since he has retired; and the two famous mad scientists, Peter Hilton and Gene Lang.

Covering the event were Alice Garcia, photographer, and Evelyn Nettles, reporter, from Frank Roberts' Key West Times.

Also in the local news Philip Thompson dedicated his new church in a very impressive ceremony.

In the national news Carol Dalton, Chairman of the National Republican Convention, congratulates newly elected President of the United States, Billy Roberts and Vice-President Robert Sawyer. Roberts has already appointed several cabinet members, Jeanne Canova, Secretary of the Treasury, Janice Bopst, Secretary of State, Shirley Weech, Secretary of Commerce, Jack Gibson, Secretary for Defense, Annette Johnson, Secretary of the Interior. New Ambassador to Spain is Doris Piarrot and Ambassador to Brazil, Robert Pages.

A musical short from Carnegie Hall featured Thomas Cornell, conductor, Betty Sheppard, pianist, and James Lyles, solo trombonist.

The house lights came on suddenly and Leo Tougas manager of the theatre announces that all medical personnel are wanted immediately for an emergency. We see Doctors Harden and Pritchard, with Nurses Reeves and Tift departing. Jack Ward, mortician, leaves, always looking for business.

After this interruption we see a film on newly developed passenger planes, with Ralph Betancourt as pilot and Jimmie Collins and Betty Cooper as airline hostesses. Colonel Dale Mitchell and Lts. Kathryn Brady, Maxine Hatley, and Dolores Taylor from the WAFS are among dignitaries present.

A short newsreel pictures one of the construction marvels of the century. Under the supervision of Paul Braun and Rex Weech, prominent engineers, Howard Matheny and Peter Knight, contractors, are building a bridge from Key West to Havana.

Seeing that the world is in the safe hands of the Seniors of '53 we rouse ourselves, put on our shoes and leave the theatre.

PLAY OF THE YEAR

The Snappers, after their successful musical for "Santa Lucia" decided to produce a comedy play for the 28 and 29 of February. The choice lay in always being the "play of the year" because it is the last play and activity in which the graduating students participate.

The Snappers are very well supervised director like Mrs. Stark. The play will be a smash hit. Of course the cast will have to practice long and hard, but the outcome will be rewarding.

If you feel like the world is against you, then come and forget your troubles at this cute comedy "The Little Dog That Laughed." After you see the troubles that the Selby family have with their daughter who is philosophically minded, you will forget your cares in a flash.

The cast includes: Don Truitt, Carol Reeves, Charles Baker, Paul Tynes, Dorlene Villate, Martha Tress, Don Walston, Barbara Adams, Billy Roberts, Vera Harris, Harold McNamee, Shirley Truitt, Jeanne Castro, Jimmie Collins and Charles Taylor.

Real saved up the money and made a damn big money long and

Dramatics Class Performs In Assembly

Mr. Krumpholtz's drama class, which is composed of twelve able actors, gave a very entertaining performance in assembly Thursday, January 11 when they presented a performance called "Street Scene" in which everyone was constantly moving on the stage as it actually happens on the street. (Dorlene Villate) a lone and sick woman on the street, supplied by the art a story every-filled screen which ended the performance.

Yes, it was a dark and stormy night when Dale Mitchell went home to Pa. Billy Roberts, because her city slicker husband left her with an infant child. To add to her shattered nerves her villain husband, played by Don Walston, let her have the dummy (child). After a lengthy argument, the resolution, Peter Hilton, came to the rescue and saved the villain $1.25.

Paul Tynes, who is becoming well known for his pantomime, gave a wonderful rendition of his latest piece "There's Some Change in Me."

To bring an end to the assembly the class worked out a "Tangle" in which the students impersonated various teachers.

JUNIORS HIT THE JACKPOT

Picture a half ruined mansion on a desolate stretch of the Atlantic coast inhabited by strange malevolent servants, eccentric old women and a desperate killer. That was the scene set on Jan. 15 and 16 when the Juniors presented their play "Drums of Death" by Howard Reed. Under the direction of Richard A. Ertman the cast, Kay Winkle, Stanley Asmorg, John Keiser, Mary Sweeting, Duanna Archer, Pat Byrd, Jan Thompson, Marilyn Adams, Paul Avery, and Katherine Ross gave a performance that will not be forgotten.

Having been lured by false telegrams, relatives were put thru of nerve racking, hair pinning that left them afraid of what would

Polio Drive

The Student Council enough time to really Polio Drive, so they for an energetic group to take it over for Class accepted.

Bottles have been sold for money from classes. There is a raised above all the clubs with the most classes are working little work can be the rivalry between money has been out of this race and money will continue this worthy cause.

Posters have been every classroom at halls. Other plans to and will be carried drive.

The plot revolves around a "magic stone" which seems to be able to turn the tide of events in the war between the out-throats of Thompson's and the negro servants in the home.

Thompson's impregnation is discovered by the clever observations of our G-Man, Sheldon Harley. After Jules, the negro servant arranged the death of his wife and children, Paula and Sheldon are reunited. Eugenia Bowler, the busy old spinster, and her stubborn

Band must be in excellent physical condition to make the march without possible drop-outs. The Band travels under rigid rules and disciplines. They expect to be honored by invitation in the Hillside Hotel in Tampa and the Band is prepared for this.

Wednesday night, January 14, the home twirlers sponsored a Bon night at Bayview Park to raise money for new uniforms. There was a cake and candy sale and entertainment.

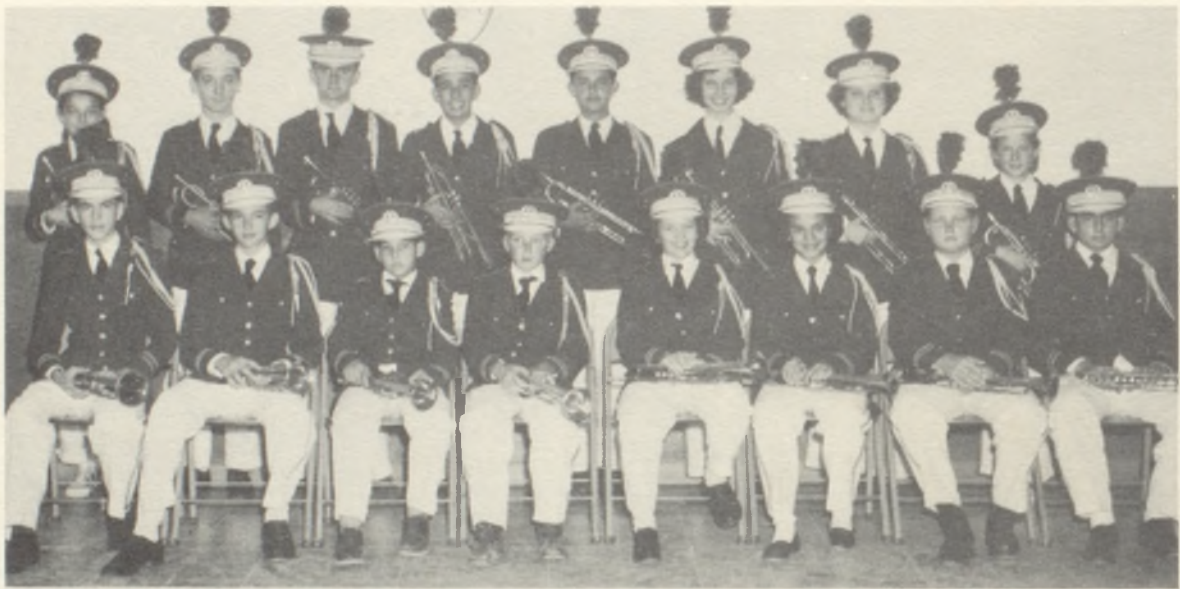

Some of the entertainment was two songs by Jo Ann Mullins, two songs by Robert Ladreux, and two by Nell Rose Sanchez; two pantomimes by Basil Tynes and Martha Walter, and twirling acts.
