WILTON MANORS COUNCIL NOTES

At the last regular meeting of the Wilton Manors Village Council, held on July 21 at the Village Hall, it was decided that Ray Coleman set up books for the village and that all matters pertaining to the village be kept in file and a record kept of anyone borrowing such data.

W. J. Robinson stated that the Twin Lakes Heights Water Co., will go ahead with their plans of supplying the village with water.

A contract postal station for money orders, registered letters to be mailed etc., is being taken up by Scrimgeour's of Wilton Manors. A letter to the Interstate Commerce Commission has been sent requesting that express and freight be delivered to the Village, as well as a letter to Postmaster Shand requesting that the village be included on the postal map.

A fifteen minute radio program has been okayed for the opening of Broward County's new radio station WBRD on Saturday, August 5.

A celebration to commemorate the establishment of the village is planned for sometime in November or December by the civic association.

A. Hagan requested a letter be written to Trailer Haven Trailer Park regarding the opening of the street on the right-of-way as it is dedicated to public use. He also appointed Mr. Chabot, Mr. Brown and Mr. Leaver as a committee to investigate the number of street signs to be made and the proper positions for same.

A permit was refused the Orange State Oil company to build a gas station at the corner of Wilton Dr., and 21st Street.

An investigation for street lights is to be made by that committee upon the request of such a light at 24th street by Mr. Miller.

SAFETY COOPERATION

Broward County Agent B. E. Lawton announces that his department is calling on all Broward county farmers to participate in the National Safety Council's program for farm safety.

Many of the 17,000 fatalities and a million and a half disabling injuries each year can be eliminated with care.

A ten per cent rate of reduction in accidents would save nearly two thousand lives a year.

RED CROSS INCLUDES SAIL BOATS

The Broward County Red Cross Chapter has taken the sailing of boats into their wide program of water safety and the first class of the summer will have a graduation "regatta" today.

Boats are furnished by Sam Barrett from his "Rainbow Fleet" at Bahia Mar. Boys and girls receive their instructions from Mr. and Mrs. John Komp, both of whom are certified small craft instructors. Mr. Komp is Red Cross executive secretary.

Classes are held every Monday, Wednesday and Friday, beginning at 8 a. m. for a two hour period, working out in a fleet of eight boats. The students must be between the ages of 12 and 18 and are to have completed the Red Cross Junior and Senior life saving course. Each session runs for a period of two weeks, the third and last for this summer, will begin August 14 and at the end of the season a huge regatta will be staged for all students participating in all three sessions.

PROMOTION

Fort Lauderdale and Broward County have lost one of their most able leaders in youth work.

Townsend Gresham, who has headed the County Girl Scout program for the last several years, has accepted a similar position with the work in Dade County.

She has already left Fort Lauderdale and is engaged in the new duties. Her successor has not been chosen.

ECONOMIC COMMISSION WITHOUT RESOURCES

To date the Broward County Economic Development commission, which has been asked to develop a program that will bring new businesses and industries to the county is without even minimum funds from the city of Fort Lauderdale which would reap the greatest benefit.

The commission originally asked the city to appropriate $20,000 for their project, but upon being advised by the city manager that the request was too large, are willing to settle for a $5,000 grant.

When Fort Lauderdale makes an appropriation other cities in the county are planning to contribute their pro rata share to the program.

YOUTH CENTER OPENING

The Youth Center had its official opening last night with dedication services held at the center from one until three p. m. this afternoon.

Participating in the opening were the young people for whom the center is planned, the many citizens who have contributed money, materials and labor to construct the building and the members of the youth center board that have patiently guided this project through countless discouragement to its completion.

A dance being held tonight will be the first opportunity for the teenagers to enjoy their new building.

BRIEFS FROM POMPANO BEACH

John Ginter, parts manager of the Pompano Truck and Tractor, is now on vacation, visiting friends in Knoxville, Tenn. He will return in about two weeks.

The M. Hirshman family has returned to their home from a six week tour and vacation in the north. Their tour covered points in Michigan and Illinois as well as New York City where they did quite a bit of sightseeing and made a visit to Radio City. Irene Hirshman, who has attended the Michigan State University for three years, plans to finish her college education at the University of Miami.

LITTLE LEAGUERS OF POMPANO BEACH

Every Thursday evening after the games of the Little League, the whole crowd is entertained by movies sponsored by the Lions club—we hear they are really killer-dillers “shoot ‘em up cowboy style.”

IT HAPPENED IN FORT LAUDERDALE

It cost one citizen of our community a tire and wheel to attend church.

Returning from the service last Saturday the amazed worshiper found his car which he had parked on South Andrews avenue jacked up with the wheel gone.

Attempted housebreaking was the charge filed at police headquarters against a swarm of bees that were attempting without a search warrant to forcibly enter a residence in the southeast section of the city.

Further adventures of the “bare-foot boy” written last Sunday but not by James Whitcomb Riley.

Such a character ransacked the Alamo club during the wee hours but apparently did not take much of value.

The Old Man of The Cypress Swamp . . .

“This yere is the stoopidest Army on earth.”

The Old Man of the Cypress Swamp was seated on the edge of his cot in his first army barracks. He had had his physical examination for entrance, and this was the day when he was to go to the dentist to get his teeth worked on. It would mark his first trip to a dentist, and he was more than a little worried about it; and consequently grumpy.

“Ah don't want to bite them Koreeyans, ah wants to shoot 'em, carnsarn 'em, and the sooner ah starts the better.”

I tried to sympathize with him. “They just want to be sure you can chew your food,” I said.

“Whut ef ah don't?” he said beligerently, it's mah stummick and ah got a right to treat it any way ah wants to.”

I was a little worried about him, so I went to the dentist with him. I needn't have, as it turned out

He got in the chair all right, and opened his mouth when the dentist told him to, but when the dentist, a shavetail, put the pick in his mouth he spouted a veritable geyser of what appeared to be smoke and jerked his head sidewise.

“Don’t yuh go stickin’ thet nasty thing in mah mouth,” he glared.

“You mean don’t go sticking that thing in your nasty mouth, don’t you,” said the dentist, getting a little hard-eyed himself as he wiped himself off.

The old man’s Adam’s apple quivered menacingly.

“This guy’s service record says he’s 26,” remarked the dentist to an associate, “by judging from his teeth I’d say he was 74 or 75.”

“Ah’ll make yuh eat them words, yuh sassy young squirt,” said the old man fiercely.

“You’re going to eat this pick, and this drill and these forceps first,” said the dentist.

“Listen,” squawked the old man, “this yere Army says my teeth ain’t no good but ef yuh git yore fingers near mah face agin you’ll find out diffrunt when yuh puls back a nub.”

“Now you listen,” said the lieutenant, hard-eyed for certain, “I’m going to work on your teeth. I’m going to do it if I have to have you put in a strait jacket and lashed into that chair, and if I have to have your mouth strapped open . . . I think propped open would be better . . .” he added a little dreamily.

The Old Man glared, his Adam’s apple worked quiveringly, almost pleadingly, but there was no relenting in the eyes of the cold young shavetail.

“Oh, well, go on and fix ’em ef thet’s your notion,” said the Old Man closing his eyes and opening his mouth wide.

From then on things went along with comparative smoothness.

“Old man,” I said, when we left the dentist, “my editor has written me and he wants me to keep on asking you a question each week. He says that even though you have left the swampland the people who read his paper, if any, are on tenterhooks to hear the wise prognostications that can come only from the mahatma of the marshes.”

“Fust let’s go to thet Peeyex, ah wants tu git me some elixir, after whut thet whippuh snappuh done to mah mouth.”

“But,” I protested, “they don’t sell elixir in the PX. This is an Army camp.”

“Shet up,” was the reply.

“The question he wants me to ask, I said, as we walked into the post exchange, is whether or not there is any justification for the hoarding of tires, autos, food and so forth now reportedly going on.”

The old man sat down at a table and began to cast his eyes about. They lit on a little negro bootblack standing nearby.

“Hey kid, c’mere,” said the old man.

The bright-eyed young stove lid came right over. There was a whispered conversation. The bootblack nodded a couple of times and left, only to return seconds later with a pint bottle in his shoe shine kit, which he slipped to the old man.

“Ah may not be a college greduwate, but ah kind shore locate the campus bootlegger in a hurry,” he shorted. “The kid there is a business man, yuh kin spot ’em evry time.”

The old man leaned down low and took a long drink.

“Carnsarn it, son,” he said, “there’s yer answer right there, the smart operators will always have whut yuh wants when yuh wants it, and where”

“Shore, this yere hoardin’ is justified, unless the next shortage that develops is one of North Koreeyans left to shoot; and ah don’t reckon thet’ll happen any time sudden.”

DEERFIELD BEACH SENDS 4-H GIRL

Barabar Jean Dame, of Deerfield Beach, who was selected by the state home demonstration office for the scholarship, will take off via plane tonight to represent Florida's 15,000 4-H Club girls at Camp Minnowina near Shelby, Mich.

The camp, which is the American Youth Foundation Leadership Training Camp, is one of the most beautiful in the world and covers an area of 200 acres on Lake Michigan and Stoney Lake. Experienced leaders give guidance for individual development, for character, development and leadership training.

Barbara Jean, the 15-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Dame of Deerfield Beach, is the president of the Broward County 4-H Club.

The Deerfield Beach Lions club and the Home Demonstration office are providing the funds for Barbara's transportation.

An outstanding member of the 4-H club in Broward county for the past seven years, Barbara has top honors in leadership and activities. She holds 86 blue ribbons for her achievements in clothing, nutrition, health, home improvement, gardening, canning, poultry, child care, safety, and fire prevention. She has won four scholarships to State 4-H Club Short Course at Tallahassee, and was elected this year to the State 4-H Club council secretary for the coming year.

SCHOOL FOR EXCEPTIONAL CHILDREN

A department of our public school system will open at the Broward County Airport in September with classes specifically adapted to the needs of children who have difficulty with sight, hearing, speech or who are crippled.

In complete support of this program the County Council of P.T.A. recommended that financial assistance to the school for these exceptional children be provided by the 16 local P.T.A. units.

Dr. Paul Hughes, county health director, will examine the children to see if they are eligible for enrollment in the new school.

IN OUR MAIL

EDITOR, TIMES:

You may be interested in the enclosed clippings on behalf of objections to tunnels. The Pittsburgh one speaks for itself. Miami, at least, was decent enough to allow the citizens of the town to have a vote on the slum clearance, which overruled the city commission.

Here is a copy of an opinion of a Pittsburgher who sent clippings: "Lauderdale is a grand town, but they had better not put any more tariff on the tourist. It has the reputation now of being the most expensive town in the South. They will not get people to pay 20 cents every time they go to the beach and back."

Sincerely,
MRS. H. E. W.

Gentlemen:

Sold on Fort Lauderdale and Florida in just one hour — That's what happened to A. J. Burkey who came down just a little over a year ago for a visit from Pittsburgh, Pa., where he had been in business for some 20 years. He sent a picture post card of the city to his wife on which he had stated "This is your future home." Shortly thereafter, he returned to Pittsburgh, sold his furniture upholstery and refinishing business as well as his home, packed up his belongings and was on his way south with the family. He purchased a home on Victoria Park Drive and is now operating BURKEY'S FURNITURE SERVICE at 1110 N. E. 4th Ave. His policy has always been that of good workmanship and "not how quickly a job can be done, but how well"

Noticed that HICKEL DRUG STORE opened last week in Wilton Manors. The village is growing by leaps and bounds — and have you noticed how dolled up MANOR SUN-DRIES are these days — neon signs and new paving all around — Those gals are really on the ball . . .

Hope you enjoy those stories that Ruth Brenner of the DOUBL-AR PAINT AND HARDWARE, Oakland Park finds time to write every now and then — we sure do, which reminds me — we have a short story contest going on now, why not get in there and pitch? You may be

Fritz of FRITZ BILLIARD BAR is back on the job after a short vacation. Rather difficult to get back into harness again, isn't it Fritz? . . . OAKLAND PARK POULTRY has closed their retail store for a month or two, but you can still get those lovely fresh eggs from the house, next door . . .

Seems that everyone is vacation-minded these days — would sure like to take a week or two, myself. Stopped in to see Hal and Clara Caudle at the Pompano Plumbing — Hal is getting very well known for his paintings — will tell you more about that next week, though. Anyway, they told me that Hirshmans' have just returned from a nice long trip, other folks will soon be coming back to get ready for their winter business . . .

Lyle Weaver at the chamber of commerce showed me those exceptionally good air views of the Southeast Florida Coast. They are really remarkable and you would be surprised to see how much land is still undeveloped in this area. In some of these photos your eye reaches from Hillsboro as far as Miami, and you can actually discern the curvature of the earth's surface — very interesting . Why not go in and take a look at them Folks sure do enjoy those "sing fests" at THELMA'S these evenings — you can feel right at home when you visit this late-at-nite eating spot — and I've yet to hear Thelma get stumped on a piano request . .

That rumor we passed on to you, the other week, about the widening of Atlantic Blvd., is really taking place — work is progressing at a good speed and have you noticed all the building construction going on a little further north on A-1-A? Mr. Wadell's SEA GARDEN HOTEL is taking on that appearance and promises to be one of the most modern hotels in Florida.

Hey Mac, how's real-estatin'? Pretty good, I'd say By the way, the Hugh D. Stillman's have returned from their jaunt to the Bahamas Islands and Panama and Cleland Van Dresser, the writer, who claims to be "half Yankee and half Florida Cracker" is now making his home at Pompano Beach. His hobby, we understand, is raising Airdales Now I know why Ted at TED'S SNACK BAR was so agreeable about letting all the girls take off for a morning fishing trip — heard he took the whole day off for the same purpose, but was not as successful as the girls — However, he didn't get wet, that's some consolation, ain't it?

Did you know that there is a shirt and slack factory now located in Fort Lauderdale? It's THRU-SKILL, a branch of the factory operated at Lake Worth. It's a wholesale and retail shop combination, and what merchandise! But beautiful.

Seems that every few days a new shop opens at the Gateway on Sunrise Blvd. Just a week or so ago

GATEWAY LIQUOR STORES opened and now you can get all your liquid refreshments without having to trek all the way down town

ELECTRA-APPLIANCE shop in Wilton Manors have a complete line of that nationally famous brand of gas and electric ranges — Tappan. If you're a listener to "Stop the Music" you should be quite familiar with this high quality product.

Something new has been added to PAUL SMITH SHOE SHOP in Wilton Manors — he now has a "Shoe Shine Boy" that boasts of being the first rival to Chattanooga Shoe Shine Boy

Radio Station WBRD gets on the air with regular programs next Saturday. They've got some good stuff coming up — Hope you'll be listening — 1580 on your dial.
