NOTEBOOK
(Wen R. PHILLIPS)

This paper is strictly a local institution, dealing only with the Magic City and the increasing thousands who yearly discovered Ponce de Leon's elixir on Biscayne Bay, and striving always to show Miami life as it really is; but we can't refrain, in view of the local heat the Cards-Detroit 7-game series stirred up, from classing 3rd-Baseman Owen of the Tigers as the boobiest player in baseball history. It was his refusal to shake hands with Medwick that precipitated the riot in the sixth inning; it was his asininity that caused Judge Landis to remove the series' most brilliant St. Louis batter, as well as fielder (for up to that time Ducky Medwick had never erred in left field, had hit 11 times in 29 times at bat, was leading batter of both teams, had knocked one of the four home-runs of the series, and, at a critical moment in the deciding game, slid into a 3-bagger against the Tiger baseman, who showed his teeth and got the gambling bleacherites into throwing pop bottles.

There'll be more than pop bottles awaiting our baseman Owen when next season he encounters some of the remnants of the famous old Egan's Rats of St. Louis. The "Spirit of St. Louis" is long-famous, and long remembering. You should remember it was the "Spirit of St. Louis" piloted by Lindbergh that proved Paris was just a hop from New York!

Owen can't deny he was the series' biggest boob, outside of that riot. In 29 times at bat, he got 2 hits, an average of .069!

I don't know how many people listened over WQAM's program from Chicago's Fair Thursday afternoon, but I know everyone who did will agree with me that the tribute Carrie Jacobs Bond, the country's most wonderful woman writer of songs, "I Love You Truly" will be a good song in the next century, paid Henry Ford and his cars (and she claims she doesn't even know him personally, but wants to) was the most touching bit of talking ever heard on the ether waves. No wonder that woman can write songs!

Getting back to sports, the Herald's report of the south's biggest football game, as chronicled by Lawrence Rollins, might have been kidding. Dick Plasman of Miami now left-end for Vanderbilt, but it is most likely intended to boost him. However, in the half-column story Rollins wired into the Herald about Vanderbilt's defeat of Georgia Tech Saturday "Our boy" appeared before Plasman's name precisely 21 times. The sports writer missed only two opportunities in the write-up to use the "our boy" phrase.

At famous men and women,
I've often had a peek,
But when you meet them face
to face,
They're really very meek.

I've shaken hands with Lindbergh,
Who 'cross the ocean flew,
But never heard him brag of it,
He left that part to you.

The modesty of great ones,
Impresses, does it not?
And "EGO" soon destroys itself,

UNCLE SAM WANTS KATZENTINE! WHY?

BIG-SHOT DAN Mahoney's brain-trust up in the Cox-News Tower, constantly maneuvering some way of out-smarting us natives, went beyond the bounds of decency, even in political warfare, with the arrest of Val Cleary, who for 14 or 15 years has been one of Miami Beach's most respected citizens. Respected? For years he has been a large property owner; he has close to $100,000 in Beach property free and clear today, and his home at 8th and Ocean Drive is a work of art; the people of Miami Beach, before syndicate-gambling came into effect, elected him mayor twice (the first time, of course, wasn't counted properly as all of us who worked for Red, know, down in our hearts, because at that time Red needed a job and Val didn't!) Before that he was justice of the peace, and before that, city tax assessor. And, before that, Val was always, like he is today, a wholesome citizen of the Beach.

To make a long story short, here's the situation:

Dan Mahoney, who used to be James M. Cox's son-in-law, and is now the Tammany Tiger chief in these parts, apparently able to control all patronage from the White House down to precinct committeemen, wants Abraham Frank Katzentine, from some place in Alabama, made mayor of Miami Beach for a second time.

Miami Beach, you must take in mind, is the prize gambling jewel of the continent during January, February and March, when the big birds' pulses stir to the sound of craps or roulette. A dictator controlling Miami Beach's gambling "concessions" is, indeed, a tremendous figure.

But even the supporters of the Tammany Tiger may-orality candidate paused when they heard the Cox-News boys screaming that Val Cleary was in jail and hadn't produced bond "at the time this edition went to press!" They knew that Mr. Cleary had produced bond hours before that "edition" had gone to press as the court records will show, and as the final horse-race results the Cox-News printed in that edition will substantiate! They knew something was terribly wrong in the picture.

Why shouldn't the good people of the Beach pause?
America's winter capital, small as it is but in many ways the richest community on earth at the present time, defiled by seasonal gambling interests!

And the far-reaching influences of the Cox-News' Washington connections to call in even the government to squelch any opposition to the youthful Abraham Frank Katzentine!

City, county, state, and now Federal aid — to elect a Miami Beach mayor, who, under the true meaning of the city charter, is at the mercy of any one of the seven councilmen (if he didn't arrive late and leave early)!

STATE AID — Governor Sholtz, doing another of his frequent disappearing acts, removed Constable Jim Hickland, twice comfortably elected by the voters, upon the grounds of being an Irishman, refusing him trial. Jim, as constable, was in a position to hamper the Cox-News' Tammany Tiger combination.

FEDERAL AID—The News Tower Brain Trust's dictated appointment of Abraham Frank Katzentine's law-partner, Sanders Gramling, as district attorney for this part of Florida. The resulting indictments hooking the name of one of his two formidable opponents in an alleged conspiracy with a couple of professional bondsmen, Uncle Sam's agent claiming the two lots he had offered as security weren't worth a $500 bond. Real estate agents ought to get a great kick out of this!

We hold no brief for the bondsmen—except for this: They were warned months ago this would happen, if they kept opposing Katzentine and supporting Cleary for the mayorship this winter. Election, you know, is in December, just as things begin to get hot.

But this business of dragging a public-spirited citizen's name into the quagmire of Cox-News politics is too much to stomach.

Especially now that John Levi, who has been the head and guiding star of the Miami Beach council ever since it existed, is almost being drafted to get Miami Beach political affairs back on their feet. Is Cleary's arrest an intimidation in which the government is, unwittingly, taking part?

We ask you?
President Roosevelt, who has always shown such high regard for this garden spot, would do the citizens of Dade County a great favor if he would personally investigate this situation — and try to straighten out our coming winter season.

MIAMI LIFE
From Miami Life of August 25, 1934
LATE last night it was being rumored that not only would Louie Schwartz and Sol Jaffe be indicted by the government for the violations of criminal bond transactions, but that Former Mayor Val C. Cleary, who has announced his intentions of again opposing Mayor Frank Katzentine, would be dragged into the case. Sanders Gramling, Katzentine's law partner, is new assistant district attorney.

The Saddest Combination

By JOHN KIMBLE

(Editor's Note: The following verses are particularly appropriate at the present time in Miami, as they shed a strong light on one phase of Miami's tightest Summer. They were written especially for Miami Life by Mr. Kimble, who is generally regarded as one of the most profound thinkers of his day in economic matters.)

Letters by themselves are futile, Aimless, harmless and inutile, Meaning naught to you and me till In the right position.

One alone of these is gay That is O linked up with K; All the rest are sad indeed, Yet they flourish like the weak, Sombre ones like R. I. P. Frightful ones like F. E. C. Powerful ones like G. H. Q. Ugly ones like I. O. U.— Which, though probably the first, Cannot quite be called the worst.

Nay, the worst one is that hellish Script, that words cannot embellish, Which is writ with so much relish Large upon a rubber check! It is something that pursues you, Making friend and foe abuse you Till you feel the whole world views you As a leprous moral wreck.

I refer, as you have guessed, To the banker's meanest jest— Letters three in hard array, Glaring, staring baldly Shouting fit to rouse the deaf, Sneering in a spiteful way; Or grinning up in fiendish glee; Those fateful scratches—N. S. F.

So don't blame us about late papers — especially on a day of superstition!

really some more brewmeister if taste and effect mean anything to the beer drinking public.

It is quite interesting to know the progress that has been made by Mr. John Hough since he has been connected with the local Ice-O-Matic distributor. During the past week Mr. Hough has sold upward of twenty-five Ice-O-Matic units, more than half of which were cash sales. It is not unusual for prospective buyers to call at Mr. Hough's home in the evening to solicit his assistance in making selection of the proper type unit best suited to their needs. Mr. Hough may be reached by phoning 2-2164 or calling at the office of the Standard Appliance Company, located at 225 N. E. Second Avenue and he assures you of the best service in this line available.

Round the Town WITH ROD

The most lovable thing about Miami is the fact that you know that eventually you are going to see nearly every one who is near and dear to you on the streets of the Magic City.

We had the honor and pleasure this week of meeting Mr. and Mrs. Ray Gallagher whose brother-in-law, Barney Adair, is one of the writer's dearest friends.

We heard all about New York, it's ten per cent beer; the good looking girls, Aggie and Ann and how they send Jean to the corner for a pail of beer, then sit around in pajamas (even on Post Avenue) getting a bit high before saying good night.

Dick Springmeyer, Jr., who caught a seven foot eleven inch shark off Miami Beach last week after an unusual battle with this, the most feared denizen of the deep, was photographed with his prize specimen, which should convince the skeptics in the big city that he really landed the old boy, all alone too. The elder Mr. Springmeyer who was also here for a few days, is on his way back to the Adirondacks, where he has a cozy little hunting lodge. Bring us back a bear, Dick.
