South Beach Banditry!

The midway thieves at South Beach need a publicity agent else they may remain in obscurity. We've done our best in our modest front-page manner to exploit these lads, but thus far they can't seem to crash the big-time rogue's gallery.

The Biltmore hotel bandit got his picture all over the nation by robbing only one lady and her 70vear-old boy friend. It is true, the loot was $180,000. but the jewels were insured and the victims remained calm enough to proceed to a night club.

At South Beach the sidewalk thieves are lifting themselves more than $180,000 this season, and it will come from not less than 180,000 people, and yet they don't seem able to get their names on a police

Perhaps the Miami Beach Chamber of Commerce or the venerable Committee of About a Hundred could assist these wiry lads in getting along in the world a little faster.

Various wheel-games that are controllable, where the player doesn't have a chance to retain bus fare home, are whirling the money out of the pockets of the gullible players as rapidly as the shills can make their bets. These devices are worse than roulette, where an element of chance is supposed to be involved. Such games are sure things for the proprietors and should be closed.

Next week, if such establishments are still operating, we will publish a list of the games, with descriptions and addresses.

We believe all enterprising, up-and-coming robbers deserve a little publicity.

Sauce For The Goose!

A partisan group of Dade county lawyers. whose motives we question, has made a suggestion that provides food for thought.

These lawyers demand that County Attorney Fred Pine be replaced when the gambling indictment against State Senator Hayes Lewis is to be tried. Mr. Pine has very properly declined to yield his office to a substitute.

The point was raised by the politicallyminded group of lawyers that the senator is a close friend of Fred Pine; that this alliance would preclude the operation of justice in the Lewis case.

Dominating the committee of lawyers are the following: J. M. McCaskill, whom Fred Pine defeated in 1932; Charles Morehead, who was acting county solicitor during Pine's suspension and who is known to be antagonistic to Pine; and Bill Gray, who helped prosecute Pine when he was under fire.

These patriots are afraid Senator Lewis won't be prosecuted properly if left in Fred Pine's hands. What a shame this great sense of fairness that seems to repose in the souls of these legal lights did not assert itself during the recent grand jury inquisition!

If this burning desire for justice had permeated their bosoms during that farce, perhaps it would have been apparent to them that there was something decayed in Denmark about the indictment of Lewis.

Perhaps they would have remembered that State's Attorney Hawthorne made bitter adio attacks on Senator Lewis last year when Hawthorne was trying to bring about the defeat of Pine.

The lawyers' group gets quite damp in the armpits because Senator Lewis' prosecution is in the hands of a friend. Why didn't this same patriotic impulse move the lawyers to shout about "justice" when the Lewis indictment was being obtained by Hawthorne, the same gent who had berated Lewis in vituperative radio speeches?

If it is wrong for a man to be prosecuted in open court by a friendly official, it is doubly wrong for a man to be persecuted behind closed doors—at an ex parte investigation by a bitter enemy.

Justice! Phooey.

CURTAIN FOR BISCAYNE

Saturday marks the close of a highly successful greyound racing meet for the Biscayne Kennel club under Joe Adams' guiding hand.

Manager Adams is to be congratulated on the tremendous contribution the Biscayne track has made to the pleasure of Miami and its winter visitors. He has at all times enjoyed the confidence of his patrons and consequently there has been no whisper of criticism against Biscayne. Adams has demonstrated that he is a public-spirited citizen interested in Miami and its residents, and he enjoys the utmost respect of his wide circle of acquaintances. In the sporting world he is known for his constant endeavors to maintain greyhound racing on a high plane.

Joe Adams is a citizen of integrity whom the business difficult to size up until the flame and smoke have subsided, and even now you can't poke around in the smouldering embers without causing the native and tourist alike to hold their nostrils.

BUT WHEN THE FULL EXTENT OF THE GRAND JURY TRAVESTY IS PERCEIVED, IT BE-COMES GHASTLY!

We have searched our heart for the most charitable view to take of State's Attorney Vernon Hawthorne, and we have concluded that even if he so desired. the eminent prosecutor couldn't be honest in his "crime probe," as it is jokingly called, because his hands are bound by his bosses.

Dade county frequently feels a deep resentment against Gov. Sholtz, a resentment that flares every time the governor refuses to render some service within his power to this end of the peninsula, but Gov. Sholtz would be forgiven, in part, if he would perform the timely service of eradicating Mr. Hawthorne from the landscape.

Do we intimate that Mr. Hawthorne is dishonest?

No, we do not intimate; we assert it.

We cite the utter perfidy of Mr. Hawthorne's recent grand jury performance. There was not a whit of honesty about his presentation of evidence. It was the greatest fake and sham since Barnum billed a five-foot girl as the world's largest midget."

To begin with, there was no general clamor for an investigation into gambling, because everybody except those enrolled in the Cocoanut Grove kindergarten was aware that gambling was a highly popular pastime here and quite a seasonal industry. Nobody ever suspected that Mr. Hawthorne had any real curiosity about the extent to which gambling flourished here.

SO WHY ALL THE SHOW? WHY THE USE OF ENOUGH SUBPOENAS TO MAKE THE PRINTERS RICH? LET'S SEE THE BUG UNDER THE CHIP.

At first glance, it might not be apparent that rank favoritism was shown in the drawing of true bills. But when you study the under-cover political alliances that honey-comb Dade county, then the bogus tent-show, with Hawthorne in the role of barker, appears in its true light. It becomes the most reprehensible instance of official rascality that it has ever been our misfortune to smell.

It doesn't require a diagram to explain the whole phoney set-up. Even those not well-versed in local politics were aware during the recent race for mayor at Miami Beach that gambling was made an issue in the reelection campaign of Mayor Katzentine. Dan Mahoney of the Daily News was the boss of the beach just so long as Katzentine was mayor, and in a desperate attempt to retain him in office, Mahoney's henchmen passed around the word that if Katzentine was defeated, gambling at the beach would be closed and it would be a tough winter on those who supported Snedigar.

Since Snedigar licked the News' mayor by two-toone, Dan Mahoney is no longer bossing the beach, but under the heading of unfinished business, he pushed a buzzer for his satellite Hawthorne to crack down.

See? Hawthorne cracked down, alright, but we have to mention only one black spot on the beach to illustrate our argument that the gambling indictments were in

Like a livery stable fire, the grand jury fiasco is bad faith and were part of a plot to punish those not friendly to the News' defeated mayor.

The big gamblers indicted did not include any of the operators who supported the News' candidate, and it is most conspicuous that Mr. Hawthorne locked the other way when it came to trying to get an indictment against Ike Levy, operator of Ira's Supper Club, that was notorious last season for its crooked dice games.

Like two-headed Janus, of olden mythology, who could face both ways at once, Mr. Hawthorne showed to the public the pious countenance of a crusader when he indicted the bunch from Deauville and Palm Island and Auby's and Carter's, while in the oposite direction he showed a comforting smile to Ike Levy of crooked-dice fame, that said "Old Boy, you needn't worry; you supported the News candidate, Katzentine, and Mr. Mahoney hasn't asked me to indict you, pal!"

A report of unquestioned authenticity is that the grand jury, of its own volition, was about to indict Katzentine, his police chief Teaney, and his cheer-leader Mike Dallett, when Mr. Hawthorne, strategist, at once subpoenaed them as witnesses, thereby gaining for these Mahoney men the immunity from indictment that is available to those turning state's evidence!

Whew! Gov. Sholtz, if the wind ever changes, we won't have to write you about all these goings-on. Your nose will know all.

IT IS AN UNHAPPY DAY FOR DADE COUNTY WHEN SUCH A DESPICABLE POLITICAL MANEU-VER CAN BE STAGED IN ITS VERY COURTHOUSE. IT IS A CORRUPT AGE WHEN GRAND JURIES CAN BE LED INTO METING OUT REVENGE TO THOSE WHO DIDN'T LINE UP PROPERLY AT THE POLLS. DISHONESTY STALKS A LAND WHEN ITS VERY OFFICIALS WHOSE PROVINCE IT IS TO ENFORCE THE LAW EQUALLY AGAINST ALL OFFENDORS ARE PERMITTED TO SELECT WHICH PERSONS SHALL BE TURNED SCOTFREE AND WHICH SHALL BE OFFERED ON THE ALTAR OF POLIT-ICAL AMBITION BY AN ASPIRANT FOR THE GOV-ERNORSHIP.

Remove Hawthorne? Why not? The integrity of the courts can be maintained only by an impartial administration of the laws.

In some countries the people are governed by rulers: In this land we are governed by laws. Our laws comprise our government. Destroy the courts and we destroy our government. And a people without government is what existed in the days of savagery when justice was determined only by the size of a warrior's club.

Law enforcement! Yes, there's a lot of hollow mockery in the phrase, but in reality it is the foundation of our civilization.

The machinist tends his lathe while the law hovers about his cottage, protecting his mate and the babe in the crib. The farmer in the furrow treads the cool new earth while the integrity of the courts gives him assurance that his hillside cabin will not be ravished.

You think that funny, eh? You laugh because you think that such safety for people and property doesn't exist nowadays! Admitted: but it could exist if the people didn't tolerate the system of special privilege that is symbolized by officials of Mr. Hawthorne's ilk.

HAUPTMANN

On March 18 a switch will be thrown in New Jersey High voltage will seize Bruno Richard Haptmann and burn his heart out. His soul will be seared to avenge the heinous Lindbergh crime.

Tears will be shed for Haptmann, though, even by those who feel he is guilty. A maudlin public will always sniffle at the cringing form of a human in the shadow of the chair. Whether it be Hauptmann or Jones or Smith, a doomed convict is always a pitiable creature. It usually takes another fiendish crime to stimulate a nation again to a bloodthirsty pitch. When the Lone Eaglet was found in the Sourland mountains, this nation of 130,000,000 people would have applauded the lynching of the slayer, so revolting was the crime. But time cools the anger in men's veins and Hauptmann was tried in the courts. We are to accept the verdict as being correct; yet, thousands will always believe the jury was presumptious in declaring him the murderer when he wasn't even traced to the scene of the crime.

The case proved to be the great American detective mystery for the family circle. Never was there such mystery to a case that afforded such an abundance of clues. The ladder, nail-holes, planks, hand-writing, automobiles, dialects, money, etc., provided a fascinating puzzle that minds large and small delved into with much relish. Secretly every man imagines himself a Sherlock Holmes, but even the great Doyle could not contrive a mystery that would phaze the amateur sleuth as did the case just ended.

RASPUTIN

(from New York Mirror)

Col. Abe Rasputin Hallow has made peace with Little Augie who recently insulted him publicly at the Hialeah race track in Florida Miami's disappointing season is blamed on two factors: (a) the greed of hotel keepers in jacking up prices because the American Legion convention held there in October led them to believe the tourists were loaded down with lucre again; and (b) the fact that two Palm Beach plutocrats, Joe Widener and Col. E. R. Bradley, owners of the Hialeah track, take a couple of million out of the city during the 45 days their track operates and give little of it back The natives are getting sore at this pair.

FROM THE TRAC

I WAS very glad to see the Hialeah Park stewards follow my suggestion and reinstate J. M. Jones who owns and trains St. Stephens. Altho there has always been rumors about certain jocqeys owning horses or having a share in them, it is sometimes hard to prove as jockeys smart enough to own horses are smart enough to cover up their tracks. There is no racing law against a jockey owning or training horses but he must ride his own horses and have a license to train. When a jockey is a silent partner or owner of horses and rides another When a jockey is a silent partner or owner of horses and rides another horse in the same race with his, complications are liable to come up that may prove embarrassing. The stewards should be the first to realize that form reversals, rumors of jockeys owning horses, etc., tend to defeat the purpose of racing, which is primary a sport, the Sport of Kings. Every effort should be made to keep the sport clean. The responsibility lies with the owner and trainer of horses, if they fail the stewards should then take drastic steps not only to protect the sport but to protect their own jobs.

WHERE DO WE GO FROM HERE?

By F. P. GOULD

From the depths of a world-wide depression,
From the hell of a great despair,
When the nation had dared to smile again, This New Deal was put on the air.

The millions of men—and the women too, Who had waged a long-losing fight, Were assured that this marvelous program Would transform all wrong into right.

So they handed us first the N.R.A.
With the R.F.C. on the side
And seasoned this line with the C.C.C., A gesture of national pride.

When the P.W.A. and the A.A.A.
Were added, as dignified strokes,
N.I.R.A. proved only that A wheel is as strong as its spokes.

And the T.V.A. was then organized For the glory of Dixie Land, With C.W.A. and I.W.C. thrown in, A mere wave of a lavish hand!

Came the dawn, and with it an urgent need,
And the F.E.R.A. was born;
Rich promise still lay in the alphabet;
Revived hope kept pace with each morn.

We next saw the magic of F.R.A.
And the heralded I.E.C.
We glimpsed the performance of N.C.A.
Our applause was both loud and free.

The God of Good Promise had smiled again, So he gave us the P.R.A.,
Including the well known S.O.S. and
New codes with the dawn of each day.

It certainly has been a dizzy whirl; We've seen it from a ringside seat, And now we wonder just where we are at— Washed up, knocked down, or on our feet?

Impatiently the nation waits and prays; E. Plu. Anum—how tough the crust! The alphabet has stood a lot, but yet We have this left: "In God We Trust."

NEWS and VIEWS of the TURF By Jockey Jimmy WILL WE HAVE A NEW DEAL AT HIALEAH?

Recently the stewards banned R. Curran, a one-horse owner, and his bread-winner, Saint Kitts, after the plater won from a very cheap field. His offense was not one particle as bad as the recent race of New Deal and Howard. Flagrant form reversals such as these two horses did, especially when the Northern books were loaded with money on them, are giving Hialeah and Florida racing a terrible black eye. Now the turf clan is wondering if any action will be taken against Trainer Goode. Or are the bigger stables exempt from the sting of official censure. Recently the stewards banned

St. Valentine's Day

St. Valentine's Day rolled around again this week and took us unawares. Here came the postman bearing the morning mail and among the stack of several hundred new subscriptions, which is usual, especially on the first mail, there appeared a scented pink envelope, addressed in a feminine handwriting. We opened it, our heart a-flutter, expecting to get a few lines from that gorgeous brunette whom we inveigled into a chat on the bus.

From the envelope we extracted a dainty, lace-edged valentine. Underneath a bower of roses, between a row of hollyhocks and over a bed of violets stood a beautiful damsel. Then there was penned this charm-

"Roses are red, violets are blue.
"Sugar is sweet, and your rent is due." (Signed) Landlady."

On our desk was this endearing remembrance that touched our

'Roses are red, are beautiful flowers. 'You've parked by a fire plug nearly two hours. Patrolman Nelson."

And then the telephone jingled merrily and the missus, in honeyed

"Roses are red, sugar is sweet.
Don't forget to bring home the meat."

So the spirit of St. Valentine had filled our gladsome soul, and we strolled about to see if this sweet old custom was being observed generally. We came across Vernon Hawthorne, and he was readying a Hawthorne, and he was reading a It went like this:

Roses are pretty; so is the verbena.
Thank you too much for that lovely subpoena."

We found a group of lawyers lunching at Grandma's Kitchen. They had just asked County Attor-Fred Pine to withdraw from the Hayes Lewis case, and their response was an old-fashioned valentine, with great red hearts, cupids with poised arrows, holly berries, shamrocks, American flags, pumpkins, ghosts and turkeys. His touch ing love message was as follows:

Roses are rosy red and violets are very blue. You've tried to make me guit my job, but I'll always Pine for

Down at the Daily News office we slipped into the throneroom and glimpsed a quaint valentine over Dan Mahoney's shoulder. It was signed: "Your devoted Vernon:" "You are my great big Valentine, on you I'll bet my money. We don't care what the neighbors say; you'll always be Ma-honey."
