

Big-Hearted Widener

That alleged sportsman, Joseph E. Widener, has been hiding his light under a bushel, so to speak. This doughty horse fellow has been lambasted hard and often, but underneath his rugged exterior there flutters a heart that is as tender as an anvil. We've misjudged him. Hitherto unsuspected traits of liberality lurking in Joe's bosom are revealed in a passage from Walter Winchell's celebrated column. Here 'tis: "He is described best as Miami's best known horse owner and breeder and so forth. He's too rich, too. Last winter he and his junior and the junior's wife were driving back to Palm Beach from Hialeah. They were touring in a trailer. Their driver hit a stalled truck and the whole business turned over. It was all published. But you've probably forgotten it. Here are some details that escaped the reporters. Shortly after the accident, J. T. Rambler, a Miami business man, drove up and investigated the wreck. He crawled through a window with difficulty because of the broken glass and hauled out the occupants one by one. All were bleeding profusely. Placing them in his car, he drove them home and had doctors there when he arrived. Rambler's own machine was a mess, the alleged blueblood of the social tribe had stained the upholstery. Rambler thought he'd get a new car out of it, anyway. Not hearing from them for a week, Rambler decided to clean up his machine. In a corner he found a diamond bracelet. An appraiser valued it at 15 G's. He raced 75 miles to the home with the bracelet, where after a long wait outside, the son came out, took the jewels and said: "Much obliged." He wasn't even asked to stay for dinner! Nice people."

Of course, the Ramblers didn't expect a spic-and-span new automobile or a cash reward, but it is human nature to enjoy personal association with such golden-hearted individuals as Joey Widener. Note on etiquette: Should he have asked him in?

REMOVE HAWTHORNE!

MERELY PROVING our contention, what, after all, is a Dade County grand jury worth to Dade county. Nothing but a bunch of money. It indicted Senator Hayes Lewis. A carefully selected jury took barely time to get out of the court room to exonerate him — just four minutes to be exact.

The state's attorney, Vernon Hawthorne, must be stopped, somehow, from running a grand jury and embarrassing high-grade men — simply because he's been led to believe he's got a chance of being governor — which he hasn't.

There are many capable men in this state who'd make better governors than any we've ever had. It's tactics like Hawthorne's that keep them from running. Hawthorne is a cheap attorney. Ask his former partner, S. Grover Morrow, once judge of Miami Beach. Morrow is a better lawyer. They split. Why? We'd bet on Grover any time against Vernon. Grover's little finger knows more law, more court procedure, more finesse, than Vernon has learned in his several years of build-up by Dan Mahoney's Cox-News. The record proves it. The only feat Vernon has ever accomplished was to get a medal from some unknown society for convicting Zangara last season for killing Cermak — a man who pleaded to go to the electric chair the day after the shooting.

This shifting of politics, evidently intended to delude the public, makes us feel silly. It's been going on ever since there have been two horse tracks and three dog tracks—and high and low class gambling establishments.

The five tracks don't pay off like little bookmakers. They pay off in great secrecy. But Pete Robineau, who is state representative, when he gets mad, can tell you how much Widener, the Philadelphia millionaire and alleged sportsman, paid each legislator in 1931 buying off the Florida legislature.

It would be hard to prove. But Pete knows it. Rep. Dan Chappell was one of the handlers of the money. Although Pete warned them not to hand him any money (because Pete isn't that kind) they sent him a check, along with the rest — after the pari-mutuel bill was passed. Pete sent it back.

These are rather grave items, involving the future of the state. But our state's attorney, Mr. Hawthorne, doesn't worry about issues like these. He'd rather pick up petty bootleggers, petty bookmakers whom everybody downtown patronizes. Rather? They're the only ones he brings before the grand jury.

What was Hayes Lewis indicted on — and released by a jury in four minutes? Gambling and operation of a gambling establishment.

It's so ridiculous.

Hayes, you know, might be the next governor. And Hawthorne is jealous. Hawthorne himself isn't gubernatorial timber — regardless of what Dan Mahoney's Cox-News says about him.

If Miami people don't find out just what is behind these grand jury investigations and incriminating a lot of good men — they'd all better leave town. It might be you next!

Stool Pigeons

Unwittingly, three splendid young members of the Dade County Bar lent themselves to a reprehensible phase of Vernon Hawthorne's big tent show. We refer to Messrs. Enwall, Weintraub and Harris.

In the Lewis trial, it developed that the direct evidence that gaming occurred at Deauville consisted of the testimony of these three able young lawyers.

They had gambled at Beautiful Deauville. They had lost, not their own funds, but money supplied them in sums ranging from $10 to $20 each.

Stool pigeons! Finger men!

Instead of searching out evidence of others committing crime, they went out and committed crime themselves in order to implicate the night clubs that were the targets of Mr. Hawthorne and his bosses. They manufactured evidence by violating the law, thereby occupying a situation that does not add prestige to young lawyers.

Doubtless the desire to aid the bar association led this fine group of attorneys to commit the crime they admitted; but such tactics seem to be rather low and despicable.

Round the Town WITH ROD

That courtly Chesterfield, Hon. Pete Robineau, fascinated the audiences at the Lewis trial this week. A more impressive figure never graced the Dade county bar. His immaculate appearance, the quiet dignity of his manner, his deft thrusts of satire, and the grace of his gesture combined to thrill the spectators.

Take the suavity of Menjou, the charm of William Powell and the dramatic skill of Barrymore and embody them in one person—that is Pete Robineau. His wondrous command of English, his amazing logic and his impeccable delivery should be the envy of any public man. In the legislative hall at Tallahassee he is certain to become an increasingly important and influential personage.

In contrast, the performance of Mayor Ev Sewell in the same courtroom was grating to the finer senses. During Judge Brown's inquiry into the Tribune reporter's error, the mayor flung himself forward with an ungracious, abusive tirade against the newsmen who were at that very moment at a bar of justice. His coarse pyrotechnics were not befitting the dignity of mayor and constituted another flagrant impropriety of a man who knows no better.

A visit to the beautiful and most exclusive Paddock Bar and Grill over on Miami Beach will convince one that the new type of drinker (Continued on Back Page)

In western Florida a farmer dug up a human skull of twice the normal thickness. It was sent to Tallahassee without the formality of an election.

Huey says he didn't strike Sen. Bilbo because he had "athlete's foot in his finger." Lessee, didn't he once get licked by a guy with water on the knee?

That was too bad about Clarence Potampa yawning so much that he broke his lower jaw. But he should quit reading the Miami Daily News.

Douglas Fairbanks and Lady Ashley are taking a cruise to the Virgin islands. Of all places.

Henry Rost, Havana hotel man, says that "Batista is the man of the hour in Cuba." A nice thing about the island republic is that it has a man for every hour.

Senator Huey Long says when he is asleep he keeps one car in the air. And when he's awake he keeps one state in the air.

BETTER HOUSING

The Better Housing Program opens the way to better living for you.

Repairs, alterations and improvements may be financed now at low cost. If you have ready cash, use it. If not, responsible property owners can now borrow on favorable monthly terms. Those improvements you have wanted to make need be delayed no longer.

Every property owner who puts men to work and creates a demand for building materials and services will find himself repaid many times in personal as well as community benefits.

Money is available. Workmen are ready. NOW is the time to act. See page three for particulars.

Curtail Grand Juries

Senator Hayes Lewis' acquittal is not an isolated case of a well-standing citizen being besmirched by grand jury indictments only to have the true bill found entirely without basis. So frequently has this injustice occurred in all sections that the very worthiness of the grand jury as an institution is being seriously challenged.

By the very nature of their operations, wherein a witness, under the cloak of secrecy, may blacken a citizen's name in a star-chamber session, grand juries are becoming frightfully unfair agencies of the people. The persons involved have no chance whatever to refute the word of witnesses that in cases similar to that against Senator Lewis were prejudiced.

As a taxpayers' group to investigate the operations of various institutions and departments of county government, the grand jury is a worthwhile body, but it is not a proper agency for instituting criminal charges. Eventually, we predict, grand juries will be abolished, or their powers modified, through force of public sentiment.

Gamblers Versus Gamblers

Involving as it does the risk of being regarded as unduly harsh, we wouldn't further suggest the wisdom of removing Vernon Hawthorne from the office of state's attorney unless we had already found so many Dade county citizens who justly cheered the proposal. Our stand was completely justified in the maze of testimony that resulted in a jury's four-minute acquittal of Sen. Hayes Lewis.

If you haven't ever seen a turkey buzzard after a cyclone, you haven't missed much from the standpoint of beauty, but you've missed seeing a very naked bird, and its embarrassment could be no greater than the chagrin that overcame the eminent state's attorney after his depluming in Judge Brown's courtroom this week.

Now that you get a less obstructed view of the state's attorney, you will more readily agree with our appraisal of his recent activities.

That Mr. Hawthorne was using his office to punish political foes was in itself not dishonest, if his so-called "probe" had also extended to the wrong-doings of his friends; but the utterly unthinkable tactics used in getting evidence are of such corrupt nature that Mr. Hawthorne's further occupancy of office is indefensible.

It was sufficiently improper for Mr. Hawthorne to permit the gathering of evidence against gambling houses through the repugnant "entrapment" method, but all the more vulnerable he became when his investigators used the money of other gamblers as bait!

This shoddy maneuver came to light in the testimony of Ex-Judge Rose. He was asked about the source of the money which he turned over to three young men to spend at Deauville. He revealed it came from a man named Alexander, a gambler of years' standing!

One gambler spends his money, through the channels of the state's attorney's department, to exterminate other gamblers!

It is simple to advance reasons for removing Hawthorne. It would be most difficult to think up any reason for further tolerating him.

The Low-Down On The Week's Happenings

Senator Hayes Lewis beats the gambling indictment, which is the first of the "groan jury" cases to be tried. *** Coral Gables launches a publicity campaign. *** Hollywood's city manager, M. S. Worland, gets the gate. *** Judge Brown and other popular county officials are honored with visit from Editor Jeans and other Tribune celebrities. *** Boo-Hoo-Ful Dough-Villa proves itself solvent to the satisfaction of Bankruptcy Referee Curry. *** Big Red and Little Red Slaton are released on bond under Federal liquor charges. *** Society note: Among the arrivals for the remainder of the season is "Little Nicky" Montone, accused as being one of the $185,000 Biltmore gem thieves. *** Sylvia Sydney, alias Stoakly, visits the cover-charge belt disguised with a pair of dark glasses and a pair of dark gentlemen. *** Judge Dunn bears down on inebriated motorists. *** Earl Carroll was another distinguished guest in court this week. *** Dolores and Winona, of the Karpis entourage, are here as the guests of the gov'mint. *** The Sparks chain buys the Little theatre; a better break for the film fans would be for the Little theatre to buy the Sparks chain. *** City commission orders inquiry into criminal bond deals. *** Board of Trade advocates fixing limit for hotel rates. *** Disorderly conduct ordinance is broadened to include wiggling your ear at a goose. *** Senator Hayes Lewis comes out openly for state liquor stores. *** Sneak thief steals checks from Mrs. M. E. Weinrich which she was sitting in church—Pew! *** Funeral Director John Burke escapes a stiff (!) fine when acquitted on charges of embalming without a license. *** Events: Art exhibit sponsored by Miami Woman's club is open; auto show will open Monday; international tropical flower show being arranged by Harvey Firestone; and a group of clubwomen are sponsoring a table-setting contest. *** Distinguished visitor: Roy Howard, head of the Scripps-Howard newspaper chain. *** Note to landlords: don't get discouraged about those vacancies; the summer tourist season is nearly on us.

GETTING RESULTS

Miami Life's editorial last week on "South Beach Banditry," stoutly demanding the closing of numerous controllable gaming devices was followed by swift action on the part of the authorities. These swindle devices were a plague and this newspaper feels it rendered a service to the public in insisting on their discontinuance. We commend the officials for their wise course. They should be kept closed.

Meanwhile there is a public demand for some of the popular "corn" games that have operated at South Beach for many years. They are not controllable, they are five-and-ten-cent games, and it would not be amiss to provide these simple amusements for the never-ceasing crowds that patronize the beach in both winter and summer.

It looks as though the small owner at Hialeah must always take the worse of it. Charges that Steward George Brown, Jr., put Owner R. Curran on the spot when Curran was suspended for the Hialeah meeting a few days ago are being hurled at the official by friends of this horseman. It is understood that Brown has never overlooked a chance to "hound" Curran and Curran's friends attribute his suspension here along with his horse, Saint Kitts, to Brown's influence in the Steward's stand at Hialeah. The horsemen at Hialeah are organizing, not only to defeat Major Beard's infamous claiming rule (that will just about wreck racing for the small owner) but to help along the little owner and trainer who depend on their bread and butter. Unless the so-called big guns of racing who protect stables like Whitney and Greentree, realize that racing also depends on the small owner and trainer (especially when the weather is bad) they are cutting their throats and making the way for others to open tracks to run them the way they should be run.

Property Owners WHO WISH TO FINANCE Repairs-Alterations-Improvements UNDER THE TERMS OF THE NATIONAL HOUSING ACT

- 1. Who may apply? You—if you have a steady income and a good credit record. 2.—To whom do I apply? To any financial institution cooperating with the Government, or to your local Better Housing Committee, or to a contractor or supply dealer. 3.—Must I be a depositor? No. 4.—How much money may I apply for? From $100 to $2,000—for improvement on any one property. 5.—May I borrow for work on more than one property? Yes—if your income permits. 6.—How much time am I given to pay? From 1 to 5 years*—at the discretion of the financial institution. 7.—What does the credit cost me? Not more than $5 discount per $100 on a 1-year note, payable in monthly installments (see a sales agent for farmers, etc.) 8.—Do I make any "down payment"? No. 9.—What security is required? Only the property owner's signature — unless security is required by State law or by the lending agency to facilitate extension of credit. 10.—What assurance must I give? a. That you own the property. b. That your annual gross income is five times the annual payments on your note. c. That your mortgage if any is in such standing that the lender is justified in making the loan. d. That you will use the money solely for housing improvements. 11.—Must friends endorse my note? No. Co-signers (other than wife or husband) are neither prohibited nor required. 12.—May the owner of any type property apply? Yes. 13.—Must I use any particular kind of building materials? No. You choose your own workmen and materials. 14.—May I borrow to buy housing equipment? Yes—if the equipment is "built-in or permanently attached." 15.—Do I borrow money from the government? No. The government insures the institution which makes you the loan. 16.—Where do I make payments? In person, by mail, or as otherwise arranged with the lending agency. 17.—Should I wait until I can spend $100? No. Your object is Better Housing. The time is favorable. If you can pay cash for repairs, alterations or improvements—do it now!

PRIVATE OPINION

Each week we ask people picked at random a timely question. For each answer used we charge $5.

QUESTION: "What do you think of the tourist season?"

Lucinda Letgett, Minsky's Million-Dollar-Pair, cornered by the cameraman as she sipped a sassafras tea at Grandmother Kelly's Kitchen: "I'm heartily in favor of the tourist season, and will be glad when it begins. Just as soon as the American Legion convention is over and rentals come down a little, no doubt we shall see some tourists:

Of course, there may be a few here now, but it's been so long since we saw any real tourists that they're difficult to recognize."

Marmaduke Shock, Miami landlord, who lives at Syracuse: "I think we need more season and fewer tourists. I heartily favor the current suggestion that rentals be regulated. The other day a tourist walked in and paid me $110 a month for an efficiency apartment. It's a crime, and yet we have to stand for it."

Georgia Gritzen-gravy, snapped at the exclusive Surf & Turf club: "Yes, I believe so, since you've asked me. The tourists are being made to feel more at ease. The grand jury has washed a lot of dirty linen right out in public, but that is just a homely touch that reminds me of our quaint family life at Elberton, Ga."

Fanny Ward, cosmetic demonstrator: "I think this is the greatest season I have ever seen in Miami. I often told Henry Flagler that if he would only build a railroad here, the whole nation would make Miami its mecca. I said: "Henry, you're a chump if you don't build a railroad to Miami when you grow up," and he looked up at me and said, "Well, Miss Fanny, I guess you're right!"

Margie Muckle, beauty parlor graduate: "It looks like a mighty fine season to me. The business trend is definitely upward, especially since the foreign situation has been cleared up. Caroladings show a decided increase and the supreme court's stand on gold is cheering. In fact, I've been thinking about remaining here a little while longer if I don't thumb a ride to Jacksonville by Saturday."

IS MR. DIVISATKIVCH-SMARTYCZSKI IN? The telephone is not making very rapid progress in Russia. Perhaps it's no wonder. Imagine a man going to the phone and shouting: "Hello, is that you u, Dvisatkiichsmartycski?" And the answer comes: "No, it is Zolzebschouskaffirnockmstiffsgrowoff. Who is it that is speaking?" And the answer comes: "It is Seximochofkieftrjuakmx k i s s chokemoff. I want to know if Xliferomanefflskimahuj u w czastowweibierski is still staying at the house of Divis o s t kivchsmartroiszi?"—Lake City Reporter.

is one who sits at the bar with his wife, or friend, and discusses the "situation". Not only is the Paddock one of the world's most beautiful bars but is known to entertain more celebrities than any other place of its kind in America. To greet you and see that your evening will be a most pleasant one is the host and manager, Tommy Clear of New York. Tommy, as you know, has been host to over 3300 leaders in the Political, Social, Business and Sporting world and is known as "America's Best Known Host". In a recent tour of Europe, Mr. Clair visited the famous bars in London, Paris, Berlin, Rome and other large cities and there became accustomed to the European operation of Bars and Grills. Speaking of Europe, Mr. Clair said that cultured drinkers in America can stand their hard liquor much better than the Europeans who are generally champagne, wine and beer drinkers. Tommy is not only a pleasing host but along with being a connoisseur of liquors his many titles included being a judge at two of the nationally known beauty shows in the East—and does he know the ladies

The Play Boy Club out on N. W. 36th Street at 11th Avenue is now being operated by Domino "Fats", well known fighter and manager of fighters of Atlantic City. "Fats" is a friend of all the greats in the boxing and wrestling world and was a sparring partner of the late Harry Greb.

Music at the "PLAY BOY CLUB" is being furnished by the Playboy Serenaders with Al Stinson, marathon piano champion tickling the ivory. One of the features is Hotcha (himself) Hinton who is very clever dancer and singer. The club is offering everything at most reasonable prices with beer being a dime with no cover or minimum charge being taxed.

NITE LIFE

Wally Knows Fights

If you have seen the floor show at Aubey's Lagoon you marveled at the versatility of Wally Vernon, that highly original master of ceremonies.

His perfect pantomime of a pugilist, followed by an essentially correct imitation of a wrestler, was the high-light of his work. He can bestir in the greatest grouch a good humor with his infectious fun as he presides over the various acts. And if you wonder how Wally presents such exact mimicry of pugilism, you'll understand when we tell you that once he was in the fight game, having secured various bouts, and has had ample occasion to study the uppercuts and feints and the groggy reels that he re-enacts for Aubey's patrons.

Huey at The Gables

We'll get to the Coral Gables Golf & Country Club next week; but meanwhile, we don't want to miss this chance to tip you off that it is featuring a Chinese baritone by the name of Huey Long!

New Bay Front Spot

Art Childers and "Shag" Daye have cranked off in excellent shape at the New Royal Palm club, which grades the bayfront on the F. E. C. property where the old Biscayne Yacht club formerly held forth.

And look at the talent! It includes Peter Higgins, RKO stage and screen star; Emily Von Loesen, dancer from Chez Paree and Follies Begone; the Maxellos, acrobatics; Brian McDonald, late of Carroll's Vanities, singer; Lynn Lewis, female Hal LeRoy; Virginia Harvey, tap and specialty dancer; and a chorus of 24 girls—besides Chic Scoggins' orchestra.

Deauville Has Dough

Beautiful Deauville had no difficulty whatever in flashing a bankruptcy in bankruptcy court this week, thereby arranging with Uncle Sam to continue its merry way of amusing the night throngs. First crack out of court was a new deal with the three Ritz Brothers for another week's appearance; and of course Helen Morgan is rejoicing to know the man didn't come for the piano, because she is to sing off of it for some time yet, being headliner of the show. Other artists include Northway and Danillo, society dancers; Clifford Newdahl, tenor; and the Stanley Twins, dancers. Dance music comes from Paul Sabbin's orchestra.

Bubble Dancer

At Palm Island, Rosita Royce is the lass who is forever blowing bubbles for Earl Carroll's Revue, and her bubble-dance is a featured number of the spectacular Carroll floor-show. Earl heralds his chorus as the three dozen most beautiful girls in the world, and you'll agree; besides, these artists are principals on the program: Arrens & Roderick in "Opera in the Ruff"; Duffin and Draper, dance team; Frances Abella and "John Tio"; Betty Allen, personality singer; Beryl Wallace, dancer; Jean and Gloria, "Dance of the Violets"; John Hale, tenor; and Sylvia Manon and Co., adagio routines.

Bouche's Good Bet

M. Bouche, the head man at Villa Venice, can be depended on for providing everything that's nice for an enjoyable evening—and morning. You don't ask: "What's on at Bouche's?" From habit you merely ask: "What time are the floor shows?" Anyway, they are at 9:30, midnight and 2:30 and there is an abundance of talent, to wit: Mildred and Maurine, Joyce Coles, Dille and Kelly, Ilma Novak, Dolly Arden, Grissna, the Cameo Trio, Duano and Duonola, Corita, Neely and Daniels and Ada Lee.

And the Biltmore

Carlos Molina came up from the Pampas with a South American orchestra that is hotter than seven hundred fire crackers to play for the dancing feet at the Miami Biltmore. Chet Brownagle, too, is still on the job with his Biltmore orchestra in the main dining room, and don't forget the Kolomoku Hawaiian quartet. Master of ceremonies is Harold Murray, and his performers include Medrano and Donna, Spanish dancing team; LaFayette and LaVerre, apache dancers; and Robenne Robbins, chanteuse intime. (Go ask yourself!)

New Ira's

The new IRA'S Club over on Miami Beach is attracting large crowds nightly and Manager Ike Levy will continue to present his big attractions, the Yacht Club Boys and Veloz & Yolanda.

For the last several years America has acclaimed the Veloz and Yolanda dance team as one of the best, having been featured both in America and Europe in the leading Clubs and Hotels. Adler, Kelly, Kern and Mann, who are known as the Yacht Club Boys are great favorites with the winter visitors in the Miami area. Music is furnished by the Veloz and Yolanda orchestra under the able direction of Shen Fields.

SIX-DAY BIKE RACE

Plans have just been completed to give Miami the supreme sport thrill of the world. The six-day bicycle riders, cream of the world's best, who will perform at Madison Square Garden in New York City, will arrive in Miami about March 8 where they will face the starting gun for a six-day grind on March 9 at the Cinderella ballroom.

These international stars will pedal continually night and day for six days for some of the largest prizes ever offered at any meet. Among the stars expected to file entry blanks are the well known Italian rider Giovanni Brocco and the French flash, Mon. Letour, De Gitano, Drow, Polasky, Stankrez, Dazelos, Ginovich, Jarkovich, Du Point and many others.

A wood cycling track to encircle the floor of the Cinderella ballroom will be constructed. Construction of kitchens and rest rooms for the riders is also taking place and when the meet opens at 12 o'clock p.m., on Thursday, March 9, the interior of the renovated Cinderella will hardly be recognizable.

This is the first time that the international bike grinders have come to the Magic City and judging from their success in such cities as New York, Chicago, Boston and Philadelphia, the sports fans of Miami are in for the real sport thrill of a lifetime.
