NOTEBOOK

—BY WEN R. PHILLIPS—

HOW did Earl Curry, referee in bankruptcy, acquire the double corner, on the southwest corner, just north of the Second Avenue bridge?

And if it is true that a dummy bought it in at bankruptcy proceedings before Earl Curry for a nominal sum—and then turned it over to Curry in 1929 or 1930?

And if it is true that Earl Curry doesn't pay taxes on it? And why?

A few months' stay in a hospital sometimes reveals unsuspected popularity. Such was the writer's experience at Arthur Ellis' beautiful Sun-Ray Sanitarium out Flagler at S.W. 30th Avenue recently. He took pride in believing himself out of circulation—but discovers, upon reappearing in national haunts, that several local barkeeps had contributed their finest Scotches and Ryces to an alleged "basket for Wen."

Wen thanks friends for their spirit—even if their spirits disappeared in transit!

Our own Al Root, who made "Sloppy Joe's" famous on the Hippithorne corner in Miami with his famed coconut drink and has extended his "Sloppy Joe's" to the best spots in New York and Atlantic City, is back in town, after breaking into print with at least two of the leading columnists of America—Winchell and O. Biltmore Manager Lands in Hoosegow

THERE seems to be some rivalry between Col. Henry L. Doherty and the City of Miami for the services of certain men. A few weeks ago the advisory publicity board fenagled around and got the name of Carl Byoir, publicity director of the Miami-Biltmore, on the city's pay-roll as an advertising ambassador.

Now the police are trying to get Milton Chapman, managing director of the Biltmore to work for the city also. Officer Kargland arrested Chapman at Miami Avenue and Flagler Streets on the night of August 14th for driving his automobile while intoxicated. Chapman was tossed in the hoosegow and called lustily for Chief of Police D. E. Sox of Coral Gables. Chief Sox sent one of his henchmen to the jail where Chapman was released in his custody until the following morning. The next morning he was arraigned before Judge Dunn and fined $54.24, and sentenced to two days in jail. He spent a few hours in durance vile immediately after his arrest and the remainder of the jail sentence was suspended.

TOOTS!

Meet Miss Daisy Hanjaras from the Grant Store. She is this week's winner in the big Attractive Working Girl Contest. Her friends call her "Toots."

NIGHT CLUB LICENSE FEES

CLINKING of glass and fascinating rhythm will still prevail in Miami Beach night clubs this winter but not in such large gobs as heretofore. The Beach council has jumped the license fee ante from $250 to $1,000 which will not materially affect such places as Deauville, The Roney Plaza, Aubys' Lagoon and a few other of the larger places but which will play havoc with the "short" bankroll boys who try to operate six or eight weeks during the peak of the season. The license fee boost was voted at Wednesday's council meeting.

MISS DAISY HANJARAS IS WINNER FROM GRANT'S IN BIG CONTEST

HER name is Daisy but everyone calls her "Toots." Her full name is Miss Daisy Hanjaras and she is the winsome little eye-full who captures you with a fascinating smile as you enter the Grant Store from the Flagler Street side. Miss Hanjaras is this week's winner in MIAMI LIFE'S big city-wide contest to find Miami's Most Attractive Working Girl.

"Toots" who manages the photo studio at the Grant Store, was born in Atlanta. She came to Miami eleven years ago and attended Miami High School three years. She is five feet two and one-half; is a decided brunette and weighs 107 pounds. She is just 19 years old and lives at 1523 N.W. 8th Avenue. She studied photography under the famous George Hellwig of Portoflex, Inc., New York.

"Oh Boy, am I happy?" she said yesterday when appraised of her victory. "Just wait until I tell Mama. I want to thank everyone who voted for me and I hope they will keep on liking me in the big contest."

Miss Billy Paul was second to Miss Hanjaras and Miss Irene Norton was third. Others from the VEN the despised loan sharks who filch pennies from the purses of paupers are paragons of virtue when compared to the Federal Savings & Loan Association, the dollar juggling institution unconsciously financed by Uncle Sam and operated by Harry Lipton in the Congress Building.

Here is the actual case of a property owner who was strangled in the Lipton trap. Desiring a loan on his property to raise a sufficient amount to pay off a mortgage which was due he went to the Federal Savings & Loan Association and presented his plight to Harry Lipton, president. Lipton informed him that the loan could be procured from the Home Owner's Loan Corporation providing the holder of the mortgage would sign an agreement to accept Federal bonds to satisfy the mortgage. Lipton agreed to assist the property owner in procuring the loan and dug up a "client" who offered to purchase the mortgage at a 10 per cent discount and likewise agreed to sign an agreement to accept Federal bonds in settlement of the mortgage.

The loan was negotiated and Federal bonds were tendered to the "client" as per agreement. The "client," obviously a dummy, demanded a large sum for discounting the bonds despite the fact that their face value covered the mortgage and before the property owner could get his breath he was presented with a whopping big bill for attorney fees from Lipton for assisting in procuring the loan, and another bill for insurance which he had been compelled to take out in the J. M. Lipton Insurance Agency at the beginning of the deal. The total amount involved for attorney fees, insurance and "discount" was over $500 which the property owner didn't have. Lipton then suggested that he grant a second mortgage for the amount which he did.

Then he got smart. He discovered that the Home Owner's Loan Corporation act specifically provides THAT IT IS A FELONY FOR ANY PERSON, PARTNERSHIP, ASSOCIATION OR CORPORATION TO MAKE ANY CHARGE FOR EXCHANGING OR DISCOUNTING FEDERAL BONDS AND SETS THE PENALTY AT A MAXIMUM FINE OF $10,000 OR IMPRISONMENT FOR NOT MORE THAN FIVE YEARS. He also discovered that the government invariably recovers any such premiums when cases are reopened.

Accident Rate Assumes Alarming Proportions, Says Beach Chief

By H. V. YOCUM
Chief of Police
Miami Beach

THE accident rate in this country is assuming alarming proportions, and Florida cities reflect the conditions found in cities of other states. The states that have inaugurated laws to license drivers of motor cars, have reduced their toll of accidents in almost every case. A drivers license law is always of help to departments of police in enforcing violations of traffic laws, and I should like to see such a law enacted in Florida.

The rapid growth of Miami Beach has created peculiar traffic conditions here that are perhaps not duplicated in any city in the country. Our traffic department was organized to care for a population of about 6,000. Since 1930 this population has doubled in size until now it is 13,300, and is

Rambles AND Rumbles

FIGURES don't lie, but you can play tricks with them. A couple of years ago directors of the Miami Beach Chamber of Commerce decided to cut the salary of its secretary, C. W. Chase, Sr., 20 per cent. He was drawing $6,000 per year.

When the matter came up Secretary Chase said, "The cut is all right, but why not give me a break. You cut my salary 10 per cent and after you have done that I will voluntarily ask for another 10 per cent reduction."

The directors agreed and the first 10 per cent cut was made reducing his salary to $5,400 per year. He then volunteered to take an additional 10 per cent reduction and it was reduced to $4,860. A 20 per cent reduction as first planned would have reduced the salary to $4,800—figure it out yourself.

He refused to pay the discount and he likewise refused to pay the full amount to Harry Lipton for attorney fees. He told Lipton the insurance premium was too high and that he could obtain a pol-

The Tax Champ Takes a Bow!

MEET Mr. W. H. Garrison, the champ of tax-deed manipulators in Dade county. Take your bow, Mr. Garrison.

This is the man who has been so successful with purchasing of certificates in particular spots that he stands to make $500,000 profit from his shrewdness next Monday if the courts sustain him.

And the City of Miami will lose $5,000,000 worth of tax liens it now holds against various properties.

About three months ago, Mr. Garrison, who has been buying tax certificates since 1926, when the boom collapsed, filed suit to prevent

Re-Election of Mayor Sparks and Loyal Council Members Predicted in Hialeah

IALEAH'S municipal election, September 10th, promises to be a mere formality with the 1150 registered voters going to the polls to re-elect Mayor G. C. Sparks and the four councilmen who have supported him during one of the most prosperous and economical administrations the race track city has ever enjoyed.

L. H. O'Quinn, a present city councilman, is Mayor Spark's only opponent in the race but isn't conceded a chance of even being close when the ballots are counted. Councilmen A. F. Fanger, John T. McGuire, J. W. Kaminski and Charles G. Schumacher comprise the

$175,000,000 FOR A DITCH

A FEW money mad politicians are still striving desperately to bamboozle Uncle Sam into spending $175,000,000 to dig a ditch across the whole state of Florida.

Poppycock—Florida has no more use for a cross-state canal than a flute player has for two left feet. Shipping between the Atlantic and Gulf of Mexico doesn't warrant expenditure of such a huge sum and should the canal actually materialize it would be utilized by a few tramp steamers plying between New York and New Orleans.

We can think of nothing funnier than an absent minded Romeo trying to keep his Sunday night date with one of the Dionne girls about seventeen years from now.

On account of the heavy demand for copies of MIAMI LIFE containing ballots in the big Attractive Girl Contest it is practically impossible to keep the newsstands supplied.

"Don't Shake It At Me," Says Greeby

Famous Inventor Emerges Victor In Repartee With Hizzoner In Woodshed Fracas; Reporter Swoons

R. HAMMERHEAD GREEBY, inventor of the famous overhead sprinkling system for wooden legs, was found this week by the MIAMI LIFE reporter with Ev Sewell on the sun porch of the palatial Greeby home in Sewell's woodshed.

"I don't take no back seat for nobody," bellowed Greeby as the reporter approached.

"I do not desire no publicity," croaked Ev shaking his cane at the news hawk.

"What?" gasped the reporter scarcely able to believe his own ears.

"I mean I do not desire no publicity," yelled Greeby looking scornfully at Ev, "this ape with his rumble seat chatter has got me all mixed up in my lines."

"Got you mixed up?" squawked Ev, "I'm the one that don't take no back seat for nobody, and I don't want to hear you sayin' it no more."

"Don't shake it at me," snorted the reporter as Ev continued to wave the cane.

"Hey you!" bellowed Mrs. Greeby rounding the corner of the woodshed on the gallop. "I'm the one that's supposed to tell him to quit shaking that thing at me. You're stealing my lines."

At that moment Little Geraldine, Greeby's adopted daughter, crawled from beneath the woodshed playing lustily upon a flageolet which caused Mrs. Greeby to forget her peevishness and go into a hoochie-koochie dance.

"Don't you shake that thing at me," bellowed Ev smacking her across the cam shaft with his cane.

"I thought the reporter was the one supposed to tell him to quit shaking that thing," sighed the news writer.

"You ain't supposed to say anything. You're supposed to ask questions and I'm supposed to say I don't desire no publicity," roared Ev.

"You're as nutty as a fruit cake," snapped Greeby. "You're the guy that don't shake nothing in no back seats. Quit stealing my stuff."

"You're stuff?" shouted Mrs. Greeby. "It's my stuff he's stealing."

"What?" shrieked Greeby grabbing a pick-handle as he eyed Ev with mayhem in his eye.

"Boys, Boys," groaned the reporter. "We're all mixed up. Let's start all over again. This don't make sense. Now who is it that don't take no back seats?"

"It's me," responded Mrs. Greeby. "Who is it that don't desire no publicity?"

"That's me" snorted Ev, knocking a couple of woodpeckers off his nose with his cane.

"You're a liar," rasped Greeby, "I'm the one that don't want no publicity. I started sayin' that before you ever shook your cane at nobody."

"I ain't no liar you damn scallawag," bellowed Ev. "I don't take no back seats for nobody," giggled Mrs. Greeby as Little Geraldine started her hoochie-koochie music again.

"Quit shaking that thing at me," shouted Greeby. "I wasn't shaking it at you. I was shakin' it at Hizzoner," beamed Mrs. Greeby.

"You ain't supposed to be shaking anything. I'm the one that does the shakin'," ruzzled Ev. "Sez you! groaned Greeby. "Who started all this argument?"

"I suppose I did," sighed the reporter. "I didn't have any business associating with a bunch of lunatics in the first place."

"Who's a lunatic?" roared Ev again shaking his cane in the reporter's face.

"Don't shake that thing at me," fired the reporter.

"That's my line," yelled Mrs. Greeby. "You quit stealin' my stuff."

"I never stole none of your stuff because I don't take no back seats for nobody. Quit shaking that thing at me. I don't desire no publicity," gasped the reporter as he sank into unconsciousness.

The SOCIAL WHIRLED

MR. SAILING BARUCH, who has more money than a weekly newspaper editor has enemies, was seen at the "rasslin" match at the Coliseum last Monday night. He wore a red and white striped shirt and almost had one of the "rasslers" in his lap.

MR. L. L. LEE, who city manages, and who "lammed" out of town, was seen in the Courthouse one day this week. He denied that he had "lammed" but said he would like to "lam" someone in the puss.

MR. BUCK LEATHERMAN was caught grinning one day this week when the auditors told him they had finished their work and would be forced to report that there was no shortage in his office. Two other officials acted sort of envious.

MR. C. L. WHEAT, of the purchasing agent Wheats, walked through the Seybold arcade last Monday. He purchased a bag of peanuts but said it was a private deal.

MR. BROWN, of the Metropolitan Bar Browns, was heard discussing a "basket" party. It seems someone made him the "party" to a nifty swindle and he didn't like it very much.

MR. SAM McCREARY, once of the police department McCrearys, was seen on Flagler Street late one afternoon this week. He denied that he was Herman Masters and offered to prove it if anyone doubted it.

MR. EV SEWELL shook his cane at Mr. Paul Jeans one day this week. Mr. Jeans was heard to remark, 'don't you shake that thing at me,' and Mr. Sewell stopped shaking it.

MR. VICTOR TATHAM walked through the Courthouse last Monday. When someone said something about the grand jury he was heard to whisper something that sounded like "phooey," but he didn't smile.

MR. R. B. CHASTAIN, of the constabling Chastains, who recently went away on his honeymoon, came back to town bringing Mrs. Chastain with him. He acted just like any other bridegroom, however that is.

OLD FOLKS EAGERLY ANTICIPATE SECOND ANNUAL BOAT RIDE SOON

WHEN the old folks from the Kendall Home embark on MIAMI LIFE'S Second Annual Boat Ride, they will receive one of the most pleasant surprises of their lives. It would really spoil some of the pleasure to divulge the plans which are being made but it may be safely said they have something wonderful to look forward to.

The big event is to be staged just as soon as plans are completed and what an event it will be. Every provision for the comfort of the aged guests will be made on the boat and everything possible in the line of food and luxuries will be on tap. On account of the age of a majority of the guests the entire cruise will be made in inland waters but it is the entertainment that will provide the real treat. Arrangements are now being made for comfortable buses to convey the old folks from the home to the boat and to return them. Nurses will be on hand to attend to their wants on the boat and special arrangements are being made to take care of the crippled and infirm. When it was announced at the Kendall Home that the Second Annual Boat Ride was being arranged the aged inmates started planning for the gala day and all are looking forward eagerly to the big day approaches.

"I ain't no liar you damn scallawag," bellowed Ev. "I don't take no back seats for nobody," giggled Mrs. Greeby as Little Geraldine started her hoochie-koochie music again.

"Quit shaking that thing at me," shouted Greeby. "I wasn't shaking it at you. I was shakin' it at Hizzoner," beamed Mrs. Greeby.

"You ain't supposed to be shaking anything. I'm the one that does the shakin'," ruzzled Ev. "Sez you! groaned Greeby. "Who started all this argument?"

"Who's a lunatic?" roared Ev again shaking his cane in the reporter's face.

"Don't shake that thing at me," fired the reporter.

"That's my line," yelled Mrs. Greeby. "You quit stealin' my stuff."

"I never stole none of your stuff because I don't take no back seats for nobody. Quit shaking that thing at me. I don't desire no publicity," gasped the reporter as he sank into unconsciousness.

THE next bout of the evening will be between Abe Kurman and Joe Morris, clever bankruptcy lawyer. Abe says Joe has threatened him with bodily harm for spilling the beans to MIAMI LIFE about Morris' questionable tactics. In the first place Abe isn't guilty of furnishing the information and in the second place he wants it known that he has received threats.

EDITOR'S MAIL Editor Miami Life Professional Building Miami, Fla. Dear Sir: Much has been said in the public press about alleged "reds," "black-malers," "foreign hordes," "back-teers" and "agitators" in connection with efforts of the Unemployed Relief Association, an organization whose purpose is to raise the standard of living for unemployed to obtain work at decent wages for all and to unite unemployed friends of the unemployed into a non-political organization. We have been accused of "marching" on the city hall; of shouting "down with all taxation"; of demanding a 75 per cent tax on all city salaries and of being "agitators." Through innuendo and insinuation we have been accused of being "fiery tongued orators," "Frenzied Mobs" and "Reds." There is not one iota of truth in any of these false accusations nor is there any sound or logical basis for the turmoil which a certain interest is attempting to create. Honest men and women have nothing to fear. Our organization welcomes any person who believes in organization to keep conditions from growing worse and these malicious lies emanate from a source known to all and may be accepted for what they are worth while is utterly nothing. The following resolution which was recently adopted by our organization speaks for itself: Resolved; That we bar from this organization anyone who advocates the use of violence, looting, terrorism, or who advocates action by the Unemployed Relief Association contrary to the constitution of the United States. Lies and exaggerations, childish talk and chatter about influx of "foreign hordes," red bugaboos and hypocritical glitterings will avail the propagandists nothing. The truth will prevail and the truth and the whole truth is simply this — The Unemployed Relief Association is a group of Loyal Americans who have banded themselves together to obtain work and decent wages for all and to raise the standard of living if possible. Anything else is a lie, suggested by possible political motives and a desire to become an alarmist at a time when some reason and common sense are in order. Signed: GEORGE F. MAURER Treasurer C. A. "If they will just keep on coming we can give them real wrestling matches," declared Phil Weinberg who did the announcing for the first show. "We sure appreciate the way they turned out and just to show our sincerity we have arranged a whale of a big double header for next Monday night," he said.

The double header main event affair will bring together Count George Romanoff, bewhiskered Russian who hasn't bowed to defeat for seven years and Joe Lindsey the slashing Cherokee Indian who says he thinks he is destined to shatter Romanoff's record. The winner of this match incidentally will be pitted against the Original Masked Marvel the following week. The Original Masked Marvel has been "thrown" since he started his "rasslin" career and has never been seen in action in Florida.

In the second bracket of the double wind-up will be David Cohen the clever Jewish lad from the Bronx and Ole Olesen, the Swedish Strangler who gave Romanoff a run for his money on the opening card last week. In the third event of the evening will be Wild Bill Rowland and Joe Willard, billed as the Kansas Cyclone. A battle royal between a dozen colored lads will open the show and several other added attractions are being sought. Plenty of free parking space is available and special police officers from the Coral Gables police de-tyre. Al is pretty happy. At Atlantic City he broke fairly even—but New York was a huge success. Only last Monday McIntyre's columns over the United States chronicled the fact that his location on the "corner of the former Columbia burlesque house along Seventh ave." is the "most popular open-fronted drink stand of the moment" and that the rental "is reputedly top for thirst butches—$60,000 a year. On its two sides it can accommodate about 60 simultaneously and in rush hours between 4 and 6 p.m. there are nine drink mixers."

And most prominent in Al's advertising are two big signs in both the Atlantic City and New York places—"Branch of Miami, Fla." If we only had a few dozen more evangelists like Al Root!

"She's at the barrier!" Jockey Jimmy, who daily enriches turf patrons who play his best hunches, has been yelling repeatedly over the phone for the last two weeks.

But this time it's not concerning horses. Jockey's an expectant father—and over-expectant one. And his reply to solicitous friends is the language of the turf that Jimmy is so colorful in. But this is one entry that sort of baffles Jimmy. His form sheet offers him no clue. This, of course, is not new to Jimmy. He's sire to three already—all three boys. But he's betting on a filly this time. And waiting, nervously, impatiently.

"My wife's leaving me holding the bag," says the Jock and, after a pause, adds, "while she's holding the baby. I'm gonna get mad and declare a foul!"

In a letter to Chester Alexander comes word that Al Spangler, well-known the length and breadth of Miami Beach in years past, may come down for a visit this winter to see if all the tales of the

"Mrs. Herman" is the famous yellowish dachshund that has always been Al's companion at the Beach—the most intelligent mongrel we've ever encountered.

Chester also reports that our own Frankie Madden is still arranging music for Paul White-man and the Whiteman pianist, Roy Bargy, at Radio City, N. Y., and that the 6-foot-4 brilliant pianist has taken on between 40 and 50 pounds in weight.

AT MIAMI U.

AH HA, I fooled you last week, didn't I? I'll bet you thought I just couldn't take it. Well, it just so happens that that wasn't what happened. The copy got misplaced and couldn't be found in time to send to press.

I would like to appropriate the name of "The Men on the Flying Trapeze" to CHESTER, HECKY and JIMMY, in consideration of their accomplishments recently at the University. Anyone of them can now qualify for a position as aerialist in any of our best circles.

I must say that I can't help but admire TOMMY'S choice. LOIS seems to have everything under control which suits everyone concerned including the boyfriend. Incidentally, how's the weather down on the keys? And while we are on the subject about what is the temperature of the bay water when taken from a speed boat?

I see that RUTH is out on her own again. It would seem that rings just don't mean a thing any more.

ELEANORE has returned from a short vacation up the coast. From what I can understand the weather was great and the people hospitable, yes, truly hospitable. (Or words to that effect).

DAVE still continues to hold down the sidewalk in front of Hupp's. Everyone is praying for RUTH'S speedy return so that we won't have such a hard time keeping our pavements clean.

I have been keeping an eye on STU lately and have been able to uncover nothing concerning him save that he is working harder than ever. I might make a sarcastic remark here, to the effect that a push-over by a fair damsel sometimes provides a great incentive to accomplish things. However, knowing him as I do I just give him credit for being very sensible.

Sorority rooms are beginning to perk up. Competition is sharpening up spirits and helping to keep our campus clean. No telling just what the sorority rooms will yield up when they are cleaned out. Perhaps it would be a good suggestion to get all of this done before the dean gets back, huh girls?

What I'd like to know is, just what were all those LAMBDA'S so worried about one night last week?

ROXY is still wearing that fraternity pin that has had preference over all local pins for such a long time. Just how long it will hold the honor position remains to be seen, although I have my own ideas about its location after September 15, which, my dear readers, is red letter day for football practice.

BLIJO is back but without such ideas as he had last year along about Freshman Frolic time. His two partners, it seems, came out with the best end of the bargain although it was originally JIM'S idea.

Mothers attention: You can get out the padlocks again because the old menace, STAN PHILLIPS is back in town.

I've been collecting favorite bores lately and herewith present them as a few things we could do without around the U out here.

JIMMY'S conceit.
AILEEN'S ex-boyfriend.
ARCHIE'S football.
The bottle that JOE brings to all of the dances.
SHARP'S personality. On second thought why limit it?
The bell that always rings at the end of classes just when we are getting off to sleep nicely.
SISSMAN'S spring haircut.
MAL'S hangovers.
DAVE'S artistic temperament.
MYRTLE'S optimistic (?) attitude.
Well, this could go on forever, and ever and if the truth were really known public opinion would probably place CAMPUS CHATTER at the top of the list in capital letters.

See you in the column next week, honest!

This is an authority of Bill King, who saw him while in Los Angeles. The Soldier almost every week breaks into some major show over the national radio hook-up and improves on the publicity technique he learned in Miami. Glancing over some files of MIAMI LIFE back in '29, we find a photo of him admonishing some Iowa motorist, on Flagler Street, and pointing upwards with that yell of his, "Watch them chandeliers!"

Speaking of policemen reminds us that Earline, vivacious daughter of Earl Hudson, disabled member of the force and former pugilist, won the first prize in a dancing contest at Flagler theater. It's a dollar-bill, and Earline has it framed.

The office booby prize goes to Solicitor Hy Morris who, upon getting a MIAMI LIFE subscription from Father Ernest, asked the father what his last name was.

"How do you know that you cannot write?" asks a magazine advertisement. Well, 347 editors can't all be wrong.

THE CITY recently settled an amusing damage suit. It was filed by a former patient at the City hospital who went there to have his leg amputated. After the operation was over he was strapped securely to his bed. He asked a nurse for a cigarette which she supplied and lighted for him. Answering a call to another part of the hospital she returned a few minutes later to find the bed on fire and the patient badly burned because the cigarette slipped down his neck and his bandages kept him from retrieving it. He filed suit for $10,000.

FORMER U. S. Commissioner Short once subpoenaed twenty Seminole Indians to testify in a liquor case. The Indians arrived at the commissioner's office several hours ahead of time and when Commissioner Short put in an appearance found them squatting on the floor in front of the bench. All efforts of deputies to induce them to sit in chairs or upon benches failed. Several of them eyed the chairs and benches speculative but none ventured to try them out.

augmented by winter visitors to about 50,000. It has been difficult for the traffic squad of eight motor cycle officers to keep pace with this rapid growth in population, but even so, Miami Beach has been able to decrease traffic accidents during this last year.

Good safety signs and impartial law enforcement for traffic offenders are necessary to reduce accidents in any city. Our plans for the winter include more traffic officers, clearer street markings, an increased number of boulevard signs, and more protection at through-street intersections. We are also planning to enforce the ordinance that prohibits "one-arm" driving, and we shall insist strenuously that drunken drivers shall not be allowed to drive their cars. A drivers license that could be revoked would be more effective in eliminating this violation than the stiff fine and jail sentence that we intend to administer. In connection with fines, I am of the opinion that traffic violations should be made for the safety of the public rather than for the money that is brought into the city's coffers thereby.

Our traffic officers are instructed to prevent traffic violations at all times, and each man is held strictly to account for his own territory. Miami Beach has had very few serious traffic accidents during the past year, and we feel sure it is because our traffic rules have been rigidly enforced.

the Kress Store and select the girl whom you believe to be the most attractive and vote for her. The winner from the Kress Store will be the ninth in the preliminary contests and then comes the Jackson Memorial Hospital where the tenth winner is to be chosen from among the handsome nurses. The Huntington, Olympia, Seybold and Security buildings will produce the next four winners and the fifteenth and final preliminary contest will be an open affair for girls in all concerns not represented in previous contests.

Here is the big news we have been promising you about that big final contest to select the grand prize winner. It will be held Wednesday evening, October 30, at the exclusive Royal Palm Club. All of the fifteen preliminary winners will be honor guests of Miami Life and the ballot box, which will be sealed 10 days before the final event will be opened at midnight. Arrangements for placing the ballot box in some central downtown location on October 19, after the last preliminary winner has been selected, are being made. The box will be sealed on that date and two ballots will be published, one on October 19 and one on October 26. These ballots will contain the names of all preliminary winners and MIAMI LIFE readers will be asked to select the winner. Arrangements for a tremendous reception for the winner in Havana are being made. The winner will be given a de luxe all expense paid trip to Havana, making the trip by plane and being quartered in Havana's best hotel.

Reservations for tables at the Royal Palm Club for the big final event will be announced before the conclusion of the contest. The club has seating arrangements for 1,000 but additional tables will be provided in view of the tremendous interest being shown.

Sparks ticket and re-election for all four is a forgone conclusion. C. E. Barr and Mrs. Marilyn Hauer, present members of the council, are seeking re-election but have fifteen or eighteen candidates opposing them. Councilman Barr and council members O'Quinn and Hauer have been the minority opposing faction to Mayor Sparks during his present term.

Mayor Sparks is rounding out his second term as the city's chief executive. He was appointed from the city council as acting mayor four years ago when Mayor Jack Gretham was accidentally killed in a plane crash. At the conclusion of the term as acting mayor he was elected by a large majority and immediately started an improvement and economic campaign which has been carried on relentlessly despite strenuous opposition from the minority forces. Mayor Sparks and his faithful councilmen gave Hialeah its own water plant which, when completed, will save taxpayers and private users many thousands of dollars each year. The city's bonded indebtedness has been erased and it is doubtful whether any city is on a more sound financial basis. Through careful study Mayor Sparks saved Hialeah more than $25,000 in the erection of the water plant and sidetracked a movement for plunging the city into debt by borrowing $50,000 at 8 per cent from private interests, by using funds already in the city treasury for the water plant. Large debts left behind by previous administrations have been paid off by Mayor Sparks and the present tax rate is the lowest in the city's history.

His record is his greatest recommendation and Hialeah voters are too sensible to even consider swapping horses in the middle of the stream, especially when they have a leader in whom they have implicit confidence. The Sparks "ticket" is really the people's needs the advice and support of a majority of the council to continue his vast improvement program during the next two years. Very few if any changes will be made in the appointive offices of the city when Mayor Sparks is returned to office for another two years.

Dear Sir:
Your story about the "G" men being here to look into shady bankruptcy proceedings in last week's issue was very interesting indeed. Let's have more of it.
I would like to hear some of the interesting details about the famous Cohen Brothers affair and likewise the Miami Laundry, Sewell Brothers, the Blackstone Hotel and the Johnson Grocery Store in Coral Gables which I understand has fallen into the lap of the receiver's son-in-law. I realize that the "G" men won't talk but nothing ever "gags" Miami Life and I am depending upon you for the real inside information.

Garrison

the city from bidding at foreclosure sales to protect its tax liens. His grounds were that the city is unlawfully going into the real estate business—and that there is no such fund set up in the budget. The city about two years ago set up a revolving fund of $10,000, to protect itself in about $5,000,000 of liens it held on property being sold on the block. The city never bids more than the amount of its lien, plus the amount of the certificate. For instance, the city holds a $500 lien against a certain lot. Some buyer has paid $50 for a certificate against the lot. The city then bids $550, guaranteeing itself $500 and the certificate holder $50.

This, Mr. Garrison claims, is illegal. He claims that as certificate holder, he has prior right to proceeds from the foreclosure sale. The city liens, he says, are secondary.
Or another example: In 1926, suppose he had purchased a $1,000 certificate for one dollar; in 1927, another dollar; in '28 and '29, the certificate goes down to $900, but he continues to buy in for a dollar; in 1930 he pays the full amount of the certificate—$700; in 1931, $350, and in 1932, $300. So, he has purchased $5,150 worth of certificates but that time with $1-354—a piece of property that is now worth $29,000. That is real high financing.
Will the courts hold it good? That's the question of big importance right now. It hits a good many people. It is possible that not a little of the whispering campaign against the present city commissioners is a result of the efforts the city has made to protect its citizenry from the tax sharks.

A DRIVER'S LICENSE LAW WOULD DO MUCH TO REDUCE ACCIDENTS IN MIAMI

SAVE OUR CHILDREN

MIAMI LIFE is promoting an educational safety campaign in an effort to make Miami a safe place in which to live; to make our streets safe for children, and to prevent loss of life through traffic accidents. Many of our children have been sacrificed to accidents who could have been saved through proper training at home or in school. Accidents are not "bound to happen." Nine-tenths of them are avoidable. Accident prevention is an important part of education. Safety consists quite as much in knowing how to FACE danger as how to avoid it. Life cannot be made fool-proof.

LAW ENFORCEMENT NECESSARY

CARELESSNESS and ignorance are the most frequent causes of accidents. Good traffic laws are of no avail if we are ignorant of them, or fail to heed them. They should be rigidly and speedily enforced. Law enforcement is a powerful ally of education. The careless driver, the drunken driver, the speed maniac, the road-hog, the jay-walker may not be reached by education. We believe that the Miami Police Department is doing everything in its power to reduce the motor vehicle accidents by enforcing the traffic laws. Co-operation by every citizen will make this work easier. Do YOU, as a driver, a pedestrian or a bicyclist, know the traffic rules, and do you obey them?

MIAMI ACCIDENT RATE TOO HIGH

CITIES that have maintained a definite safety program show a steady decrease of fatalities, especially to children of school age. Miami is not among them. She leads the nation in motor deaths. Per capita, more people have been killed on Miami streets by automobiles in the last eight months than in any city in this country. Seven of the number were children. More than 250 persons have been seriously injured. Accident records throughout the country show, through the decreasing death rate to children of school age, that children profit from safety education when adults often do not.

WE URGE YOUR CO-OPERATION

STATISTICS are valuable in discovering what has occurred in the past if through them we can determine what should be done in the future. This paper plans to make an analysis of the traffic accidents in Miami over a period of years, to determine not only the causes of the fatalities, but to try, in finding the cause, to find also the remedy. We will welcome suggestions from our readers, both in pointing out hazards, and in constructive suggestions for improvement. Will you co-operate with us to make Miami the safest city in America?
