IE "Law!"

RUM-RUNNER last week shot and killed Police Officer J. Franklin Beckham, a war veteran, father of three children and one of Miami's finest and most popular boys. The community mourns his loss.

Charlie Haynes, the man whose photographs appear at the right, surrendered willingly. As a matter of fact, it was his wife who called the police. Whether it was murder or not is for the courts to decide. Haynes, who has the reputation for being a pretty peaceful sort of chap, says he thought Beckham was a hi-jacker who had been prowling about his home previously trying to get his liquor cache. And, the shooting being at Haynes' home and Beckham being in plain-clothes at least should give Haynes a chance to defend himself in court.

Havnes was taken to jail handcuffed. But instead of being assumed innocent until proven guilty, as guaranteed by law everywhere in America, it seems that Haynes, still handcuffed, got as fine a beating as four husky Miami policemen could give him. He was slugged with butt-ends of guns, kicked, stamped on and knocked into insensibility—and while officials looked on, as we get the story. For days doctors despaired of saving his eyesight. An associate in business is still in bed from fractured ribs.

If this were the only case of Miami jail torture, it might be glossed over. Two years ago this paper, through an incessant campaign, managed to get this form of unspeakable brutality stopped. But it seems to have started up again. A few weeks ago Miami officers grabbed a man in Coral Gables-he may have been a gambler but he had not been proven guilty in court-and broke three of his ribs in police station. He was in the hospital for several weeks. His partner's teeth were knocked out.

Whatever the guilt of these men is, this business of the police department—and especially the Miami police department as it is presently formed—being judge, jury and executioner is entirely too horrible for liberty-loving American citizens to tolerate much longer.

Making a BOARDWALK Possible

HE BOARDWALK proposition at Miami Beach stands a fair chance of being defeated simply because, being situated in Lummus Park, owned by the city, and restricted under the terms of the Lummus grant, it cannot be commercialized. In other words, it means more outlay of money of taxpayers, already strained, without the hope of revenue outside of the vague possibility that it will bring more daily visitors to Miami Beach.

A beach boardwalk, modeled after the style of those of famous world resorts, is the greatest work Miami Beach has ever attempted. If carried out properly, all of South Florida will benefit from it. But at this time, it seems unfair that we be called upon to endorse a non-revenue-producing venture.

Therefore, Miami Life has a suggestion to make and hopes it will be received in a proper spirit.

J. N. Lummus—the original J. N.—sold Lummus Park to the City of Miami Beach for $40,000 a good many years ago. Sounds like a small sum right now, but at that time it was an extremely high price and caused a great deal of criticism from the taxpayers. He put commercial restrictions on besides. Well, during the boom when values went so high and a minor restriction had been violated J. N. Lummus consulted lawyers about getting back the property on this technicality that the council had overlooked.

It would be a wonderful thing right at this pres-

-And Just One of the Many We Received

February 8, 1928.

Miami Life. Dear Mr. Phillips:

I wish to make this letter to you one of, not so much praise or congratulations, but rather a simple testimonial for the work your paper has done consistently for the good of the community.

I do not think you yourself appreciate what a wonderful factor you have been through thick and thin in bringing this city to 10 my mind, and evidently those interested in banking and financial circles have similar opinions, the "extra" of Miami Life early Tuesday morning was the finest achievement your paper has ever done. It had as great, and in my opinion, a greater, calming effect upon the depositors and public in general than any other agency. Both Mr. James Gilman and Mr. Ed Romfh today expressed the same opinion, as well as their appreciation. preciation.

As a citizen, taxpayer, business man and stout believer in Miami, I wish to assure you that Miami Life probably has more friends in its home town than ever before, and I am sure it will continue to increase the number of its friends by the fearless, cheerful and practical manner it has of presenting facts—more than facts, I should have said—the truth! It deserves a medal of honor for what it did Tuesday in stopping that rash run on banks, and it deserves the heartiest support of the public.

AN ADVERTISER—from now on

ent time for J. N. Lummus to remove those restrictions which forbid any commercial enterprise in Lummus Park, or at least where the boardwalk is concerned. A boardwalk thrives upon the shops that line it. The stores alonside make a boardwalkelse why will women pay 10 or $15 more for a pair of shoes bought at an Atntic City boardwalk shop than they will at a shoe sre a couple of blocks westward? The Atlantic Citboardwalk has brought in a tremendous revenue it only to the concessions along it but to the city. And the boardwalk is controlled by the city.

In fairness to Mr. immus, the City of Miami Beach should be willinto pay him a reasonable sum to remove those cain restrictions. The public of Dade county hasen very kind to the Lummus family. J. N. shot consider Miami's plight at the present. He shot consider the fact that he himself has been mayof the beach, that his son is now mayor, that his bner is city commissioner of the City of Miami, thane Lummus family has always been favored in kking circles, and that ever since the town was tithe name of Lummus has been honored every wa people could honor it. And it still is honored.

The taxpayers haveen called upon to put out a great deal of money things for which there is no tangible or immediareturn. So, let these two or three hundred thougs of dollars be spent for something that will br in something more than promises of publicity n

And J. N. Lummusthe man who can make it possible.

What Everybody's Asking Today—

"Who were the loyal Miamian's who drew out ir bank accounts?"

Miami's Untidy Spot

AT the present time, the most untidy part of the city is the one that should be the neatest, if not the most artistic. The two plots of land lying between East Flagler street and the Royal Palm hotel, two squares of unbeautiful prairie, certainly spoil all the effect of the excellent landscaping of Bayfront park. If the Model Land Company, owners of this land, do not feel inclined to improve its appearance, then the city should do something to take away the bleak moorland effect. It is so ugly that a hot dog stand would improve it two hundred per cent.

Lincoln's Birthday

TOMORROW is the birthday of Abraham Lincoln, and that anniversary never comes around without bringing to our mind the touching funeral oration of Henry Ward Beecher:

Four years ago, oh, Illinois! We took from your midst an untried man from among the people. Behold! we return to you a mighty conqueror, not ours any more, but the nations.' Not ours but the world's. Give him place, oh, ye prairies! In the midst of this great continent his dust shall rest, a sacred treasure to the myriads who shall come as pilgrims to that shrine to kindle anew their zeal and patriotism. Humble child of the backwoods, boatman, hired laborer, clerk, surveyor, captain, legislator, lawyer, debater, politician, orator, statesman, president, savior of the republic, true Christian, true man. We receive thy life and its immeasurably great results as the choicest gifts that have ever been besowed upon us; grateful to thee for thy truth to thyself, to us and to God; and grateful to that ministry of Providence which endowed thee so richly and bestowed thee upon the nation and mankind.

CLUST as the tourist season was at its height, and pickings were getting good, Swami is given a knockout. Miami has plenty of home industrialists of her own in this line.

I am a friend of the little visiter you printed the picture of last week and I have had a telygram to say that he is coming back.

We had a lot of fun together and I am waiting anxiously for him.

I dare you to print his picture coming back.

OLE MAN LUMMUS

YESTERDAY, or perhaps the day before, I walked up Flagler street. Standing on the corner across from the Southern Bank & Trust Company was a weary, wistful figure, gazing across at the bank building.

I looked at the man, and looked again. It was J. E. Lummus, the head of the Southern. Twenty years seemed to have been crowded on his body. "Hello, Mr. Lummus," I said, in a manner which folks use when they do not know what tact to use. "Why be so glum?" And we started talk-

"You know," he answered, after a while, "I went into the bank yesterday. I walked around inside, for I always come down before eight o'clock. And then I thought about the change over the place. And I remembered that all the old employees had turned in their keys, and I had forgot to do so. And I knew I didn't have any right in there. So I came out And I walked away, and I somehow knew that old J. E., with his greenish old umbrella, with his old suspenders, and his little brown hat, had won his way, not through his great financial ability, but rather because he was just himself and a friend to more folks than any other man in Miami. And that he was worrying more about what his old-time friends would think of him than about his own financial status.

BANKERS' REFLEXES

MANY a loyal Miamian withdrew his money from the First National Bank and then deposited it in the U. S. Postal Savings Bank. And then the postal bank took it back and deposited it in the First National, the latter bank being government depository.

Cliff Reeder had an idea how to avert anything real serious, like a major bank going under. "Listen," says Cliff, "if the depositors of the Bank of Bay Biscayne take their money to the First National and the First National depositors take theirs to the Bank of Bay Biscayne, let the banks keep sénding back to each other the money withdrawn."

Ed Romfh was as nonchalant as ever. "Take your time, folks," he said. "You can draw all the money you put in. But for Miami's sake, smile. Everyone getting money should smile." Ed, who perhaps is a clever little banking fellow, had as much fun as anyone, especially when the millions of cold cash came in to perk up the timid.

The Loan Bandit!

MIAMI is suffering from hriced money. Many businesses to raise funds to carry on.

When a company has to payper cent per month, just a mere 120 per cent per annum, for a loafinance the business, it is beaten before it begins.

No business on earth can s that sort of thing. One perfeetly solvent concern has paid o interest alone some $7,000 for loans that total very little more thrice that amount. They had to do it through a financial agent, use no bank would lend them money on any sort of security.

It is a safe bet to wager thae-tenths of the failures in the city could have been prevented incial assistance at a moderate rate of interest had been availabBanks have refused to make a loan but have suggested that the fial corporations be approached. These lenders of money do not ire anything more than your whole business, your bills collectand your future contracts. If you get away from them with ang more than your undershirt something must have gone wrong the works.

If you can't borrow money fine banks, just go out of business. Paying 120 per cent for a le business suicide.

WELL, Swami lost out. The l he might learn from this is: that any man who talks to two women in Miami is bound to fall heir to much argument. It be done.

AT A FASHIONABLE Miami Beotel the other day, a very goodlooking woman staggered up to sk and demanded to know where her husband was.

"What's your room number?" ahe clerk. She didn't know.

"Well, what's your husband's na

She leered at him and said: "Yave to let me see the hotel register to find out."

THER what law on the statutes does the Florida Power

gnt company make a woman responsible for a negative dependence on Bayshore drive. Like a lot more merchants he failed, after struggling through the hurricane time, and the poor business of last summer. When he went out of business he owed the F. P. and L. Co. a matter of $50. He also owed a lot of money to other people, but they took their loss.

Mrs. Blank, having several small children, had to do something to help. She rented a house and took in roomers. The other day the light company discovered that she was getting on her feet again and promptly dropped into her rooming house and cu off the current. She is paid up on her light bills and has the usual deposit up.

She had to pay the $50 lefore they would turn the current on again. As this mney was for her hospital fees (she is expecting to go to the Jackson Memorial hospital within two weeks), she is onsiderably annoyed about the high-handed work.

Why Not Lower Fire Insurance Rates?

Editor Miami Life:
Enclosed clipping is an editorial that appeared in the Miami Herald February 9th.

In view of the facts mentioned in this article, the fire insurance rates in Miami are exhorbitant. The rates here are three times as high as Detroit, Michigan, where there are many frame buildings and also where furnaces are in use for nine months of the year.

Apparently this is one of the many readjustments that should take place here. An excessive fire insurance rate increases the cost of doing business. This naturally reflects on the price of commodities that are sold.

In bringing this fact to your attention I feel that a little publicity on this subject will result in an adjustment of rates to a basis where they should be and relieve the merchants of Miami of another injustice that is being imposed upon them.

Respectfully yours,

Secretary Greater Miami Pharmaceutical Association

I have yet to find someone who approves of the present site of the Public Library and this cut in appropriation will mean also no new books for an indefinite time and no move toward getting a new location downtown such as the old City Hall or Postofice.

Scotch Geography

THE GLASGOW (Scotland) Evening Times has made two important discoveries. The clipping below tells of the discovery of a Scotch band at Miami, California. No wonder it was so cold here at various times this winter. This putting us in California must account for it. The clipping follows:

G. T. Kerr, a Scot, now located in Detroit, sends me a long letter in which, among other things, he describes "the momentous discovery" he has made in America; "none other than that a Scottish regimental band exists which the British Empire does not know about'.' From the cutting of an advertisement he includes in his screed, I learn that the band is "The Famous Royal Scotch Highlander Miami Kilties," which provide free daily concerts in the Million Dollar Bayfront Palm Park' at Miami, California's gay resort. Well, it is nice to know not only that the world has such a band, but also that it gives its music free.

What a wonderful paper Miami Life is! have read it for the past three years and not bliffing. I get a kick out of it. his week's issue is the best of all. That ricle "Forgive Us' is worth a fortune. lease give us another next week. Get id of that R. R. Taylor who has cost liami enough money. And get the remant of grafters in the limelight so we ay know who is who.

Another article which I liked was the ne about too much courtesy in the theres. You are right there in every way, hose managers would do much better in wering the admission prices. And talking a shout showers, lust come around wering the admission prices. And talking a bout showers, lust come around conself. See how they have stuffed the aiters in the most horrible uniform. I might add that I have received several requests for information from the nobility in other cities, and believe that a Shrine Special would have a big sale, as both the local people and visitors, either Mason, K. C. or K. K. K. all have friends who are planning to come down next May.

Trusting that you will bear this request in mind, and let us have such an edition at an early date, I remain.

Miami Life is offering to its readers a series of weekly lessons in the most intriguing profession to be preserved in case the man should at some future date, want to cut down his advertising appropriation.

As pointed out at the beginning of this lesson, the definition of news is still the cause of a great deal of argument, ill-feeling and new city editors. Those who follow the old-fashioned theory, with its modern modifications, are ridiculed by the others, who point out that men do not bite dogs as often as they did a generation ago when time hung more heavily on their has biting does occur nowadays, the biter is an advertiser. I shall never forget the first public biting I ever covered. It was in my early days, when I was on the old Florida Metropolis in Jacksonville. A number of us were folling about the office of the opposition paper, the Times-Union, trying to organize a crap game, it being pay-day at the Times-Union, when the phone bell jangled furiously. I leaped to my feet and bowled over five other reporters who were fighting to get to the instrument, as we sensed that the cause of the caus in the most intriguing profession of all—that of Journalism; a pro-fession which anyone can learn within a short time and which affords tremendous opportunities to the young men and women of America today. Journalism is still in its infancy, and you will be convinced that they are crying for new, vigorous replacements to swell the yacancies in its ranks already caused by starvation, pip, office politics, the bankruptcy law, and bad liquor. Here is a field that should appeal immediately to the adventurous spirit of American youth. Think of knowing traffic officers by name; of being allowed to watch the pinochle games in the police station; mingling with bootleggers; of dashing after fire engines on your own private bicycle with your own private badge that will admit you within the lines; of inwestigating murders, covering in-quests, writing obituaries, etc— AND GETTING PAID FOR IT! Thing of being assigned to in-terview prominent people; of being allowed to sit down on their front thish the city editor. Lissen, when nell you gonnap pay me that five bucks you owe me? Lissen, Kimble—"

But I had no time to spare. I had already learned to make quick decisions. Without saying anything to the others, I turned my hat around sideways, stuck my fire card in the hatband and dashed out, leaving them in a state of after annue. I turned my hat around sideways, stuck my fire card in the passed, in the general direction of the union depot, when I saw a crowd gathering in front of a notorious pawnshop. Thinking that it might be my overcost on fire. I rushed up and elbowed my way in. And then I witnessed the most amazing thing I had ever seen in my life—a man bitting a dog.

"By God," I said to myself, "that's news!" Of course I had my notebook and pencil handy and began making notes immediately. The crowd, seeing by the fire card in my hatband and the crooked my my hatband and the crooked and law as able to get one of the greatest human interest stories I have ever written: It seemed that the man's little daughter had been bitten by a dog two weeks previously, and that the doctors' bills had amounted to $125. The man became embittered. Seeing this mongrel on the street just as he had finished pawning his dress fit of rage and proceeded to wreak venical my my story, appeared in our night edition under the caption:

BIGGER AND BETTER SWAMIS FOR MIAMI

WHY WOMEN LEAVE HOME.

Editor, Miami Life:

Alas! 'tis a cruel world! Especially for the busy business man, and most especially for the busy business men in Miami, at the present writing.

No sooner had that enemy of all men.—Valentino—laid down and let his breath run out, than another, more conflicting problem springs up on their horizon—the East Indian Love Artis!

Harder still, is the fact wites man can't trust his own wife any more. He may be able to trus wife. It is most exapperating when a man is forced to may rest acreed he is howling about something. He soars to great heights of surface with the sound in the so

He may be able to trust the wives of ever so many other men, but it seems he just can't trust his own wife. It is most exasperating when a man is forced to may rest assured he is howling about something. He soars to great heights of stay out four nights per week on important "business meetings," two nights for wife staying at home.

Can you feature him, a drooping, pathetic figure, draped over his desk, pondering over a bill for $35? Swami is the answer? It seems incredible that she would fail for a cold-storage-eyed, about the shown for breakfast) all broke out with personal magnetism and the she had be is home for breakfast) all broke out with personal magnetism. He has he he is home for breakfast) all broke out with personal magnetism alled "Personal Magnetism"?

We know that that is the case ninety-nine times out of a hundred, because we have heard ninety-nine husband out of a hundred say so.

Picture him, too, on his club night—a brilliant, howling success! His fellow sufferers may not know just what it is that he is howling about, but you may rest assured he is howlingabout something. He soars to great heights of cloquence when he is reminded of the fact that it is midnight, or thereabouts, and he must descend from his lofty apex and proceed homeward in order to keep his wife from demanding an explanation—an explanation which she would never understand, simply because she does not understand him.

Then we see him on his lodge night, No knight of old ever wielded meaner "highthood." To his wife he may be only another prince of Plisen, but the rest of the world knows he is a cross between a Sir Galahad and a Romeo in the third degree.

Then can you lend your imagination still further to his home-coming, at a reasonably early hour in the morning, with only an occasional hiccough, to find that his wife has been out earlier in the evening listening to an Indian love all? No matter if it is an East Indian, or just one of our women think she is a she-lion, when he rown Leonine ham he shame.

What is our young flower of manhood coming to? Is he to be muffed right out of his rightful role of Sheik by this Shikarri of the fair sex? Heaven forbid!

It seems that we can't have this Swami exterminated, as was our embition last week, so our only hope is that he will start a cult for "men only," teaching them a method of Swamism that they may apply on their wives, in case they have time off to apply it, and thereby keep the money in the family.

As to Nuisances.

. "Why is it," writes one prominent visitor who has been coming to Miami for many winters, 'that while they are trying to muffle the newsboys, silence the traffic signals, and stop the screeching sirens of the pollement and the problems and the problems are sensitively simply the problems and the problems are sensitively simply the peace and quiet of households, apartments and hotels—the mechanical refrigerdevices yet invented for destroying the peace and quiet of households, apartments and hotels—the mechanical refrigerator?"

"My wife and I are not neurotics or invalids in any sense of the word, but we do come to Miami for rest and recreation, and until the last two years we didn't have so much trouble finding it wherever we stopped. Now, however, we have had to move two or three times already this season to get the desired location, confort and tranquility."
"A crying baby is sometimes terribly annoying to neighbors, but there is something human about it that makes us reasonably patient; the ear-splitting blast of a locomotive wardled may be saving lives at a dangerous crossing; the shricking siren may be opening the way for some desperately injured person bound for the hospital; the newsboy may be staving off starvation as he yells his way to a few nickels; the crowing rooster and the barking dog remind us of some useful form of creation; but no one has ever yet convinced me that there is any social or economic need for these miniature ice factories that have been inflicted upon us by the high-pressure ad writers and salesmen who came along with the binder boys in 1925.

"Henceforth, I shall take every precaution to know in advance that the home, apartment or hotel into which I move contains a good old-fashioned, reliable ice-cooled refrigerator—the safe, silent, sanitary device for keeping my food and providing the healthful and refreshing drinks. Furthermore, I shall insist upon knowing that there isn't one of those hissing, pounding, popping mechanical refrigerators within half a block of where I live.

"Otherwise, I am going into the Everglades with the Indians and mosquitoes."

Purity in Ice.

Purity in ice.

"Peninsular" ice—like that made by other reputable and recognized bonafide ice manufacturers in Miami—is the purset product delivered into the honores. The Peninsular to the honores will not take chances of the city. The Peninsular best water is used for freezing, but the last that asoney can buy would not be suitable in our estimation unless we had the equipment and processes for further purification.

Don't confuse the crystal clear, carefully made product distributed by our deliverymen with the muddy granite-looking ice that we are informed is being sold and given away by certain business institutions in the city who are not primarily in the ice business, but merely have refrigeration plants for special purposes and sometimes freeze some water into ice, which is not as clear, pure, or safe as Peninsular ice, because they do not have the equipment or the inclination to make it so.

2-1297

"Cracked Ice"

By PENINSULAR PETE

"Peninsular" pay-rolls help keep open many stores and business establishments in Miami. They have been in no way affected by any disturbance in the banking situation.

The local business or professional man who "sends off" to Ohio or Michigan for his ice, might as well—or better—keep his bank account in Atlanta or Jacksonville and buy his groceries in Havana. He is showing no regard for the upbuilding of his own community.

The most lonesome and depressing scene imaginable is the circus ground the next morning after the circus has left town. Mami and South Florida will do well to get buy on agricultural and industrial development before the present tourist season is over, or we'll have something to remind us of the deserted circus lot.

I have done some very slick investigating this week and believe the time is ripe to let the public in on the information for the small sum of 50 $ and no cents payable sum of 50 % and no cents payable in C I F which means cash in fist.

There is a crying need here for a big stock exchange like they have in New York although a curb market wouldn't be much of a success acct the great amount of red paint

If you have a lot of good oil stock you could go to your broker but most oil stock owners are broke anyway and they would act impartially on their own hook and they could walk into the stock exchange and swap the oil stock for some nice mortgages or second payment paper on some swell lots in Picture City or trade it for a three legged pig provided someone wanted to swap a three-legged pig for a lot in picture City which might be possible for some of these birds in Miami dont know enough to pay me 50 \u223 and no cents.

Tourists coming to town could be invited to attend the market and there they could hear quotations on rooms and apartments and hotels and if a Miami Beach near rent collector offered three rooms and bath all in a 12 by 12 space for 17 \u223 and 50 cts a hotel man like Mase of the Gralyn could counter with hot and cold water and bath for six bits and no cents cheaper and the scheme would work to perfection and would again keep Tampians and Jaxsonvilians from saying dont go to Miami its snowing to beat hell there.

And when the city or county commissioners wanted for to sell some bonds they wouldn't have to go to the big hick town of New York and be taken to the Follies and inveigled into some chlorines den while the commission is figured for all they would have to do here would be to walk over to the stock exchange and say they want seven million 7 per cent indebtednures for the erection of a Hindu temple and for security they could offer the uncollected taxes of the city and county and the money could be forthcoming right away from local banks.

With a stock exchange the U. S. and the government could establish a good mint here which is needed anyway especially since them liquor men of the Bahamas have been choking all last year on poor made money and have about lost their appetites dealing with honest rum runners.

A stock exchange would have no trouble lending money to local peoply for Miamians are always ready to oblige and borrow money but the big stiffs are slow in pay-ing 50 8 and no cents

The kittens are quite frisky and walk on the front legs, balancing themselves with their tails. The other two kittens of the litter, or whatever it is the cat has, were normal. Sounds like a lot of hooey but it is a fact. We saw them and we were perfectly sober at the time. A very large number of visitors are taking in the Semi-

Editor, Miami Life:—
My son has two children who have developed into young entertainers and these youngsters have been performing at various places in the city. They appeared at the German Club and later at the Scandinavian Cliub, my son paying all expenses and the children not being recompensed in any way, except in the gifts of candy or small presents. These two clubs enjoyed the performance very much and the children themselves enjoyed doing their little act.

My son is trying to break these children of being shy, as his two other children are. He is determined that they will be able to go into company without feeling miserable.

Now, Mrs. Tullos, on behalf of the Welfare Board, is threatening to have my son fined $50 and costs if he persists in allowing the little performers to appear at concerts or at these clubs. Now, Miami Life, I would like to know why Mrs. Tullos should want to do this. The children are well ahead in school and are always under the protection of their mother. It just seems that Mrs. Tullos in interfering in this matter for no reason at all.

A SEARCH for traces of prehistoric men in Florida is to the press dispatches say. On Life welcomes the visitors to this most fertile field.

There is, however, one friendly

We hope that first of all the scientists give northwest Florida the once-over. And if they will defer their visit until 1929, they can go to Tallahassee and

They will be delighted. No need

Now, there is a pay booth at the west end of the causeway only, the one at the east end having been dispensed with. The increase is not expected to cut down traffic to any extent, but will help to cover the operating costs. The bridge has lost something like $100,000 since built.

The visiting Darwins can have the rare privilege here of studying a Homo Sap., who looks, talks and sometimes acts like a twentieth century American, but who votes down a pari-mutuel law that means thousands of extra dollars for a state that is still reeling under the effects of 1925 and the hurricane. There is one other little tip to be given the scientists when they arrive. That is, if they do visit Tallahassee during the legislature, they need not toss peanuts from the visitors' gallery. Our particular prehistoric men won't do tricks for peanuts any more. It takes a full wagonload of bricks to make any impression in this day.

MR. R. TO PICK MISS MIAMI

Instead of choosing a Miss Miami in some of the outlying cities the lady will be chosen in Bayfront Park, and the City of Miami will be behind the whole business. The Greater Miami Photographers' Association is doing a lot of the work in connection and that, alone, should help to a considerable extent. Photographers are supposed to recognize beauty when they see it and Miami photographers are good judges. The city has appropriated a sum of money for advertising, etc., and Pete Yoder will get busy letting the world know about the event. This will take place on March 10 and will be immediately followed by other events. The county fair, marine pageant and three days regatta being part of the program that will officially close the Miami winter season.

SWAMI COMES TO COURT
"If you milk the cow, you must feed the cow," thus spoke Kadunka Lol Gosh, otherwise known as Swami Yogonanda, in dunka Lol Gosh, otherwise known as Swami Yogonanda, in answer to a question as to whether he charged pupils for lessons in his classes.

The Swami, with all his pupils, lawyers, and witnesses, appeared in Judge Rose's court endeavoring to secure an injunction against the city so that he could continue his lectures, which had been stopped by police order.

"The woman who tried to walk on water was crazy. If she was my pupil she would follow her teacher. I did not walk nor try to walk on the river." The Hindu, who made a very good witness, held his own in battle with opposing counsel.

Short and fat, with pudgy hands, garbed in an overcoatwhich by the way, is not boosting Miami—the Swami was the center of interest. Women, mostly middle-aged, seemed to never weary gazing at the darkskinned teacher, and even the judge had to laugh at some of his answers. "The papers are not so. I never charged $35 for my lessons, and I have spent more money than I took from this Miami. And I will fight for my rights to the Supreme Court."

Neither Kadunka or Chief Quigg hypnotized each other. They put a few thought waves across the table, but no damage was done.

GET PINCHED BY WIGGINS! GET PINCHED BY WIGGINS!
Officer Wiggins, you'll know him, he's the good-looking cop at the Olympia theatre corner, made an arrest the other day. A motorist by some odd coincidence, violated a Miami traffic law, and Officer Wiggins took him to the station.
Booked, the culprit was told he must put up a $25 bond. He had no $25. Jail loomed.
But Officer Wiggins looked at the man, and the man looked at Officer Wiggins, and in Officer Wiggins' pocket went Officer Wiggins' hand, and the man was loaned $25 by the same Officer Wiggins.
If this hannered on the Gulf loaned $25 by the same Officer Wiggins.

If this happened on the Gulf Stream it would be a mighty fine fish story, but as it happened and a Miami policeman actually did it, you can readily see the extremes we go to since prohibition.

Another Great Building Program in Coral Gables

SIGNIFICANT of the trend of events—and of values—in Coral Gables, is the announcement by George E. Batcheller, of Batcheller Properties, Inc., that a start is being made upon the construction of 25 new homes in Coral Gables, to cost in the neighborhood of half a million dollars.

The announcement is doubly indicative of what is happening in Coral Gables, and of its underlying values, when you consider the history and the home-building experience of Batcheller in this city. During the last two years George E. Batcheller, Inc., has been operating as the building company for Joseph Kresse, of New York, noted builder and investor, in building homes in Coral Gables.

In that period, George E. Batcheller, Inc., has constructed 50 homes in Coral Gables, and has sold 49 of them, at a total selling-price of more than $1,200,000. Most of the homes built and sold by Batcheller, through Coral Gables Sales Corporation, in 1927, were sold before construction was completed, for it is Mr. Batcheller's experience that there is a ready demand and a ready market for homes in Coral Gables.

In view of that experience, George E. Batcheller, Inc., is now starting construction of twenty-five more homes in Coral Gables, for Batcheller Properties, Inc., a Florida corporation. These new homes, of high-grade construction, built of hollow tile and concrete, are to be erected on sites dotted throughout the Riviera and Country Club sections of Coral Gables many of them bordering the famous Miami Biltmore golf courses.

The significant fact is the confidence of a builder, whose confidence is based from the office of the Building Inspector in Coral Gables. of these permits were for the construction of homes. Most of these homes were built for or purchased by Miamians. There is a steady, unmistakable movement of people to Coral Gables-the surest foundation for stability

Coral Gables is increasing, steadily and sure, in permanent, home-owning population. A builder of two years' steady and successful experience—George E. Batcheller—recognizes it and is meeting it by launching out upon a new and active home-building campaign. The time never was, never can be, more advantageous for you to select your home, or the home-site upon which to build, in Coral Gables. Let Coral Gables Sales Corporation illustrate to you the opportunities which you may miss by wait-
