

Ingrham, J. V. , Dr.

Ref: Smiley, Nixon: "tasmania (Fla. ) place of snakes and moonshiners'
The Miami Herald November 22, 1968 (see in manuscript file
"I")

"Dr. J. V. Ingrham homesteaded 160 acres in Palmetto Woods 25 miles west of Lake Okeechobee in 1888. He built a log house , planted rice, sweet patato and sugar cane. He treated the other homesteaders when they became ill, got hurt, or were struck by a rattlesnake.

"But I can't remember that he ever charged for treating anyone , said the sone, now 85. 'Nobody had anything to pay and he already had what they could barter. '"

Indan, M.G.W., M.D.

1870

Loc.: Monticello, Jefferson County

Ref.: Manuscript List of Medical Practitioners
U. of Pa. Archives

Inman, J.C.

1925

Loc: Hosford

Ref: News and Comment: N. Orleans Med. & Surg. J. 78:338, Nov. 1925

"Dr. J.C. Inman, of Hosford, Florida, began work as Assistant Medical Director of the Hinds County Health Department on September 20th. Dr. Inman is a graduate of the Medical Department, University of Virginia."

Presumably Hinds County is in Louisiana.

Iseman, Dr. M.S.:

Webb: Webb's Florida, 1885, p. 152

Office No. 1 East Forsyth Street.--

Dr. M.S. Iseman is a native of South Carolina. He was educated at the University of Louisville, Ky., from which he graduated with an "M.D." in the class of '80. Dr. Iseman began practising in Darlington, S.C., where he remained until March, 1884, when he removed to this city. His office is a finely furnished and equipped apartment, desirably located at No. 1. East Forsyth Street. He is fast acquiring a prosperous practice.

Itudleston, R. H., M.D.
Bartow, Florida

1884-85

Covington: Story of Southwest Florida, pp. 278-279

Izlar, R. P., M.D.
Ocala

1898-1899

President of FMA 1898-1899

See photocopy of reprinted 1890 news article about Dr. Izlar
"our young M.D." and his high stepping roan and two-wheeled gig.
Manuscript file "I".