Airport 'Fog' Clears

Richmond Is Ruled Out As Substitute

By MAURICE LABELLE
Guide Managing Editor
Federal aviation officials dropped a small bomb into a meeting on the fate of Tamiami Airport Feb. 14 when they announced casually that Richmond Air Base was out as a substitute.

quision of the former Navy blimp base and the announcement by Cole Morrow, director of Airport Service for the Federal Aviation Authority, came as a surprise to most of the 28 persons gathered there to talk about Tamiami's fate.

The decision had not been made public. Still another surprise came when Arvin O. Basnight, administrator for the Southern Region of FAA, told local representatives to get off the FAA's back in blaming the phase out program at Tamiami airport on the federal agency. If the county wants the airport to stay, it will stay, Basnight said. " . . . But it will wind up a very limited facility," he warned. The County, in its decision (See DADE, page 2)

Water Firms Eyed by Metro For Rate Cut

Consumers Water Company, which has collected an estimated $60,000 in additional revenue from its customers in the unincorporated area since it hiked its rates three years, is being audited with an eye toward rate reductions.

Several other private water companies, including Community Utilities and Tropical Heights Utilities, are also due for hearings before the Water and Sewer Board.

A. H. Blake Jr., who is conducting the audit of the water company's operation, is expected to come up with his report shortly.

Metro's action against Consumers came after Commissioner Hughlan Long asked for and got support for a "show cause" order. The order asks Consumers why its rate should not be reduced from $1.80 minimum to $1.50.

Consumers attempted increases in Coral Gables and South Miami, but was blocked.

The Gables City Commission denied the increase and South Miami ordered a decrease that was upheld by the Circuit Court.

The water company appealed the decision to the District Court of Appeals where the case has been since Oct. 11, 1962.

Group Asks More Height On Bridges

A proposal to raise heights of Flood Control District bridges to six feet clearance to create more navigable waterways in South Florida has been turned over to a governor's recreation committee for their recommendation.

The proposal came from joint citizens recreation committees to the FCD and resulted in a tie vote in the FCD Board.

One board member's estimate is that the proposal would cost $1 million in South Dade alone and increase bridge costs between 30 and 40%, adding approximately $150,000 to $200,000 a year for Dade County alone.

On the other side of the ledger, the proposal would open up vast new areas for small boat navigation, proponents claim.

Board members Stan Koller, of Melbourne, and W. R. Scott of Stuart both said they would like to see the FCD take "leadership" in Florida in establishing navigation clearance for future bridges, and both voted against referring the matter to the Governor's Committee.

The FCD now provides a minimum bridge underclearance of only two feet above the water—all that is required for flood control purposes.

Riley S. Miles, of Kissimmee, FCD chairman, said that raising all future bridges to pro-

Utility Tax Foes Line Up for Fight

(Editor's Note:

The Metro Commission Tuesday tabled Commissioner Hughlan Long's proposed 10% utility tax in the unincorporated area on a split 8-5 vote. This unexpected development came after the following Guide story had been written.)

Opposition to Metro Commissioner Hughlan Long's proposed 10 per cent tax on utilities provided in the unincorporated area mounted this week in the wake of postponement by the Metro Commission of consideration of an ordinance setting up the tax.

Lined up against the proposal — scheduled to be put to a referendum at some later date — are the Association of Unincorporated Areas and Bay Glades Civic Association.

Other individuals and groups, one led by Mrs. Pearl Lazarus, 7880 SW 17th St., and Barbara Heiken, recent candidate for state Democratic Committeewoman, are busy circulating petitions against the proposal.

Mrs. Lazarus described the proposed 10 per cent tax as

Canal Claims 1 More

A Southwest area mother and teacher, and her 14-year-old daughter were treated at Baptist Hospital Feb. 13 after their car went into a canal near Galloway Road and Coral Way at supper time.

Injured, though not seriously, were Mrs. Wilma Helen Englander, 44, 8750 SW 41st Ter.,

and her daughter, Robin Sheryl Englander.

Mrs. Englander told Metro Patrolman D. A. McDonald that she was making a left turn onto Coral after leaving Zayre's Department Store when the right door of her convertible came open.

Her daughter nearly fell out and in the excitement, Mrs. Englander said, she lost control, went through a barrier and into the narrow canal.

No charges were filed in the accident.

The scene is near the site of several similar accidents on the east side of Galloway, including a double-fatality.

That portion of the canal is being covered up, but there are no plans pending for covering the canal west of Galloway.

Dade Hunts an Airport

to eventually close down the airport, has cited FAA requirements and a survey by Rader Associates for the move. No date has ever been set for ending the operation, but the general aviation field is being phased out gradually.

Morrow declined to say exactly why Richmond Air Base has been ruled out as a general aviation field to replace Tamiami, but he indicated that eight federal agencies, including military, are involved.

Radar and other undisclosed military installations have been established at Richmond since before and after during the October Cuban crisis.

Security regulations have been tightened around the base and officials have been close mouthed about operations there.

But the disclosure that Richmond was out, perhaps permanently, finally cleared the air about the County's role.

It was apparent now that Dade will have to look for another general aviation airport site — even if it decided to retain Tamiami on a limited use, or visual flying regulation, basis.

This promises to split the Florida Air Pilots Association which has led the fight to keep Tamiami Airport open.

Some, like Charles L. Dickes, president, favor obtaining another field as close by as possible — if Tamiami cannot be used for general aviation purposes.

Others, like John Henning and Wilbur Provost, favor keeping Tamiami open, even on a limited basis as a convenience to private pilots who would have to travel long distances to newly acquired Opa-locka Airport or another field in the boondocks if Tamiami is closed completely.

Port Director Alan Stewart told the group that the County plans no final phase out of Tamiami Airport until a "like or comparable facility is available someplace else."

He was learning about the federal government's decision on Richmond for the first time at the meeting, Stewart said.

His assistant, W. L. Cleveland, said the Port Authority heard rumors three weeks ago "to forget about Richmond."

The Citizens Aviation Advisory Board, represented by Dr. Herman L. Andersen and Kenneth E. Benson at the meeting, also indicated they had been kept in the dark about this and other developments.

FAPA representatives had been predicting Richmond's fate for some time.

Lee Winfield said she knew of the government's decision "a long time ago," but did not disclose her source of information.

Arthur R. Eno, area coordinator for the FAA, said that the decision was made at a recent meeting, but that the decision had been held for presentation at the Feb. 14 meeting.

Stewart said the disclosures made at the meeting would have an adverse effect on the operation of Tamiami because of the uncertainty of the nature of operations there.

The port director pointed out that there are 18 authorized fields in the area, including the new field opened at Homestead and several private fields used primarily for crop dusting.

Indications are that some of these crop dusting fields will eventually be closed and their operations moved to Homestead.

Utility Tax Fight Looms Up Ahead

"too high" and "discriminating."

She said the estimated $2 average monthly tax from electric, gas, water, sewer and telephone bills mentioned by County Manager Irving G. McNayr is ridiculously low.

Long, whose idea the whole thing was, agreed that McNayr's estimate is low.

Long said, basing his estimate on his own utility bills in the City of South Miami, that $3 would be a fairer estimate.

The tax could be less than 10 per cent, Long said, but this figure, used by most municipalities, appeared fair.

"We could have 5 per cent," Long said.

Margaret Ann Hanlon Weds Walter Rickey

Margaret Ann Hanlon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hanlon, 9412 SW 36th St., was married to Walter J. Rickey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter F. Rickey, 9441 SW 37th St., Saturday in a double-ring ceremony at St. Brendan's Catholic Church.

The bride wore a slim sheath gown of bouquet taffeta. The fitted bodice had a scoop neckline and long, point-on-hand sleeves and had lace appliqued across the front with a wedding ring pattern and seed pearl embroidery. The same design was carried out in the floor-length skirt which had a bouffant over-skirt fastened with a tailored bow in front and ending in an aisle-wide train.

The multi-tiered illusion veil fell from a silk rose on a plateau of Alencon lace.

She carried white roses and baby's breath.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Judith Ann Hanlon, sister-in-law of the bride.

She was attired in a gold peau-de-soie cocktail-length sheath with bateau neckline and three-fourth's length sleeves. The dress had a full-gathered overskirt and a crushed cummerbund.

She wore a matching head-piece with circular veil and carried Tropicanna roses.

Bridesmaids were Peggy Puhlick, Margie Palmer, Rita Lynn Bloom, cousin of the bride, and Kathy Rickey, sister of the groom.

The bridesmaids' dresses were emerald green and styled like the matron of honor's gown.

They carried golden mums. Flower-girl was Shirley Ann Hanlon, the bride's niece.

She wore a floor-length mint green chiffon gown with taffeta sash, brief sleeves, and scoop neck with a tailored taffeta bow at bodice front.

The bride's mother wore a dusty rose lace dress with matching accessories and a white orchid.

The groom's mother chose a blue silk-linen dress suit with matching hat. Her accessories were light beige and she wore a white orchid.

The best man was Paul Rickey, the groom's brother.

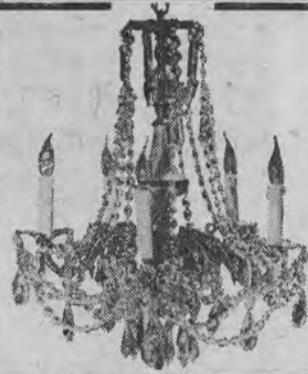

Ushers were Thomas Hanlon Jr., and Martin Hanlon, brothers of the bride, Thomas Slovák and Jack Evers.

Thomas P. Hanlon, nephew of the bride, was ring-bearer.

The bride and groom are graduates of St. Theresa High School and he attended the University of Miami where he was a member of Sigma Pi fraternity, before entering the Air Force. He is an Airman Second Class stationed at Homestead Air Force Base.

After a honeymoon in Florida, the couple will be at home at 3810 SW 88th Pl.

FCD Help Coming On New Bridge

The Central & Southern Florida Flood Control District has agreed to pay $94,000 to the State Road Department for construction of a bridge at U.S. Highway 1 crossing Canal 1 — north, near Perrine in South Dade County.

A resolution to the State Board of Conservation was adopted to request $103,400 in state funds for replacement of U.S. Highway 1 bridge over Canal 1 (Black Creek), also in Dade County.

A new plan for construction of Levee 31-East (along the coast in Southern Dade County) which will save $70,000 in construction costs, was received and endorsed by the FCD Board.

The levee, which will carry a road on top of it, will be essentially of the same design as previously planned, but money will be saved by borrowing spoil for the new embankment from alongside Canal 1 instead of from land adjacent to the west side of the new levee.

The District is also expected to save money in land acquisition costs.

Seed Produces New Variety

Every mango or avocado seed you plant will produce a new variety. The chances of it being superior to the better varieties now in cultivation are slim.

But that's the way new fruit varieties are developed—from seeds. And these superior varieties are propagated by budding, grafting or airlayering.

5 New Teachers Are Welcomed To Southwest High

CAROLINE O'MALLEY
Correspondent

Southwest High School welcomed five new teachers to its faculty at the start of the new semester.

Jerome M. Spevack is a English teacher replacing Mrs. Helen Wheeler, who recently adopted a baby girl. Spevack is a champion debater in Miami and the state of Florida.

Mrs. Barbara Kolosna is being temporarily replaced by Mrs. Ellen Odum. Mrs. Kolosna has a new baby son born Feb. 16. Mrs. Odum, a member of Delta Kappa Gamma, has served for 34 years in Dade County Schools. She is now working in the guidance department.

Mrs. Ruby Barre replaces Mrs. Kristina Mayer. She is a graduate of Baldwin Wallace College where she received her B.S. degree. Teaching Home Economics is her speciality.

Walter Lee Morris, is here to teach mathematics in place of Chisen. A graduate of the University of Tennessee, Morris is member of Delta Sigma Pi. His wife teaches at Shendoah Junior High School.

FRENCH CLUB

The French club of Southwest had Francois Lardon as its guest speaker Jan. 24. Lardon discussed the history of the French Riviera.

The former president of the French Club of Miami also praised and expressed his appreciation for the recent adoption of an orphanage in France by SW's French Club.

The club is still kept busy by this orphanage. Now they are in the process of collecting clothes for girls from 5-18.

SCHOLARSHIP

Southwest can boast four winners in the State Teachers Scholarship examination.

The girls are Victoria Lebar, Adrienne Schwartz, Lynne Wilton and Marty Ketchan.

Each winner will receive a $1,600 scholarship loan at the rate of $400, payable annually. For each year of teaching after graduation $400 will be deducted from the total. The full $1,600 must be paid back if the winner decides not to teach.

The examination was administered Oct. 16.

They Push Sunday Closing on Metro, State Level

The Sunday closing campaign has switched gears and methods of approach.

Once directed at municipal and Metro government, the fight is now aimed jointly at Metro and State levels.

Led by the recently organized Citizens' Day of Rest Committee, headed by Harry Rich, the group now seeks, with other groups, to get legislation at both the state and county level.

The organization is the offshoot of the campaign waged by the Greater Miami Council of Churches and other groups last fall.

The City of Coral Gables got the ball rolling passing an ordinance on first reading with the support of the Chamber of Commerce, but never followed through with adoption.

Instead, the Commission turned to Metro and asked the Metro Commission to pass a countywide ordinance.

Metro declined to do so. Meanwhile statewide reaction began to jell on the question.

The aim now to is go get action at both levels.

Fred Hartnett is chairman of the Gables chamber group which resulted largely from the efforts of Ed Crowley, a Gables merchant.

David Hume, president of the Greater Miami Council of Churches, working with the Gables Ministerial Association, has led efforts at the religious level.

Attempts are being made to rally labor organizations behind the campaign to give the drive a broader base.

No formal backing has been received by labor in Dade

County to date, but Broward County labor leaders are reportedly backing the move.

The International Honorary Society for Journalism Students of Southwest High School inducted their new members into the chapter Feb. 19 at the Little Theater.

President Ken Golden welcomed the members and explained to them the obligations which accompany membership. Mrs. Mabel Statts, sponsor, related a bit of the Society's history and also welcomed the new members. Secretary Carrie O'Malley then read the names of the new members and as each came forth they lighted their candle which represents the Light of Truth.

The seventeen new Quill and Scrollers were also requested to recite their pledge of loyalty to work for "the ideals of true journalism."

The new members are Linda Prusoff, Kathi Gary, Helen Hancock, Peggy Brantley, JoAnn Myers, Michele Levine, Valerie Herkenrat, Fran Force, Cheri Postelnak, Claire Moniz, Teresa Santiestaban, Terry Durke, Marsha Patterson, Jamie Jobb, Angela Halas, Pam Goodman, Jerry Knight.

"How poor are they that have not patience! What wound did ever heal but by degrees? . . ." Shakespeare Patience is, by all odds, one of the more valuable assets we may possess. Without it most people are doomed to a life of endless frustration in a frenzied desire to speed up the time processes of their destiny.

On the other hand, patience is a calm ally of those who thoughtfully and, within the limits of their abilities, work toward their chosen goals.

If these goals are realized, patience is a most welcome companion during the necessary wait for the expected reward.

Welcome, too, but under totally different circumstances, is the comfort and understanding of a complete service at time of bereavement. The bereaved are assured of every consideration and every comfort at G. D. PEDEN FUNERAL HOMES, 8231 Bird Rd. and 9798 Hibiscus St. in Perrine. Ambulance service. Phone CA 6-1811 or 238-2724.

UM Nursing Will Observe 10th Year

The University of Miami department of nursing will commemorate its tenth anniversary year with a dinner honoring outstanding students and alumni Saturday.

Department chairman Mrs. Dora E. Blackmon estimates some 350 students, alumni and guests will attend the dinner scheduled at 7:30 p.m. at the Holiday Inn opposite the main campus.

Included on the program will be a talk by UM President Henry King Stanford, a skit by nursing students, presentation of awards to the student with the highest academic average and the student voted "best all round," introduction of 18 juniors who will receive their nursing bands and 20 sophomores who will receive their caps.

The nursing department honorary, Tau Theta Sigma, will also tap new members.

Honor guests will include directors and other officers of the cooperating hospitals and Dade County Public Health Department in addition to University officials.

Courses in nursing were first offered in the College of Arts and Sciences in 1948, designed for Registered Nurses who were graduates of diploma programs and who wished to study for the Bachelor of Science degree. This program, known as the "general nursing" program has continued over the years, now has 52 RNs enrolled.

The "basic nursing" program, designed for high school graduates seeking careers in nursing, was inaugurated in September 1952, and the nursing department was officially organized in February, 1953.

Mrs. Blackmon, who had received her nursing diploma from Russell Sage College in 1947, enrolled in the first 1948 classes, received her B. S. in 1950, her M.A. from Columbia, Washington in 1953, and was named chairman of the department when it was established in 1953. There are 78 students now in this aspect of the nursing program.

A faculty of 10 teach the various courses which include classes in maternal and child health, medical and surgical nursing, psychiatry and public health.

Since the program was started, 228 students have graduated with the B. S. in nursing, of whom 119 are now in the Greater Miami area. Department records show that 15 are in administrative work, 16 in public health, eight in education and three are on foreign assignment, including one graduate in the Peace Corps.

She Helps Make Dade's PTA Tick

By DOROTHY COLLIN
Women's Editor

Chairmanship of the Dade County School Board, four children, a beautiful and unusual home, and a cross-eyed Siamese cat "Hi-Fi" fill the busy days of Mrs. Jane Roberts, 2600 Columbus Blvd.

Mrs. Roberts was re-elected chairman of the school board recently for a two-year term. She has served on the board since 1957 when she was appointed by LeRoy Collins, then governor of Florida. She has been re-elected twice as an at large member.

"I didn't really campaign too hard," she said. "For one thing it costs a lot to campaign all over Dade County.

"Since anyone can run against me, it makes it twice as hard," she said.

Mrs. Roberts became interested in school work because "I think anyone is who has kids in school."

Mrs. Roberts, a frank friendly woman, explained some of the problems facing Dade County education.

She said she feels the lack of good communications between the school system and the public is a big problem. Most grievances and complaints arise from misunderstanding due to lack of information, she said.

"Of course there is a small group that is always going to be unreasonable," she said.

As it seems to be with every school system in the country, lack of money is the most pressing problem in Dade, according to Mrs. Roberts.

She cited the Homestead Exemption and no state income tax as hurting the most. "We have to find other ways to get funds, or we will have real troubles because of our rapid growth," she said.

The board is investigating various possibilities of locally obtaining money before the next legislative session she said.

"Part of our money troubles come from having so many new-comers who are not familiar with our tax system, nor our public school problems," she added.

During her tenure on the board, the group has faced several controversial problems. Mrs. Roberts had this to say:

Integration — "It was accomplished peacefully because the majority of people could see it coming and realized it was better to have the local school board do it than the courts."

Cuban influx—"Took awhile to get organized since we at first thought it would be temporary, but as soon as the administration realized the situation, it handled the problem commendably."

Mrs. Roberts said the Cuban crisis in the school actually helped peaceful integration since it overshadowed the latter.

"It was hard for people to object to dark-skinned children who spoke English and not to dark-skinned children who did not speak English," she commented.

Mrs. Roberts said she spends about full-time at her job with the board. "There is so much mail, and so much to read just to keep up in the field, as well as meetings, committees, etc."

"When I am at home the phone rings off the hook," she laughed. "When I'm not home it takes all day to call back all the people who called."

Mrs. Roberts said the worst part of her job was all the luncheons.

"I know I shouldn't eat, but what can I do when everyone else is; this is not the way to a slim figure."

Carnival Time Is Nearing for Cavs

By JOYCE DENNIS
Correspondent

March 15 Gables High will present a carnival. The various school organizations and honoraries have begun preparation for their booths.

Members of Allied Youth have plans for a fish bowl booth; Cavaliettes, a marriage booth; while Pen and Sable designed a caricature stand and clothesline sale.

Dirigimus Hi-Y National Forensic League and Lettermen's are planning pie throwing, dart throwing, and tomato throwing booths respectively.

Student Council members will run a dunking booth and Future Teachers will operate a panda booth.

Homeroom 511 is working on a cake walk, homeroom 11-35 is conducting a telegram booth and the Library Club is sponsoring a car-wrecking booth.

Cheerleaders will serve cokes, Future Business Leaders will provide cotton candy and Future Nurses will sell candy apples, popcorn and peanuts.

DRAMA PRODUCTION

Three plays are being considered by David Feldman, drama teacher, for the Spring production of the Drama Department.

In the running are "The Cave Dwellers," by Saroyan; "The Glass Menagerie," by Tennessee Williams and "The Fourth Dimension," Feldman's original creation.

Announcements will be made shortly regarding try-out dates.

They Propose Raising Bridges to 6-Ft. Clearance provide six-foot clearance would cost Florida taxpayers tremendous sums of money, "and our tax structure is already at the breaking point.

Miles suggested that local interests pay for any additional bridge clearances desired. He also suggested that the FCD might even be going beyond its legal jurisdiction if extra clearances for navigation were to be provided for all future bridges.

FCD attorney Robert Grafton said new legislation may be required if the FCD is to provide six-foot clearances greater than needed for flood control purposes.

The motion to refer the whole question to the Governor's Committee was made by J. Bruce Vining, of Miami, and backed by R. R. Horner of Palm Beach.

Scott said any possible legislative action on FCD bridge clearances may have to be delayed for two more years if the question is now referred to the Governor's Committee and is held up for future discussions in coming months.

SW YMCA Wants You, Membership Drive Underway

One of the largest volunteer organizations ever assembled at Southwest YMCA has been recruited for the membership canvass this month under Fred S. Wilson, general chairman.

Big Success

The Southwest YMCA raised over $300 with its country store and auction Friday, attended by nearly 400 people.

The money from the sale of White Elephants bric-a-brac, toys, food, etc, will be used for equipment and for enlarging Y facilities.

Mrs. James R. Davant, co-chairman of the event, called the affair a "tremendous success" and said the Y Board planned to make it an annual event.

FREE NATURE FILM

Camp Owaissa Bauer is offering nature films Wed., Feb. 27, free at 7:30 p.m. in the camp dining hall. Camp Owaissa Bauer, a Dade County Park, is located on Bauer Drive, SW 264th St., one half mile east of Krome Ave., or three miles west of U.S. 1 from Naranja.

The corps numbers 82 men, many of whom are fathers of youth members of the local "Y." The drive began last Friday with a chuckwagon breakfast at YMCA headquarters, 4300 SW 58th Ave. Sendoff talks were given by Walter H. Beckham Jr., 4209 Santa Maria Ave., president of the Greater Miami YMCA — and George A. Abbott, 1215 Santana Ave., general executive. Wilson outlined the western Wagon Train theme and urged the men to "get out and rope 'em in."

The goal is $7,000.

The Southwest Branch, an affiliate of the Greater Miami YMCA, has operated in its headquarters since Christmas 1960.

Its club room is in service as a small gymnasium and for evening meetings of teen groups (Hi-Y & Tri-Hi-Y Clubs). In 1962 the YMCA served 1,440 different participating boys and girls, using — in addition to its own facilities — the gyms at schools and the university, private pools and public playgrounds and beaches.

Those who will be canvassing are:

Fred S. Wilson general chairman; Franklin W. Maury, W. Hamilton Hayes, Earl Crittenden, Marc Kinchen, F. F. Patterson, Richard Burrell, Edward Thomson.
