S. Miami Looks for Way Out Of $70,000 Water Fight Bill

Two old foes — South Miami and the Consumers Water Company was to have locked horns today before Metro's Water and Sewer Board to referee a $69,996 battle.

To raise this amount the private water company wants authorization to add a 30-cent monthly surcharge or generally hike the rates to South Miami's 2,700 customers for a seven-year period.

Backing up the firm's demand is a Florida Supreme Court ruling which gives Consumers the right to recoup recent court expenses fighting a rate reduction.

Perplexed by all the developments favoring the water company his city is blocked from buying, South Miami City Manager Richard Barton commented, "In the last few years the federal government granted a large cut in corporation taxes. Why isn't this considered in these rate hearings?"

Since Consumers has the legal right to collect the $69,996, South Miami wants all the customers — in Coral Gables and the unincorporated areas — to help pay the money.

Ironically, South Miami has already paid Consumers $11,000 because the city lost a 1958 court battle over what the city termed "excessively high" bills in those years.

Part of this money is interest because the City Council

Keeping Up With Joneses

How Does Metro Stack Up?

How does Metropolitan Dade County stack up against its northern neighbor, Broward County, tax and economy wise?

The result of a recent study will be presented to the Dade County Association of Unincorporated Areas when it meets Saturday for its monthly meeting.

The meeting is scheduled for 10 a.m. at Holiday Inn, 2500 Brickell Ave.

Another study on the possible "recall" of State Rep. Jesse Yarborough is also scheduled to be reported on.

A bid last month to launch a drive to recall Yarborough was put off until a feasibility study could be made.

Attorney Gerard Pucci is to report on Yarborough's abortive efforts to present legislation that would have given Metro the same taxing powers as municipalities or permitted under State law.

Pucci is also to report on library and districting bills.

Also on Saturday's agenda is a report on the Port Authority Act and its effect.

Offices Closed

City halls in West Miami and South Miami will be closed all day Monday, May 31, for the Memorial Day holiday.

REALTY SEMINAR

The Florida Association of Realtors will sponsor a 1965 educational seminar Wednesday, June 20, at the Holiday Inn, Coral Gables.

Medical Village Planned For Baptist Hospital

A $1.5 million "Medical Village" will be built on land directly adjacent to the Baptist Hospital on North Kendall Drive in South Miami.

Mark XX Investment Corporation, a major developer in the South West and South Dade areas, announced it has received the approval of County officials to go ahead with the two and one-half acre project which will consist of eight two-story build-

Coral Gables would be the temporary county seat of "Independence County" — a proposed county with approximately two-thirds of the land area of Dade County, a half million population and six of its 27 municipalities.

The plan, which Gulf County Rep. Ben Williams and a group of South Dade leaders are trying to resuscitate after the Dade delegation gave it a solar plexus blow two weeks ago, would be the largest county in Florida, if Dade is split into four.

Other proposed counties are Dade, Miami Beach, and Kennedy.

Independence County would be primarily suburban and agrarian, at least in its formative years. I would occupy a position not too greatly unlike Miami in the early days, when the Miami Beach island chain was largely undeveloped.

It would have virtually no industry. Agriculture, Home-

A devoted housewife and mother of two last week went for a spin in a luxurious car most have only read about and lunched with a dapper gentleman many have only seen from a distance.

The housewife: Mrs. Barnett Shermak, of 5350 SW 97th Ave.

The car: a sleek, midnight-blue, Lincoln limousine.

The man: None other than Metro's gallant mayor, Chuck Hall.

And all because Mrs. Shermak had a "Burning

Yearning' and wrote to The Guide and The Times to see if we could arrange for her to meet Hall and go for a ride in his limousine.

"This started out just as a silly whim," admitted Mrs. Shermak, "and I told my husband I felt like a teenager going after a Beatle autograph.

"I didn't know how it was going to turn out. But," she beamed, "it was very, very nice."

It was late morning when Hall's chauffeured limousine slipped into the Shermak driveway, picked up the housewife, went back to pick up Hall at his Beach home. Then both lunched at The Everglades Hotel.

"I loved it! The com-stead Air Force Base, and the University of Miami would be its main economic mainstay.

Most of its residents would continue to depend on the Greater Miami area for its livelihood.

The backers have come up with no comprehensive study of the economic ramifications of creating a new County such as the millage, indebtedness to Dade County for existing assets.

Coral Gables, with an estimated population of 40,000, would be the largest of the municipalities, Islandia, incorporated just two years ago and populated largely by trees, the smallest.

Other municipalities would be South Miami and West Miami, Homestead and Florida City.

But the unincorporated area, the fastest growing in Dade, would be, by far, the most populous.

Everglades National Park would occupy nearly half the total area of the new and conservation areas of the Southern and South Florida flood control district would team up to eat up acreage.

The University of Miami's scattered campus would find itself in two Counties. The Main Campus in Coral Gables and the South Campus at Richmond Air Base, would remain unchanged, but the facilities at Jackson Memorial Hospital, which the University operates, would be in Dade County.

Medical facilities in the new county would include Doctors' Hospital in Coral Gables; South Miami Hospital; Baptist Hospital; James Archer Smith Hospital, Homestead; Variety Children's Hospital, Veterans Administration Hospital, Coral Gables; and Kendall Hospital.

South Dade Junior College, under construction, would be included in the new county.

Dade's sprawling private secondary school system, one of the largest in the nation, would be split up, with Independence County operating its own system.

Residents of Key Biscayne, planned to be included in Independence County, would have to travel through Dade County to get to their new county seat.

There would be a major Air Force base, Homestead, and three private airports, until Tamiami is phased out. New Tamiami, Aero Country Club and the Homestead airport would provide private aviation needs.

Its first five County Commissioners would be appointed by Gov. Haydon Burns until elections could be held. They would be paid the same salaries as those of Palm Beach County.

Gov. Burns would also appoint all elective officers until the first election.

Circuit, criminal and county courts would be established. Metro courts would be abolished and municipal courts restored.

All records dealing with persons, land and other property in the area would be turned over to the new county. Dade County would be repaid for its pro-rata share of any expenses or indebtedness attributable to Independence County.

The new county would be created if Gov. Burns signed a bill passed by the Legislature, or over his veto.

delayed payment from October 1964 to April 1965.

South Miami won its right to lower Consumer's rates before Judge Joe Eaton but this action was reversed by the District Court of Appeals and the Florida Supreme Court.

Last August Metro's WSB ordered Consumers to adopt uniform rates of all its 22,700 county-wide customers.

This action last August raised the yearly rates to South Miami customers by $1.32; Coral Gables, $2.04, while the unincorporated area received a $5.88 cut.

South Miami hopes that Metro adopts its pending resolution urging the County to condemn the existing water lines within its city to permit a publicly owned utility.

All private negotiations for the city to buy Consumers have been in vain.

South Miami charges that Consumer wants a prohibitive cost to extend service and lack adequate water supply to fight fires.

Self Pity? He's Glad to be Alive

By RAYMOND LANG

Pain and John Curtin — for 15 hell-packed months they've lived together.

Let it rain. This strapping former Marine clenches his teeth.

Let the day die and night set in. He grimaces.

Not much of a way for a hard-nosed county motorcycle cop to behave.

But it's been like this since that fateful morning at 10:42 a.m. March 16, 1964. That's when Deputy Sheriff Curtin was struck by a motorist at Bird Road and SW 62nd Avenue . . . hurled through the air like a sack of flour . . . and landed like a piece of crumpled-up paper.

Both legs were broken, his right in seven places. He's got enough aluminum in that leg to set up a junk yard. His left hand was crushed, his right hand broken. Glass splinters played a cruel tick-toe across his face and eyes.

With his pretty, dark-haired wife, Freida, beside him and a Metro buddy visiting him in his room at South Miami Hospital — which has been like home to him for 15 months since the accident — this Korean War Marine veteran who grew up in an orphanage faced a hard fact:

He might never walk again! The words were his and they were like chalk in his throat.

But he left self-pity back on that street where they scooped up his body.

"With this, there'll be quite a bit of pain for the rest of your life," he said matter-of-factly. His strong hands gripped his right leg. He lit up a cigarette. The two fingers were stained nicotine — brown.

"It's the weather. If it rains. Or night-fall. Anything, just a change in the weather, bothers it.

"But I don't believe in self-pity.

"I worry some about the future," he admitted. His eyes locked on his leg and a jagged scar that looked like railroad tracks that ran from his thigh to his knee cap.

"I was raised in an orphanage, so that self-pity doesn't enter into it. You were trained from the beginning to make something of yourself.

"I just don't like self-pity. What does it accomplish? he asked with a shrug of the shoulders that way his weight plummeted from 197 pounds to 168.

His wife did not look at him. She looked at the floor. Luckily, they have no children. On the day he talked, it was their sixth wedding anniversary.

He had been with the county for four years before the accident. He's gone under the knife five times as his private physician and Hospital doctors wrack their talents to give him back a whole body. Two more operations wait.

Sheriff T.A. Buchanan has visited him often and the County has promised, Curtin said, to try to find a job for him. It all depends on what the doctors say he's physically able to do.

"It's an occupational hazard," said Curtin, who was getting a take-home pay of $74 a week after deductions.

"It's foolish to think you're going to go through life without anything happening to you."

He opened a new pack of cigarettes. He seemed to quiver a bit.

"You've got to accept the way things are," he said, rubbing his right leg as the late afternoon coolness slipped in, "and do the best you can.

"If it doesn't work out, then I don't know. But, "he whispered softly, "there's no sense burning your bridges until you've bought the lumber to build them."

John Curtin's got a lot of guts to build with.

fort, the elegance of it," Mrs. Shermak said of Hall's limousine.

"The thing I liked best was the double-take everyone did as we passed them on the road . . . the size of the car and the fact the driver was so elegantly dressed."

Hall's chauffeur, a sergeant, is garbed in the usual Sheriff's Department tan uniform, but wears a mascot and fourragere, a braided cord around the left shoulder.

"I thanked him for going along with it and he said he was more than pleased to do it. He was very gracious.

"We discussed very briefly our new County Manager (Porter Homer) and he thought he was going to work out fine," said Mrs. Shermak.

"And I felt just as important as Gina Lollabrigida," said Mrs. Shermak.

"He kissed my hand when he said 'Good-bye.'"

Mark XX Plans Medical Village At Baptist Hospital Site

ings. The medical complex will be known as the "Mark XX Medical Arts Village."

Facilities to be included in the project will be medical and pathological laboratory facilities, doctors offices, drug stores and other buildings. Plans are underway to install a central medical library on the site.

Eugene Fleischer and Edward Grad, principals of the Mark XX Investment Corporation, and general contractors for the project, said that the "Medical Village" property is the first parcel of land privately owned just south of the Baptist Hospital property.

Fleischer said that "after considerable research in this area regarding a medical center, the general attitudes of the physicians interviewed have been unanimously optimistic. The nearness of the office complex to the hospital will result in a tremendous saving of time for the doctors. Another major convenience is the nearness of the Snapper Creek Convalescent Home which will be within 600 feet of the proposed Mark XX Medical Arts Village."

Fleischer said the contemporary two-story buildings are being planned with completely illuminated ceilings, wide walks, and balconies, tropical landscaping and ample parking.

The Mark XX Investment Corporation has devised a unique financing plan which will permit individual doctors to either lease or purchase their office space. The entire project is being handled by Weiner & Gross, Realtors, 1060 Brickell Avenue, under the direct supervision of Leroy Weiner. Weiner has been closely associated with a number of medical buildings in this area, and is completely familiar with the requirements of the medical profession.

The Mark XX Investment Corporation has been active in the field of construction this area for the past 10 years and is presently constructing a 96-bed Convalescent Home on Coral Way and Palmetto Bypass for Dr. M. S. Fox, and also two apartment houses consisting of 62 units on Bird Road and 62nd Avenue.

The architectural work is being done by Muxo Associates of 2903 Saizedo Avenue, Coral Gables.

'Detective' Ends Career--Nabbed As A Burglar

By MARION WYNNE
Staff Reporter

A glib-talking man has been charged with burglary and grand larceny and impersonating an officer investigating the crimes he is alleged to have committed himself.

Michael Challis, 26, of 460 North Royal Poinciana, Miami Springs, is out on bond awaiting arraignment before Peace Justice Ruth Sutton on charges of impersonating a police officer, breaking and entering and grand larceny.

The unusual chain of events began Sunday morning, May 16, when Theodore Thompson, 28, awakened in his 6263 Sunset Dr. apartment to find a tall fellow carrying his record player.

Flashing a small gold badge, identification card and gun, the youth introduced himself as "Metro Detective Bill Brackney, No. 10929."

He told Thompson that he was looking for a burglar who moved the two stereo speakers in the kitchen.

After advising the South Miamian to protect himself with locks for his doors and a gun, the "detective" left saying he'd call back to report the results of his investigation.

Three hours later Thompson himself played detective when he couldn't find $120 in cash, an ash tray and keys from his apartment and the Playboy Club.

Thompson identified Challis from some photographs shown by South Miami Detective Martin Baum.

Baum, South Miami Police-man Joe Grabol and Miami Springs police arrested Challis early last Wednesday at his apartment where they say they found the cigaret lighter, keys, phony police

BELK'S- RED AND BIRD ROADS

Dr. McCabe: Gridiron to Ivy Halls

By MARIAN WYNNE
Staff Writer

Dr. Robert McCabe is a chunky, 35-year-old fellow who looks like he'd be right at home blasting through some pro football line — yet he talks like an administrator. And that's what he is.

The former Gables High basketball and football coach will carry the ball as dean of the south campus for one of the nation's mushrooming junior colleges, Miami-Dade.

"My wife promises to stop me from becoming a stuffy administrator," laughed the six-foot one-inch dean with the round, boyish face.

McCabe's life has been a curious combination of sports and academics — even when it came to choosing his mate, Bonnie, a librarian at Blue Lakes Elementary School.

They met each other one summer while both were studying for a masters degree at Appalachian State Teachers College, North Carolina.

At that time he was a Gables High basketball coach who watched his the morning of Dec. 22, young charges practice 1960. That afternoon he married Bonnie and they headed for a Nassau honeymoon only to return home five days later in time for another basketball session.

Since that hectic year, the University of Miami graduate furthered his education at the University of Indiana and received his PhD in junior college administration from the University of Texas.

"A junior college is no second class place," the native New Yorker said seriously about his pet belief gleaned from his past two years as assistant to Miami-Dade Junior College President Peter Masiko.

"It's the institution of the second half of this century, the same way that the American high school was most important in the first half.

"When the new campus is finished next fall we will offer an economical education in everything ranging from technical classes to a two-year foundation for higher education."

But McCabe will have plenty to keep him busy now when he leads a staff of 50 teachers at the temporary campus in starting at Palmetto High School, June 21.

"We're going to place emphasis on guiding these youngsters. The biggest problem is they don't know where they're going," said the serious student who made all A's in graduate school.

"I must never lose my sympathy and understanding for the teenage scholar. If I do, my wife is liable to take out a transcript of freshman year grades!" he said with his blue eyes twinkling.

What Ever Happened To Those Savings?

While the County has experienced reduced growth in recent years, the cost of government has and continues to skyrocket.

Taxpayers, particularly those who reside in municipalities will be particularly hard hit when they receive next year's consolidated tax bills.

Not only will city dwellers have to pay additional taxes to support Metropolitan government and County schools, their city tax bills will come due at the same time.

Whenever possible, owners of rental and business property will attempt to pass these increases on to their tenants and customers in the form of higher rents and prices.

Labor will seek higher wages to pay the higher taxes. And so another cycle in a never ending round of inflation.

The real losers, of course, will be retired persons and those living on fixed incomes. The very people who have provided Dade County with economic stability when other areas suffered more from recessions.

This element of our economy has been steadily driven out and this latest tax round may herald their end as a stabilizing factor.

While it must be said that school teachers and other County employes are entitled to fair pay and we certainly don't want Dade to be a second rate County, we must still wonder about the long promised economies.

Crows Talk with Forked Tongue On Super Heated Air Waves

Miami is a mecca for the open forum microphone.

From mid-day to the early morning hours the ether is rendered with opinion and commentary on everything from tips on how to teach crows to talk to the real, inside, untold, censored, blacked out by the news media story on why the Bay of Pigs invasion failed.

The cacaphony has led one way to quip that there are so many of them that they must be talking to each other.

They are the insomniac's dream, but they do, from time to time, provide some interesting listening.

With eight of them to choose from, you're bound by scanning the dial, find one who'll make you laugh, raise your blood pressure or pull at your heart strings.

Dean of commentators are WINZ's Alan Courtney and

Off Beat

by Maurice Labelle

Art (Make Believe Ballroom) Green of WAME.

Courtney, whose usually serious political exchanges take place between 10 p.m. and 1 a.m. weekdays, claims to have originated the idea of opening up the air waves to questions and comments from listeners.

The conservative Courtney, who moved over from WQAM after a difference of opinion there, was replaced by liberal Lee Vogel, 11 p.m. to 2 a.m. weekdays.

Vogel prides himself in being an anti-Communist, though his explanation of how he got to be a champion anti-Communist by fighting the American Legion and other conservative groups is somewhat puzzling. He favors fighting Reds "the American way."

Fortunately, Vogel ventures out of the realm of politics frequently, providing his listeners with other mental stimuli.

Perhaps the brightest of the open forum shows is the newest. This is Bill Smith's delightful "Talk of Miami" program from 12:10 p.m. to 3 p.m. daily on WKAT.

Smith's easy-going style and his ability to evoke information from guests, while keeping his callers in bounds, is remarkable.

While Smith shies away from politics, he has had a variety of religious, legal, medical and off-beat characters that delight, amuse and inform his audience.

One of the most valuable aspects of the open forum interviews is that the listener is able to learn for himself, without filter, the guest's views.

Late night interview programs have also ventured into fields such as venereal disease, homosexuality and religious controversies that other media have generally ignored or played down.

Norb Gariety, whose Sunday half-hour show from 11:30 p.m. to midnight, once delved into such questions as the existence of unidentified flying objects (UFO), vacated the flying saucer field when it was taken over by the beatnik set.

Now he tantalizes or provokes his audience with strong right-wing stuff that usually doesn't find its way into the regular news media until it has been digested and reacted to for a few weeks.

On the end of the radio and political spectrum, Hendrick Berns, gives the hard left line on WMBM from 8 to 9:30 p.m. weekdays and 7 to 9 p.m. Sundays.

Berns, who has worked for the area's major dailies, has another voice, the weekly Independent.

The only open forum conducted by a woman is Esther Rogovin's "Time for Truth" 9:30 to midnight session originating from the El Bolero Restaurant and heard over WEDR FM.

And we thought women did all the talking.

It Hurts, Just by Accident

TWO FRIENDS, old buddies you might say, happened into the office the other day. They usually show up about this time every year, a few days before June 1, to point up some things we know already but may have forgotten since this time last year.

THEIR NAMES? — B.

Careful and B. Cautious. They have pointed heads, long ears, curled-up toes and speak in deep voices. No one ever has determined where they come from or where they go, but rumor has it they are representatives (press agents you might say) for the National Safety Council.

NO MATTER how they look or dress, their message is still the same — "Be More Careful During the Summer." They always come armed with circulars, statistics and national averages. Nobody knows where they get all these figures, but they are impressive.

HERE'S ONE, for instance. Says here that more than 80,000 persons were injured by power lawn mowers last year, which makes lawn mowing more dangerous than stock car racing, skate boarding and shooting off firecrackers, another dangerous summertime sport.

WE USE MOWERS more in the summertime than any other time of year, so lawn mowing has become a prime summertime hazard. But this is just one of many hazards brought on by the time of year.

A FEW OTHERS, according to my enlightening friends, are sun bathing, swimming, painting, motoring, boating, hiking and climbing (this is for you-all who go to Carolina each year). Looks like there are few summertime activities that aren't hazardous, if not done correctly.

EVEN SITTING and rocking in a rocking chair can be dangerous — if the chair is about to fall apart and drop you to the floor. This, I think, is the point B. Careful and B. Cautious were trying to make. It isn't what you do in the summer, but how, where when you do it.

ROTARY LAWN mowers are OK to use at a particular place and by a particular person. But anyone who tackles a lawn full of rocks with a rotary mower with youngsters near is inviting an accident.

Sunday School Teacher

Her Textbook for Over 60 Years--The Bible

By SYLVIA SPRINGER
Religion Writer

"Teacher Emeritus," the pin reads.

With "60 years" engraved in gold.

For 80-year-old Mrs. Eva Richey Clawson, 7398 SW 21st St., the words, "Well done Thou good and faithful servant," write themselves into any description of her life.

1901. A petite young girl of 16 taught her first Sunday School class in Newport, Ky. And she's been doing it ever since.

"I've missed a few years, but not many," Mrs. Clawson mused. "It's something I love."

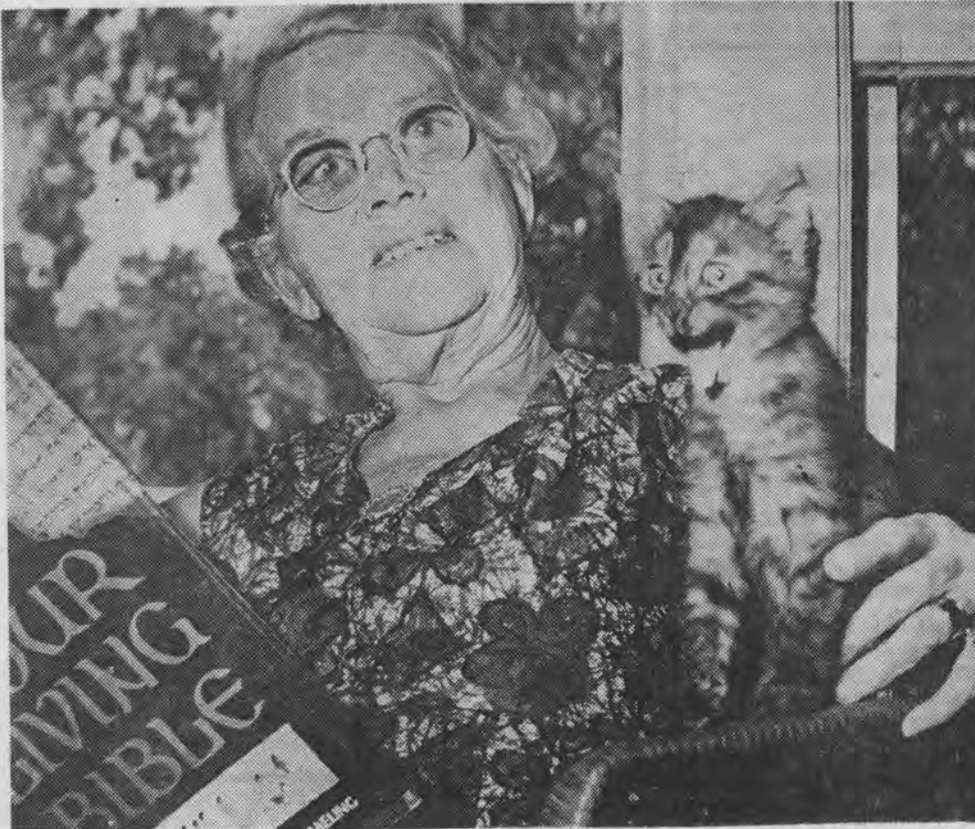

Her flock felt this. When the tiny gray-haired woman decided it was time to retire, members of University Christian Church, Ludlum and Sunset, where she's been teaching eight years, turned out en masse to say "Thank you."

There was a surprise supper. Then the "Teacher Emeritus" pin was presented. And a special book, "Forget-Me-Nots of Love." Former students, Carl Droke and Faye Ude told of being in Mrs.

Clawson's class more than 30 years ago in the First Christian Church of Miami.

Many have come under her influence. But few forget her special brand of kindness.

Mrs. Eva Clawson: 60 of 80 Years for God's Word ... her former pupils gave surprise party

And for good reason. Walking five miles to teach her charges is nothing unusual for the spry little woman.

"Sure I've done that before," she said smiling, "you have to get there some way."

Joy is not an unusual word. There's more than one way to spell it according to Mrs. Clawson. J is for Jesus. O is for others. And Y, yourself. "I tell them, 'Put yourself last and you come closer to God,'" she said.

KEEPING ON THE alert for new methods of teaching is one thing you have to do," the retired high school teacher said. "I used to get motion pictures when I could. Then we used to study who wrote the Bible. One day we might spend the whole time on, 'What was Samuel like?'"

The Dead Sea Scrolls. Charts. And an unusual Bible. "With all these new ones," she observed. "I tried to get one in the language Jesus spoke. How beautiful it was."

How do you start a church? Mrs. Clawson remembers. "My father helped build Coral Terrace Presbyterian Church," she recalled proudly. "Mother was teaching at Coral Gables Elementary."

"You see we came here in 1921," Mrs. Clawson said. "I was living in town. My parents built this house we're in now. It was the fourth one in the area."

"The 1926 hurricane came and that brought me back out here," she related. "Mother put me to work teaching Sunday School."

"We went calling on everyone, a kind of survey," she went on. "Then we'd have parties. I remember one was particularly good. It was a backward party where we did everything backward."

Looking behind was something the gentle mother of a son who teaches at Riviera Junior High school never did. She's taught in churches throughout the state and also in Ohio and Kentucky, never receiving payment of any kind.

"I like to take care of the little folks."

Free vision screening will be a feature for the youngsters attending "Safety Town" June 7 through Aug. 20 at the Dadeland Shopping Center.

Dr. Sanford Ziff will co-ordinate the sight program for the Dade County Optometric Association with assistance from the Dadeland Lions Club and the Vol-Teens.

This is Help?

Green Thumbs, Red Faces

By ED RORDAM
Correspondent

Any horticulturist knows the multitudinous problems insects pose to efficient gardening.

But the Coral Gables Parks Department has found a two-legged challenge to the bug kingdom's claim to top position among gardening headaches — man.

John Harrison, the man responsible for maintenance of city parks, tells tales which may shock you into disbelief until you realize he is entirely serious.

For instance, a palm tree which required three men to lift was gone from Giralda and Ponce de Leon the day after Harrison's crew planted it there.

Another time found

Harrison confronting a woman on Miracle Mile about her volunteer gardening in the city's flower beds.

Holding a fistful of freshly-uprooted plants, she explained that as a taxpayer she felt entitled to take what she wanted. After being enlightened about the purpose of taxes, she became irate, climbed into her $5,000 Lincoln automobile and drove away, Harrison said.

Another woman was asked by police one night what she was doing with pruning shears in a city rose bed. She carefully explained that because of the overworked condition of the parks crew she felt obliged to help out whenever she could.

Strangely though, she pruned only choice buds from the bushes.

Some fraternity men at the University of Miami "overworked" maintenance men, according to Harrison. He said they promptly cut down several palm trees on San Amaro Drive (fraternity row) when they noticed the trees obstructed their view of the tennis courts from the fraternity houses.

Harrison has been with the department for five years and is accustomed to the varied problems connected with the job.

"When we plant an area we expect to lose a little bit," he says.

The enormity of the job is evident in the 500 miles of grass that's cut, and 86,000 trees to trim.

Picked by Mayor

'Most Valuable' Title Goes to South Miami's John Brau

South Miami Councilman John Brau, a scrappy young ex-Marine, local realtor and father of three young sons, was honored Monday night as his city's "Most Valuable Person."

The fact that Brau, 35, has announced he may challenge his job next March, didn't deter Mayor Clyde Taylor from making the award at a banquet honoring the city's appointed advisory board members.

"Although he may be controversial, John is a hard working man who has done the most for South Miami," Taylor told the crowd of 100 at the city's annual dinner for board members who serve the city without pay.

"Brau has lived here since he was a teenager, struggling to work his way through school without a father."

This marks the first year that a mayor has appointed himself as a one-man committee to select a top citizen.

The Dade County Mothers of Twins Club recently named the John Braus as Dade's "Family of the Year."

John and his wife, Dotty, reside at 7516 SW 58th Ave., with their sons, Kevin and Keith, 20 months, and John Jr., four months.

Adults, Children

YMCA Offers Lessons: Arts, Crafts, Swimming

Activities ranging from swimming lessons to making puppets are offered by the South Dade YWCA, SW 79th Avenue and SW 94th Street, starting the week of Tuesday, June 8.

Programs for adults include an art-craft workshop, June 15 through July 20, 10 to noon, $5 for six weeks; oil painting, June 17-August 5, 9:30 to 11:30 a.m., $10 for 8 weeks; sewing, July 9-Sept. 24, 9 a.m. to noon, $3 for 12 weeks.

Children's fare features puppetry — making the puppets and putting on a show, ages 7 to 12, Tuesday, 9:30 to 11:30 a.m.

First session is from June 9 to July 14 and the second is from July 21 to Aug. 25. at cost of $10 for each session.

Arts and crafts are offered Wednesday, 9:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m., 7-12, $4 for 6 week sessions from June 9-July 15 and July 22-Aug. 25.

Swimming lessons are given to four-year-olds and adults in two sessions, June 14-July 9 and July 12-Aug. 6. Call FR 7-2517 for more information and rates.

Dr. Arturo de Fillipi will be one of the guest speakers in a series called "Exploring the Arts" for youngsters 8-13 starting June 14.

BRAU SPEAKS

South Miami Councilman and realtor John Brau discussed zoning applications and better relations between attorneys and realtors before the Florida Council of Bar Association Presidents in Winter Park.

U-M Paving Share Gratis

The City Commission decided to absorb the cost of paving University Drive along the University of Miami North Campus.

Commissioners decided to pick up the estimated $1,500 tab after determining that they could only recover the pro-rata share of the cost on the property, which the City is scheduled to take over from UM later.

'Jod's Little Acre' Approved

With no apologies to Erskine Caldwell, South Miami Council has approved the final plat of a subdivision to be named "Jod's Little Acre."

The property, north of 60th St. on Ludlam Road and less than five acres, was subdivided by its owners, John and Amelia O'Day.

The subdivision name Jod, according to City Manager Richard Barton, is a combination of the first letters of the name John O'Day.

MILLER BAS MITZVAH

The Bas Mitzvah of Allison Miller, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Murray Miller, 1531 Zoreta, will be celebrated May 28 at 8:30 p.m. at Temple Beth Am, 5950 N. Kendall Dr., under the officiation of Rabbi Herbert Baumgard.

GOP Slaps, Pats LBJ's Policy

President Lyndon B. Johnson received both a pat on the back and a brickbat from the South Dade Republican Club for his actions in South Vietnam and the Dominican Republic.

While supporting his actions, the club took note of the campaign of vilification against his opponent, Barry M. Goldwater, for advocating the same things during the last presidential campaign.

"The President of the United States was recently elected, in part, by a campaign of mudslinging, trying to attach the title of 'War Monger' to Sen. Goldwater, by ridiculing a statement by Sen. Goldwater that, 'Extremism in the defense of liberty is no vice,' etc., and by scoffing at Sen. Goldwater's statement that the UN as presently constituted could not serve as an effective peace keeper," said the resolution passed by the organization.

"TYPICAL QUESTIONS & ANSWERS ABOUT DELTOX VINYLIZED RUGS

- Q: Can I get special widths as well as special lengths?
A. Yes, standard loom widths can be cut to narrower widths or seamed together to create wider widths.
- Q: Can Deltax be laid wall-to-wall?
A. Yes, but not in the usual manner, which would lose the important advantage of reversibility. Cutting and binding to the shape of your floor will give a wall-to-wall effect, and normal furniture will hold the rug in place. In such cases, an inch or two allowance around the border should be made.
- Q: Can Deltax Rugs be used outdoors as well as indoors?
A. Yes. Through Deltax's exclusive VINYLIZING process, Deltax rugs now are weather resistant as well as soil and stain resistant for indoor use. They may be used on patios, around pools, on high-rise balconies, or as outside stair runners.

- Q: Is a pad or cushion recommended beneath a Deltax Rug?
A. Not necessary, but it will increase comfort underfoot. A pad or cushion is not recommended for outdoor use.
- Q: How do I care for my Deltax Rug?
A. It's easy. Just vacuum or sweep daily, or as often as you normally would any other woven floorcovering. Deltax's exclusive VINYLIZING process will resist staining through spillage and will greatly simplify daily care of your rug. When its appearance loses brightness through continued use, it can easily be cleaned by shampooing with the foam of any liquid detergent. When used outdoors, or to free entrapped dirt, it can be laid on a smooth surface such as a driveway or patio outdoors, and flushed with a garden hose. Allow nominal time for the rug to dry thoroughly before moving it or rolling it up.

- Q: How long will a Deltax Rug last?
A. Indoors, the rug should easily give four to six years use with normal care. Much depends upon where it's used and the type of care it's given. Many Deltax rugs have been used for ten or twenty years and are still giving excellent service. Outdoors, naturally, the rug cannot be expected to give as long wear because of the wide range and severity of weather conditions and variety of uses. However, tests show that under normal conditions at least two seasons' wear should be expected outdoors, due particularly to Deltax's complete reversibility.
- Q: Can Deltax Rugs be used on cement floors such as basements, patios, breezeways, etc.?
A. Yes, if the cement is dry and well seasoned or if it's treated with a dependable cement sealer.

Dade League

'Apology' Demand Spurned by Metro Stirs New Anger

Hopes for reconciliation between Metro and the Dade League of Municipalities appeared dim this week as more fuel was added to the fire in an exchange of letters.

"I am at my wits end trying to deal with this problem," said W. Keith Phillips Jr., president of the League who began his term last year with a pledge to bring about better relations between the County and the cities.

Phillips' latest pique was touched off by a letter from Dade Mayor Chuck Hall in which he reported that the League's complaint about County Attorney Thomas Britton's criticism of municipal leaders had been taken up at a recent Metro Commission meeting.

The meeting, of which the League was not notified, Phillips said, resulted in County employes being cautioned to state that they are speaking as individuals and not representing County policy.

The answer, said Phillips, constituted support for Britton's attack and a refusal to take him to task.

League officials had demanded a public apology from Britton and a reprimand from the Metro Commission. They got neither.

"Which to me is nothing but a backhanded slap in the face," said Phillips.

In another facet to the same controversy, the League of Women Voters, before which Britton had made the controversial remarks criticizing city officials for obstructing Metro, wrote Phillips that they had sought to learn about the problems of Metro-municipal relationships.

"We invited Mr. Britton to speak on the subject of Metro-municipal relationships because he has been concerned with them since Metro was established. We felt that this could identify some of the major areas of conlict, and this he endeavored to do.

"He made no attempt to propose solutions to these problems which of course must be reached by the elected policy-makers."

The League of Women Voters said they would cover municipal meetings in the future to be better informed.

Phillips, Monday complained also that Metro has still failed to contact the League of Municipalities on the division of responsibilities.

League officials, meanwhile are meeting with police and fire chiefs to work out a county-wide communications system.

"We hope to come up with a proposal that will be constructive not only to the cities but to the County," said Phillips.

City Plans $3,000 Spree

A tentative plan to spend $3,000 for future projects was announced by South Miami Chamber of Commerce directors at a luncheon meeting Monday.

Estimates include: July fireworks display, $500; Junior Orange Bowl float, $300; Turkey Bowl television expenses, $600; Christmas advertising and Promotion, $400; holiday street lights, $580; participation in Turkey Bowl Queen contests and half-time show, $200; extra copies of classified business directory, $420.

The City Council recently voted a $3,000 grant to the Chamber for promotional activities.

In other actions, directors: INTRODUCED two new leaders: Thad Mark and Harvey Amster.

ANNOUNCED that the new classified business directory will be printed this week and sent to 8,000 residents of South Miami and surrounding areas. The group hopes to print 17,000 copies.

FORMED committees to discuss: Media publicity for the Turkey Bowl, the possibility of adding the Fiesta Association as a Chamber arm and a plan to elect officers in the merchants division.

REPORTED that Chamber President L. B. Hedgpeth will attend the S.M. Jaycee meetings and invite their representative to the Chamber for better co-ordination.

STATED that Chris Hosford, a Columbus High student, won the South Miami Merchants Mile run at the South Miami Jaycee sponsored Sunshine State invitational Track meet Saturday. The trophy winner was to attend the Chamber's Tuesday breakfast.

WELCOMED Richard Barton, South Miami City Manager as former chamber director, as the new liaison between the chamber and the city.

DIRECTED Ted Waterbury, who objected to the name "Turkey Bowl" for the Thanksgiving football game, to discuss the matter with the Fireman's Benevolent Association.

REQUESTED Barton to negotiate with Metro's Public Works Department for two "South Miami Business Section" signs with arrows for the Sunset Drive exit of the Palmetto-Expressway.

LEARNED that right-of-way acquisitions are holding up Metro's plan to build a bridge spanning Snapper Creek at SW 67th Avenue.

ADVISED the house and grounds committee to get estimates for painting the Chamber building at Fuchs Park.

Bottles (Hic!) In Street Tell An Old (Hic!) Story

sewerage pipe was swept back to the musty past as he unearthed a corking good find.

Bottles!

Dozens — all shapes and sizes — and many of them liquor bottles dating back to Prohibition were unearthed eight feet beneath Gallano Street and Menores Avenue, said Joe Frost. His excavation company is doing the digging.

"Bottles have a history and all these bottles here are at least 40 years old," said Frost.

His hobby happens to be collecting vintage bottles.

"They used to use this area as a garbage dump and when the street cars came through, they laid the tracks over it.

"I found bottles from all over the world," Frost beamed as his calloused hands cradled several of the dirt-encrusted relics strewn along the curb.

Among them were liquor bottles from London and Scotland, a champagne bottle from Paris and a small receptacle stating it once

S. Miami Honors 'Mature Workers'

South Miami Mayor Clyde Taylor has proclaimed Wednesday, May 26, as "Mature Worker Day" to recognize skills and experience of older employees and to focus attention on the Committee on Total Employment.

The oldest working man and woman and the employer of the largest number of mature workers in the county will be honored at a banquet Wednesday.

held honey and almond cream for the complexion.

"These are old relics. You don't see many of these kind of bottles anymore," said Frost.

"I was down there," Frost said, nodding to the excavation pit his crane ate out of the earth, "and I stuck my head in and I could see bottles as far back as I could look.

"See that spectrum?" he asked, jabbing a rough-hued finger to where part of the bottle had sliced away and laid open the grain to reveal a myriad of colors.

"A spectrum's a rainbow and it's by the spectrum you can tell the age of these bottles."

"They were heavy on the booze in those days," grunted a near-by worker.

"Yeah," drawled another,

As for Joe Frost, he gulped down the last drops from a milk container and went back to work.

City Abandons Water Company Service Study

The proposal made late last year to survey adequacy of Consumers Water Company's facilities in Coral Gables has been dropped.

Consumers may be asked instead to present a five-year plan of operation.

Maurice Connell & Associates, the engineering firm considered for the job, has been notified that the plan has been dropped.

Commissioners have indicated that the straw vote in last April's City election which indicated the residents did not want to go into the water business, was the reason for deciding not to go ahead with the study.

The initial consideration for a survey resulted when high rise apartment builder, Al Sakolsky complained to the City that Consumers was refusing to supply him with adequate water and planning to charge him an exorbitant fee for adequate service.

Sakolsky and Consumers compromised their differences later.

The owner of the 12-story David William Apartment-Hotel at one point threatened to put in his own water treatment plant. He already has his own power producing facilities.

On Probation

Noted Family's Son, 43, Guilty of Nature Crimes

Arthur (Bubba) Merrill, 43, of 1420 S.W. 1st Ct., member of a Miami ship building family, was placed on three years' probation by Criminal Judge Jack Falk after he pleaded guilty to two charges of crimes against nature involving two youths.

Merrill, who placed himself under psychiatric care after his arrest by Sheriff's Department detectives and Assistant State Attorney David Goodhart, is to report to his probation officer each 30 days.

Psychiatric reports are to be made to the Court and to Goodhart every 60 days.

Court Fight Threatened Over Pines

At least one resident of the 700 block of Anastasia Avenue is threatening to go to court if he can't get his Australian pines cut down for free by the City after claiming City Gas damaged the roots in installing natural gas lines.

Bernie Serkin, 720 Anastasia, threatened the Commission at Monday's conference.

"If we can't get the thing accomplished in a nice way, I'm going to get my attorney to write a letter to the City of Coral Gables and to the Gas Company. When we agreed to pay for having the trees removed at the last conference we were sure the ruling would be in our favor. I'm not going to pay for removing the tree, I'm going to let it fall on my house."

The City Commission, which it would have still another tree surgeon (the third) look at the Australian pines to see if they were irreparably damaged as the homeowners claimed.

The residents say the towering trees present a menace.

Ideals League Sets Study

A committee has been formed by the League for American Ideals to study how the other 66 Florida Counties have handled devotionals in schools since the Supreme Court ruling banning prayers in public schools.

Mrs. Dudley Burton, a Key Biscayne housewife, has been named chairman of the new committee, according to Marion Costner, president.

Dade County, which was one of two focal points in legal suits to end school religious observances, now permits only a minute of silence before school starts.

ects, Seese also won the group's Sparkplug Award for meeting all of the requirements of the National Jaycees.

Some of the Seese's activities including writing for the local and district newspapers, collecting books for the Peace Corps, raising funds for the 1964 Olympics, vice chairman of the Miss South Miami Pageant and director of international relations.

Seese owns the Kwik Print-Kwik Kopy Printing Co. at 5920 South Dixie Hwy.

I believe in installment saving

THAT is what home buying is — the Coral Gables Federal way

Many kinds of "installment" buying may be a mistake. Certainly, it may be wrong to buy an expensive luxury gadget and pay an exorbitant interest rate — and then see it become "second-hand" over night.

But buying or building a home is not spending — it is saving. The payments are really payments to yourself. You are SAVING on the "installment" plan.

When you are through, you have property which may some day be worth more than you've paid out — and not in any sense second-hand.

Plan to get your home loan at Coral Gables Federal. Interest rates and closing costs are reasonable, and the advance payment privilege may save you a lot in total interest costs.

Also, Coral Gables Federal's "open-end clause" may permit you to borrow more later on the same mortgage, to enlarge or improve your home.

Gables Turns Down City Ambulance Idea; Too Costly

City Manager L. W. Robinson Jr. and Fire Chief Paul Matheson have thrown cold water on the proposal to establish a municipally owned and operated emergency ambulance.

Mark R. Nachman, secretary-treasurer of South Florida Ambulance Service, who made the proposal last week, has asked to appear before the City Commission to present his plan personally.

Robinson's main reasons for rejecting the proposal was lack of funds and facilities to house the ambulance.

"The City of Coral Gables has recently put in operation a new rescue truck costing in excess of $6,000, which is manned by personnel in the Fire Department whose regular duties are those of fire fighting," Robinson wrote to Nachman May 10.

"The rescue truck has proven most effective as shown by the number of calls which have been answered. The City of Coral Gables does not have any funds for an ambulance. The City of Coral Gables does not have any facilities for housing an ambulance.

"In talking with our fire chief he estimates it would cost more than your figure of $27,000 a year to operate an ambulance on an emergency basis.

"If the City of Coral Gables operated an ambulance it should not be under the Fire

City Acts

Wild Pets Banned From Coral Gables

The City Commission Tuesday passed on final reading an ordinance prohibiting the keeping as pets wild animals and reptiles in Coral Gables after some monkeying and horsing around.

Commissioner W. Keith Phillips Jr. was puzzled about the section that forbids having "true monkeys."

"Suppose I had an untrue monkey?" quipped Phillips.

The question was put to the city attorney.

"E. L. Semple is a true monkey," the city attorney quipped back.

Semple then came up with his own definition:

"One that jumps from chimp to chimp."

The ordinance, based on a Metro law, passed unanimously.

NACHMAN

Department . . ." said Robinson.

The matter, he said, was one determined by the City Commission.

W. Miami Gives Axe To 100 Ficus Trees

West Miami will be giving away 100 ficus trees to other towns and cities this summer.

It's all part of a parkway renovation program that Councilmen approved last week to donate uprooted trees which will be replaced by the bucidia variety (black olive.)

In other actions last week, Council:

DIRECTED the Zoning and Planning Board to call a public hearing for recommended ordinance changes suggested by the garage and service station owners.

REJECTED any change to the present ordinance which prohibits open storage of wrecked vehicles.

ADOPTED purchasing procedure rules permitting sealed bids to be open the afternoon of a Council meeting. Contractors and suppliers must furnish written quotations on items priced from $150 to $350. Items costing $350 require sealed bids.

UPHELD SPB's decision permitting Frank Rotolante to construct two single-family homes on two 50-foot lots on SW 65th Avenue, between S.W. 10th Terrace and S.W. 11th Street.

Mayor Edmund Cooper asked Council to reverse the decision because of the town's present 60-foot frontage requirement.

DECLINED to accept Cornelius Hang's suggestion that each councilman specialize in one phase of town government because they want to familiarize themselves with all operations.

PASSED the League of Municipalities' resolution requesting the State Legislature to reappportion Dade County into legislative districts.

In Southwest

New 55-Unit Apartment Joins Building Boom

Southwest section construction in progress includes a $500,000, 55-unit apartment, a $15,800 4-unit apartment and a $168,000 38-bed hospital.

James Lopez owns the two two-story apartment buildings with a pool at SW 77th Court and Miller Drive. Architects are Tripp and Skrip, engineer is Gerald Spolter and contractor is Leonard Building Corp.

Ralph Piacente owns the one-story four-unit building in the 10800 block of SW 7th St.,

U. S. Grant For New Park?

Metro's Planning Advisory Board will consider an application from South Miami for a federal grant of 30% of the purchase price to help finance a neighborhood park, at a meeting Thursday at 2 p.m. in the Justice Building.

The city negotiating with the Catholic Church for purchase of a park at Red Road and Snapper Creek Drive.

Sweetwater, designed by Gerald Pitt and built by C and H Builders.

Fred Crane owns the hospital at 3801 SW 79th Ave. designed by Lester Avery with Engineer Huel L. Crockett and Contractors Crane & Laesser.

New Hearings Law on Agenda

Ordinance revisions which would open decision making sessions of South Miami's Planning and Zoning Board and eliminate double hearings before the board and City Council were to be discussed Tuesday at city hall.

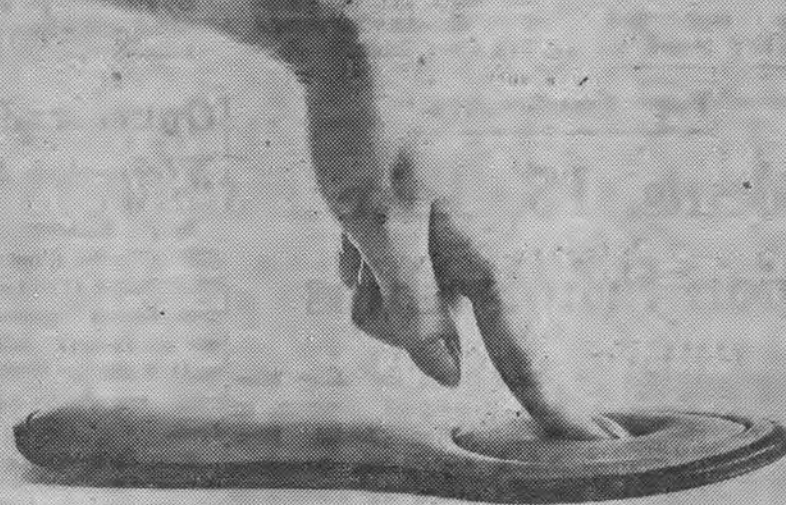

Councilman John Brau is the author of a plan whereby the PZB would have jurisdiction over variances while the Council would rule on major zoning changes and special use permits.

If adopted, this would eliminate executive sessions in the PZB and expedite zoning decisions.

Computer Finds Gables Divorcee New Mate

An electronic computer in New York has led a prominent middle-age Coral Gables divorcee to the altar, her friends have revealed.

They said the computer picked a stranger's name from among thousands before she met and subsequently married him.

Her friends asked that her name not be publicized. She since has moved from Coral Gables.

Here's how the electronic romance went:

The woman, described as being less than 50 years old, read a magazine article about a New York firm which specializes in scientifically picking prospective marriages mates for men and women.

After she paid a $35 fee and sent the firm a detailed background resume, her card was fed into a machine which picked the name of three men outside the Miami area.

Friends said she corresponded and met the first prospective mate.

"No sparks there," a friend said.

So the New York firm sent her the name of a second man, a well-known professor and widower who lived on Florida's west coast.

They met and, as friends described it, "fell hard and fast for each other."

The courtship lasted six months. They were married recently. He has two children, she one.

Districting Gets Gables Support

A group of Coral Gables business and professional men passed a resolution this week calling on the State Legislature to provide district rather than county-wide elections when reapportionment takes place.

The vote by the North Ponce Development Association was unanimous.

This was the same resolution adopted recently by the Coral Gables City Commission and supported by the League of Municipalities the Dade County Association of Unincorporated Areas and the People's Committee.

W. L. Philbrick and Gables City Commissioner Joe Murphy led the discussions in favor of district, rather than county-wide elections for the State House of Representatives.

Elections would be on the same basis as those held for the U.S. House of Representatives with the candidate being elected from the district from which he resides.

"It was a shocking thing to find out that only one of our representatives lives north of Flagler Street," said Murphy.

The former Gables mayor said it was not proper for Dade to complain about lack of fair representations when the County itself is unfairly apportioned.

Murphy denied that the system favored ward politics, the position of the Dade Legislative Delegation which favors countywide elections.

"If it's a rotten system for Dade County, then it must be a rotten system for the rest of the United States," said Murphy.

Members of the delegation favor the present system because a change would cause them to have to oppose each other in the next election, Murphy charged.

"Every one south of Flagler Street would be running against one another," Murphy said.

S. Miami Prefers A Fifth to Fourth

Sky divers, hay rides, dancing and fireworks marking the nation's most colorful holiday, are slated for July FIFTH in South Miami!

That's because the traditional July Fourth Independence Day falls on Sunday, explained Recreation Director Moe Panavas.

"And we want the people to still go to church," he added.

So the lanky leader planned a Monday full of fun starting with a special free show for children from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the South Miami Junior High field.

Ferris wheels, hay rides and magic shows will be featured.

Teenagers can try out the latest steps at their dance with a live band planned for 4 to 7 p.m.

Sky divers will perform at 2 p.m.; the A League all star baseball, 3 p.m., and a WFUN softball game, 6 p.m.

An airplane with streamers will announce the events by circling South Miami from 1 to 3 p.m. on July fourth and fifth.

Ex-Staffer Earns Special Internship

Boyce C. Rensberger, former reporter for this newspaper, has been accepted for a year's internship in mental health information as a part of a graduate program in journalism at Syracuse University.

Rensberger will spend the coming year as intern with the Department of Mental Health of the state of Connecticut.

The internship is the second half of a two-year program leading to the degree of master of science in journalism. Financed by a grant from the National Institute of Mental Health, the program prepares communications specialists for government, private agencies or the newly developing community mental health centers.

Rensberger, awarded one of the program's first fellowships last fall, is now completing a year of academic study on the Syracuse campus. He goes to his new post July 1.

When will the paving start and how much will it cost them are questions puzzling residents of the county's first taxing district for street paving in the Bird Road Farm Sites.

2-Car Crash Injures 4; 2 Treated

Four people were injured and two of them hospitalized when their two cars collided twice and spun around last Thursday at SW 59th Avenue and SW 74th Street.

South Miami Police charged Mary Lou Kundtz, 18, of 7745 SW 122th St., with careless driving after she ran a stop sign and struck the car driven by Stewart Storck, 21, of 5951 SW 44th Ter.

Both drivers remain in satisfactory condition at South Miami Hospital. Both cars were wrecked.

Also injured were Miss Kundtz's passengers, Toni, 13, and Jean Finenco, 9, of 6350 Snapper Creek Drive.

address the Metro Commission at a meeting Friday, June 4.

After a two-year delay Commissioners last week voted to appropriate $200,000 for financing the road improvement south of Bird Road and west of Snapper Creek Canal.

Property owners will then be assessed according to their front footage.

Latest Educational Saga: Return of the Retreads

Perhaps the cheapest insurance policy a wife and mother can buy is a college degree. This may be why women tend to return to school after raising their children, and pick up the threads of an education interrupted years before.

More and more is being written and discussed about such women, who pack lunchboxes in the morning, carpool, drop a load of clothes in the washer, then head out to campus to become a coed in high heels.

But is it all that simple . . . and is it possible to get a top-quality education while functioning as a fulltime wife and mother?

Is education the primary reason women go back to school, or do they view their studies as simply a holding action in the war against boredom?

"I find that I learn more now than I did when I was 18," says one southwest area woman, "and my grades reflect it. I have but one reason for being in school, one ultimate goal, and everything I do is directed toward attaining it.

"I waste no energy on peripheral campus activity, as I did when I first entered college back in the '40's. I guess I'm what you call an 'educational retread.'"

Mrs. Sam Stark, 5025 S.W. 66th Ave., attended Miami-Dade Junior College two days a week this past trimester. Starting in September, she will go to class and work in a local hospital four days a week, to complete the required credit hours which will qualify her to take state nursing board exams.

She took two courses last trimester, after being out of school 20 years, and pulled two A's. "I never did this well when I was 18 or 19," she observes, "but I knew as soon as classes started that I'd never be satisfied with a C again."

The mother of two high school students and a seventh-grader, Mrs. Stark found she was able to study in the evenings because "the kids were using the phone, so at least it wasn't ringing."

"The things you give up for study time," she said, "are pure pleasure. You don't go out as often, as you don't see your friends as much, because you obviously can't take time from necessities.

"Reading was difficult at first, because I was used to fiction. But I went into the den every night, closed the door, and studied. . ."

***

Mrs. Edward Pastroff, 6440 S.W. 50th St., the mother of a toddler has different problems: "I study whenever Michael is asleep."

Working on a Master's degree in mathematics, Mrs. Pastroff has been taking courses one at a time. "Whenever the right course is offered, I arrange to take it. If it's scheduled during the day, it just means I have to get a sitter."

Mrs. Pastroff started her graduate work by attending evening classes while she was teaching math at West Miami Junior High.

"It was scary at first," she admits, "because I was always in a hurry, and sometimes in the evenings I'd be too tired to want to go to class. But when I'd consider all the time I had already put in toward getting my degree, it kept me going.

"The only way to do something like this is just to start."

Another woman who found the first step the most difficult is Mrs. Sidney Fagin, 5811 S.W. 65th Ave.

All Mrs. Fagin's educational records were lost in Poland in the aftermath of World War II, and when she applied for admission to Miami-Dade Junior College, she was told she'd have to study at Southwest High first, until she could get an equivalency diploma.

"Once I was committed to this," she says, "I decided to finish my University career in four years." After two years at Miami-Dade, Mrs. Fagin won a scholarship to the University of Miami; she maintained a 3.75 average out of a possible 4.0.

She started to study languages, but is now working on a major in English literature, and eventually hopes to teach. "I would rather grow old purposefully than gracefully," she says.

Mother of a boy and a girl, ages 13 and 15, Mrs. Fagin also works as a bookkeeper for her husband's construction firm, and reserves one day a week for posting and compiling reports.

"I spend every hour I can spare reading," she says, "and try to be as efficient as I can about housework. I use my freezer so I don't have to grocery shop so often, and try to arrange a car pool so I don't have to drive to classes every day.

"I study at night, and disassociate myself from non-essential activities. My friends understand, because many of them are going back to school, too.

"School is enjoyable and stimulating to me because I have always wanted to teach.

"I think studying is like childbirth — you forget the effort when you can enjoy the fruits of your labor."

Miss Pivar is Engaged

Michelle Aileen Pivar, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Pivar, 3621 SW 20th St., is engaged to Gerald Stanley Friedman.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Friedman, 1445 16th St., Miami Beach.

The bride-elect, who made her debut in 1960, was graduated with honor from Coral Gables High. She attended Sophie Newcomb College, where she served on the Fine Arts committee, and will be graduated with honors from the University of Miami in July.

Her fiance, a graduate of Miami Beach High, attended Emory University where he was a member of Alpha Epsilon Pi, social fraternity, and the University of Miami, where he was a member of Alpha Phi Omega, service fraternity, and secretary treasurer of the junior and senior class in the College of Arts and Sciences.

He will be graduated from the University of Miami School of Medicine next year.

The couple will be married Sept. 11, after the prospective groom returns from a medical research program in Nigeria.

Fashion Show: Tresses, not Dresses

By PAT GABRIEL

Society editor

The pretty Loreleis of Coral Reef Yacht Club enjoyed a fashion show the other day but not with fashions. They watched what to do with their 'crowning glory' after a quick swim or heady salt spray took out the wave. It was a show of wiglets and pony tails and all sorts of lovely hairpieces.

Lovely, blonde Dottie (Mrs. Amos) Corbett was chairman of the affair. The tables had whimsical May poles in pastel colors and dainty spring flowers for decorations.

On the town ... WITH PAT GABRIEL

Mildred Donovan (looking fabulous in a print silk from Hong Kong) was with Dale Arkell and Ruth Vanneman.

AT ANOTHER TABLE was Jo Bliss (her hubby Don is Commodore) and near the window was pretty Peg Parsons, with Rita Freidman and busy music gal Roberta Balfe.

Joy Cole, Eve Sharouse, Donna Dykes, Margaret Maxwell, Mildred Mendel, Juanza Perkins, Diane Curtis, Ruth Larkin, all enjoying the Chef salad luncheon and the oh, so different show.

***

MRS. WILLIAM SANCHEZ and Mrs. Frank Hedrick have prepared a "pleasure of your company" party to meet lovely Cynthia Carter Hamilton, daughter of the F. Conway Hamiltons. The date on the calendar, June 10, eleven to one.

***

FRIDAY THE 28TH is the date of a bon voyage party for Marie (Mrs. Paul) Foster, off to South America for a few years. Party planners are Mrs. John Haliburton and Mrs. Frank Bennett.

MISS FOSSEY

Her program ran from Bach to Mozart, to Liszt to Beethoven and for the music lovers it was pure heaven. Mom and dad were there, beaming proudly.

Talented musician Junia Sells presented Berenice Fossey in recital June 5 on organ and piano. Berenice is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Fossey.

This pretty young senior will be furthering her studies in college come September in St. Louis, Missouri.

LIMERICK-WRITING MILK DRINKERS, ARISE!

Dash off a milk limerick (or several) that's original and clever. If it's a good one, we'll feature it (during June-is-Dairy-Month) in newspapers and/or on radio... or we'll headline your name on one of our famous milk billboards. All limericks should be mailed in before Midnight, May 31, 1965 and become the property of Southeast Florida Dairy Institute. Send as many limericks as you like. Please be sure to include your name, address, occupation and approximate number of glasses of milk you drink each day. If you neither drink milk nor write limericks, wouldn't this be the time to start doing both?

I was sitting in the visitor's gallery of the Senate the first time I saw him, and he was standing on the floor below.

I recognized the hair, and remember noticing that his shoulders and chest were slight, but his hands were big. Then I looked around to see who else I could identify.

NEXT TIME I saw him we were living in Tampa, and he came into town to campaign. The crowd was thick by the time we got to Courthouse Square, and all we could see was an occasional flash of his hand, a glimpse of a suntanned face.

His speech was nothing spectacular and his voice sounded strained, but he spoke with immense sincerity.

When he next came to Tampa, three years later, the motorcade was to pass only a block from our house. We walked to the corner, and used the baby buggy as a wedge to make a path through the crowd.

THE SUN WAS intense that day, and everything seemed new and clean. I put Mikey up on my shoulders, and then the black limousine drove by. His hair looked red in the sun, and his shirt unbelievably white.

He waved and smiled, and Mikey yelled his name and waved back, and I was so proud of both of them I wanted to run around the block or something.

Then he was gone, and the noise faded and the crowd broke up.

THAT WAS MONDAY. Friday he was dead, because some kid no older than I am decided to play God with a mail-order rifle.

Fortunately, we have a constitutional democracy, which is an institution, and institutions don't have vulnerable spots, like the back of the skull.

So the government went on, back to the gray old men, all very capable, but not the same.

AND ALL THAT'S LEFT are the pictures and the half dollars and the busts and the monuments and the souvenirs. This Saturday, which would have been his 48th birthday, there'll be speeches and proclamations and flowers, all very flat and one-dimensional.

He had something, that guy, and it wasn't one-dimensional. It was humor and style and courage, and more than that, and more than even the total of all those things.

WHATEVER IT WAS, the essence of those bright, brief, precious years, is gone now, and most days it seems like it never even was.

Except that those of us who were young with him can never be young in quite the same way again.

U.M. Offers Teen Workshops

Teenagers interested in art, debate, drama, music or preparing themselves for college can enroll in special workshops offered by the University of Miami this summer.

Qualified high school juniors and seniors recommended by their school faculty are eligible to participate in the program.

Tuition for each workshop is $35. All instructors are professionals and on the faculty of the University. Outside guest professors of national reputation will be invited to supplement the staff from time to time.

The art workshop will be in session June 17-July 22 and will be directed by Dr. August L. Freundlich, chairman of the UM art department and director of the Joe and Emily Lowe Art Gallery.

Frank D. Nelson, the University's director of debate, will be in charge of the debate workshop which will meet from 8:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. Monday through Friday, June 17-July 22.

In the drama workshop, July 2-Aug. 1, students will be given an opportunity to study and work with members of the Southern Shakespeare Repertory Theatre in all phases of theatre art.

Heading up the music workshop Aug. 2-Aug. 27 will be Dr. William F. Lee, dean of the University's School of Music.

The college readiness workshop June 21-July 16 will be under supervision of John H. Rogers, coordinator in the Division of Continuing Education.

Further information on the workshops may be obtained by writing the Division of Continuing Education, University of Miami, Box 8005, Coral Gables, or by calling MO 1-2511, Ext. 2355.

Keep Them Post Cards Coming In

The sooner post cards are returned to Metro by residents of the Olympia Heights area, the sooner the street lights may burn, the Olympia Heights Civic Club reminded homeowners this week.

Metro officials sent out the cards several weeks ago to sound out sentiment for the lights before proceeding.

"According to a Metro engineer, work is proceeding with planning of the lights," said Mrs. Barbara Bain, publicity chairman for the group. "A resolution will be drawn up stating the time and place for a public hearing. It is very important that we represent our area at the time of the public hearing."

Next meeting of the organization is scheduled for June 1 at Coral Gables Federal Savings & Loan Association's Community Room at 8 p.m.

Kids, Teachers Make 'Dream' Real

The quality of education for which Dade County teachers continually strive was demonstrated realistically in the recent production of an abridged (not reworded or revised) version of Shakespeare's "Midsummer Night's Dream."

THIS WAS NOT produced and performed by a senior or a junior high school, but by members of all the sixth grade classes (teachers-Ruth Posey, Betty Shoonover, Tony Houghten and Paul Kolo) at Howard Drive Elementary School (Mrs. Marie Gordon, principal.)

Two casts were used, and the one hour production was given twice, on the evenings of May 11 and 13.

There has been much recent comment, written and oral, about school teachers: most has not been complimentary.

"Why do teachers need a raise, they only teach ten months a year and vacation the whole summer!" "Teachers only work from 8:30 to 3:30 while the rest of us have to work 'til 5 or 6!" "Who do these teachers think they are?"

Herewith is presented a report on just one segment of the circle a teacher must complete each time he takes responsibility for educating our children.

play was directed by Bill Moss, music teacher, who wrote ten original songs and a ballet for the production.

NOT JUST A specially selected group, but all students received training in acting, lighting, props and scenery design, stage management and singing. All the children who were not on stage in costume performing were singing as a chorus group in front.

The production was unique in that this adaptation of Shakespeare plus original music, scenery and costumes, was presented with great success and charm by sixth grade children.

It is gratifying to know that with the help of dedicated teachers, young children have the opportunity to come in contact with and have a beginning appreciation of the great works of literature.

Miss Ford, Ed Flynn Say Vows

Sharon Ann Ford and Airman Edward C. Flynn, USN, were married May 17, in a double ring ceremony at St. Philip's Episcopal Church.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George B. Ford, 3521 SW 60th Pl., and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius J. Flynn, 6446 SW 29th St.

Both the bride and groom were graduated from Coral Gables High.

Donna Fackler served as Maid of Honor, and Cornelius J. Flynn was his son's Best Man. Raymond Fackler was the usher.

The bride wore a floor length lace gown with short sleeves, a scalloped neckline and a satin train. Her veil was attached to a silk tulle pillbox headpiece, and she carried a cascade of roses with an orchid in the center.

The couple plan a wedding trip to the Florida Keys.

Natural GAS

Currently supplying 30% of the energy used in the United States, the natural gas industry should increase its share of the total market by 1975—while all other fuels, except nuclear power, decline. Our Research Study analyzes the industry's growth record, present and potential markets, and competition. Because we believe some natural gas common stocks are undervalued, we recommend four issues for capital growth. For your copy, mail this advertisement.

to a college or high school group not many years ago?

Now to answer those uninformed people who doubt the worth of teachers. Sure, a teacher works ten months a year, but in order to stave off starvation for himself and his family during the summer, he teaches either in a summer program or takes on another job.

In addition to working, in many cases, he must continue going to school himself to further his own education (for which he must pay).

And the teacher doesn't end his workday at 3:30 p.m. There are plans to make for the next day, week or month, papers to grade, band or chorus to train, extra physical education duties, PTA activities to attend and perhaps an extra job in the evening to keep the wolf from the door.

"WHO DO THESE teachers think they are?"

Goethe wrote in 1808, "A teacher who can arouse a feeling for one single action, for one single good poem, accomplishes more than he who fills our memory with rows on rows of natural objects, classified with name and form."

And in 1859 Anatole France said, "The whole art of teaching is only the art of awakening the natural curiosity of young minds for the purpose of satisfying it afterwards."

Dade county teachers meet these specifications.

Our Pat Wears Lotsa Hats

Whenever an unfamiliar woman walks into The Times and Guide office with a handful of copy, and starts talking as if she knows everybody, staff members assume it's Society Editor Pat Gabriel, wearing another new wig.

What they have also found out is that Mrs. Gene Gabriel wears many hats:

She was recently installed as President of the Coral Gables Women's Club, and has also served the local chapter of the D.A.R. as president.

A member of the Theater Arts League, the women's committee of Variety Children's Hospital, and the Coral Gables Garden Club.

Pat is as capable behind the footlights as she is back of a lectern.

She had her own theater group for three years in Chicago, and taught drama and speech at the Chicago Conservatory of Music.

She is the wife of Gene Gabriel, 3915 Monserrate Ave., and has a daughter, Pat, now Mrs. Henry Roerig.

Old Flick Cinema

U-M Boys Ask OK

By SYLVIA SPRINGER
Staff Writer

Like to see "Birth of a Nation?" Or Lon Chaney's "Phantom of the Opera?"

How about the original "Cleopatra?"

If two ingenious University of Miami Students, Buzz Kilman and Jon Demne, have their way, you'll be able to see these and other classic movies at least twice a week at Studio M Playhouse, Bird Road and Ponce De Leon.

"I talked to Burton Parker, about it," Kilman said, "and he's all for it. Now it's up to the Coral Gables Zoning Board and the Commission, we go before them June 1 and June 22."

"We're afraid the same thing will happen to us that happened to 'The Flick,'" Kilman said. "They wanted to show short Charlie Chaplin subjects while people had sandwiches."

"They were defeated though," he continued. "I think the big theatres complained. We're not trying to compete with them. I hope we can convince them of this."

"All we want to do is show old movies," Kilman stated. "There wouldn't be anything current."

"The Film," will be the name of the series. Admission will be $1 at the door or by mail subscription to 7862 SW 66th St.

"We're planning to start July 1," Kilman said, "on Tuesday and Wednesday nights."

"The University of Miami has a summer program like this with foreign movies," he said. "But after three weeks of subtitles — We thought people would like to see English movies too."

"How did we get the idea? Well, I've been going to the movies since I was three. Jon started when he was young too," Kilman observed.

"We'd like to bring back some of the oldtime greats and serials to go. We're going to have to have a honor night with Tod Browning's 'The Freaks.'"

"I just hope the theatres don't spoil."

Double Your Pleasure, Double Your...

...And Double Your Confusion

By RAYMOND LANG
Staff Writer

Customers bent over their bagels and coffee at a Miracle Mile restaurant are rubbing their eyes at a couple of astonishing items that aren't on the menu.

They're Rose Wheat and Jean Soldan.

Identical twins!

Except that the customers at Chippy's Restaurant don't know this.

"Sometimes they'll ask for a check," said Jean, "and I'll say 'Wait, I'll go get her.'"

"And then they'll look at me like I'm crazy."

"They don't know there's two of us!"

Both women — Jean is 10 minutes older than Rose — work at adjacent stations (or tables) and because one often, through mistaken identity, waits on the other's customers, they share their tips.

"A customer," chimed in Rose, "will ask me for a cup of coffee and I'll give it to them — and then they'll realize I'm not the one they want."

"Some are very surprised. They'll say 'Gee, I saw you here one minute and then I see you way on the other side.'"

"One day," added Rose, "I was working behind the counter and a woman said to me 'Gee, what are you doing here? You were over there before.'"

"And I said," Rose recalled innocently, "I've been here all the time."

She drew a puzzled look. "It's a lot of fun," said

Joyce Bryan Engaged To Charles Albury

MISS BRYAN

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Gerald Bryan, 9300 S.W. 124th St., announce the engagement of their daughter, Joyce Kathleen, to Charles Raymond Albury.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Albury, 20240 S.W. 127th Ave.

Miss Bryan is a graduate of Coral Shores High School, Tavernier, and Charron-Williams Commercial College of Miami.

She has worked as a legal secretary in the county attorney's office and is presently employed as a secretary at the Holiday Inn in Coral Gables.

A part-time professional model, Miss Bryan was Miss American Beauty in the 1964 International Beauty Congress, and is a former Miss Miami and Miss Florida. She also does volunteer work as a Pink Lady at Baptist Hospital.

The prospective groom is a graduate of South Dade High School, and has attended Florida State University. He served with the U.S. Air Force and is presently in the supervisor training program at Winn-Dixie Food Stores, Inc.

The couple plan to be married Sept. 4.

Penny Sparks Marries Lewis J. Norman

Penny Sparks and Lewis J. Norman were married May 22 at the First Christian Church of Coral Gables. Rev. Luther M. Cole performed the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Brandenburg Sparks, 1841 SW 73rd Ct. Rd., and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Lonzie Norman, 8401 SW 78th St.

The couple are graduates of Southwest Senior High School.

Vicki Sparks was Maid of Honor and Glenda Norman, Kathy Nolan and Nanette Register were bridesmaids.

Best Man was Billy Norman, and ushers were Tom Nolan, Wayne Batten, and Kenneth Erb.

The bride wore a gown fashioned of sheer organza and french lace, with a fitted basque waist, sabrina neckline, and fitted lace panels which fell into a chapel train.

A lily-trimmed headpiece held the multi-tiered veil. She carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley, with a single white orchid in the center.

The couple plan a wedding tour of North Carolina.

MRS. NORMAN

Rita Bursuk Will Wed Richard Francis Portnoy

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Bursuk, 3215 SW 7th St., announce the engagement of their daughter, Rita, to Richard Francis Portnoy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sol Portnoy, 725 W. 70th Pl., Hialeah.

The future bride was an honor graduate of Miami Senior High where she was a member of Civettes Service club and Student Council.

She attended the University of Florida and will be graduated next year from the University of Miami where she is active in University Services Organization and Gamma Sigma Sigma, service sorority.

Mr. Portnoy attended high school in New York and was graduated from Miami Senior High.

He attended Miami-Dade Junior College and the University of Miami and is now in the real estate business.

FLASH CAMERA NEWS

By JOE McNULTY

WHERE THE HECK IS 6761 Red Road in Coral Gables? A good question... Well, 6761 Red Road, Coral Gables is actually 6761 South West 57th Ave., and that is the exact location of Joe McNulty's ARCADE CAMERA SHOP.

To define the location a little better, I'd like to say that I'm surrounded by the nicest people in this attractive and easily accessible location: CARL'S LIQUOR store; Morris Rudin's BOOK RACK; Irv Sinder's DOG CHARM STUDIO; Frank Crain's CIRCLE BARBER SHOP; Three very charming young ladies, HILL, FARLEY & VON ZIMMERMAN who operate a very active REAL ESTATE office by the same name; BETH WEBER'S beautiful dress Salon; The very popular SAM & CARL'S Restaurant and Delicatessen; THEN, ME, ARCADE CAMERA SHOP; MR. GEORGE'S Beauty Salon; Norm Levinthal's MEDICAL SUPPLY, INC., A sick room supply Business; and finally Bud Hamlet's RIVIERA TV SALES & SERVICE. So much for Location.

Again, What do I have to offer besides about 25 years of Know How and experience? Well, Kodak famous color processing service, the world's best. Camera Repair and Rental Service. In fact, at ARCADE CAMERA I offer the only FREE—repeat—FREE Camera Rental service in the area. Here's how it works: I have on hand 10 Instamatic 100 Cameras and several 35mm cameras plus several easy to use 8mm Movie cameras that you can use for a weekend or for as long as a week if you wish. You simply buy the film and processing from me and you use the camera for free. Oh Yes, And competent instruction on how to use the camera. THAT is very important.

The difficult area of modern amateur photography is now a thing of the past. EASTMAN KODAK for a number of years has been taking polls of the American scene. To find out exactly what people want in camera equipment. Though KODAK well might very well take the credit for the development of the INSTAMATIC system of still and movie Photography, the fact remains that YOU the average picture taker who wants good pictures is primarily responsible for the fact that this truly great new way of taking pictures is now a reality.

At ARCADE CAMERA, 6761 S.W. 57th Ave. (Red Road), I'm proud that I have a good selection of Instamatic still cameras from the Little 100 INSTAMATIC to the #800 INSTAMATIC which, as I said last week, is probably the best camera of its kind on the world market. It certainly takes the quality of black & white and color pictures and KODACHROME and EKTA-CHROME SLIDES that one would expect of cameras costing hundreds of dollars, AND so very easily, too.

I have an excellent selection of prints and slides taken both by me and my customers on file which I will be glad to show you. Please remember, and don't forget that ARCADE CAMERA has BANK FINANCING on all Cameras and Projectors.

Next week, I'd like to give you a fill in on the NEW KODAK INSTAMATIC MOVIE CAMERAS and PROJECTORS. Please drop by and talk INSTAMATICS and join us for a Coke or Coffee.

FREE BOAR

BAR-B-Q

Sunday, May 30th. THE WONDER BAR, located at 57 Northwest 37th Avenue, is offering another FREE BOAR BAR-B-Q FEAST from ONE until SEVEN p.m. Mrs. Elizabeth La Rossa, owner of the Wonder Bar, and her son, Fred Joseph, manager are cordially inviting both old and new customers of the Wonder Bar to join in the feast and enjoy the deliciously prepared and barbecued Boar along with baked beans and pickles.

If you have never tried Boar, you're in for a new taste delight. The flavor and moistness are really out of this world. So if you want a taste treat that you'll thoroughly enjoy, stop by the Wonder Bar this Sunday, May 30th and have a feast. It's all for free. Why not arrange a party of friends to share the feast with you? The time is from one p.m. until 7 p.m. And there will be free entertainment too! BOAR BAR-B-Q is becoming traditional at the Wonder Bar and you must plan to be among the guests next Sunday, May 30th.

FUN FOOD

The Wonder Bar has been treating the people of Coral Gables and surrounding Miami with a free brunch every day featuring clam chowder, chicken, beef stew and even chili. The patrons of the Wonder Bar not only go away happy, but also full. The free brunch has been a feature of the Wonder Bar for the past 16 years. The official hours for the brunch are from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., but Mrs. La Rossa frequently relaxes the rules and the free brunch goes on into the afternoon and evening.

Over the entrance of the Wonder Bar, there is a sign. It says "We don't get all the people, but we get the best." This adequately describes the atmosphere surrounding you. Mrs. Elizabeth La Rossa, owner of the Wonder Bar, sees that her customers get the most courteous service and it seems to have paid off for her. She has owned and managed it for nearly 16 years. Few such establishments in the Miami area can boast such a record. The Wonder Bar is designed for your total relaxation and entertainment.

A TREAT!

Whether you enjoy a quiet evening at the bar or meeting friends, you will always find the welcome mat out. Many come to hear Libby at the piano and organ. So many have enjoyed her mastery of melodies and marveled at her playing one instrument with one hand and the other with the other hand — simultaneously yet!

And OH BOY! An evening out at the Wonder Bar! Now take Friday or Saturday night for instance. It all starts about 4:00 in the afternoon with the cocktail hour (which has a curious way of extending itself 'til about 8 p.m.), when steaming pizza is served FREE to all the customers. If you are new in town, you must come to the Wonder Bar at 57 N.W. 37th Ave. and join the fun.

There is never a cover or a minimum and you will always receive a cordial welcome.

An interior photo of the Wonder Bar shows the atmosphere & the luxury that has made them famous!

Fred Joseph, formerly with The Miami Herald and with The Coral Gables Times and Guide is now managing the Wonder Bar for his mother and finds it a delightful job. He says he has met many wonderful people through the bar and it is a very pleasant way to earn a living. It is just such an attitude that makes the Wonder Bar a favorite spot for so many. When the owners are enjoying your company so much you can't help but feel welcome and satisfied.

You will truly enjoy yourself at the Wonder Bar whether it be morning, afternoon or evening and you will certainly have a great time at the FREE BOAR BAR-B-Q this Sunday, May 30th. See you there.
