

Hospital Tax 'Whitewash' Charged

Mayor Tries To Bar Press From Conference

By MAURICE LABELLE

Strong charges by attorney Bernard Weksler that the Doctors' Hospital tax exemption controversy is being whitewashed met with equally strong denials from city officials Tuesday.

Meeting in a special conference following the regular meeting Tuesday, the City Commission directed City Attorney Ted Semple to write a denial of Weksler's allegation that the city ignored his charges when it met as a board of equalization in mid-July.

LABELLE After reviewing the series of incidents and letters between the city and Weksler, the Commission decided his complaint that the hospital did not warrant tax exemption had been considered by the city attorney prior to the Board of Equalization meetings, July 11, 12 and 13, and that Weksler had been informed it was Semple's opinion the hospital was entitled to exemption. The exemption has been estimated at approximately $10,000 to $15,000 a year.

Weksler, they pointed out, failed to show up at the equalization meeting.

Text of Letter

Here is the text of Semple's letter to Weksler dated Oct. 26: "By direction of Mayor (John M.) Montgomery, I am writing this letter in reply to your letter to him of Oct. 21, 1960.

"The answer to your question concerning the action of the City Commission with reference to Doctors' Hospital, is contained in your own letter of July 14, 1960, addressed to the City Manager.

"You will recall that on the afternoon of June 29, you were good enough to come to my office. We had a discussion regarding Doctors' Hospital, and I told you that I had invited you to come at the request of the City Commission.

"I then told you that you were welcome to go through my file on Doctors' Hospital, even to the extent of taking it with you; that my opinion as to its eligibility for tax exemption, based upon the decisions of the Florida Supreme Court, had remained unchanged; that I had so advised the City Commission."

Press' Presence

Tuesday, Mayor Montgomery sought to have the press barred from the special conference meeting set to discuss Weksler's letter, but Commissioner Joe Murphy argued in favor of having reporters present.

It was finally decided to allow the reporter from The Times and a representative of WVCG to remain, providing the conversations leading up to the decision were not reported in

The Commission has been excused by Weksler's continuous attacks on their general policies which they say represents long established tradition.

The attacks were touched off by the City's attempt to lease the Granada Golf Course to private interests for private use and have run the gamut from green fees to recreation activity fees.

In his letter dated Oct. 21, Weksler charges that it was general knowledge that the city would do nothing about his tax freeloading charges against the hospital.

"It was a matter of open and notorious knowledge throughout the community, and the consensus of opinion was that nothing would be done and that eventually everyone would forget about the issue," Weksler said.

The Commission denies this and points out that the question may again be considered at next year's Board of Equalization meeting and taxes back assessed for three years, if it is determined by the board that the exemption is not warranted.

Do Something

"Although the city attorney has expressed his opinion that the city cannot do anything about the freeloading at this time and that the tax exemption should continue for another year, I suggest that you do something about it," Weksler said in his letter.

"Since Doctors' Hospital did not file any tax exemption this year, or last year, it is not entitled to tax exemption and it is not in the position to complain.

"I suggest and recommend that you direct the city manager and to direct the city tax collector to send an ad valorem tax bill to Doctors' Hospital for the current year and the past year.

"If Doctors' Hospital wants to protest the bill, let them go to court and protest it. The burden of proving their right to tax exemption rests on the hospital, and since this is a clear cut case of the hospital failure to come within the statutory and constitutional exemption, the city cannot lose.

"It is most unfortunate and regrettable that the city has had to gouge money from golfers, tennis players, school children riding the buses, elderly shuffleboard players, etc., and to deprive the policemen and firemen of long deserved pay increases, due to alleged budgetary limitations, and then permit Doctors' Hospital to freeload on the taxpayers of Coral Gables," Weksler said.

Tax Assessor

To back his charge, Weksler said that Tax Assessor Tommy Blount has repeatedly ruled that the hospital does not meet the requirements for exemption and that state law setting up exemptions has not been followed.

Good Will Entry Wins Top Award

Coral Gables swept the field to win the American Municipal Association's annual award for public relations competition with its People to People program entry.

The city topped them all in a division which had the most competition.

Competing with cities in the 25,000 to 100,000 category, the People to People exchange program with Cartagena, Colombia, which was in itself a first, took the prize.

The award will be made to Mayor John M. Montgomery Nov. 26 in Washington at the AMA's annual convention.

The mayor received the news in a telegram Oct. 20.

Coral Gables launched its cultural exchange program in 1958 after the way had been paved by the administration.

While other municipalities throughout the country selected most European cities for their exchange program, Coral Gables was the first to select a Latin American city.

Miami followed suit by picking another Colombian city.

Gables Grants Permit For 5-Story Building

The long-delayed proposal to build a five-story building at the southwest corner of Ponce de Leon Blvd. and Alhambra Cir. was revived Tuesday when the promoters got a temporary six-month permit for the building.

D. V. Renuart, who said he was making his first appearance before the City Commission in 37 years, sought the permit with architect Curtis Haley.

They asked for a three-year "grace" period to get the building underway, but the Commission balked at that and granted a six-month permit instead.

Haley told the Commission that $190,000 had been sunk into the venture already. He indicated that it would be a matter of a short time before enough commitments could be received from potential renters to allow the plan to materialize.

The owners had obtained a permit for the multiple-story structure back in 1957 and did a lot of preliminary work but the plan was delayed by economic considerations.

Country Club Prado Home Is Ransacked

The home of Mrs. Edgar Flowers, 2621 Country Club Prado, was ransacked sometime between Oct. 10 and 13 while she was away.

Coral Gables police said that the extent of loss had not been determined pending a check of the home.

COLOMBIA BOUND is this specially made Coral Gables flag and seal which will be given to the city of Cartagena, Colombia, in return for a municipal drapeau of that Latin American city given to Coral Gables recently. Holding the city colors are Mrs. Ina Gilbert, left, and Mrs. Delores DeLozier, secretary and assistant secretary to the city manager.

Hildreth Will Guide Public Relations Program

Robert Hildreth, vice president of Coral Gables Federal Savings and Loan, has been named chairman of a five-man committee to supervise expenditure of Coral Gables City funds for advertising and publicity.

Other members of the special committee are Fred B. Hartnett Sr., of Hartnett, Inc.; Hamilton Hayes, of Daniels Department Store; Vernon C. Hill, former Grand Union executive; and Al Jacobson, owner of Rae's Stationers.

Creation of the committee and appointment of a director was the upshot of a move by some merchants and the city to inject new life into a program many felt had lost effectiveness.

The policy-making committee, which will supervise the activities of advertising and publicity director Bert Burris, held its first meeting Oct. 19.

Appropriations Made

At that meeting, the committee decided to appropriate $30,000 of the $65,000 budget set up by the city for newspaper and radio advertising.

The advertising firm of Bishopric, Green, Fielden, Inc., was selected by the committee to handle the production end of the program.

"An exciting campaign has been planned and is now in production," Burris said.

"It is the kind of campaign that will be a source of interested conversation all over Dade County," he said.

Main Goal

Main goal of the program, Burris said, will be to entice greater Miami residents and visitors to come to Coral Gables.

"All economic aspects of the city will be benefitted, but special attention will be paid to the superb shopping facilities, convenient and plentiful parking and other attractions of our central shopping district," he pointed out.

"Many Gableites have forgotten, or perhaps have not been fully aware, of the many distinguished qualities about Coral Gables that make it a national symbol for gracious living and intelligent planning. A re-awakening of this awareness is part of our program," he concluded.

The program is scheduled to get underway in late November or early December.

A Little Mistake

The trial of Coral Gables residents arrested in Coral Gables for traffic violations but tried in South Miami was all a mistake, City Manager L. W. Robinson Jr. told the City Commission Tuesday.

Robinson said that Chief Metro Court Judge Jack Turner had been informed of the controversy and explained that there had been no intentional breaking of the agreement with Coral Gables.

Crackdown

A crackdown on overtime parking in Coral Gables' downtown business district has been ordered by the City Commission.

The enforcement order was issued Tuesday to go into effect Nov. 1 after the Commission heard complaints about merchants parking all day in front of their establishments and depriving shoppers of space.

Starting Nov. 1, police will mark the tires of all parked vehicles and issue overtime tickets to all those found to be parked after the allotted time regardless of parking meter indications.

Janitors Find Cans Handy

Trash receptacles placed in the Coral Gables downtown area have proved practical, City Manager L. W. Robinson Jr. told the City Commission Tuesday.

All the janitors are using them.

Robinson said that the receptacles, designed to help keep litter from sidewalks and alleys, have gotten a wonderful reception from this group of individuals whose work of getting rid of trash has been made much easier.

Despite the temporary setback, the Commission decided to push the project.

Thief Rifles Machine

A thief found his way into a soft drink machine at the Riviera Country Club tennis courts one day last week and separated it from an estimated $50.

Spooks, Spectres Once Held Sway In Gables

By JOHN SHAPIRO

Halloween, the traditional evening before All Saints or All-Hallows Day, has been somewhat less than saintly throughout its history in Coral Gables.

Spooks and spectres have in past years, despite official variations on the date of the haunted eve, always managed to make themselves known.

In 1955 city officials moved Halloween ahead from a Monday to a Saturday night. This was done so that young (and some not so young) goblins could "trick or treat" without staying out late on a school night.

Gredy ghosts countered this date switch by proceeding to go haunting not only on Saturday, but on Sunday and Monday nights as well. The candy clutching spooks claimed all three nights as official.

Signs Of Times

Evidence of particularly "spookish" behavior by Coral Gables ghosts in the past is shown in this excerpt from the TIMES of Nov. 2, 1934. "Maybe 'twas the goblins, perhaps the witches, anyhow several benches ambled into the streets, upon sign posts and up in trees Wednesday night, while signs themselves went wandering into strange places."

But sign and bench re-arranging were common place Halloween haunts even for 1934. 1938 brought the "false alarm" to life while one TIMES writer saw fit to lament the goblins failure to see a new angle for the old "out house switch".

"Halloween, by the by, went off rather quietly in the Gables with three false alarms being the only casualties. Perhaps the fact that extra policemen were on duty had something to do with it, but somehow we think the kids are slipping. Why, in the whole Miami area, there wasn't a single WPA tool shed turned over," the writer commented.

During the war years Halloween pranks and pranksters were virtually non-existent. This led many people to believe that our best tricksters had decided to use their talents against the enemy.

After 1945, even though our pranksters were back, they were either too tired or too old for Halloween tricks. In 1948 the TIMES stated: "With but a few exceptions, Halloween pranks in Coral Gables were confined to the harmless 'trick or treat' variety".

This, of course, is not meant to encourage wanton vandalism, but it does seem that in recent years the true "spirit" of Halloween has vanished like a ghost in the stuffy closet of commercialism. Today's young witch has abandoned her broom and black cat for the back seat of her mother's car, and the once fine art of "jack-o-lantern" carving has all but lost out to the ready made cardboard pumpkin.

Even the costumes have lost their individuality, and their "spookiness" as well. There used to be no limit to the variety of ghosts that an old sheet could assume. Now our dime store spooks all seem to be of the Walt Disney school.

No Ingenuity

Today's spooks are indeed un-inventive. They ring your door bell, parrot "trick or treat", take their loot and scam.

But then perhaps they're not entirely to blame. Orange and black jelly beans are a poor incentive compared to the home made caramel corn, licorice cats, and sugared dates that once tempted young goblins. Then, too, WPA tool sheds are not so easy to come by anymore, either.

Yes, this is nostalgia, but one can't help thinking that Halloween this year will be pretty tame compared to years gone by.

Citizens Committee Elects William Merriam

Coral Gables architect William H. Merriam has been elected president of the Coral Gables Citizens Committee.

Merriam took over his new office Tuesday from C. D. Van Orsdel.

Other officers elected were William J. (Buddy) Weissel, vice president; William Gale, secretary; and Connie Arnez, treasurer.

The new board of directors will include Van Orsdel, Frank Guilford, Robert Brake, Carl Bloom, Wayne Withers and Ed Berman.

Merriam, who lives at 1022 Malaga, has served on various city boards.

An Attorney

Weissel is an attorney and graduate of the University of Miami Law School.

Gale is manager of the Coral Gables Southern Bell Telephone

Co. office, and Miss Arnez is assistant cashier at City National Bank of Coral Gables.

The Citizens Committee Tuesday discussed two problems, one of which is scheduled to come up for more conversation as the city grows in size and population.

Certain Question

Although the group took no action, the question of building heights and resulting variation problems appears certain to crop up again under the direction of Merriam, who has had first hand experience with it.

The same problem is being studied by the Board of Architects and has been taken up by the Zoning Board.

The other problem discussed by the Committee involved dirty roofs that stain the sides and walls of buildings.

Student's 'Prank' Throws Chill Over Policeman

A Coral Gables policeman came within a hair of being involved in an unfortunate incident Monday night when he witnessed an apparent shooting of one teenage youth by another.

The brief second Officer William Bennett pondered shooting the "gunman" saved him from a horrible fate.

The entire incident turned out to be a not so practical joke involving two 18-year-old University of Miami students.

'Whitewash' Is Charged

The present Commission and those preceding it have followed Semple's opinion that the hospital is entitled to tax exemption.

An audit report completed recently by Paul Gleman, the city's chief auditor, appeared generally favorable to the hospital, but Weksler said that it bears him out and that a complete audit would prove that the hospital is not entitled to exemption.

Doctors', established as a profit-making institution, was re-established as a non-profit institution under the Dr. John T. MacDonald Foundation.

The original investors are being paid back from hospital income.

Weksler maintains that the investors are realizing 314.75 percent on their investment and this constitutes profit which should be taxed.

Gleman and hospital authorities, backed by the city attorney, disagree and say the rate is only 6 percent compounded.

Gables UN Group To Meet

The Coral Gables Association for the United Nations will meet at the Wesley Foundation, 1200 Miller Rd., on the University of Miami main campus, at 8 tonight.

The meeting will celebrate the 15th birthday of the organization of the United Nations. Hedrick Berns is the principal speaker. His subject is "A Good Look at the U.N." He was associated with the Miami Herald for nine years, and is now editor of the Potsdam Journal in Berlin.

off with a stern warning by Municipal Court Judge Charles Spooner Tuesday after he pleaded when he saw some youths crossing excessive noise.

According to Bennett, he was in the area of Salzedo and University Dr. shortly after 10 p.m. when he saw some youths crossing the street.

Suddenly, one of the youths pulled out a gun and fired a shot at another youth identified as Warren R. Yorzi.

Yorzi fell to the ground holding his stomach and apparently screaming with pain. McWhinney started to walk away.

Bennett said he pulled out his gun in readiness to shoot, but that McWhinney placed the gun in his belt.

Jumped Up

Yorzi then jumped up and began to laugh.

Bennett failed to see the humor in it and took the boys in.

An examination of the "weapon" revealed that it was one of dozens of Italian made blank guns sold by a local hardware store and which have figured in other peace disturbance incidents.

Gables police said that University officials have reported confiscating at least 10 of the guns recently.

McWhinney told Judge Spooner that he did not realize the serious implications of the incident.

Chief William Kimbrough and other officers have been going around the police station shaking their heads contemplating the reaction that would have followed if McWhinney had been shot and perhaps killed by Bennett.

Cavelon Wins First Place Amard For Year Book

By LESLIE GROSS

Mrs. Chris Steers, nationally-recognized Coral Gables High School journalism teacher, yearbook and newspaper sponsor, last week returned from a convention at Columbia University with the results of this year's yearbook judging. Gables High School's Cavelon again received outstanding recognition by being awarded a first place rating.

Last Oct. 14 and 15, Jackson High School was host to Dade County high schools for Area Student Congress. Four-hour sessions were held on both Friday and Saturday. The program consisted of two Houses, A and B, and one Senate. Each house session elected a best speaker and a best presiding officer. The Senate session also elected a best speaker.

Best speakers from Gables in the House sessions were: Steve Magida, Alan Dinsmore and Elliott Zack. Best speaker of all House sessions was Gables student Elliott Zack. Best speaker in the Senate fell to Richard Schuster. Mike Sädler was elected Best Presiding Officer in the House.

Honor Society Members Tapped
Last week fifty-three students joined the scholastic elite by becoming members of the Gables chapter of National Honor Society.

In a short program over the public address system, Mr. H. N. Rath, Gables principal, commended the initiates and explained the position of today's youth in the future of his country and the world. NHS President Leslie Gross prefaced Mr. Rath's talk and followed the principal's speech with the tapping ceremony.

The new members, students who have maintained a 3.4 average throughout high school and who have distinguished themselves by their service records and extra-curricular records, are: John Haeger, Fred Wyman, Gary Routh, Kenneth Allen, Ruth Tschumy, Randolph Feigenbaum, Michele Lebowitz, Nancy Winter, Jerry Pfeiffer, Richard McClung, Bill Haverfield, Laurie Crawley, Steve Magida, Steve Patton, Marilyn Idyll, Norman Gravitz, Timothy Herrell, Donna Finerty, Carese McConnell, Jessie Ann Fox, Jack Brown.

Literary Society
A group of Gables High's better English students have formed a club called the Gables High Literary Society. Purposes of the club, whose school recognition is still pending, are to explore the authors and literature of the world and to publish a literary magazine composed solely of students' creative writing. The group is now inducting new members, who must submit an oral report and a sample of their creative writing before becoming members. The Society is sponsored by Miss Pettengill, an English literature major who is currently teaching at Gables High. The actual formation of the club took place over the summer.

Each Monday night, between 10 and 15 students gather at the home of one of the members and discuss the area of literature the club is currently engrossed in. Led by President Leslie Gross and first vice president Lee Sandler, the club has grown from an idea to a working organization with over 30 members.

The other officers are second vice president, Jeff Platt; recording secretary, Bob Eckert; treasurer, David Richman; parliamentarian, Richard Schuster; corresponding secretaries, Judy Linick and Riva Goldberg; chaplain, Roberta Daum.

Four Freshmen Elected To UM Student Posts

Four area high school graduates are among nine University of Miami students recently chosen to serve in the student government of UM's new University College. All are freshmen.

Ann English, 311 SW 55th Ave. Rd., has been elected vice president. Now an English major at UM, Ann was president of her sophomore and junior classes at Miami High, and a member of National Honor Society and a delegate to Girls' State.

Toby Gail Grossman, 6221 SW 61st St., will serve as secretary-treasurer. Currently an education major, Toby was treasurer of the Miami High Student Council, president of the Florida B'nai B'rith Girls and winner of the National Honor Society scholarship.

Jeffrey Randall, 5950 SW 10th St., will be one of five Student Government representatives from University College. A government major, he is a former president of the National Forensic League and is attending UM on a varsity debate scholarship.

Art Rothenberg, 951 Sylvania Blvd., will also serve as a University College representative. He is a former writer and illustrator for the Miami High Times, student newspaper, a member of the varsity tennis team and winner of the Knights of Pythias speech contest.

University College is a special unit of the University begun this year to furnish freshmen and sophomores with a firm grounding in the humanities and sciences. The four Miami High grads were elected after a one week campaign to represent the 2500 students currently enrolled in this program.

Halloween Party

It's spooks and goblins at Cutler Ridge Regional Shopping Center Halloween night, Monday, Oct. 31, at 7 pm, when the Perrine Khoury League will sponsor a huge costume party for boys and girls in the Community Center Building. Every boy and girl in South Dade is invited.

Small children should never be left alone in a house, fire statistics reveal. Almost 30 percent of all child deaths in home fire involve unattended children.

HANDY LITTLE GADGET is this portable, self contained torch which two teenaged youths used to burn through various materials to enter many area homes. The youths also used black cased flashlights and screwdrivers in their escapades.

Robin Hood Role Is Road To Jail

This Is One Baton Twirler We'd Like To See

A series of burglaries in plush Grove area near Battersea Rd. Coral Gables, Miami and area homes were cleared up Friday with the apprehension the day before of the "blow torch burglars."

Two teen agers, Thomas Merrill Roberts, 17, of 7395 SW 34th Rd., and a Southwest section juvenile, have been charged with breaking and entering and grand larceny.

A third person arrested by police in the case, Gene Saylor, alias Gene Sailors, a gas station employe, of 3038 SW Eighth St., has been charged with receiving stolen goods, according to Coral Gables police.

Face Charges

Roberts and Saylor will face charges in Criminal Court, but the 16-year-old has been turned over to juvenile authorities.

The youths took police on a tour of Gables homes that would read like 'Who's Who' after being apprehended Oct. 20.

Among the victims were James Sottile Jr., the banker, and James Norris, former international boxing promoter.

Some of the loot stolen by the blow torch burglars remains unrecovered. This includes more than $8000 worth of jewelry stolen from the home of Everett Butler, 236 Edgewater Dr.

According to Gables plainclothesmen Herman F. Pitz and Ted Bishop, who broke the case with Miami police, the alleged fence in the case, Saylor, first told police he would return the stolen jewelry, disappeared from town and was later picked up again without the jewels.

Luck, Police Work

The apprehension of the youthful burglars resulted from a combination of luck and good police work.

Flushed out of a Coconut included breaking into the Sottile Home, 2525 Indian Mound Trail, while the Sottiles slept. They entered bedrooms, removed pocketbooks and billfolds and took them to the living room to empty them out.

But, except for the Butler break, their efforts were generally ill rewarded.

Breaking of the blow torch burglarly case marked two successes in a row for Gables police in its never ending war on burglars.

Recently three groups of teenage Negro burglars were broken up.

Jewish War Veterans Tag Day Is Proclaimed

Monday, Nov. 7, has been named Jewish War Veterans of the U.S.A. Day in a proclamation issued by Mayor John M. Montgomery of Coral Gables in recognition of the service the Murray Solomon Post and Auxiliary 243, Jewish War Veterans, have rendered to the community.

The Post and Auxiliary will hold their annual tag day in Coral Gables on Nov. 7. The revenue from tag day is the main source of income by which the organization continues its work in the field of veterans service, child welfare, and community activities.

Members of the Post and Auxiliary devote many volunteer hours at the VA Hospital in Coral Gables, working in the Heart Station, telecart and in escort service. The organization also sponsors ward parties and recreation hall parties for patients at the hospital. In addition they participate with other Auxiliaries in a Halloween Carnival and Christmas and Chanukah festivities at the VA Hospital. The Auxiliary has been aiding a veteran's family with food and clothing for several years. It recently supplied an oxygen tank to a patient leaving the VA Hospital.

In the field of child welfare, the chairman, Mrs. Carol Zipper, has just sent two wheelchairs to the state hospital in Orlando for mentally retarded and cerebral palsied children. Diapers, bibs and clothing has also been sent to the hospital. In addition, a local school for the mentally retarded is visited regularly. The Post takes a group of children from the Kendal Home Christmas shopping each year.

The Post meets the first and third Tuesday of each month, the Auxiliary the second and fourth Tuesday, at the American Legion Hall, 303 Alhambra Cir.

Metro Asked For Study Of Intersection

Coral Gables is going to ask Metro to study the Granada Blvd.-Anastasia Blvd. intersection to determine if additional traffic controls are needed.

One person has been killed and several severely injured in recent months there.

The intersection is controlled by stop signs on the Anastasia side.

Granada traffic was once required to stop for equally heavily travelled Anastasia which leads to the Veterans Hospital, Biltmore Golf Course, Church of the Little Flower, St. Theresa School and Coral Gables Congregational Church.

But Granada links Tamiami Trail to Bird Rd. and is also heavily travelled.

Gables, Cartagena Will Clasp Hands

While governments warily maneuver for propaganda advantage, the People to People Programs continue their direct, uncomplicated two-way explorations of friendship and understanding at the grass roots level.

The People to People Committee of Coral Gables has been invited by its counterpart in the sister-city of Cartagena, Colombia to visit that city.

The invitation is timed to coincide with the South American city's great annual fiesta celebrating its independence. Approximately 60 Coral Gables residents are planning to make the trip. A special flight from Miami International Airport will carry the party to Cartagena on Nov. 10, returning on Nov. 13.

Area Renamed

In her letter of invitation, Senora Evelia Porto de Mejia, chairman of the People to People Committee of Cartagena, mentions that the city council has re-named an area in the Bocagrande district of the city as Plaza Coral Gables. This is to be formally dedicated during the visit.

The trip will complete the second round of visits between citizens of the two cities in a period of two years. In Nov. 1958 a group representative of the business, cultural and educational life of Cartagena was entertained in Coral Gables. Returning the visit, a similar cross-section from Coral Gables was greeted in Cartagena during Feb. 1959.

A second Cartagena contingent was cordially hosted by Coral Gables citizens in April 1960. Now the two-year cycle will be completed with the planned Coral Gables return call in November.

These exchanges have revealed the people of the two cities to each other as delightfully interesting companions with common ideals and aspirations. By deliberate intent, visitors to each city are hosted by men and women with similar business and cultural backgrounds.

Discuss Problem

Coral Gables doctors discuss their problems with Cartagena physicians. Merchants talk shop with merchants. Housewives compare notes on children, food and club activities. Secretaries chat with other business women.

As a result of the interest generated by this program, our State Department has been persuaded to establish a permanent Inter-American Cultural Center in Cartagena. English language classes and a circulating library in English are among its services. Expenses of setting up the center, the salary of a director and a basic library have been provided by the State Department.

Providing additional books for this library is a current project of the Coral Gables People to People Committee. A campaign to secure the donation of books of a technical and cultural nature or the money to buy them has been in progress for several weeks among the service clubs and other organizations in the city.

SEVEN-YEAR-OLD Carolyn Latham is too young to be concerned about Latin American relations. But she is obviously fascinated by a handful of shiny white pencils bearing the inscription "Saludos de Coral Gables." Several thousand such pencils, a friendship offering to Cartagena school children, will be aboard the special Avianca flight which will take 60 members of the Coral Gables People to People Committee to Cartagena, Colombia, on Nov. 10. This goodwill mission will be the fourth exchange of personal visits within two years between citizens of the two cities.

Results thus far attained assure that a substantial addition to the library of the Inter-American Cultural Center will be presented to it during the November visit.

Student Exchange

Another result of the Coral Gables-Cartagena affiliation has been the establishment of a student exchange plan between the universities of the two cities. The Coral Gables Committee, in cooperation with the University of Miami, is providing funds to make possible a full two-semester year in the Medical School for Roberto Llamas, graduate student from Cartagena. In exchange, Ted R. Green, University of Miami government major, has just completed a semester year at the University of Cartagena.

Dr. Ralph S. Boggs, director of the International Center of the University of Miami, points out that the United States in its official capacity is woefully sluggish in this phase of the cold war.

"I am told that Soviet Russia is paying transportation costs and tuition for 600 students from Colombia alone to study in Russian universities."

"It is obvious that greatly increased efforts by both government and private groups like the People to People Committee are vitally necessary if we are to cope with a propaganda effort of such magnitude," he said.

The People to People exchange has sparked other, less exciting efforts to be genuinely helpful to new-found Cartagena friends. Learning that one of them is deeply interested in helping needy school children, the Gableites are quietly collecting children's clothing for that activity. In some schools pencils are scarce. So pencils bearing a friendship message from Coral Gables will help fill this need.

On the ceremonial side, the Florida city will be represented on the November visit by vice-mayor Frank Kerdyk who will present a Coral Gables flag, embroidered with the seal of the city. The flag of Cartagena which was presented to Coral Gables when the last contingent from Cartagena visited the city, is now permanently displayed in the Commission Chamber at the City Hall.

The People to People program was initiated by a White House Conference called by President Eisenhower in September 1956. Its aim is to construct a massive program of communication between Americans and citizens of other lands from which international good will can grow.

The technique is direct people to people contacts, as distinct from official government contacts.

As a result of the conference, some 32 national citizens committees have been organized. These represent a tremendous variety of interests and methods of approach. Town affiliation activities are only a small facet of the total activity. Coral Gables was the first to choose a Latin American city for affiliation under this program.

Coin Laundry Gets A Veto

An appeal from the Coral Gables Zoning Board decision denying a proposal to establish a coin operated laundry on Ponce de Leon Blvd. met with a cold reception from the Coral Gables City Commission Tuesday.

The Commission voted 4-1 to uphold the Zoning Board against E. J. Davidson, who planned the operation at 1520 Ponce de Leon Blvd. near Tyler's Restaurant.

Several area residents and property and business owners had objected to that type of operation in their area.

Mayor John M. Montgomery cast the only vote against the Zoning Board's recommendation.

Six Receive Letters For Scholarship Feats

By LAURA HENRY

Six Southwest High School seniors will be given letters of commendation for exceptional scores on the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test, given last spring. The students are Raleigh Bailey, Elizabeth Hall, Bette Holley, Thomas Smyth, Fletcher Swezey and Richard Williams.

"The semifinalists and commended students together constitute less than 3 percent of all high school seniors, and this certainly signifies noteworthy achievement," stated Mr. John M. Stalnaker, president of the National Merit Scholarship Corporation.

Mr. John McDonald, mathematics instructor, was initiated into the Florida Bar Association last week in Tallahassee. He attended night school for four years before taking the examination and was one of 300 to pass it at the Dupont Plaza Hotel last August.

Red Cross Training Center

Donna K. Fouch was one of seven students chosen from all of Dade County to attend the Southwestern Area Junior Red Cross Leadership Training Center. The camp was held at Tuxedo, N. C., Aug. 20 through 30, with 125 selected student leaders from the eight southeastern states attending.

The Debate Club, sponsored by Mr. Joseph Shaw, is getting under way. Through this club, a member may work his way toward membership in the National Forensic League.

The Scholarship Club, sponsored by Mrs. Barbara Kolosna, is being started at Southwest. This club discusses the different fields in which scholarships are available. The membership is open to all juniors and seniors.

Mrs. Patricia Rasmusson, English teacher, was selected "teacher of the day" by radio station WQAM. She received an orchid for this honor last Thursday.

ivacious young man, Jim Cabie, has been selected Coaches Choice, Jim, 185 pound tackle, has been playing on the varsity football team since his sophomore year. In tenth grade he had already established himself as a potential star. Jim also plays varsity basketball and baseball.

The Future Teachers Club was officially organized at its regular meeting last Thursday afternoon. Harriet Charin was elected president; Bunny Schwartz, secretary and Judy Lebar, treasurer. The club voted to decorate the front window in recognition of National Education Week, and will honor the teachers of Southwest during this week. They also agreed to offer their services as usherettes at the PTSA meetings.

Student Council District Meeting

Don Barber, Student Council president, Linda Perry, secretary, Bill Estay and Joyce Killian represented Southwest at the District VI Student Council meeting held at Miami Edison Senior High School. Don Barber and Linda Perry were chosen president and secretary respectively, for District VI.

A PTSA spaghetti dinner was held last Thursday evening in the school cafeteria. This was one of their first money raising projects of the year.

School Activity Director, Mr. Winston Jones, announced that the student directories are on their way. The 64-page books will contain the students names, addresses, telephone number and section numbers.

Highlighting the senior English literature program this year are weekly lectures conducted by the four general class teachers for the benefit of their combined classes.

Mr. Joseph Shaw gave a speech on the beginnings of English literature, while Mrs. Margaret Keenan lectured on Beowulf.

A reading of Beowulf, tape recorded last year by Sally Hankins, was played. Accompanying it was a costume pantomime enacted by Mrs. Keenan's classes.

Deadline Set For Deals With City Insurance

Coral Gables insurance firms dealing in fire and casualty insurance have until the Nov. 4 deadline to get aboard the gravy train.

All licensed firms are eligible to share in the $9561 melon which will be sliced on a point system set up by the city. Finance Director Kenneth Allyn announced this week.

The number of points to be allotted each firm will be determined from the affidavit submitted by the firms before the Nov. 4 deadline.

Point System

"Points will be awarded to qualified agencies with a 1960-61 City of Coral Gables occupational license on a basis of one point for each of the past three years during which such an agency held a Coral Gables license and sold fire and casualty insurance for a full year," Allyn said.

The nearly $10,000 windfall results from a kitty made up of 50 percent of the commission paid to the fire and casualty firm awarded the contract to handle the City's insurance.

The other 50 percent goes to the low bidder on the City's insurance.

Bonuses To Vary

Individual bonuses will vary according to the number of participants, the kitty and the total amount of the contract and commission to be paid.

"The purpose of this system is to share insurance commission benefits with all agents who sell the type of insurance purchased by the City," Allyn said.

ALL GREATER MIAMI Lions Clubs are girding for an intensive door-to-door drive to sell a quarter million light bulbs, a yearly project of the Lions. Proceeds from the sale—which began Oct. 17 and will continue through Oct. 31—will be used in the Lions' sight conservation program. Displaying the bags of bulbs above are Jack Jemeison, of 1511 Ferdinand, Coral Gables, a member of the Downtown Miami Lions and Harold Snell, of 5530 W. 6th Ave., Hialeah, a member of the Buena Vista Lions. Area leader is Andy Lee, of 3546 NW 9th Ct.

South Miami Riding Club Will Rival Dinner Key

Riders and stables wishing to show horses in South Miami Riding Club's 15th Annual horse show slated for Nov. 25, 26 and 27 have until Nov. 4 to get entries into Show Secretary Mrs. Vincent Saurino, 7199 SW 124th St.

This is the word from show officials who warned prospective entrants that post entries will be accepted—but that a fee and a half will be charged.

Scheduled to be one of the riding club's biggest shows, the three day event will include 70 classes in 16 divisions in a total of seven showings.

Showings will be held at 7 p.m., Friday, Nov. 25; 9 a.m., 1:30 p.m. and 7 p.m., Saturday, Nov. 26, and 10:30 a.m., 1:30 p.m. and 7 p.m., Nov. 27.

Divisions include five-gaited horses, five gaited ponies, western, roadster-to-bike, fine harness, harness pony, walking horse, arabian, jumper, working hunter, working hunter pony, equitation, registered quarter horse and pleasure.

This show is the first of the winter horse show season and second only in size to the annual Dinner Key show in January.

Entries may be made by calling CE 5-1515, MO 7-6044 or FR 3-1287. Show chairman is Phillip E. Groh Jr. Show grounds are at 9200 North Kendall Dr.

Admission is: boxes, $25 for the three-day event, and $1, general admission. Children under 12 are free.

Kenwood Elementary Will Serve Pancakes

Stacks of flapjacks will be flipping, Saturday, Nov. 5, at Kenwood Elementary School.

The Daddy's Club, with an assist from Boy Scout Troop #15 will hold a pancake breakfast as part of its youth activities program.

The breakfast, to begin at 8 a.m. will be held in the school cafeteria, 9300 SW 79th Ave. Donation is $1 for adults, 50 cents for children under 12.

Two Trees Struck By Women Drivers

Two women struck trees within a few minutes of each other in Coral Gables Sunday. One of the drivers was injured.

Coral Gables police identified the two victims as Cora E. Crowell, 63, of 3593 SW 17th St., and Betty Faust, 18, of 5873 SW 62nd St.

The first accident occurred at 12:30 a.m. at 522 Alhambra Cir when the Crowell vehicle struck and severed a palm tree.

The front of the vehicle suffered an estimated $150 damage.

In the second accident involving the Faust car approximately 15 minutes later, the car struck a tree in the 6800 block of Veronese when it failed to make a turn.

The driver was injured slightly.

A BOOK'S COVER can't always reveal the contents of its pages, but it's a different story when it's a work lying on the shelves of Barbara Frederick's antiquarian bookstore. Mrs. Frederick is noting here the skilled craftsmanship of this old German book with its broad, sweeping, gold-colored print on the cover and with a stern-faced Prussian general in the left corner.

Antiquarian Bookshop Is Filled With Treasures

By LARRY LEDWELL

An unusual bookshop, an unusual background, and an overpowering interest in the activities that go on around her are the ingredients that make Barbara Bement Frederick's life a full and happy one.

The bookshop, Able Books, is located at 9822 NE 2nd Ave. in Miami Shores. Mrs. Frederick's antiquarian bookshop is well stocked with several thousands out-of-print and hard-to-get books. She offers a free world-wide search service for any books that are not on the shelves. Recently, she located a rare book on fishes of the world in a shop in Montreal. She has found other scarce books in London, and Stockholm besides the ones found in this country.

Although dealing primarily in old, rare and out-of-print books, she has a large selection of new poetry, carries the publications of the Miami Press, and will order any current book from the publisher. She has over 5000 books on the shelves and is planning to put in a children's line.

Her interest in books and experience in writing prompted purchase of the antiquarian bookshop. Mrs. Frederick's mother, Mrs. Lewis D. Bement, had a huge collection of books that filled the windows of their home. Many people passing by mistook the display for a public library.

Born in New Jersey and raised in Deerfield, Mass., Mrs. Frederick now makes her home in South Miami at 8375 SW 52nd Ave. Her daughter, Robin, 11, attends Everglades School for Girls.

Mrs. Frederick is a member of the Zoological Society of Florida, Dade County Vassar Club, Friends of the University of Miami Library, and sings tenor in the choir of St. Thomas Episcopal Church.

Mrs. Frederick is one of the few women ever to attend Deerfield Academy, which is an all male school now. She received her AB from Vassar College, and hopes to return for the school's centenary celebration next year.

"I love to cook and give parties," she said. She also plays piano and has a dog. The dog, Herkimer, is a stray that wandered into her home and has stayed. She describes the dog as a "thoroughbred mongrel."

Mrs. Frederick nearly went to the theatre. She had played a few small parts and was rising as an actress when the depression came. She then became assistant to the publicity manager at Sak's Fifth Avenue. During World War II, she was in Washington, D. C., working on the war bond program. She has been on the editorial and promotional staffs of various national magazines.

Women To Aid March Of Dimes

Selection of Dade County area chairmen for the Mothers' March of the National Foundation's 1961 March of Dimes have been announced by Mrs. Herbert Kuvin, Key Biscayne, county chairman for the Mothers' March.

Those selected from the Southwest area to supervise the March and the areas they will supervise are:

Mrs. R. Douglas Hazen, 1035 Cotorro Ave., Coral Gables; Mrs. William J. Daddona, 1200 SW 30th Ave., South Central Miami; Mrs. Irving Herbert, 101 NW 43rd Pl., assistant to Mrs. Daddona; Mrs. W. B. Findley, 7637 SW 59th Ct., Southwest Miami; Mrs. John Tarver Jr., 9461 Montego Dr., Cutler Ridge, Cutler Ridge-Perrine; Mrs. Robert C. Mulligan, 8900 Caribbean Blvd., assistant to Mrs. Tarver; Mrs. Francis J. Smith, 6880 SW 101st St., Kendall; Mrs. F. H. King, 10355 SW 35th St., West South Dade; and Mrs. Arthur Kransberger, Homestead.

The area leaders now are in the process of selecting captains who will in turn name lieutenants. Lieutenants will name sergeants who will select their marching corporals.

Kart Center To Be Built

A one-story, 60 by 40 foot amusement center featuring rental Kart rides will be constructed at SW 87th Ave. and 131st St., according to Miami Builders' Exchange.

Burt Construction Co., of Miami, was the lowest of six contractors bidding for the job which is expected to be completed in 60 days. Architect is Theodore Gottfried, of Miami. No contract has been awarded yet.

The amusement center will be built around a one and a half acre track on which six Karts will run at a time. Owner of the center is Scully Associates, Inc., of Miami.

An additional 6,000 seats are assured for the Gator Bowl football classic Dec. 31. This will boost capacity of the Jacksonville stadium to about 50,000.

Gableite Is Back With Advertising Firm

William R. Johnson, 1453 Blue Road, has rejoined the advertising firm of Bishopric, Green, Fielden, Inc., as senior account executive. His appointment is announced by Karl Bishopric, president.

Johnson, 29, was formerly with B.G.F. from 1955 to 1958 when he resigned to form an English language weekly newspaper in Ciudad Trujillo, Dominican Republic.

Although the publication was a success, diplomatic sanctions against the Dominican Republic by the United States forced the paper to close last summer, and Johnson returned to Miami.

Johnson speaks Spanish fluently, and formerly served as foreign business correspondent for "International Markets," a Dun and Bradstreet publication.

Single, a graduate of the University of Miami and a three-year Army veteran, he has made his home in Coral Gables since 1949.

All three third periods in University of Miami football games this fall have been scoreless.

10-Minute Break Costs Him A Spare

Charles Laucks, 3721 Harlan, left his car for just 10 minutes at his office at 2710 Ponce de Leon Blvd. Friday.

When he returned, he told Coral Gables police, the spare tire was gone.

The loss was estimated at $40.

Remember The Times

25 Years Ago

A new liquor control ordinance was adopted by the Coral Gables City Commission. The move was taken to insure that alcoholic beverages would be sold only in specified areas and to bona fide restaurants . . . Work was set to start on a civic center in the Gables. It was to house a library and auditorium . . . Believe it or not, Coral Gables was playing host to a beauty queen from, of all countries, Cuba . . . Great expectations mounted as the Miami Biltmore Hotel prepared to open for the winter season.

10 Years Ago

Two miles of paintings lined Miracle Mile and Ponce de Leon Blvd. as Coral Gables observed American Art Week . . . University of Miami students should pay less for merchandise in Coral Gables. That was the proposal the University's "Student Discount Service" put before the Retail Merchants Division of the Chamber of Commerce . . . Salvador Park officials beamed over the success of their new grass tennis courts, said to be the first of its kind in Florida . . . Gables' city fathers folded their hands contentedly and smiled. Halloween brought no serious acts of vandalism.

One Year Ago

A hard core of South Miamians were burned up because the city was going to use its only community building as a public library . . . Gableites went to the polls and voted against reapportionment and making offices of sheriff and county assessor elective . . . Clyde R. Higgins was installed as president of the Coral Gables Board of Realtors.

PROFILE of the week

Frank Klebba, 3570 Battersea Rd., has been building homes and apartments in the greater Miami area for six years.

The Detroit-born contractor is currently building some apartments on South Dixie Highway. Much of his work can be seen in Coral Gables where he built the Palm View Apartments on Granada Blvd.

"I've built about three dozen homes in Coral Gables, too," Frank said, "none of them under $40,000 and some around $80,000."

KLEBBA here."

Frank builds home and apartments as a speculation, planning to sell them after completion of the structure.

Frank went to high school in Detroit and lived there for several years. He lived in California for five years and has traveled in most of the other states.

"I've been in almost all the states," Frank said. "I visited Miami several times and decided the climate was best here, so I finally settled here."

Frank has made two pleasure trips to Europe, where he decided Scotland, Denmark and the French Riviera are his favorite countries.

"I like the Riviera best because it has a climate most like Miami's. The standard of living is higher and it is cleaner than most of Europe."

Frank attends the Church of the Little Flower, St. Theresa parish, in Coral Gables.

For relaxation, he enjoys fishing in the Gulf Stream.

"I have only fair luck," said Frank, "no really big ones yet."

THE TIMES Coral Gables, Fla.

South Miami Roundup

By EDWIN KNIGHT

KNIGHT

ONE OF THE FASCINATING aspects of playing a typewriter at a window on the second floor of a building is the ability to see the panorama of daily life passing beneath that window.

The habits of thousand of citizens — businessmen, secretaries, children, teenagers and housewives — are thrown open to view. They go to work, eat lunch and go home in the evening.

AND IN THE LATE evening another group comes into view — the moviegoers — who pass along to the theater and two hours later come by again on their way home.

We in THE TIMES office are on the second floor of a building at the intersection of Salzedo and Aragon avenues. It is an old building, one of the oldest in the city.

My desk is in a corner facing a wall. But I have only to turn my head to the right to see a large area of Coral Gables. My typewriter — old like the building but none the less dependable — is at a right angle to that desk with its back to two large windows that let in streams of sunlight.

ON HOT SWELTERING days, we can see the folks on the street moving slowly to their destination, the heat beating down. On the rainy days we view the commuters dodging the raindrops as they run between two points.

The passing parade, I call it.

When I am at my typewriter — sometimes for long periods of time — I get a view of Coral Gables quite unlike that of most Gableites. It's an interesting view — as refreshing as Coral Gables itself.

This is the hub of Coral Gables. This is where life begins in the morning and where it quiets down late at night after every thing else in the city has gone to bed.

The cativity of the restaurant and the bus station are so interwoven that one is completely dependent on the other.

THE BUSINESSMAN ARRIVES early in the morning, buys a paper at the magazine store, reads the paper while he is having breakfast at the restaurant and departs later on a bus to his work in downtown Miami.

In the late afternoon that businessman arrives on a bus from Miami and stands with scores of others awaiting his spouse to pick him up in his car. They go home for the night.

The shadows are long — from the east in the morning and from the west in the late afternoon—when the buses bring the hundreds of passengers to the hub of Coral Gables.

IN BETWEEN, THERE ARE mothers with small children making their way to Miracle Mile, elderly residents leisurely soaking up the sun and school children cavorting in and out of the bus station and the restaurant after school.

After nine in the morning the area is quiet. Office boys, after making an appearance at their offices, can be seen entering and departing in groups from the restaurant.

The coffee break is an essential part of the restaurant's life. PERIODICALLY, ONE HEARS a clang-clang-clang from the fire department. One, two or three fire engines race from their stalls to various points throughout the city.

When they return in a few minutes we know there has been a false alarm.

Lunch time arrives and the restaurant tempo increases. office girls arrive and depart, the Coral Gables businessmen prop their legs up on the concrete parapet outside the restaurant and talk of contracts.

THE HOUSEWIFE, her arms laden with bundles, rushes home to prepare lunch. A man in a sports car parks beside the restaurant, lets someone out to catch a bus, gets a newspaper in the magazine store, an ice cream cone in the restaurant and departs.

The restaurant and the bus station are quiet after lunch. The waitresses sit in a corner and have their own lunch. Coffee is being served to little groups at tables.

A RESCUE TRUCK from the fire department races from its stall in the fire department, turns a sharp left and glides between cars down Salzedo.

The buses begin arriving at the station with the school children now. They are noisy running normal school children and they are glad to be out of school. They are the little ones who have come to change buses. Soon they will depart.

The older students are arriving now on buses — and the restaurant has prepared for them. All the sugar bowls, salt and pepper shakers and mats have been taken from the tables not to be replaced until the students have departed for the afternoon.

THE BUS STATION-RESTAURANT is a meeting place for the students. The boys stand in little groups and talk about the girls. The girls tease the boys and the boys chase the girls. Ice cream is bought with leftover lunch money. It happens every day.

The shadows are getting longer now. Most of the students have gone.

The commuters begin arriving now. They get their favorite magazine or paper from the magazine store and wait for their car.

THE SUPPER CROWD is casual. Young couples, the girls and college students mostly. They may catch a bus or they may go to a movie. It's dark. The lights are on and another fire engine leaves its stall.

Humane Answer Needed

What to do about the growing number of elderly citizens in the United States is a question that is demanding more and more attention from government on the Federal level down to the municipal.

How much attention has Coral Gables, an ideally governed community, paid to this problem? The answer is practically none at all. In fact, the Gables has been either hostile or cool towards recent moves to establish homes for the aged in this area which is ideal from the standpoint of climate.

The city proved downright resentful when a recent attempt was made to establish a home for the aged on Dixie Highway, even though the proposed home was for paying guests with good economic resources. In addition, Coral Gables has shown little enthusiasm for a proposal to convert the empty Antilla Hotel into a home for elderly persons.

This lack of hospitality toward such projects, it must be pointed out, is directed toward private homes that would not be built or maintained at the taxpayers' expense. If such privately operated homes cannot get a good reception in communities such as Coral Gables, what hope is there for aid on the municipal level supported by tax funds?

The point of municipally-supported homes for the aged is important because there is a large body of sympathy in this country for the philosophy of state and local solutions for such problems. The bitter truth, however, is that, political philosophies aside, county and city governments are almost totally unprepared to meet this problem alone and state aid in too many cases is niggardly and often the first to be sliced in "economy moves."

Proponents of states rights have often sat idly by and watched these responsibilities slip away to the Federal Government simply because the States had no programs to resolve their own problems. Scandals in state welfare departments are a painful memory for most of us who are more than 30 years old.

We can only conclude from these circumstances that communities must warm their hearts towards institutions for the accomodation of aged persons. If that isn't done, the problem will land in the lap of the Federal Government—or worse, no new solutions or bold thought will be introduced.

Imagination, foresight and planning are needed now to meet this ever-increasing need. America's aging population demands attention. Communities such as Coral Gables can give leadership by analyzing their own institutions with the goal a humane answer for the problems of aged citizens.

Emphasize The Positive

Last week's edition of The Times carried a feature story about a former military man, now teaching school, who set forth his belief in the youth of America.

This dedicated teacher's faith in our youth was set forth in firm, unequivocal terms that left no doubt about his feelings in the matter. It was, indeed, refreshing to read his story.

There is plenty to back him up. Every week, if you take the time, you can read in your Times of the scholastic successes and honors being won by our local students. They are winning awards in science, literature, journalism and intellectual endeavors by the score. These awards are not easily come by — they require study, concentration and even sacrifices on the part of the winners.

As it has often been said, the juvenile delinquents steal all the headlines, leaving the impression that American young people are simply a bunch of burgeoning criminals. This just isn't so.

Let's give our youth more credit for their worthwhile endeavors in countless fields. With the emphasis in the news on the wrongdoings of delinquents, something positive should be done to offset the stigma which too often attaches to teenagers in our minds. Why not a special community day dedicated to the achievements of our local young people?

Women Can Help Goodwill Seeks Assistance In Area

All women in the area interested in helping handicapped persons are invited by Mrs. James A. Morgan to a 10 a.m. meeting Monday, Oct. 31, in the Goodwill Industries plant, 1130 NW 22nd St.

Mrs. Morgan, immediate past president of Dade County Federation of Women's Clubs, is serving as organizational chairman for a Women's Auxiliary for Goodwill Industries. A non-profit organization, Goodwill operates a plant where physically handicapped are given jobs and rehabilitated.

Those interested in attending the Oct. 31 meeting are asked by Mrs. Morgan to telephone in advance to FR 1-5431, the Goodwill office, in order that adequate seating arrangements may be made. Nominations and by-laws committees have been appointed and will report at the Monday meeting.

Established by a group of local businessmen just over a year ago, the Goodwill plant already employs an average of 65 handicapped persons and has paid out more than $107,000 in wages.

Among those attending a preliminary meeting of the Women's Auxiliary recently at the Goodwill plant were Mrs. Leo Axelrod, 4118 Ponce de Leon, and Mrs. Robert D. Johns, 1423 Tangier St., Coral Gables, Mrs. Roy A. Perry, 2640 Hilola St., Mrs. Ray Earnest, 1670 Micano-py St., and Mrs. Larry Thompson, 2510 SW 27th Lane, Coconut Grove, and Mrs. Kenneth Calender, 6220 SW 123rd Ter.

Gables Pilot Club Celebrates Founders Day

City commissioner and vice Mayor Frank E. Kerdyk of Coral Gables and Mrs. Kerdyk were honor guests at the Founder's Day dinner of the Pilot Club of Coral Gables held Wednesday at the Country Club of Coral Gables.

Mr. Kerdyk gave the Pilots and their guests a talk about the activities around Coral Gables and what Pilot Club members can do for the community in the way of service and good fellowship.

Observing their 39th year of organization and service within their communities, the members displayed their newly purchased Coral Gables Pilot Club banner, together with their charter, granted in 1951. Mr. Kerdyk presented a bouquet of flowers to each charter member present: Augusta Johnson, Thelma Barkman, Lucia Hartog and Dorothy Melvin.

The floral centerpiece was sent to past president Mrs. Louise Cornwell, who is a patient at Doctors' Hospital recovering from surgery. Monday (the 24th) was Mrs. Cornwell's birthday. She is a charter member of Pilot.

Club Seeks Trees, Shrubs For Keys Area

Trees and shrubs . . . trees and shrubs . . . trees and shrubs . . . Cutler Ridge Garden Club is sending out another appeal to all residents of South Florida for trees and shrubs for the hurricane devastated Keys area.

Mrs. Janie Waln, Cutler Ridge Garden Club official, has sent out another appeal for plants that can be shipped to the Keys in November where they will be distributed by garden clubs in the hurricane stricken area.

Cutler Ridge Regional Shopping Center, U. S. 1 at Caribbean Blvd., has been designated as marshalling area for the plants and donors are urged to deliver them to the shopping center within the next two weeks. A caravan of trucks will deliver them to the garden clubs in the Keys where they will be distributed to residents whose property was destroyed during the recent hurricane.

MRS. FRANK E. HUNTER

Newlyweds To Live In South Dakota

After a honeymoon trip through Florida, with a visit to the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John E. Hunter, of 428 Bianca Ave., Air Force Lieutenant and Mrs. Frank Edward Hunter are residing in Rapid City, S. D.

The wedding of the couple took place Sunday, Oct. 16, in Tampa.

The bride, who wore a floor length bridal gown of Chantilly lace and peau de soie is the former Terry Ann Goodhope, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Warren M. Goodhope of Rapid City and Lakeland, Fla.

Sorority sisters of the bride, also in white, attended her.

Chrysanthemums and Florida flora decorated the new, modernistic chapel of the University Terrace Congregational Church in Tampa for the 7:30 p.m. ceremony.

Wade Young, son of Dr. Wade P. Young of the University of Miami faculty, and Mrs. Young, 714 Catalonia, was best man.

The bride attended the University of Montana for two years before transferring to the University of Florida, where she majored in drama and English.

The groom was graduated from the University of Miami with a degree in the School of Electrical Engineering.

Lady Players Wanted

How About A Nice Quiet Chess Game?

Mrs. Pat Vile, 8570 SW 124th St., has only one complaint concerning her passion for playing chess, "I just can't find enough people to play with," she said. Mrs. Vile, whose search for fellow chess players prompted a rec ad in the TIMES, said she learned the game from her brother 5 years ago and has been looking for new opponents ever since. Mrs. Vile admitted that she often plays her husband, a flight engineer at National Airlines, but added that, "He nearly goes crazy waiting for me to decide my moves." In Havana, Mrs. Vile moved here in 1929 at the age of 3. She met her husband, Charles

Junior Woman's Club Plans Two Parties

The Miami Junior Woman's Club has announced two parties for Wednesday, Nov. 2. Both affairs will be held at the clubhouse, 1737 North Bayshore Dr. The new president, Mrs. John Timothy Thomas, will be honored at the club reception from 11 to noon. This will be followed by a reunion luncheon scheduled for noon. Mrs. Thomas, who resides with her family at 1055 NW 147th St., was a department chairman, Division of Health, on the board of directors of the club, last year. Approximately 40 members of the Miami Junior Woman's Club reside in the Greater Coral Gables area.

Baby Sitter Service Hurdles The Foreign Language Barrier

Louisa Aymerich has hurdled the language barrier in a unique baby sitting service she founded, and it has put in her hand "the key to happiness."

Mrs. Aymerich has organized a crew of 30 women, all with Red Cross certificates, who speak Spanish, German, French, Hungarian, Polish and Italian, as well as English.

And if ever parents, who speak a foreign tongue, prefer an unusually reliable baby sitter who speaks their language, Mrs. Aymerich is as close as the telephone.

Or if there's an elderly person, perhaps an invalid, at home, and you'd like an attendant to look after him for a specified time, again Mrs. Aymerich could help you.

The service Mrs. Aymerich and the International Baby Sitter group provide is more to her than a "baby sitting" chore.

More At Ease

It's helping people who need help. And more so, assisting those who speak a foreign language and would be more at ease with one who speaks their tongue.

How did this idea begin?

"I have five friends who have all baby-sat," explained Mrs. Aymerich, 5855 SW 46th Ter., "and they told me, 'you know, there is a terrific need among parents for baby sitters who are reliable...'"

"Well, I sat down and I thought, I wondered if baby sitters could be organized. I figured 'Well, I am going to do this!'"

And she did. Though she has about 30 women available, Mrs. Aymerich plans to expand to a force of 100. And she hopes to branch out into more languages.

"I love this," said Mrs. Aymerich. "It gives me so much happiness to help other people."

"I have found out the key to happiness is nothing else but helping others."

Expectant Mothers

Mrs. Aymerich's help to parents is very thorough. For example, an expectant mother might want someone to care for her children when she's away at the hospital giving birth to another child.

Mrs. Aymerich will send a sitter to the house several weeks before the mother is due to leave. The attendant will assume some of the household duties and, most important, secure the children's confidence. When the mother is at the hospital, the sitter will assume home duties. And when the mother returns, the attendant will remain until the mother feels capable of assuming responsibility for the home.

Girl Scouts Will Honor Juliette Low

This month Girl Scouts all over the world will be celebrating the Centennial of Juliette Low's birth, the founder of the Girl Scout movement in this country in 1911.

On Sunday, Oct. 30 from 3 to 5, the Senior Girl Scouts of Coral Gables and South Miami will observe this occasion at a tea at the home of the district chairman, Mrs. John Findeisen 1020 Coral Way.

The Scouts will contribute their money to the Juliette Low World Friendship Fund which affords international exchange opportunities to Girl Scouts, promotes the movement in countries unable to support the Scouting program and maintains international hostels all over the world. They will also bring used clothing in good condition for the Children's World Relief.

Under the direction of Mrs. Sam Elcock, group chairman, the Brownies and Intermediate Scouts of the Coral Gables area will contribute to Juliette Low World Friendship Fund and Children's World Relief at Coral Gables Elementary School Auditorium Friday, Nov. 4, at 3:30. At this time, Mrs. Philip R. Anderson of the Tequesta Chapter of DAR will present two 50-star American flags for use at the Coral Gables Girl Scout House, located at Bird and Granada.

University of Miami has taken the kickoff and marched for a TD at least once in each of its first three games.

Tequesta Will Have Annual Fashion Show

Tequesta Society, Children of the American Revolution, will have its annual fashion show on Saturday, Nov. 5, at 2 pm, at the home of Jode Preston.

Tequesta is sponsored by the Coral Gables Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution. Mrs. Thomas S. Gowin is Regent. Mrs. Edwin P. Preston is senior president of the CAR. Betsy Henry is the junior president. Peggy Gillmer is in charge of the fashion show.

Tequesta has many activities (i.e. visits to the Kendall Old Folks Home, support of mountain schools, a George Washington Ball in February and an installation luncheon in the spring) supported by this one-money-making project.

Tequesta Society has over 120 members and will soon become the largest society of the National Society Children of the American Revolution. Two members, Jode Preston and Peggy Gillmer, are serving the state society as librarian - curator and corresponding secretary, respectively.

Proper placement of extension cords will eliminate a major fire threat. Cords should be attached to moldings or baseboards and not run underneath rugs.

BARBARA

30 Honor 'Sweet Sixteen'

Barbara Kapp, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George De Bari of 431 Sevilla Ave., was honored on her 16th birthday Sunday with a "Sweet Sixteen" party at the Fontainebleau Hotel, Miami Beach.

The party, a one o'clock luncheon, was served on the Rosewood Terrace of the hotel, and 30 guests, including Barbara's girl friends and about five mothers of her closet friends attended.

Barbara is a Junior at Coral Gables High School and has had most of her formal schooling in Miami. Her parents have been residents for 10 years.

WHAT I BELIEVE

1. To provide dynamic leadership and strength to Dade County representation in Washington—Present Congressman—in 100 bills introduced by him, 96 bills were killed despite a Democratic majority.
2. To fight with every ounce of strength against the Socialistic trend in government—Present Congressman has been endorsed by the ultra-liberal ADA political faction. His leanings are well known.
3. Federal aid for school construction to keep pace with our booming population. Present Congressman — voted against the 325 million dollar school construction program.

4. To provide the strongest defense of any nation on earth! The Present Congressman has a record of voting for spending in everything except national defense.
5. To foster decent standards of health, care and housing for the aged. I suggest combining medical and custodial aid with housing, so that the housing becomes a part of the aid program. Complete research on this subject can be had by writing or phoning my office. Present Congressman—no constructive answer to this problem in his 4 terms of Congress.

High School; and Harriet Charnin, senior at Southwest.

A question and answer period will follow the panel discussion. At the business portion of the meeting, three delegates will be selected from the membership to attend the PTA convention in Tampa this month. The teacher delegate will be Mr. John Price, school librarian.

Harriet Charnin will give a speech on National Education Week. The theme of her speech will be "Know Your School and Your Students".

Refreshments will be made and served by senior home economics students.

Sylvania Heights Elementary
A parade will begin the Sylvania Heights Elementary School carnival Saturday, 11 a.m., at the West Miami Recreation Center.

Children in the parade will be dressed in Halloween costumes. A prize will be awarded to a boy and girl in each grade.

Judges for the costume parade are Chuck Zink of TV program Popeye Playhouse; Mrs. Virginia Mae Ruse, president of West Miami Junior High School PTA, and Councilman Harvey Stahl of West Miami.

The parade will also have local fire units, a bicycle parade and the West Miami Junior High Band.

Following the parade, the carnival will begin at noon on the school grounds, 5901 SW 16th St. Lunch may be purchased.

Turkey dinner will be served in the cafeteria from 4:30 to 7 p.m. The menu will include "Turkey in the Straw", rice, beans, cabbage, carrots, salad, apple pie, hot rolls, coffee, tea, or milk. Admission is $1, adults; 50 cents, children.

Mrs. Cornelius Hang, 6266 SW 14th St., is carnival chairman.

Mrs. John Hall Jones, family counselor, will address members of Sylvania Heights PTA Tuesday, 7:45 p.m., in the cafeteria. The topic for her speech will be "Living with Children".

At this meeting the fifth and sixth grades mixed chorus will provide entertainment.

Carnival costume winners will be presented to the PTA members at this meeting in full costume.

Fairlawn Elementary
Halloween carnival, sponsored by the PTA of Fairlawn Elementary School, will open at 11 a.m. Saturday on the school grounds, 444 SW 60th Ave.

From 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. you will be socially acceptable if you are stuck-up (with cotton candy), or chilly (from snowballs). You may have your hair raised in the spook house, your eyebrows in the make-up booth. Try your skill at a dozen games, or watch a movie. Browse the country store and visit the bake sale. Pony-cart rides for the young and the young at heart will also be part of the fun.

An orange spaghetti dinner, from 5 to 7 p.m., will be followed by black witches and goblins

"Haunted Frolics" will be the theme of Coral Terrace Elementary School carnival, Saturday, 2 to 8 p.m.

The haunted house this year will be haunted by the fathers of children. The cakewalk, fishing booth and ring the ghost, are among other booths that will add to the carnival fun.

Frank Wilcox, WTVJ announcer, will MC the school talent show later that night at 7. Children will participate in this event.

Mrs. Frank Howard and Mrs. Bertha Nichols are chairmen.

South Miami Elementary
"Sibling Relations and Rivalry", a film, courtesy of the Mental Health Society, will be shown to members of the South Miami Elementary School PTA Tuesday, 7:30 p.m., in the cafeteria.

John Hall Jones, Ed. D., will lead a discussion following the film.

West Miami PTA Plans Follies

The West Miami Junior High School PTA, in conjunction with the faculty and students, will present the West Miami Follies of 1960 on Nov. 9 and 10 at 8 p.m. at West Miami Junior High Auditorium, 7500 Coral Way.

Don Terry, head of the drama department, is in charge of the production. Admission will be 50 cents for all. Proceeds will be used for PTA projects during the coming year.

Highlights of the Follies will be an original play with both faculty and students in the cast. It is entitled "The Search for Wild Cat Magilacuddy". Board members of the PTA will present a number under the direction of Mrs. Betty Cutolo. Professional entertainers, Bob Momfort and Gene Bass, known in the entertainment world as the Castaways, will make a guest appearance.

Fall Pow Wow Bazaar Is Coming

South Miami Woman's Club members announce their Fall Pow Wow Bazaar for Saturday, Nov. 5.

The affair will take place at the American Legion Hall, 7710 SW 59th Ave. The hours will be from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. Mrs. Benjamin Boesch and Mrs. James Culver are chairmen.

Ponce PTA Will Offer Harvest Supper

The annual Harvest Supper sponsored by the Parent Teacher Association of Ponce de Leon Junior High School will take place from 5 to 9 p.m., Thursday, Nov. 3, on the school grounds.

Barbecued chicken grilled on the grounds will be the featured attraction.

The children will enjoy a Harvest Hop with Fred Hohl as master of ceremonies. The school band will present a concert during the evening. There will be cotton candy, sno-cones, bake sale, popcorn, coffee and pop. Also a treasure island surprise booth, plus the added attraction of four mothers who are commercial artists who will do profile drawings.

The public is invited and tickets are available at the school, or through Mrs. Lawson A. Cheatham, ways and means chairman.

Club Will Get Ready For Yule

Members of the Suburban Garden Club will meet in workshop session at 10 a.m. today at the home of Mrs. L. B. Hicks, 5150 SW 75th St.

Mrs. C. J. Drinkuth will be the instructor. The title of lesson is "Ties for Christmas," a lesson in wrappings and bows. Plants for distribution on the Keys will also be shown.

If you smell smoke don't throw open the door without feeling it first. A hot door means flames and gases are right on the other side, so look for another way out.

Deep purple throated red orchids, a sensational color combination, were corsage gifts from their hostess, Mrs. James Sottile Jr., to her chapter, Coral Gables Chapter (board members), Daughters of the American Revolution, at the Founders Day coffee held at the Sottile home Thursday. Past regents who alternated at the coffee table also were presented the crimson blossoms. Petite Mrs. Sottile, who was wearing a black linen sheath dress, seemed to be everywhere at once, the perfect hostess. Receiving at the door were Mrs. Thomas S. Gowin, the new regent; Mrs. Robert L. Searle, vice regent, and Mrs. Herbert O. Root, second vice regent.

MRS. SOTTILE

Mrs. Richard F. Giersch and Mrs. Ralph F. Roth were past regents pouring the first half hour, and Mrs. James N. Ammen served cake cut from an enormous 36-inch square frosted affair from the buffet.

The Sottile's great Florida room, with its tan and brown furnishings, its panoramic view windows with patio and swimming pool beyond, never seemed crowded. . . . It was nice seeing Ruth (Mrs. D. W.) Weinbrenner and Mrs. Frank D. Webster, who came together. Ruth, an artist, was telling of their houseguest, Mr. A. Simmons of Sarasota. A long time friend of her husband's, he was a member of the First United States Flying Corps of Aviators. Kay (Mrs. John M.) Montgomery and Pat (Mrs. Gene) Gabriel made fashion notes in new fall browns and blacks. Kay and Pat have something in common. Kay is an actress and Pat an elocutionist. They are generous with their contributions to club and little theatre groups.

It was nice chatting with Mrs. Charles K. Weaver, who as a civic-betterment citizen says she sits in every Tuesday representing the "no's" at the Metro commission meetings protesting the sale of Matheson Hammock for private endeavors, and Mrs. George C. Williams and Mrs. Wade Livingston Street (a past regent) who were exchanging summer vacation talk which included a trip to Chautauqua, N. Y., for the Williamses.

SHE WANTED HER HOMETOWN PAPER

Gail Thompson, freshman at Wesleyan Women's College, Macon, Ga., writes her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred W. Thompson, 1508 Alegriano Ave., that she wanted The Times sent to her every week, so that she would know what was going on in her hometown. Mrs. Thompson, who came in to The Times to make the subscription arrangement, says Gail writes that she loves it at Wesleyan, that the people of Georgia are wonderful and that her roommate hails from W. Caldwell, N. J. But she added, "Please send me more blankets, it's cold up here."

Dr. and Mrs. Harold Hooper, 7722 SW 53rd Ave., celebrated their wedding anniversary this past week with a five-day cruise to Jamaica.

Two area country clubs will celebrate Halloween with gay costume parties Saturday night at their respective clubs, The Country Club of Coral Gables and the Kings Bay Yacht and Country Club.

Granada Golfers

Granada golfing gals, members of the Country Club of Coral Gables Women's Golf Association, went all out for football decor in the luncheon following the usual morning round of golf Friday.

Bronze chrysanthemums, the traditional flower, green place cards and a center piece representing a football field ran the length of the table which was complete with green cardboard (field) with yellow stripes making the downs, goal posts and all.

60 Members

There were 60 members out, it was a guest day, too, and the tournament was low putts.

Guests winning were Mrs. Charles Long first, with 16 putts; Mrs. Ralph Helms, second, with 17, and Mrs. Howard Plasman, third, with 18.

Playing in classes, members winning were Mrs. Al Dohre and Mrs. J. B. MacMurray, who tied with 14 putts in Class A; Mrs. Glenn Wood with a 16 won in Class B and Miss Caroline Duffield was second with 17. In Class C, Mrs. C. J. Cavanaugh won with 16 and Mrs. R. S. Scipp was second with 19.

Pro Honored

The girls also honored Larry Mapes, assistant golf pro, on his birthday with a birthday cake complete with frosting and candles. They also presented Mr. Mapes with a check. He has been with the club seven years and has assisted the golfing girls with working out the intricate tournament problems.

Local Golfer Once Looked To The Law

By GRACE WHIPPLE

"One lawyer in the family is enough," said A. M. Franklin and thus ended the law career of Eileen Pharmer before it had begun.

Eileen Pharmer was a member of the first freshman class of the University of Miami. Her major was built around pre-law. In 1931 she was graduated from the university with a B.A.

That's as far as it went. Instead of becoming Eileen Pharmer, attorney-at-law, she became Mrs. A. M. Franklin whose husband is an attorney. The Franklins make their home at 5005 Orduna Drive.

But this wasn't the end of her career — it was only the beginning. A strong desire to be of service and a wide range of interests plunged her into activities to which she has given as much time and energy as would have been devoted to a single career.

Wrote For Times

Many Gables residents may remember the "Highlights and Sidelights of Gableites" column which Mrs. Franklin used to write for The Times. "I really enjoyed it," she recalls. "I remember I received a dollar an inch for what I wrote."

Along came World War II, and she pursued her long-time desire of nursing. After training at Jackson Memorial Hospital, she became a Navy nurse for two and a half years. She was associated with the Red Cross and became a lieutenant in the Civil Air Patrol.

Another organization receiving special attention from Mrs. Franklin is the Grand Jury Association, which she was invited to join as a result of grand jury duty.

Cancer Unit Work

Center of interest for the attractive dynamo at the present time is her work as a member of the Warren Zinsmaster Chapter of the Women's Cancer Association of the University of Miami. This and other chapters throughout the Miami area raise money for cancer research projects of the University.

Remembering "all work and no play . . .", Mrs. Franklin still leaves time for her golf game. Active on the Coral Gables links for many years, "I took up golf when I discovered I was too old for tennis", she is chairman of the Women's Golf Association at the Riviera Country Club.

Being a member of the first freshman class of the University, it is almost a certainty she would be a loyal alumna — which she is. It has been a wonderful experience for her, she says, to see the University grow from one classroom building to the large campus it is today.

UM Growth

"The two big differences between then and now," she notes, "are the many buildings that have been and are being built and the enlarged student body. There were only about one hundred students in my graduating class," she recalls.

Then talk switched to plans for a trip to the Miami-Auburn football game and Eileen Franklin's enthusiasm for her alma mater, as for everything else about which she had spoken, filled the room.

Secretaries Have Birthday

Observing their 5th birthday anniversary, members of the Coral Gables Chapter, National Secretaries Association (International), will celebrate with a dinner party at 7 p.m. tonight at the Ocean Ranch Hotel.

The speaker will be Emil J. Gould, the chapter's "Boss of the Year." Guests will include members of sister chapters in the area.

MRS. FRANKLIN

Show Biz Boy

Ronnie Shaw and his wife, Phyllis, of 3227 SW 92nd Ave., sent birth announcements to their friends in the form of a folder entitled "The Shaw Playhouse." The hit show is "Our Star is Born," the star being Steven Mitchell Shaw, born Sept. 22 at Mt. Sinai Hospital. The Shaws are in show business.

Triple Trophy Tourney Begins At Riviera

A triple trophy tournament got underway Tuesday with the Riviera Country Club Women's Golf Association members out for the qualifying rounds.

In Class A, Mrs. Billie Harting was medalist with a net 75. Mrs. Harting also won the low putts (nine holes) with 29.

In Class B, a tie for the Medalist resulted when Mrs. Harry N. Kerr and Mrs. Thomas J. Birmingham each shot a net 76. Mrs. Kerr won the putting with 32 putts.

In Class C, Mrs. David Thiriner was Medalist with a new net 77. Mrs. William H. Linkroom won the low putts with 32.

AAUW To Honor Mrs. Wirt Peters

Mrs. Wirt Peters of Coral Gables, past president of the Miami Branch, American Association of University Women, will be honored by that group at a reception Nov. 6, 2:30 p.m., at Wesley Foundation Hall on the University of Miami campus.

Mrs. Peters, 3305 Alhambra Cir., is to be honored for her service to the association.

Overalls, Straws Are In Order

Get out your straw hats and your patched overalls for the square dance costume party being held Oct. 29, by the Order of Eastern Star, South Miami Chapter 250.

THE TIMES Coral Gables, Fla.

HERE COMES THE BRIDE, not down the aisle, but on the head of Mrs. Rafael Cabrera, 1426 Baracoa Ave., whose original hat won first place in a recent Coral Gables Welcome Wagon contest. Highlighting the hat was a doll, dressed as a bride and complete with bouquet. Swirling about the bride were voluminous quantities of lace and silk, accentuated by ribbons.

ONE STEP BEYOND into the twilight zone, that's what Marion Chisholm took recently when her notched second place in the Welcome Wagon's contest. Her circular hat had, at center, a white water bearer with a giant-sized pitcher among star-studded, green angel hair. Around the hat's periphery were the different signs of the zodiac. Mrs. Chisholm lives at 3301 Crystal Ct.

BULL IN A DAISY PATCH? They said it couldn't be done. But Mrs. Lettie Johnig, 429 Florida Ave., did it during the Welcome Wagon's hat contest. She took a bull used in the home as a knick-knack, placed it in a verdant jungle of green mesh, sprinkled daisies here and there—and came up with third place honors.

Ixora Garden Club To Elect Delegates Today

Election of delegates to the 12th district convention, Florida Federated Garden Clubs, and distribution of new year books will constitute the business today, when the Ixora Garden Club meets.

Mrs. Donald H. Miller, 6340 SW 44th St., will be hostess for the 10:30 a.m. session. "Flower Arrangements in Miniature" will be the program talk by Mrs. Frank Nichols, following the business session.

Mrs. Nichols, an accredited flower show judge, and president of the Dade County Council of Garden Clubs, is a past president of Riverside Garden Club and the Metropolitan Miami Flower Show.

Mrs. Vida Metzger, president, will give a detailed report of her recent visit to the new headquarters home of the Florida Federation of Garden Clubs in Mead Gardens, Winter Park.

Museum Patrons Will Sponsor Fashion Show

Mrs. Manuel Gonzalez, 4512 San Amaro Dr., and Mrs. Carlos P. Lamar, 1800 Country Club Prado, are ticket chairmen for the noon luncheon fashion show patrons of the Museum of Science and Natural History, Inc., will sponsor Monday in the ballroom of the DuPont Plaza Hotel.

Mrs. H. J. Ross of Sunset Island 3 is chairman of the patrons committee.

Music will be by Johnny Masters.

Mrs. Frederick B. Zaugg of Pine Needle Dr., South Miami, is general chairman. Mrs. George W. Wright Jr. and Mrs. Roland A. Saye, both of Miami Shores, are reservations and decorations chairmen, respectively. Mrs. Perry Nichols of Coconut Grove is special gifts chairman.

Club To Fete Its President

Mrs. Herbert Eayers, president of the Woman's Club of Coconut Grove, will be honored by club members at a President's Reception from 3 to 5 p.m. today.

Honored guests will be Mrs. E. D. Pearce, secretary of the General Federation of Women's Clubs; Mrs. William O. Mehrtens, president, Dade County FWC, and Mrs. L. J. McCaffrey and Mrs. T. T. Stevens, trustees, Dade County Federation of Women's Clubs.

Wilson's To Be Cocktail Hosts

George Wilson, commissioner of the Florida Inland Navigation District and immediate past president of the Coral Gables Junior Chamber of Commerce and Mrs. Wilson will entertain at a cocktail party at their home this evening from 6 p.m. to 8 p.m.

Guests will be the Metro commissioners, port and shipping officials and other guests. The party will be held in the Wilson's large Florida room with adjoining swimming pool.

Pi Beta Phi Sets Annual Coffee Date

Mrs. Edward S. Christainsen, 6512 Riviera Dr., will open her home next Thursday for the annual coffee, local alumnae of Pi Beta Phi fraternity will sponsor.

The hours are from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m., Nov. 3, and the purposes of the benefit are twofold: to entertain friends of the fraternity and to present to them the national philanthropic project. Mrs. Fred C. Meadows, 5663 Michelangelo, and Mrs. W. C. Goff, 11835 SW 91st Ave., are chairmen of the coffee.

Founded in 1867 Pi Beta Phi, founded in 1867 at Monmouth College, Ill., was the first national fraternity to establish an altruistic project. Its settlement school located at Gatlinburg, Tenn., was established in 1912 in honor of the founders and founding of Pi Beta Phi.

The school started with 14 pupils and now has an enrollment of 607. The county now leases for $1 a year the 78 acres and 12 buildings owned by the fraternity. Pi Beta Phi pays the salaries of the teachers in music, arts, crafts, woodworking and journalism.

The fraternity provides housing for 20 students who help pay for their room and board by doing chores. Services include a health center and arrowcraft shop.

Mrs. C. H. Summers, 6011

Cellini Ave., is a member of the National Settlement School Committee.

In 1960, students ranging in ages 18 to 80 came from 22 states and three foreign countries. The 48 years of growth enjoyed by this memorial has been solely supported by voluntary contributions made by the fraternity's 300 alumnae clubs and 104 chapters throughout the United States and Canada.

A TOUCH OF PARIS with pretty, young girls flashing bright red and black Can-Can dresses and wearing plumed hats descended on Coconut Grove recently. The girls dancing here on the old, white piano, attend St. Stephen's Episcopal Church. At last Saturday's carnival, they and their partners performed that old Parisian number, the Can-Can. And Paris never looked so good. Sitting in foreground with her fingers touching lightly on the "88" is Dianne Shaw, 2540 SW 27th St. At top, are left to right, her sister, Barbara, and Susan Ward, 7521 SW 57th Ave.

Merit Scholars Win Recognition

By EUNICE TALL

Lydia Berardelli, Jerry Brodka, James Butcher, Carla Holt, Wayne Martin, Emerson Moran, and Mike Street, Palmetto High School seniors, were honored for their outstanding scores on the National Merit Scholarship Examinations taken last spring.

Though these students haven't reached the status of semifinalists they have been singled out for special attention.

They are endorsed by Palmetto and will receive a formal Letter of Commendation signed by Principal Clyde Crabtree and John M. Stalnaker, president of the National Merit Scholarship Corporation.

TALL Girl's Volleyball Palmetto girls' volleyball teams attended the senior high sports day recently at Southwest High School.

The A team consisted of Jo Pederson, Sharon Frost, Patti Long, Susie Ross, Marilyn Platt, Pam Garrison, Donita Breckemeyer, Dottie Lee, Rosie Cohen, Kris Pettie, Pat Riley, Sharon Pitz, Amy Reichert, Janice Thompson, and Diane Van Dyke. Captain of the A team is Jo Pederson; manager, Nancy Liscomb.

Palmetto's B team came in third in the scoring. It consisted of Paula Coggins, Judy Grieshaber, Jane Franzino, Judy Ferrer, Lynn Haynes, Janet Herold, Pam Jean, Jody King, Bonnie La Pradd, Brenda Muhlinghaus, Sherry Simpson, Susie Straight, and Elaine Turner. Brenda Muhlinghaus is captain and Janet Herold is co-captain. Manager is Lynn Johnson.

Linesmen and scorers from Palmetto were Jan Wachkenhut, Nancy Thomas, Barbara Taylor, Sandy Kriles, Bonnie Cummings and Pam Danielson.

Palmetto was host for West Miami Junior High, Redland Junior High, and Rockway Junior High Schools for the all day sportsday held at Palmetto Oct. 21.

West Miami won the A plaque and Palmetto took the B plaque.

Gymnastics Team

A Palmetto gymnastics team is being organized under the direction of Mr. Boyd Ayers, guidance counselor. Mr. Ayers is assisted by Mr. Carmine Regna, former competitor in the National Amateur Athletic Association and the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

Members of the team attend workouts every afternoon. We hope the team will achieve enough success so that it may enter some of the gymnastics events planned for the county and state.

Mr. Al Hurwitz, art superintendent for Dade County, is working in conjunction with Mrs. Marlene Lindquist, Palmetto Art teacher, on community projects with her third period advanced art class.

To see projects made in the graphics department at Coral Gables High School, Mr. Hurwitz took five students Oct. 19 to the school.

Those students on the trip were Ralph Knudsen, Gail Hibbe, Bob Jones, Cindy Grishom, and Bill Wladyka.

If the projects at Palmetto are successfully completed they will be exhibited at the National Art Education Association at the Deauville Hotel in April.

Palmetto High School will have its first graduating class this spring. And Palmetto High School will have its first annual yearbook published, The Palm Echo. The yearbook class is determined to make it one of the best in the county. They will be sold for $6.

The class is under the direction of Mr. William Olafson, journalism sponsor.

Youth Center Teams Win 3 In 3 Divisions

Coral Gables Youth Center football teams ran wild in the Inter-City Athletic Conference during the past week, winning games in all three weight divisions.

By defeating West Dade last Saturday by a score of 13-6, the 115-pound Jaycee entry has tied its division into a four-way knot. Coral Gables, South Miami, Southwest Boys Club and Miami Shores have each piled up a record of 4 wins against 1 defeat. Something has to give next Saturday when Coral Gables plays Miami Shores at 10 a.m. on Miami Shores' field.

The Coral Gables 95-pounders—the Velda Dairies—won their fourth straight victory by edging out Homestead, 6-0.

The PBA-sponsored unlimited weight team squeaked through to a 20-19 win over North Miami. This gives them a season record of 2 wins against 2 losses.

Jaycees, Auxiliary Will Don Costumes

A Halloween party for South Miami Jaycees and the Jaycees Auxiliary and their guests will be held from 8 p.m. to 1 a.m. Saturday, Oct. 29, at South Miami American Legion Hall, 7710 SW 59th Ave.

Included in the program will be live music for dancing and a hot roast beef dinner served at midnight.

Prizes will be awarded for the best Halloween costumes worn by couples.

Flagami Baptist Seeks $25,000

The Flagami Baptist Church's "$25,000 Building Drive" is still short of its $25,000 goal, according to a church spokesman, but people are still coming in. The drive was started in September to raise money for a new educational building and equipment, and will continue until next September. On Oct. 28, at 7:30 p.m., the film "Captured" will be shown in the church auditorium. It is a movie based on actual court cases concerning the separation of church and state.

Baptist Revival

There will be a revival at Flagler St. Baptist Church from Oct. 30 through Nov. 6. Services on Sundays will be at 11 a.m. and 7:45 p.m. and nightly except Saturday at 7:45. The Rev. Leland H. Waters of the Home Mission Board of the Southern Baptist Convention will be the evangelist. Rev. James R. Cope-land will lead the music.

being moved to the Cutler Ridge Regional Shopping Center to take advantage of the throngs of shoppers, according to Mrs. William Townshend and Mrs. Percival S. Black, general chairmen.

Booths Planned

Booths will be erected along the walkways in the mall and in the Community Center Building and will be stocked with everything from toys to children's clothes to baked goods to general foods to Christmas decorations to plants to flowers and more.

A program of entertainment has been planned by Charles Ralston, who will coordinate the Men's Club on running the games and rides.

For months members of the church, including the teenagers, have been busy in their workshops creating merchandise that will be sold and given away during the one day "Parisien Holiday". Proceeds will go to the building fund of St. Faith's Episcopal Church, according to Rev. Father Newton Wilbur.

Booths, Chairmen

Categories of the various booths and the chairman in charge are as follows: general chairmen, Mrs. William Townshend and Mrs. Percival S. Black; toys, Mrs. Walter Simpson and Mrs. William Carter; children's clothing, Mrs. James MacMillan and Mrs. Bay Williams; bake goods, Mrs. Robert Penny and Mrs. James Tucker; white elephant, Mrs. George Drinkwater; gifts, Mrs. Helen Basse and Mrs. Gilbert Pletts; small fry booth, Mrs. Joseph Molenda; plants and flowers, Mrs. W. W. Carmichael and Mrs. Edward Pearch; post office, Mrs. Caius Carpenter; food, Mr. and Mrs. William Andrew; Christmas decorations, Mrs. Carol Hartley and Mrs. Roper; publicity, Mrs. Ward Coleman and games and rides, Mr. Candies Ralston.

Temple To Meet New Members

New members of Temple Zamora will be introduced during Friday services at 8:15 p.m. with an Oneg Shabbath hour following in the social hall.

Rabbi Leon Hurwitz will speak on "Our Mutual Relative-His Heritage" at the Temple, 44 Zamora Ave.

Conducting the ceremony concerning new members will be the president of the Temple, Nathan Davidow, 647 Palermo Ave.; Hilbert Leavitt, 3325 SW 20th St. and Monte Rassner, 6406 San Vicente Ave.

Mitchell Senitt Will Be Bar Mitzvah

Mitchell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Senitt, 1840 SW 93rd Pl., will be Bar Mitzvah at the Israelite Center on Saturday morning, Oct. 29, with Rabbi Morton Malavsky officiating. Cantor Louis Cohen will render the liturgy.

Mitchell is an honor student at Rockaway Junior High. He is also president of his class, group leader in gymnasium and speech. He is a student at the Israelite Center Religious School. After the religious services, a Kiddush will follow in the Social Hall.

Out-of-town guests will be his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Berger of New York. A reception will be held on Saturday night at the Israelite Center Social Hall.

TWO IS COMPANY and three is a crowd, but it takes that many to let you know that Women's Association of the First Presbyterian Church of Coral Gables is preparing for its Nov. 2 bazaar 9 a.m. - 9 p.m. There'll be various kinds of Christmas gifts and attractive ornaments to make your Yuletide tree resplendent. The three women here are members posing with their "friend." It's a snow-white hat-topped face set against a red background sprinkled with gold stars. It's one of the articles available at the bazaar. Left to right are, Mrs. Carl J. Eloff, 6080 SW 118th St.; Mrs. Fred C. Brink, 445 Malaga Ave.; and Mrs. Edwin G. Knight, 8440 SW 33rd Ter.

Lecture Series Will Begin At Westminster

An associate professor of theology at the Harvard Divinity School, Dr. Hans Hoffman, will be at the Westminster Chapel, 5225 Ponce de Leon Blvd., to present three lectures as part of the Westminster Community Lecture Series. The talks will begin at 8 for the three nights, Oct. 30-Nov. 1.

The schedule and titles of the lectures are: Oct. 30, "Sin or Handicap"; Oct. 31, "Guilt Feelings Pro and Con," and Nov. 1, "Quest and Purpose."

Before coming to Harvard, Dr. Hoffman attended the universities of Basel, Zurich, Geneva, Paris, Marburg, and Princeton. His studies included theology, philosophy, psychology, and psychoanalysis. Dr. Hoffman holds degrees from the following schools: B. D., University of Basel; Ph. M., University of Paris; and Th. D., University of Zurich.

Dr. Hoffman's past work includes the Deanship of the University Chapel of Zurich, lecturer of systematic theology and psychology of religion and member of the research staff in social and educational psychology of the International Red Cross. He came to the United States in 1953 to teach systematic theology and psychology of religion at Princeton Theological Seminary. He acquired his present position in 1957.

Dr. Hoffman has made several contributions to professional journals and "The Theology of Reinhold Niebuhr", Scribner's, 1956.

Christian Science Lecture Is Offered

Third Church of Christ, Scientist, Miami, has invited the public to attend a free lecture on Christian Science in the Palmetto High School Auditorium, SW 77th Ave. and SW 120th St., at 3:30 p.m., Sunday, Oct. 30.

Mrs. Elisabeth Carroll Scott, of Memphis, a member of The Christian Science Board of Lectureship, will be the speaker. Her subject will be "Christian Science: Its Purpose and Practice."

A FUNNY-FACED CLOWN coiled to bounce would delight almost any child. Preparing the toys for the bazaar are, left to right, Mrs. Melvin Livengood, 12900 SW 82nd Ave., and Mrs. Benjamin W. Turner, 2310 Granada Blvd. The clown comes in a beautifully decorated box, wears a high, pointed hat and also wears a perpetual smile on his jolly face. The church is at 121 Alhambra Pl.

Two Injured In Accident At Intersection

Two persons were injured and one vehicle severely damaged when one car allegedly ran a red light and was struck at the intersection of Coral Way and Segovia Blvd. Sunday afternoon.

John Harris, 20, of 8931 SW 7th St., identified as a University of Miami student, was treated at Doctors' Hospital for head lacerations.

William E. Reeder, 58, of 3528 W 25th St., was treated for minor injuries. He was charged with disobeying a traffic signal. Both men received emergency treatment at the scene from firemen R. L. Bunting and Peter J. Cuspilich Jr.

Gables Officer William Bard, who investigated the accident shortly after 2 p.m., said that Reeder, southbound on Segovia, failed to stop for the traffic light and was struck by Harris' westbound car.

Harris' English Ford sustained $900 damage and Reeder's 1959 Plymouth, $150, according to Bard.

Smoke In Dash— Firemen Dash

When Isaac Wright Jr., 3161 Douglas Rd., smelled smoke as he drove along in the 4700 block of Ponce de Leon the evening of Oct. 19, he suspected fire.

Wright stopped to investigate and found the smoke pouring out from under the dash of his 1956 Oldsmobile.

He tried to put it out, but the fire got worse.

Finally he had to jump out and summon aid.

Gables firemen arrived quickly, but not until the interior of the car had been gutted.

Man Injured On Sprinkler

A 60-year old man tangled with a lawn sprinkler Saturday and wound up in the hospital with an injured right leg.

Walter E. Tyler, 6900 Mentone, stumbled on the sprinkler head in front of his home and fell.

Firemen I. T. Williams and Leland L. Lanway treated Tyler for what was first believed to be a broken leg, but no fracture was reported when the leg was examined closely at Doctor's Hospital.

Tyler was treated for a toe and knee injury and released.

Stocks And Bonds Course Begins Tonight

A course on "The Analysis of Stocks and Bonds" will be offered at Southwest Miami High School by the Lindsey Hopkins Vocational School beginning Oct. 27.

The eight week course, conducted by C. R. Kutz, will deal with procedures, techniques and analysis of the market. The sessions will meet from 7 to 10 pm, on Thursdays beginning Oct. 27.

Pet Shop Loses Petty Cash To Burglar

A burglar broke into the Gables Pet Shop, 115 Ponce de Leon Blvd., sometime between Thursday night and Friday morning and stole $21.60 in petty cash.

The cash was stolen from a cash register after the burglar had broken in through a rear door.

A New World In Dining Delight Awaits You

MODERN Dining Facilities. This banquet room is equipped for special occasions; Bar Mitzvahs, Luncheons, parties, etc.

KOSHER SMORGASBORD—all you can eat for $1.89

Orthodox in tradition... modern in decor describes Riviera Caterers, Inc.

Riviera Caterers opens a new world in dining pleasure, in traditional Orthodox Judaism. The exuberant activities of the legendary past now comes to life for the discriminating folks who enjoy good home cooking with a spiritual atmosphere.

Riviera Caterers is the finest kosher restaurant in this area," says many of the establishments satisfied customers. The chef takes personal pride in every dish that leaves his kitchen.

From A Bite To A Banquet
Riviera is divided into several departments, each department facilitated for different functions.

The Banquet Room is equipped for special occasions; Bar Mitzvahs, luncheons, meetings, card parties, etc. This room, decorated in wood paneling, is available on rental basis and is air-conditioned to assure maximum comfort.

The restaurant is used for luncheons and the counter for quick bites and coffee breaks. The delicatessen serves take out orders.

Busy Evenings

Monday through Thursday evenings, Riviera features Kosher Smorgasbord—yes, all you can eat for $1.89. This is truly Miami's biggest bargain, for Riviera serves the finest food.

Friday evenings, Riviera Caterers up-holds religious tradition by serving meals in a spiritual manner. The management will not accept payment from the diners on their evening. They observe a Orthodox tradition by not handling money on the Sabbath, which begins Friday at sundown.

Sunday evenings Riviera serves complete dinners from 4:30 to 8:30.

Catering Too

Riviera is also noted for their catering services. They have all the facilities that will make any occasion complimentary to a host.

Be sure to dine at Riviera Caterers today. See the most complete restaurant in Miami, one that serves kosher food in every fashion — smorgasbords, table catering, take-out service, delicatessen and special occasion.

Riviera Catering Inc. is located at 1830 Ponce de Leon Blvd. The phone number to call is HI 8-5441.

Riviera is open Sunday thru Friday from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m.

New Wonder Working Product

Are you like most of South Florida residents, bothered with building cracks throughout the interior and exterior of your home? You can rid yourself of this problem with Renuart's Tuff Kote. Best of all you can do it yourself, easily and quickly.

Tuff Kote is a heavy-bodied pigmented material that produces a waterproof bridge across joints and cracks that moves with expansion and contraction. Movement of a crack by heat and cold can continue with a break in Tuff Kote. Both paint and building materials are protected.

A balanced combination of Bodied Linseed, Tung and Soya Marine Oils make up over 80% of the Tuff Kote formula.

Other products like tar and Homeowners should develop a prearranged plan for getting families out of the house in case of fire. This is especially important when there are small children or elderly people in the family.

asphalt get brittle in cold weather when flexibility is needed. Tar cannot be hidden by paint. Chalk does not have the tensile or adhesion strength needed in moving cracks and joints. Mortar gets hard and brittle with little adhesion to smooth surfaces and movement of any sort causes it to crack.

Tuff Kote has more than 102 uses. It can be used to patch shrinkage around doors, sinks and shower cracks, etc.

Remember, you can purchase Tuff-Kote at any 4 Renuart Stores, each one conveniently located to serve you.

All stores are comfortably air-conditioned and feature self service and ample free parking.

Ring Theater To Open With Mischief Maker

The Ring Theatre at the University of Miami will begin its new season tonight with Moliere's "The Mischief Maker."

The play, a slap-stick farce, will play through Nov. 5, except Sunday, Oct. 30. The production is directed by drama professor Jack Clay. Authentic 17th Century costumes have been made by Roberta Baker, the drama department's costume designer.

The leading players are Michael Rogers, as Scapin, and Robert Wolfe, as Leandre. Supporting players are Kenneth McCarron, Joseph Disco, Carol Swenson, Ivan Kivitt, William Curtis, Yvonne Dardenne and Judith Paulich.

Director Clay has made his own translation and acting version for this production. The play will be sent on tour in February to military bases in Newfoundland, Greenland and Iceland. The tour is co-sponsored by the USO and the American Educational Theatre Association.
