

Junior Orange Bowl Parade To Roll

Petitioners Seek To Halt High Riser

A petition calling on the Coral Gables City Commission to rescind its action granting builder A. H. Sakolsky permission to erect a 12-story apartment on Biltmore Way at Cardena was to be circulated today (Thursday).

The petition was prepared by the Committee for the Preservation of Present Zoning Ordinances, which also scheduled a public meeting for 8 p.m. next Thursday, Jan. 5, at the W. Memorial Youth Center.

John Wynn, of 906 Palermo, an attorney in State Attorney Richard Gerstein's office, is scheduled to address the public meeting.

Approved, Rejected

Wynn was active in opposing another proposed 10-story apartment near Venetian Pool. The Commission first approved, later rejected, that plan.

The petition, according to Lila Dickerson, president of the Committee, also asks the City Commission to hold off on granting any more permits for buildings over three stories in height until "standards or guides" are established by the City.

A group of residents, including Miss Dickerson, filed a suit in Circuit Court last week to block construction of the Biltmore high riser.

Three Weeks

Attorney for the group, Franklin Parson, said Wednesday that it may take three weeks or more before the suit is heard.

Meanwhile, the city has gone ahead and issued a permit to Sakolsky for construction of the $3 million "skyscraper's" foundation, estimated to cost $500,000.

Approval for the high rise building came on a 3-2 vote of the City Commission, with Mayor John M. Montgomery voting with Commissioners Robert Searle and Winston W. Wyle.

Commissioners Joe Murphy and Frank Kerdyk were opposed.

Gables Christmas Was Safe And Sane

No one has an explanation for it, but Christmas Day proved to be one of the safest for Coral Gables this year.

Only five minor accidents were reported for the entire day.

The long three-day weekend proved even less hazardous than usual, with no serious accidents or injuries reported.

Saturday's frantic last minute shopping rush produced many minor accidents and a lot of short tempers, but, again, no tragedies.

AN EXPECTED CROWD OF 100,000 persons will line Ponce de Leon Blvd., Miracle Mile and Biltmore Way today (Thursday) to see 4000 youths march in the 12th annual Junior Orange Bowl Parade which is scheduled to begin at 2:30 p.m. The parade will include 38 floats, 31 marching units and 18 bands, the biggest yet if KingSol beckons.

Biggest And Best Will Delight Old, Young

Biggest and the best—weather permitting—that's the promise of this year's Junior Orange Bowl Parade scheduled today (Thursday) in Coral Gables.

The first unit is expected to step off from the staging area near Minorca at 2:30 p.m. and lead 86 dazzling units, including 18 bands, 38 floats and 31 marching units, down Ponce de Leon Blvd., Miracle Mile and Biltmore Way to the dispersal area on Segovia Blvd.

This will be the 12th kid's version of the Orange Bowl Parade, and this is one time when they really take over.

Parade Chairman Warren Blackmon and Parade Marshal Paul R. Greenway said that the response this year is the greatest ever.

Day At The Fair

"A Day at the County Fair" will be the theme running through this year's tinsel, papier-mache and otherwise colorfully decorated floats.

And, again, the accent will be on youth. An estimated 4000 will participate in the parade itself.

Many of the floats were created and built by teenagers and will be drawn by them, since they cannot be power-driven.

For the first time this year many of the floats will be animated, which should make them even more interesting.

Marching units will come mainly from area recreation departments, school organizations, 4-H clubs, Boy and Girl Scout groups, but a few will come from far away places.

Interspersed between floats and marching units will be dozens of bands.

A high point of the parade will be the appearance of the Queen of the Junior Orange Bowl, Robin Lee Krug, and her princesses, Joan Bassett and Barbara Burney.

Queen And Court

The brown-eyed, brown haired beauty and her court will review the parade with Mayor John M. Montgomery, Cmdr. O. S. Butler, USN, Jess Yarborough, Orange Bowl Committee president, and Larry Larimore, president of the Junior Orange Bowl Committee and other city and Chamber of Commerce officials.

Pat Finn, this year's Orange Bowl Queen, and Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker, honored for his youth work by the Junior Orange Bowl Committee, will also review the parade.

Rickenbacker was to receive the Service to Youth Award at a luncheon before the parade at the Coral Gables Country Club.

Parade judges will be Ben Brown, Clyde Taylor and Cindy Hudson.

For those who like a grandstand view of the parade, a special grandstand has been erected and tickets made available at 50 cents each from the Coral Gables Chamber of Commerce.

Weather permitting, upwards of 100,000 persons are expected for the parade.

Coral Gables May Dismiss School Guards

School crossing guards, already out of vogue in most of Dade County, may be suspended in Coral Gables also.

The 11 part time guards employed by the city at a cost of $11,746 this year would fall victim to the machine age.

The City Commission last week decided to keep the guards for another 30 days until the end of the current school semester.

City Manager L. W. Robinson Jr., meanwhile, will study the matter and make his recommendation to the Commission.

Metro Traffic Safety Department crews are in the process of installing special crossing signals operated by pressing buttons.

The system has been installed in many county areas with reported success.

Ten of Coral Gables' guards are paid $25 a week; one receives $51.20 for a longer work week.

The City also spends $25 a year for each employe for uniforms.

Egg In His Gasoline

Bob Quasha, of 1517 Palancia, had a novel experience Dec. 22 when some vandals splattered his car with eggs and tossed one in his gas tank for an added lark.

Here Are The Winners In Yule Lighting Contest

The winners have been selected in the Christmas Home Lighting Contest sponsored by the TIMES and the Coral Gables Board of Realtors.

First place in the "Most Beautiful" category went to Mrs. W. S. Harrington, 6600 SW 127th St., for her Nativity Scene and animated Santa and reindeer, accentuated by effective lighting. A star was attached to the television antenna.

First place in the "Most Original" category went to Henry E. Schaefer, 1535 Trevino Ave., for his cardboard facsimile of a family at a window looking out at a Nativity Scene painted in iridescent colors. There was also a Santa and reindeer on the roof.

In the "Most Beautiful" division, second place went to Mrs. R. H. Hart Sr., 617 University Dr.; third place went to Omer Renuart, 6640 SW 122nd St.

It Couldn't Have Been Li'l Abner?

A "pork chopper" is suspected of the break into the home of John Barry, 912 Wallace, last Friday.

The thief broke into the Barry home by ripping out the door moulding and proceeded to ransack the bedrooms.

The entire effort apparently stimulated the appetite of the burglar. He went to the refrigerator and helped himself to some chops.

Nothing else was reported taken, police reported.

In the "Most Original" division, second place went to Mrs. William Brady, 921 Alava Ave.; third place went to Mrs. A. C. Bivins Jr., 7030 Almansa St.

Sterling silver prizes will be presented the first place winners. Honorable Mentions went to scores of other entrants.

Judges were Ira Willard, president of City National Bank, Winston W. Wynne, former Coral Gables City Commissioner, and George Fink, a Coral Gables architect.

Gables Bus Is Involved In Accident

Coral Gables municipal buses continue to be the favorite targets of area motorists. Another was hit Friday afternoon at the intersection of Coconut Grove Dr. and Santander.

The left front side of the bus was damaged and two passengers injured slightly after the bus was struck by a woman driver.

Injured were Yvonne Sands, of 230 Florida, and Fannie Reed, of 3341 Thomas. They were given emergency treatment at Doctors' Hospital.

Gables Officer Robert DeKorté, who investigated the accident shortly after noon, said that Cecilla C. Friedland, 61, of 104 Santander, was charged with failing to yield the right of way to the bus, which was northbound on Coconut Grove Dr.

Law Suit Challenges Coral Gables Golf Fees

A group of five Coral Gables residents have filed suit in Circuit Court charging that the City's municipal golf fees discriminate against Gableites who do not belong to the Coral Gables Country Club.

The suit is aimed at establishing identical fees for all residents, whether they belong to the Country Club or not.

Plaintiffs are Harry Dillon, 1301 Salzedo, president of the 125-member Granada Golfers Association; Col. Alfred S. Knight, 415 Cadima, a retired Army officer; Hermas Gibeau, 4110 University Dr., a Montreal, Canada, restaurant owner; Charles S. Broward, 1091 Galiano, a retired accountant; and Bernard B. Weksler, 435 Luenga, attorney, founder and past president of the 345-member Biltmore Men's Golf Association.

Weksler first attacked the fees several months ago when the City Commission adopted a whole new system of recreational charges. A reshuffling of some fees resulted, and the Commission appointed a golf advisory board on which some of the litigants served.

But the main objection, unequal fees for residents not belonging to the Country Club, continued to simmer when the Commission stood fast.

"The suit is not aimed at the Country Club of Coral Gables as the plaintiffs believe that the fees charged Country Club members are fair and reasonable," Weksler said Wednesday before filing the suit.

"It is not intended to increase the Country Club fees at all," Weksler said. "However, the plaintiffs sincerely feel and believe that the fees charged them should not exceed the fees charged the Country Club members."

"All residents and non-residents alike should be treated the same way, whether we speak of golf course fees, tennis court fees, garbage taxes, ad calorem taxes, parking fees, etc."

"All residents should pay the same fee and all non-residents should pay the same fee," Weksler said.

The attorney, who has been at odds with the Commission on several issues in the past several months, contends that approximately 60 percent of Country Club members do not reside in Coral Gables.

"The plaintiffs believe that the City Commission should not discriminate in favor of and pass special interest legislation for one private group. The plaintiffs are violently opposed to special interest favoritism of this nature," Weksler said.

The group of litigants said that they hope the City Commission will reconsider its resolution and pass a new resolution reducing the fees of all residents who are not members of the club to the same as those who are members.

That resolution is described in the suit as "illegal, unconstitutional and void in that it purports to give a certain class of persons, i.e., members of a private social organization, a grant of special privileges."

If so, this is generally described as "class legislation," which has been declared unconstitutional by the high courts.

Thieves Loot Home On Sunset Drive

Some $625 in various articles were stolen from the home of Margo DeWolf, 6290 Sunset Dr., Wednesday night, Dec. 21, following a break-in at the home.

According to South Miami police, entrance into the residence was gained by intruders removing a jalousie and cutting a screen.

Taken were a television set, a portable radio, a vacuum cleaner, a sewing machine, a silver fox stole, a mixmaster, a toaster, 3 blankets and a hair dryer.

Plans Afoot For 8-Story Gables Hotel

Plans are afoot to construct a $2 million, 8-story hotel in the 1500 block of Avenue Madruga in Coral Gables.

Interior plans for the new 140-unit high riser were approved by the Board of Architects Dec. 21, but the board rejected the exterior design as too extreme.

The architects, William Martin and Gilbert Fein, are now working on a new design for the hotel building for Coralaire Corp., which would also operate the facility.

Proposal Rejected

A recent proposal to build a 13-story apartment building for elderly couples at virtually the same site was rejected unanimously back in August by the City Commission.

The new plan, which includes a mezzanine floor for the hotel, a banquet hall, a dining room, a barber shop and beauty salon, has not quite jelled, Martin indicated Monday.

The hotel would either be placed on the north side of Madruga, with pool and cabana facilities across the street, or vice versa.

Martin said that either an underground tunnel or overhead span would link the two pieces of property.

But first, approval for the design must be obtained.

The next step will be to go before the Zoning Board and finally before the City Commission, which must approve all buildings over three stories in height.

Heated Opposition

Last fall's proposal to erect the 13-story, 120 unit apartment, aimed primarily at senior citizens, met with heated opposition from area homeowners.

The City Commission recently approved a 12-story apartment at the corner of Biltmore Way and Cardena.

This action produced a lawsuit which is now in Circuit Court.

Martin and Fein are no strangers to controversy.

They designed the new apartments at Douglas Entrance which were delayed a year by the city and a group of apartment owners who sued to block construction.

Thieves Open Yule Presents

The "petty cash" stolen from a Coral Gables home between Friday and Saturday was annoying enough, but what really irked the Orrin Wills, of 2000 North Greenway Dr., was the Christmas presents that were opened and some stolen.

The "petty cash" amounted to $1000 in $100 bills, Coral Gables police said.

But the chaos created by having all the presents opened, identifications lost, and wrappings strewn all over was particularly irksome.

A 17-inch portable television set was also stolen from the home, ransacked while the Wills were visiting friends.

PREPARING for its second consecutive post-season bowl game is this 115 lb. South Miami football team which meets a similar weight team from Waycross, Ga., in the first annual South Miami Youth Charity Bowl Game. The contest will be played at 2 p.m. Saturday at South Miami Junior High School Field. Last year this team played in the Bronx, N. Y., Turkey Bowl. South Miami team coaches are Clyde Taylor and Bill Whately.

Neighborhood Perks Up Mail Boxes For Yule

By RAYMOND LANG

Does your mail box suffer from an inferiority complex at Christmas?

If so, residents of Pine Acres have a prescription for this malady.

It's simple. Decorate your mail box!

Almost all residents in this Southwest area neighborhood adorned their somber-faced grey mail boxes this Christmas.

"We had talked about this other years," pointed out one resident, Mrs. E. L. Throssell, 6201 SW 98th St.

"We had said, 'Gee, We had better do something about the mail boxes—they look so dead.'"

"That was about two years ago. I guess the idea sort of pooped out!"

But the idea had not "pooped out." It had sort of slept for awhile.

But the idea woke up in time for this Christmas. "... One of the neighbors called," Mrs. Throssell went on, "and said it was decided to decorate our mail boxes."

"We thought it would be nice if we all got together to show some Christmas spirit."

"We had one postman who said it was a real cute idea. And you should see persons driving by!" the mother of two boys said in a surprised voice.

"They stop... and look... and point in all directions."

And just how do other postmen feel, plopping parcels into boxes adorned with pine needles and miniature Santas and Christmas tree balls?

They love it! And the Pine Acres' resident to tell you that is Mrs. James W. Melvin, 9751 SW 63rd Ct.

"I approached the mailman," she said, "with fear and trembling—I didn't know if it was legal or not!"

"I said, 'We want to decorate our mail boxes and if you have any objections, state them now.'"

"But he was very happy about it."

Youth Charity Bowl Game Waycross, South Miami Will Clash

By EDWIN KNIGHT

South Miami's first annual Youth Charity Bowl Game, with a South Miami team playing host to a Waycross, Ga., team, will be played at 2 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 31, at South Miami Junior High School Field.

According to South Miami Recreation Director Charlie Skalaski, about 2500 spectators are expected for the game which will pit the South Miami 115 lb.

Grey Ghosts against the Waycross Bulldogs.

The South Miami team is coached by Clyde Taylor and Bill Whately. This is the same team which last year played in the Bronx, New York, Turkey Bowl.

"We hope to make this game an annual event," Skalaski said, "with the South Miami team playing a representative team outside the state."

Skalaski said that if some musical units could be arranged, there would be a parade through South Miami prior to the game.

The 29-member Waycross team will arrive Thursday afternoon and receive a police motor-cycle escort from the Broward County line to South Miami City Hall.

The contingent will be greeted there by South Miami Mayor Paul U. Tevis and members of the City Council and receive orange juice and cookies.

Coming from Waycross will be the team, Waycross city officials and Georgia's entrant in the Miss America pageant.

The Georgia team members will stay with members of the South Miami team at South Miami homes and go on a sight-seeing tour Friday.

Prior to the game, the Georgians will practice at UM football practice field and be introduced to members of the U. S. Naval Academy team which also is practicing at the University field in preparatiq for its Orange Bowl game Monday with University of Missouri.

Following the South Miami game, a banquet for both teams will be held at 2 p.m. Sunday at Suniland Shopping Center.

Monday, Jan. 2, one or both teams may be admitted to see the Orange Bowl game.

Proceeds from the game will go to the March of Dimes. Sponsor of the game is the Dade County Civitan Club, with the South Miami Civitan Club doing much of the work.

A PUZZLED POOCH is Socks, the family pet of the E. L. Throssells, as he looks back over his shoulder and wonders what kind of a mail box this is. It's simple, Socks. It's a mail box decorated for Christmas. What Socks doesn't know is that almost all of the residents at Pine Acres decorated their mail boxes this Yuletide season. The Throssells, for example, dumped a barrel over their box, draped a sheet around it, put in acorns for eyes and a nose, a red ribbon for a tie. And you've got a snowman in the sunny Southwest section!

Spanish, Science And Music Honoraries Tap Many New Members

By LESLIE GROSS
Coral Gables High School Junior Red Cross gives help each year with baskets of food as gifts. Their contributions have made the lives of hundreds happier on Christmas Day. This year they contributed to the county-wide drive for stuffed toys to be sent to the Key West area.

Tri-Hi-Y gave a Christmas party for about 50 children of migrant workers in Florida City. The children between the ages of six and eight are in need of both clothing and toys.

Tip - Toppers made stuffed toys which were taken to Variety Children's Hospital to be given to patients ranging from the ages of 2 to 13. These girls also gave a party on Dec. 23 at the La Posada Convalescent Home.

Not to be outdone, Future Nurses bought gifts for needy teenagers in the area.

Three Trophies
Earlier in December, an individual events tourney was held at Gables. Schools from all over the county attended. In this contest, several Gables students from the Public Speaking Classes participated, including Bunny Goldberg, Pam Weaver, Louis Weil and Neila Lipkin. Gables was awarded three trophies for its efforts in the contest.

SMHS Taps Scholars

Land Of Million Elephants

Though troubled Laos is known as the "Land of a Million Elephants," the animals are seldom seen in the royal capital of Luang Prabang. Palace elephants roam at will in near-by forests, and are brought into town only for New Year's ceremonies and special festivals, the National Geographic Magazine says.

L'Allegro, music honorary, with one bake sale already completed and a car wash around the corner, has been busy earning funds for the E. T. Cook Memorial Award. This coveted award will be presented to the band member with the best musical abilities and scholastic aptitude. The selection will be made by Mr. William LeDuc, band director.

Details On Football Banquet
On the night of Dec. 15, the annual football banquet was held. Mr. Bill Gove, the toastmaster for the evening sent the audience into gales of laughter as he imitated "Mr. Kotys on the Sidelines." The evening was highlighted by the introduction of celebrities in the audience. Ray Clark, Billy Williamson and Pat Smith, former stars of Gables squads, were given a great ovation.

Mr. Leonard Brown, backfield-coach from the University of Wichita, also added some hilarious comments on the early football career of Mr. Kotys. Ray Crawford, from the Miami Herald, was on hand to deliver his congratulations to those who were selected as all-city players. They were: first team offense, quarterback, Bruce Fischer; end, Dave Wike; second team, Charles Melly; first team defense, Dick Rutecky, Richard Parsons, Joel Goldman, Jack Card; second team defense, Jim Mansene, Terry Moran.

Bruce Fischer was selected Player of the Year by the Miami Herald.

Standing Ovation
In closing, proud parents gave their sons a standing ovation in recognition of the outstanding year had by the mighty Cavaliers.

Cavaliettes, mimicking Santa's helpers, served at the Football Banquet. Final practice for all Juniors wishing to try out for Cavaliettes will be Jan. 3 and 4. Tryouts will be held the following day.

Crescent Club, in addition to selling fruitcake recently completed another service project—they sealed and mailed over 5000 envelopes throughout the Miami area containing TB Christmas seals.

Gay Reed, president of Future Teachers of America, had an Open House on Dec. 18 for all Cavaliettes and FTA members.

The German Club's annual alumni Christmas meeting was held last Monday at the home of Mrs. Wilson, German instructor and club sponsor. The meeting was keyed by President Ruth Tschumy. Secretary Leslie Gross informed the alumni of the club's past doings, and vice president Jeff Platt helped conduct the rest of the program, including many German Christmas songs. Sylvia von Braut, a German girl, topped off the evening with a talk on German Christmas customs.

Airman third class Jay R. Eitneier, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Eitneier, 5880 SW 20th St., was recently graduated from the Reciprocating Engine Aircraft Course at Sheppard Air Force Base, Texas.

He attended Coral Gables High School and was employed by the Marine Co., Miami, prior to his recent entry in the Air Force.

He came to Sheppard from Lackland AFB, Texas, where he began his basic military training.

Airman Eitneier is married to the Former Miss Judy Ann Sheldon of 3900 SW 59th Ave.

Mexico City's lowest street is more than a mile higher in altitude than the topmost points of New York skyscrapers.

India's Sikhs

India's Sikhs, whose beards and turbans are now familiar in many world capitals, practice a faith that combines both Hindu and Moslem beliefs. Like followers of Islam, Sikhs worship only one god and oppose caste barriers, says the National Geographic Magazine. Like Hindus, they eat no beef and cremate their dead.

Ever think your son had an unusual hobby? Well, so does Mrs. V. H. Ormsby, 1336 Obispo, whose son, Alan, 13, has been a cartoonist since he was in the second grade.

Alan first got the cartooning bug from television and comic books. He started drawing his own comics, which became quite popular among his friends. While still in elementary school, Alan drew cartoons for posters and his school paper.

Always looking for new outlets for his ideas, Alan and his friends put on a series of comedy shows in his garage. "My brother's pet rabbits and guinea pigs furnished most of the ideas for my characters," he said.

Comic Magazine
Upon entering Ponce de Leon Junior High, Alan began putting out the "Children's Weekly," a comic magazine which he sold for 10 cents. This proved so successful that he started other magazines, sometimes doing as many as eight at one time. Only one "monster magazine" met with ill will when the school's principal objected to its distribution.

Alan's main character, "Fistix," was created from a fad in his tenth grade homeroom. Taking the face from the expressionless puppets drawn on fellow students' hands, Alan added a body and sarcastic sense of humor and a new personality emerged.

Gables Junior
Now a junior at Coral Gables High School, Alan is working on a new cartoon book, "Gaff," to be sold around Coral Gables every two weeks. He plans to hire newsboys to help him with distribution. He is also taking orders for humorous Christmas cards.

Alan is saving his money to buy a ditto machine so he can print his own publications to save on outside printing costs.

Although he has never sold any of his cartoons to a professional publication, Alan's future plans include "either being a syndicated cartoonist or owning a publishing company."

UM Purchases 30,000 Books on Economics

More than 30,000 books on economics and related subjects have been purchased by the University of Miami Library from the John Crerar Library of Chicago.

Dr. Archie L. McNeal, UM director of libraries, said the important purchase was made possible by a gift from the late Meyer Gold.

The collection was made available to UM when the Crerar Library reduced the scope of its general collection to specialize in science and medicine.

"These additional volumes will add historic depth and geographic scope to our present collection," said Dr. McNeal. "An acquisition of this type is particularly important to our relatively new library, which lacks many of the out-of-print works obtained through the years by the older institutions."

Most of the new acquisition consists of works published in the nineteenth century, but at least one volume dates back to 1576. Many bound volumes of periodicals are included and at least five languages are represented.

Jay Harrison Named To Post At Peddie School

Jay Harrison, son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Harrison, 714 Calatrava Ave., Coral Gables, has been named president of The Press Club of The Peddie School in Hightstown, N. J. The announcement was made by John Cuyler, master in charge of the club's activities.

The organization is responsible for press coverage for all the school's major athletic events. In addition, Harrison is also a member of the College Advisory Club and the Peddie Glee Club.

Grizzly Diet

During its 20 to 30 years of life, a grizzly bear may eat anything from ants to beached whales, the National Geographic Magazine says. It relishes meat, fresh or carrion, but devours considerably more vegetation. To break the winter fast, a grizzly begins on new grass, grazing as contentedly as a cow.

AIRMAN Paul E. Blais, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Blais, 9430 SW 30th Ter., has completed his initial course of Air Force basic military training at Lackland AFB, Texas. He has been selected to attend the technical training course for Control Systems Mechanics at Sheppard AFB, Texas.

Why Was It Defeated?

It would seem that the desire for impeccable moral standards in government would smooth the way for any reform introduced to an elected political body.

For that reason it is hard to accept the decision of the Coral Gables City Commission to reject the proposal offered by Commissioner Joe Murphy last week.

Commissioner Murphy asked the Commission to consider legislation to tighten up the conflict of interest provision of the City Charter.

Anyone reading this provision as it stands today can see quickly that it is vague and insufficient to serve the idea that men holding political office should not be allowed to make decisions concerning matters that could benefit them personally.

The charter provision was written in the 1920's in the era of laissez faire and wheeling and dealing in Coral Gables. Those days have gone forever, although some people in Coral Gables insist on acting as if they are still here, an attitude that has worked a hardship on this city more than once.

In rejecting the reform offered by Mr. Murphy, the Commission argued that the Charter provision is adequate as it now stands. A simple reading, as mentioned before, will show that this just isn't the fact.

A tighter conflict of interest law, such as advocated by Mr. Murphy, would have helped prevent one of the scandals and lingering sores in this community. We refer to the much-publicized Blount case.

To refresh the reader, the Blount conflict grew out of a decision of the Commission to re-assess local property to the advantage, in several cases, of elected officials. They attempted to get around the conflict of interest angle by ordering Tax Assessor Tommy Blount to put the tax reductions into effect. However, Mr. Blount refused to order the tax reductions on the grounds that they were not justified. He was demoted for his pains and the reductions were put into effect anyway.

It can be concluded from these circumstances that the Charter's conflict of interest provision as it now stands is easily circumvented. The Blount case, a classic one, is only one instance where a tighter provision was called for.

When the City Commission rejected Commissioner Murphy's proposal last week, it did nothing to enhance confidence in local government and it did nothing to hasten the death of the slow-dying every-man-for-himself attitude that was the byword of the boom and bust days of Coral Gables.

One would think that any law which bolstered honesty in government would be quickly enacted by any well-meaning group of elected officials. Instead, the City Commission turned aside this opportunity with sophistries and evasions. Those who voted against the move in effect refused to contribute to better local government.

Remember The Times

25 Years Ago

Coral Gables City Manager Gene Williams, returning home from Kent, Ohio, brought with him the five new busses the city had bought to modernize its transportation network . . . While Miami police arrested 32 persons for breaking the law over the holidays, Coral Gables notched a perfect record of no arrests . . . The First Presbyterian Church of Coral Gables was dedicated . . . Babs Beckwith, a former Gables' resident, was fast becoming a top New York model. Her picture had appeared twice on the cover of a prominent fashion magazine.

10 Years Ago

The first baby born in Coral Gables in the new year of 1951 was Joan Carol Wiener, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Wiener. The baby was delivered during the early morning hours of Jan. 1 . . . Miracle Mile, a mecca of merchant's shops, turned into "A Mile of Dimes". Collecting money for the March of Dimes, the Coral Gables Jaycees planned to mark off with tape on the Mile each dime contributed . . . Mrs. C. W. Munson, the first president of the Coral Gables Civic Club, was guest of honor as the group observed its second birthday . . . Coral Gables police and the Coral Gables First National Bank teamed up to remind forgetful drivers that their meters were running out of time. Each person who paid his parking ticket at the station was presented a "time reminder" with a built-in clock that indicated how much time remained on the person's meter.

South Miami

Roundup

By EDWIN KNIGHT

THE WEEK AFTER CHRISTMAS—a time for parties, parades and post-season bowl games. South Miami has seen plenty of parties and a few parades. This year for the first time it will host its first bowl game, a scrap between two 115 lb. teams before a capacity crowd at South Miami Junior High Field.

A BOWL GAME, whether it be between college or midget teams, is good for any city. One of the teams to play in South Miami's bowl is from Waycross, Ga. The other is from South Miami. City officials are going all out to welcome the visitors, show them a good time and make more and better plans for next year's game.

BUT SOUTH MIAMI wouldn't be having its bowl game had it not been for a Coral Gables police officer. He's Charlie Skalaski, who aside from being a police officer, is South Miami's recreation director. In his spare time he attends University of Miami. He's a big man. He weighs well over 200 lbs. and he's tall. He smokes cigars and talks fast and excitedly, especially when his subject is sports and youngsters.

I CALL HIM BIG Charlie. He's a busy man, going night and day to keep up with life and there doesn't seem to be an end in sight. He's a native of Bridgeton, N. J., and he is Coral Gables and South Miami. His first love is sports, though, and his second love is working with kids. Combine these two loves and you have one of the finest recreation directors any little town ever had.

CHARLIE CAME TO CORAL Gables on a UM scholarship. But this was in 1945. He has been a policeman for 11 years and South Miami's recreation director four years. He does his squad car riding at night and his sleeping by day. In the afternoons he is South Miami's recreation director.

IT'S A TOUGH LIFE for any man. But Big Charlie is a born recreation director. South Miami's are glad he is. Since coming to the city he has organized South Miami, Dade County and Coral Gables youngsters into organized teams in nearly every sport. There are over 400 boys and girls on baseball and softball teams and some 150 adults on softball teams.

IN FOOTBALL, BIG Charlie has some 160 youngsters in pads and helmets playing honest-to-goodness tackle. In basketball, there will be approximately 175 adults and boys running down the courts this winter. Even South Miami's colored youngsters are given a big hand. Charlie has a recreation director at Lee Park, where probably the only Negro midget-size bowl game in the country will be played this weekend.

ASK CHARLIE WHY he is doing all this and the answers seem evasive and modest. Charlie came from a poor family. There were few organized sports when he was growing up. When a lad played football he did so at the risk of life and limb. They were just a bunch of kids in a littered street with a borrowed — or stolen — football.

THE BIG BOYS WON the games and the little fellows were beaten. There were no such things as weight divisions, pads, helmets, referees or bowl games. There were no backslaps if games were won. Their parents punished them if their clothes were torn after games. "I want to help these kids have something I didn't have when I was growing up," he explains modestly.

"KIDS HAVE ENERGY to burn. If they don't expend it on the playing field, they'll do it in stealing bicycles or breaking into stores," he added. "Show a boy what fun there is in sports and you show him a way of life." How about the boys in Charlie's home town who belittled football and baseball as kids' stuff? Many are in prison now—and Charlie never forgot.

BIG CHARLIE BEGAN his recreation work in Coral Gables. After police duty he helped in the afternoons and at night with baseball and football at Coral Gables Youth Center. The Center then was at LeJeune Road and Andalusia. He wasn't paid. He did it because he liked it. He wanted to help the kids.

LATER CHARLIE HELPED improve the Police Benevolent Association athletic field at Coral Way and SW 74th Ave. It is known today as Coral Gables Stadium. It was Charlie who went before the Coral Gables Commission to have the city lease the land to PBA, and it was Charlie who put the bite on Arthur Vining Davis for money to fence in the property and lay pipe for a sprinkler system.

WHEN CHARLIE CAME to South Miami, the city had little to offer youngsters, adults or senior citizens. Today, South Miami has more than enough recreation for South Miami's. Actually, about 60 percent of those in South Miami's programs are not South Miami's at all, but County residents.

ANOTHER FIVE PERCENT are Coral Gables residents and the remaining 35 percent are South Miami's. For as long as Big Charlie has had organized football in his program he has wanted a bowl game. He had an outstanding team this year, saw the opportunity for a bowl game and grabbed it. In a speech before the Dade County Civitans, he outlined his plan.

HE TOLD THEM THE COST would be negligible, because the visiting team would pay its way. The Civitans agreed to sponsor the game, with the proceeds going to the March of Dimes. Next Charlie had to find the visiting team. After talks with other recreation directors and friends, Charlie got his visiting team.

CHARLIE IS PROUD of his work. He's proud of the boys, too, and the cooperation from the parents. "The thing we need is a field house or a recreation center to round out the program," the big man said. South Miami's want the recreation center, but more than that, they have Charlie Skalaski.

Invitations to a "sho 'nuf Southern breakfast" for Monday, Jan. 2, 10 a.m. to 1 p.m., were sent to friends of Jane and George Wilson, whose large Florida room with its wood burning fire place and rotisserie hard by the family pool of the same size will be the setting.

and perhaps some rice, too. So you'll plan to be here to help spread the joy and you'll make us Cracker folks mighty glad we know 'ya."

The invitation says, "There is an old Southern custom that to start the New Year off properly, you must eat hog jowls, black-eyed peas and rice. The jowls are symbolic of joy from the first two letters of the word. The peas, by the same first letters, means peace. And the rice means riches. Since some of our friends might think us Cracker folks are a bit primitive, we promise not to cook the entire jaw bone, teeth and all. And so for those of you who may be a bit squeemish, there will be no teeth snapping at 'ye out of the kettle. So we plan to serve you "sissies" a neatly trimmed ham, instead. But we'll have black-eyed peas

HOLIDAY GUEST OF THE DEMPSEY'S

Mr. and Mrs. George Dempsey, 1321 Blue Rd., have as their holiday guest, Mrs. Dempsey's son, Dr. John T. Hammack of Washington, D. C. Dr. John, on the medical staff of the Walter Reed Hospital in Washington, says all he wants to do is swim in the family pool while here. He will, however, during his two weeks vacation, take a flying trip to the Grand Bahamas.

CHRISTMAS PRESENT FOR THE DEZELLS

Sweetest Christmas present for Mr. and Mrs. James R. Dezell, 420 Caligula Ave., was the birth on Dec. 8 of their daughter, Lisa Susan. "Even brother Jimmy was pleased," Joan, his mother, writes.

THE PRESSLEYS RETURN TO FLORIDA

Jack and Helen Pressley and their son, Milton, long time Coral Gables residents, have returned to their native Florida, after several years residing in Texas, then California. They are arriving this week for a visit and will be the houseguests of Dr. and Mrs. E. W. Cullipher of 2800 Seminole St. while here.

Christmas day was spent in Tampa, where they now reside at 2901 Alline Ave. Helen's mother, Mrs. Jesse Daughtry, of Tampa, was hostess for the family Christmas dinner, which included her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Andy Houston, of 709 Majorca Ave., and Jack's mother, Mrs. C. MRS. GARY RAY FOSTER

White Is Wedding Theme

An all white motif with Holland lilacs at the altar and white candles at the pews of the First Methodist Church of South Miami was the setting last evening for the wedding of the former Lyle Jean Speer and Gary Ray Foster.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sim Lyle Speer, 11090 Snapper Creek Rd. The groom, 9760 Coral Way, is the son of Mrs. R. H. Fletcher, 750 Gonzales Dr., Parkmerced, San Francisco, and the late Wayne G. Foster.

TALKING THINGS OVER with his two proteges, Sir Echo and Danny, is Johnny Jones, popular ventriloquist, who often appears at children's parties in the area.

Little Johnny Stands Tall Before Children

By BOB DAVIS

Children at birthday parties usually stand taller than 4 foot 6 inches Johnny Jones, but the midget ventriloquist becomes a giant in their eyes when he begins his routine.

For the past three months, Johnny Jones has entertained Coral Gables children with his sleight-of-hand as well as his dummies, Sir Echo and Danny. Jones puts it this way, "The kids enjoy my act all right, but my secret is that I'm as old as they are. If it's a 4-year-old group then I act like a 4-year-old and before long the kids accept me as one of them."

However, identification has its drawbacks. "Children are wide-eyed and serious when I begin the act, but once underway, one kid'll holler out, 'Oh, heck anybody can do that.'"

"In that case I'll call the child up and after he fails I'll demonstrate it for them," says Jones in a mellow tone.

A 38-year-old who weighs 95 pounds, Jones performed at clubs and schools in North Dade until approximately three months ago when he circulated a classified advertisement in the TIMES.

With one job leading to another, Jones says that becoming a Coral Gables birthday institution would be just fine with him.

Nevertheless, a good part of Jones' work is traffic safety promotion with school children. He charges no fee for these performances which he conducts at Dade and Broward schools.

Sir Echo

"My safety boy is Sir Echo who is dressed in a khaki uniform and wears a AAA badge." (Jones refrains from referring to his figures as dummies.)

A member of Hallandale's Lion Club and Chamber of Commerce, Jones has been living in South Florida for two years. He and his father make their home in a house trailer.

Though his parents, brother and sister are of normal height, Jones says he was short-changed.

Explaining it through Sir Echo, Jones says, "You know why you are so small? Because you were born in the depression, ha, ha, ha." Jones smiled warmly, "That's the kind of stuff that always get the kids to laugh."

Six Units On Valencia Will Cost $34,000

A six-unit, $34,000 apartment building is planned in the 300 block of Valencia by Robert W. Bennett Jr., of Miami.

The two-story building, designed by H. L. Keck, will have four one-bed, one-bath units and two studio apartments.

Woman Files Suit Against Coral Gables

A Southwest section woman, who did not like the way Coral Gables police treated her after an accident on Aug. 8, 1959, is suing the city for more than $5000 damages.

Rose Gloria Fasany, 41, of 1670 SW 10th St., has filed suit in Circuit Court.

The defendant had been charged with intoxication following an accident at 1542 Sevilla, the home of Col. Hugh G. Culton.

Forefeited Bond

She later forfeited $10 bond when she failed to appear in Municipal Court on the charge.

The driver of the car, identified as University of Miami student Kenneth M. McNeil, 20, of 735 Escobar, was charged with careless driving and driving without a state driver's license but was found not guilty of the first charge and fined $10 on the license charge in Metro Court.

The defendant charges that she was refused medical treatment at the station, but Gables police at the time said she refused treatment for a minor laceration of the leg.

Failed To Turn

According to police records, the driver failed to turn at the intersection of Country Club Prado and Sevilla while southbound on the Prado at approximately 12:30 a.m.

The car struck two trees at the Culton residence. McNeil was attempting to back out when Officer Henry J. Purcell arrived to investigate.

Question: Do you sell and recommend sightseeing tours?
Answer: We sincerely feel this is the only satisfactory way for a "first-time" visitor to get his bearings in any new city. If time is short, a tour permits the most worthwhile visit too.

MIRACLE MILLIE

Christmas was wonderful! Now the only thing I really have to do this week is to grow a pony-tail before New Year's.

COPYRIGHT MIRACLE MILE MERCHANTS ASSN.

Eight Winners Named For Store Decorations

Eight winners in three separate Christmas store decoration contests were announced this week by South Miami District Chamber of Commerce officials. Prizes include blue, red and yellow ribbons.

In the store front decoration contest sponsored by the Chamber's Business and Professional Division, winner was the Crossroads Building. In second place was Red Shutter, Inc., Women's Apparel, 7184 Red Road. In third place was Roberts Men's Store, 5857 Sunset Dr.

Window Contest

In the window decorations contest there were two categories, those windows professionally decorated and those not professionally decorated.

Winner of those windows professionally decorated was Diane Lingerie, 7196 Red Road. In second place was Reichert Opticians, 5746 Sunset Dr.

Non-Professional

Winner of those windows non-professionally decorated was Phillis Kapp School of the Dance, 5838 SW 73rd St. Second and third place winners, respectively, were Artiste Florist, 7310 Red Road, and Toni's Children's Wear, 5748 Sunset Dr.

Presentation of the ribbons will be made this week, according to H. W. MacDonald, Chamber of Commerce manager. Judges in the contest were members of a local civic club.

Stranger Stabs Man On Stroll

James E. Grevitt, 39, of 5215 SW 116th Ave., was walking along near the intersection of Bird Rd. and SW 97th Ave. the afternoon of Christmas Day when an unidentified man walked up to him and stabbed him in the side.

He was taken to General Hospital in Coral Gables for treatment of the stab wound.

Grevitt told Coral Gables police that he had never met the man and no words were exchanged between them before the attack took place.

The assailant, about 35, looked as if he was mad at the whole world, Grevitt told police.

Gables Church To Show Series Of Travel Films

A series of five motion picture lectures entitled "The World Around Us," are planned at the Coral Gables Congregational Church. The programs will be narrated by explorers, life-science or world travel authorities.

"The America Columbus Knew" is the first lecture. It will be given on Wednesday, Jan. 4, and will be narrated by Arthur Twomey, director of the Division of Education at Carnegie Institute in Pittsburgh. Twomey is also an explorer and scientist.

Car Struck While Parked In Driveway

Autos know no sanctuary when it comes to accidents.

Georgine L. Walker, 37, of 1250 Bird Rd., found out when her car, parked in the driveway in front of her home, was damaged in a three-car collision early Christmas morning.

It all began, according to Gables Officer Charles M. Harris, when Albert Glick, 32, of 6853 SW 28th Ter., and Margaret B. Howell, 54, of 5900 SW 42nd Ter., were eastbound on Bird shortly after 3:30 a.m. that morning.

The Howell car, Harris said, cut into Glick's lane and the two cars collided.

The impact caused the Howell car to go out of control, knock down a tree and crash into the Walker car, parked in the driveway.

Estimated damage to the Howell car was $100 and $75 to Glick's, but the parked car was more seriously damaged.

Speedboat Pilot Gets TV Spot

Al Mims, 115 Zamora Ave., a 43-year-old salesman, will be one of the featured speedboat pilots in the nationally televised Orange Bowl Regatta on New Year's Day.

An hour of the closed course portion of the regatta will be carried by CBS - TV Jan. 1. Mims' class, the very fast 266 inboard hydroplanes, is included in the show.

Mims will drive his "Lil' Abner", a 120 miles-per-hour hydroplane powered by a souped-up Chevrolet engine.

It will be quite a step up the ladder, speedwise, for Mims who last year drove a 50-mile-per-hour inboard runabout in the regatta.

He will meet some of the world's finest hydro planes in the New Year's Day marine spectacle.

Florida's current tangerine crop is reported to be the most bountiful in many years.

The film deals with Central America highlighted by the Mayan ruins, Tegucigalpa, a modern city reached only by plane, and the great banana plantations.

Tour Of Italy

Stan Walsh will narrate the second lecture, "Tuscany, Italy's Golden Province," Wednesday, Feb. 1. He served as a mission photographer during World War II and lived in Europe for five years during which he produced this film. He shows Florence, San Gimignano and its medieval Manhattan Skyline, Michelangelo's Marble Mountains of Carrara, the colorful Vineyards of Chianti and the Midwinter Carnival at Viareggio with the world's largest papier mache floats.

The floating gardens of Xochimilco, Panoply of the Bullfight and newly built University of Mexico are brought to the screen by Arthur Dewey in the third entitled, "Mexico, Where Time Stands Still." Dewey, a Cleveland executive, turned to photography as a means of relaxation and became a top professional. This third lecture will be given Wednesday, March 8.

Fourth Lecture

"Israel, Past and Present," is the topic of the fourth lecture, Wednesday, April 4. The film traces Israel through 3000 years of development, from its colorful past to its modern cities.

The last lecture deals with Nepal, in the Himalayan mountains. Its narrator, Earl Brink, has been travelling since 1936, visiting 108 countries and taking more than a half million feet of color film. The lecture will be given in the church, 3010 De Soto Blvd., at 7:30 p.m.

All the lectures will be given in the church, 3010 De Soto Blvd., at 7:30 p.m.

Coral Gables Jaycees Seek Outstanding Young Citizen

Do you know someone who could fill the shoes of George Washington and Thomas Jefferson? If so, the Coral Gables Junior Chamber of Commerce is interested in your nomination. The Jaycees are accepting nominations until Jan. 16 for its annual "Good Government" Award and "Distinguished Service" Award.

And you can nominate some worthy man you know for either award. He doesn't have to be a Gables' resident, but his civic efforts should have been directed toward that city and not another area.

If you know a man who you feel has contributed the most towards the improvement of government in Coral Gables, then you can nominate him for the "Good Government" Award. Last year's winner was Gables City Manager L. W. Robinson, Jr.

If you know a man who has contributed the most toward improvement of his community and is 35 years old or younger, then he's eligible for the "Distinguished Service" Award. Last year's honors went to attorney Frank Guilford.

If the person you nominate wins, he'll be the guest of honor when he receives the presentation during a banquet Jan. 19 at the Coral Gables Country Club.

Your nominations can be sent to this address: Larry Adams,

Coral Gables Junior Chamber of Commerce, 50 Aragon Ave.
