Kiwanians Study Aid to Agriculture

Conservation Of Soil Seen Important Step

Henry Clay Anderson, president of the Coral Gables Kiwanis Club, today announced that an eight-point community agricultural program will receive consideration of the club.

The program is similar to that to be carried out in 2,260 communities having Kiwanis clubs. The necessity for and details of the program were announced May 9 at Richmond, Indiana by Ben Dean, of Grand Rapids, Michigan, Kiwanis International president.

"The Kiwanis International officials decided that the appalling loss from floods and soil depletion, estimated at nearly a billion dollars a year, is a symptom of the greatest agricultural problem confronting the Riviera," Anderson told the members.

"The first step in carrying out the program will be to determine what Kiwanians, as business and professional men, can do to further conservation of the soil."

Other phases of the program include:

2. Encourage the application of modern farm management methods, such as diversification, crop rotation and proper land use.

3. Encourage practices which will reduce production costs, increase yields and assure profitable family farms.

4. Develop in the community a wide interest and pride in agriculture.

5. Encourage farm youth in their study of modern, efficient farming and soil-rebuilding practices.

6. Assist farmers in obtaining adequate markets for their products.

7. Assist returning veterans from the farm to become re-established on farms.

8. Develop a spirit of co-operation among business, industry, finance and agriculture.

Anderson said that the first step toward implementing this program would be a get-together dinner in the near future, at which representative farmers and businessmen of the community would be invited guests of the meeting.

A highlight of the meeting will be the showing of the motion picture "It Can Happen Here," which graphically presents the selfish interests of all citizens in the conservation of the soil—our greatest economic resource.

Members of the Kiwanis Club committee of agriculture are James E. Linley and Hans R. Wedemeyer.

Anderson Reported Victim of Crash

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Anderson, 318 Mendoza Street, were advised by Navy officials this week that there is no hope that their son, Robert Wayne Anderson, aviation electrician's mate 2/c, survived a flight deck collision on his aircraft carrier in April.

He was home on leave about two months ago before reporting for overseas duty on the carrier. He had been stationed at Daytona Beach most of the time since he entered service 30 months ago.

Anderson attended Ponce de Leon High School, and was a radio technician with Pan American World Airways before he went into service.

RAF Officer, Once Student Here, Sees FDR Death Great British Loss

A member of the Royal Air Force who was a navigation student at the University of Miami in 1941 is a frequent correspondent of Mrs. R. L. Ricketts of 4500 S. W. 14th Street. After leaving the University, Flight Officer William T. Fraser served two years in India and was flying missions over Germany when the war in Europe ended.

Written the day after the death of President Roosevelt, his last letter expressed the sorrow with which the people of Great Britain received the news of Roosevelt's death.

"In losing him," he wrote,

French Agent To Address Group Here

The Miami branch of "France Forever" will sponsor a talk by Capitaine Louise DeMontraynaud (above) of the French Army on May 24th in the Coral Gables Country Club at 8:30 p. m.

For four years Capitaine Montraynaud braved torture and death in some of the most dangerous underground work of the war. Five days before the Allies entered Paris her apartment became official headquarters for the underground army and the orders from Gen. Eisenhower's headquarters to start fighting in Paris were received over her secret radio.

Gertrude B. Moore is secretary of the sponsoring group and Suzanne Callahan is chairman of "American Relief for France."

Gables Gunner Helped to Bring Crippled Plane Home

S/Sgt. John J. MacDonald, son-in-law of G. W. Harrell Jr., city fireman, who is a waist gunner on a Flying Fortress, made it possible for his crippled B-17 to reach friendly territory by tossing excess equipment and guns overboard even though he had been hit by a steel fragment flying through the side of his plane.

He is a member of the 486th bomb group, a unit of the Third air division which was cited by the president for its England-Africa shuttle bombing of the Messerschmitt plant at Regensburg, Germany. He holds the air medal with two Oak Leaf clusters.

MacDonald is the father of a five-month old daughter, Anabella Lee, and a twenty-two-month old son, John Jr. who are living with their mother at 3561 S. W. 14th Street.

Popp Promoted To Sergeant

An Eighth Air Force Bomber Station, England—Joe Popp, 21, of 5410 S. W. 8th Street, Coral Gables, Fla., has been promoted from the grade of corporal to sergeant.

Sergeant Popp, who is undergoing pre-combat training in England as a top turret gunner and aerial engineer on an Eighth Air Force B-17 Flying Fortress, is a member of the 885th Bombardment Group commanded by Col. George Y. Jumper.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Popp and was employed as an aircraft mechanic by Pan American Airways before entering the Army Air Forces in March, 1943.

"The people of Great Britain know that they have lost a great friend, a friend who has done all that any man could do to help them through the dark days of 1940 and 1941 before the United States joined in the war against the Axis powers."

He also expressed his opinion that no other man alive today has done more to bring together the nations of this world. "Never before have the United States and Britain been closer to each other than they are now, and we in this country feel greatly indebted to a great statesman and a great American for that."

Gables Clothing Drive Nets 5,000 lbs. for Europe Needy

Nearly 5,000 pounds of clothing were contributed by Coral Gables citizens to the United Nations Clothing Drive, which ended last week. The announcement was made by Mrs. Leo Hall, welfare chairman of the Post No. 98 American Legion Auxiliary, who was in charge of the Gables drive.

Five truckloads of clothing, which had been deposited at the fire station and the American Legion post, were taken to the United Clothing Drive warehouse in Miami, and two truckloads, which were accumulated after the drive had ended, were donated to the Salvation Army.

Reeve Lays 10 Accidents To 'Inadequate' Policing

A series of ten automobile accidents in the past week today was laid to carelessness caused by a "lack of adequate policing" by Capt. Lou Reeve of the Coral Gables Police Department.

"Motorists develop a carelessness in the operation of their vehicles and an inclination to violate traffic regulations when they are aware that there are few officers regulating and controlling traffic," Reeve said.

"If the motorist knew there were sufficient police on duty to enforce the law there would be a considerable reduction in the number of accidents," the police chief said.

All of the accidents were in and about Gables streets and in most cases resulted in damage to one or both vehicles. Only one personal injury of a minor nature resulted from the accidents.

Reeve also asked that motorists reporting stolen cars bring title and license certificates to the station house to assure accuracy in broadcasting details of description.

Rath Wins Cornell Bid Award Assembly Slated Today

Robert J. Rath of 617 Navarre Ave. has been awarded a John McMillen Regional Scholarship in Engineering by Cornell University.

The scholarship amounts to $200 a term, and Rath is eligible to enter Cornell either with the summer term beginning in July, or the fall term beginning in November.

Winners of Regional Scholarships are selected with great care by a faculty committee of the Cornell University College of Engineering, with the advice and assistance of regional Cornell alumni committees.

After the faculty committee passes on the academic qualifications of candidates, alumni committees make first-hand reports on qualities of leadership, initiative and general character.

All candidates are required to take the scholastic aptitude test of the college entrance examination board as an additional measure of their ability.

Annual award assembly of Ponce de Leon High School will be held at 10 a. m. today.

The American Legion, Optimists Club, Women's Club, D. A. R., and other organizations will present awards to winners in various competitions, and school departmental awards will follow. Honor students will receive medals. Mrs. Nell Leifeste will be chairman of the award assembly.

Optimists Club of Miami will award a prize of a $25 War Bond to Darryl McCall, 15, a sophomore, for winning the school oratorical contest for boys under 15. His subject was, "What Makes Men Free?" He also won the county oratorical contest.

The Optimists Club will at its own expense send young McCall to Orlando to compete Saturday for the grand prize in the Optimists' state contest.

City Weighs Liquor for Quarterdeck

Clark Takes Over Swank Biscayne Spot

The City Commission today weighed issuance of a bar and liquor license to the newly revived Quarterdeck Club, swank waterspot located in Biscayne Bay within Coral Gables city limits. The club will be opened June 1st as a registered yacht club by Harold Clark, owner of the Tower Hotel on Miami Beach.

Clark and his attorney, Hollis Rinehart, told the City Commissioners this week that they were planning a thorough remodeling job and that the club would cater to a glass trade, serving food and liquor to the strains of a good dance orchestra.

The City Commission heretofore has established an iron-clad defense against the issuance of licenses for hard-liquor consumption within city limits. The matter was taken under advisement, however, because of the obvious fact that there would be small nuisance probability due to the club's location.

The club went into bankruptcy several years ago when Denis V. Renaud, an important creditor, was named referee.

Addition of a large swimming pool also is contemplated in the renovation plans.

Test Station Hours Cut

5,201 Autos Checked Here

The brake testing and inspection station adjoining the Coral Gables Firehouse will limit its hours to Mondays and Fridays, 8:30 a. m. to 5 p. m. beginning Monday, according to an announcement today by Sgt. Floyd P. Brasher.

The station has completed the inspection of 5,201 Gables automobiles since the April 15 tag expiration, Brasher said.

"The Police Department feels that the car owner has received a definite service for the small inspection fee and that the brake testing, horn and light checking constitute an important safety measure in behalf of the motorist and of the pedestrian," Brasher said.

Vehicles not bearing current inspection stickers subject their owners to a fine in addition to the inspection fee.

Ponce Group Names Steering Organization

Directors were appointed recently as a "steering committee" to guide the progress of the Ponce de Leon Merchants' Association, Andrew T. Houston, acting chairman of the board, announced.

The meeting was the third directors' meeting since the organization of the association.

"Before calling a meeting of members, we want to have at least three or four important matters for their consideration," Mr. Houston continued.

Directors of the association for "the mutual benefit of property owners on Ponce de Leon Boulevard" are Sam Anderson, secretary; Paul Mickler and Carroll Daniels, acting vice-presidents; Leslie Coombes, Frank N. Holley, Byron Spewer, and Lee Gebhart.

Regarding organization of the merchants, Mr. Houston said, "We feel if they're in a group, we can control business for the benefit of all. There is no reason for haste since materials for any building construction cannot be obtained for some time. We will proceed slowly and carefully."

Water Safety Course Starts at Pool

In Miami to conduct a two-week swimming instructors' course which began Monday at the Venetian Pool, is Harry A. Kenning, member of the Safety Services staff of the Southeastern Area staff of the American Red Cross.

Approximately 35 instructors trained in this class will form the nucleus of the teaching staff for the expanded water safety program to be launched by the Dade County Red Cross early in June.

In connection with this program, there is need for many more swimming pools where free instruction may be given. Hotels, clubs, or individuals are asked to give the use of their pools, either for limited periods or all summer.

Persons interested in helping may call Red Cross headquarters, 9-1613.

The Solana Hotel, 116 Alhambra Circle, has been leased by its owner, J. L. Lewis, to Ray H. Brown, owner of the Antilla Hotel, to house an estimated 75 South American boys, who will remain here for a year on Pan American Airways scholarships in mechanics.

Twenty-one boys who qualified for the scholarships arrived from Central America Wednesday, and another group of twenty-six arrived yesterday. They will attend classes in mechanics at Pan American, and if they have filled the qualifications at the end of the year, they will be licensed by the Civil Aeronautics Authority as aircraft and engine mechanics.

Arriving Wednesday were residents of Honduras, Guatemala, El Salvador, and Nicaragua.

Members of the group which arrived yesterday were from Dutch Guiana, British Guiana, Haiti, Venezuela, the Dominican Republic, and the Windward and Leeward Islands.

Counsels of the various countries were present at the airport to welcome them.

Don Peabody Funeral Set For Tomorrow

Don Peabody, prominently identified with the early growth of Coral Gables, died Tuesday at his summer home in Black Mountain, N. C. He was in his 62nd year and was one of the first city commissioners of Coral Gables. He built one of the show places of Coral Gables at 2616 De Soto Boulevard for his home and was a close friend of the late George E. Merrick, founder of Coral Gables.

Funeral services will be conducted at 4 p. m. tomorrow at the Congregational Church, of which he was a trustee, and burial will take place in the Woodlawn Park Mausoleum. The governing board of the Miami Kiwanis Club, of which he was a charter member, will act as honorary pallbearers. The Rev. Carl Stackman will have charge of the services.

Born in Columbus, Ga., he came to Miami in 1919 to become the president of the Abstract & Title Guaranty Corporation, continuing active with that concern until about six years ago when ill health compelled him to retire. He is survived by his wife, Malvina, of Coral Gables; two sons, S/S Wright Peabody and Captain Prentice Peabody, overseas; two sisters and four brothers.

He said he intended to open a separate entrance to the deluxe dining room and to remodel and redecorate the interior. Victor said that he would operate, alone, both the bar and the dining room.

Commission Enacts Ordinance to Force Lot Clearance After Grading, Building

An ordinance designed to preserve the beauty and cleanliness of Coral Gables through the elimination of eyesores on empty lots was adopted this week by the City Commission.

The new law provides for the posting of a deposit with the City "for the removal of debris or excess material" upon the completion of any improvement project and fixes a penalty of $500 fine or 60 days in jail for failure to comply with the ordinance.

The owner of any "block or parcel of land", who desires to clear it of trees, engage in excavation work, fill it in or grade it, must first apply to the City for a permit and pay a fee of two dollars. Before the work starts the building inspector and the City Manager will inspect the site of the proposed work and determine the amount of deposit as a guarantee to the City and neighboring property owners. The guarantee covers the possibility of damage to the sidewalks, parkways, parkway trees, street pavement or other municipal property and "for the removal of debris or excess material upon the completion of said work."

"Debris material should not be allowed to remain as a haven for rats nor as an eyesore to the neighborhood," City Manager George N. Shaw said today.

The commission also adopted an ordinance providing that no wharf in waters in the City or on land abutting thereon may extend beyond five feet outward from the bank and no mooring piles may be sunk more than 25 feet from the bank. The ordinance also provides that a navigable waterway at least 75 feet in width must exist between such piles or wharves.

LET'S BE PATRIOTIC—LET'S NOT TRAVEL

This summer we can enjoy all the fun of vacationing . . . right here in our own Miami Beach. There are good hotels, good restaurants and lots of them . . . night clubs and movie theatres . . . tennis and golf . . . shuffleboard . . . bicycling . . . boating.

You can take a cabana or enjoy the ocean and sunshine FREE for the taking. You will find it just as exciting this summer and less expensive to shop on Lincoln Road, or along any of the other shopping districts as during the winter season. And since our Government has asked us to refrain from traveling we can have fun at home and be patriotic at the same time.

LINES OF COMMUNICATION GROW LONGER and LONGER

Each new mile ahead toward total victory on all fronts lengthens the telephone lines of communications... the lifelines of our Army and Navy. And manufacturers of telephone equipment are still working at full capacity to fill urgent war needs.

That is why there is still a waiting list for telephone service on the home front!

Not until these war demands stop, will manufacturers of telephone equipment be able to convert their plants to the production of new equipment needed to fill civilian demands for service.

Even when new equipment is available it will require considerable additional time to install it before we will be able to serve all who are waiting. In the meantime, by serving war needs first, we are helping to hasten the day when all who want service can get it.

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

GEORGE: "Yes, I certainly would like to hear why you call that an old fashioned idea, Judge."

OLD JUDGE: "Glad to tell you, George. Until recently, a person known as an alcoholic was generally treated as a social outcast. Little if anything was done to understand him or help him. But, during the past few years, medical research and study has developed that alcoholics are really sick people... that there is usually a deep-rooted physical, social or emotional reason behind their behavior. That's why today so much is being done to help them by finding out and correcting the condition that leads them to excess."

GEORGE: "How many folks are there like that, Judge?"

OLD JUDGE: "Well, according to scientific research, 95% of the people who drink, drink sensibly, 5% do so unwisely, at times. Included in that 5% is the small percentage of the sick people I'm talking about."

GEORGE: "That certainly gives me a clearer picture. It's the most sensible approach I've ever heard of the subject."

Success at San Francisco

"Bringing the nations together, if it does nothing else, has made this conference worthwhile," said a spectator at San Francisco. Bringing the nations together has indeed been worthwhile for we see now what keeps nations apart. The difficulty is not a question of who is chairman, who gets how many votes, nor any other detail of organization. It is a question of whether that organization will be governed by moral and spiritual principles or by politics and expediency.

If small nations' demands are based on self-interest, for instance, rather than on principles of justice, they will just be grit in the wheels of a world organization. And if large nations are more concerned with their own interests and prestige than with moral principle the way is not paved for peace.

"We must deal realistically with facts of war," said one of the delegates. "Among the 'facts of war,' replied another, 'are also the principles that are the only sure way to peaceful international life.' The battle for principle must be won at San Francisco, and won without compromise, or the battle for peace will be lost. We must also win the hearts and minds and keep the loyalty of those we work with. The only way to win a battle of principle is to win the other fellow to your principle. Or both must change and find together a higher principle on which to work.

Can this be done? Anything can be done at the San Francisco conference that you and I can do in a family conference. Can we stand firmly for moral principle at the breakfast table and not lose the loyalty of our wife or children? We can, if we will place ourselves under authority along with them—if, instead of dictating to them, we learn with them, admitting our own mistakes. The one high authority we can all accept and work under together is the authority of God. Use this as the key to agreement without compromise at home, and we will have the key needed for success at San Francisco.

Let us satisfy our own consciences, and trouble not ourselves by looking for fame. If we deserve it, we shall attain it; if we deserve it not we cannot force it.

—Seneca.

Fame usually comes to those who are thinking about something else—very rarely to those who say to themselves, "Go to, now, let us be a celebrated individual!"

—Oliver Wendell Holmes.

True courage and courtesy go hand in hand. The harvest men are the most forgiving and the most anxious to avoid quarrels.

—Thackeray.

WALTER LIPPMANN

Report on San Francisco

THERE have been two international conferences going on here at the same time. The big one, for which the United Nations have come to San Francisco, is making remarkable progress toward the formation of a world organization. There are still several important points which remain to be settled, but the will to agree upon them exists and the negotiations are being conducted with high intelligence and ability. The Dumbarton Oaks proposals are shown to have been a sound beginning in that it is proving to be quite possible to improve them substantially without altering them fundamentally.

The other conference here, which has been confined to Great Britain, the Soviet Union, and the United States, has been dealing with affairs in eastern Europe, and particularly though not entirely with Poland. Though some minor differences have been cleared up in regard to Czechoslovakia and Austria, on Poland there is a stalemate. The Yalta formula, as Roosevelt, Churchill, and Stalin left it, was not a clear and firm contract but rather an agreement to negotiate a contract. The negotiations were left to Messrs. Molotov, Harriman, and Clark Kerr in Moscow, and then they were brought here for Messrs. Stettinius, Eden and Molotov. These negotiations have failed, and the Polish question is still, as it always has been, too difficult to be handled by any one but the men of the highest authority and responsibility.

This explains what would otherwise be very puzzling indeed: that while the Polish question has caused a great deal of bad feeling, and has made an atmosphere which would rejoice the heart of Goebbels if perchance he is still alive, it really has not interfered at all with the main work of the conference.

M. Molotov has not threatened to break up the conference if the unreconstructed Warsaw government is not invited to San Francisco. On the contrary, he has been remarkably flexible in accepting amendments which have been put forward as improvements or as making the proposed charter politically more acceptable. Messrs. Eden and Stettinius have not threatened to break up the conference unless the Warsaw government was reconstructed promptly.

The truth of the matter is that none of the powers, big or small, can afford to break up the conference. None of them is in a position to go back to its people and say that because it could not prevail on this or that issue, it has dissolved the United Nations in their hour of victory, and has set the stage for another world war. M. Molotov has known that Messrs. Eden and Stettinius knew he could not force them to renounce the Yalta declaration of purpose and recognize the Warsaw government as it is. The English-speaking ministers knew that M. Molotov knew that while they could refuse to recognize the Warsaw government, they could not reach behind the lines of the Red Army and set up a government they liked better.

Therefore, the angry disputes which have been reflected in the press have never been so serious as they sounded. No one has been in a position to back up his angry feelings with angry deeds. All but a few amateur diplomats and trouble-makers have known all along that the Soviets were too strong and that we are too strong to coerce one another, and that if one set of diplomats could not find a diplomatic solution, others would have to be appointed who would continue to seek a diplomatic solution. Since none of the three powers could quit, since they cannot dream of engaging in a conflict, diplomatic treatment of the Polish question is bound to go on.

The realities of the situation do prevail. They are that while intercourse between the Soviet Union and America is on the plane of ideology and of etiquette as difficult now as it has always been, whether under the Czars or under the Bolsheviks, the vital interests of the two countries are not in conflict.

There never was a time, beginning with President Monroe, when the United States has not opposed successfully the extension of Russian influence in the Western Hemisphere. There never was a time, and Yalta was no exception, when the United States could exert decisive influence in eastern Europe. The permanent facts of international life are stronger than men's opinions, and they have shaped the course of events here at San Francisco. The Russians could not prevent the American republics from dealing with Argentina in their own way, and Britain and America cannot compel the Russians to deal with Poland in our way.

No nation, however strong, has universal world power which reaches everywhere. The realm in which each state has the determining influence is limited by geography and circumstance. Beyond that realm it is possible to bargain and persuade but not to compel, and no foreign policy is well conducted which does not recognize these invincible realities.

Now that we have met the Soviets in Germany and Austria, we have come as a result of our common victory to a place where a meeting of minds, such as we have never yet achieved, is indispensable. Without it, we shall squander the victory, and we shall have no peace. Unless the four occupying powers can find enough men of high ability, steadiness of character, and great resourcefulness to solve the German problem together, the Germans though defeated will be revenged.

By Al Harum

IN A RESTLESS world propaganda runs rampant. Propaganda is the most effective and the most vicious tool in the hands of our enemies. And it can be an efficient instrument of education and good in the hands of our friends.

There's a "bad" connotation of the word "propaganda". Not all propaganda is bad. The church propagandizes against sin. The press agent propagandizes in behalf of his client. The politician propagandizes in behalf of his school of political thought.

But there are those whose aims and objects are somewhat questionable who also propagandize. Sometimes these propagandists are recognized easily; sometimes it is their thought which identifies them.

The peace in Germany has opened the floodgates of propaganda. The astute Germans, groveling in defeat, are anxious to fan a fire on another front. Their most cherished bit of propaganda is the so-called inevitable war we're going to have with Russia. The seeds of this thought are planted everywhere possible in the hope that they will create a school of thought which will finally converge and create the actual circumstances which the propaganda decries.

The political scientists—with object apparent—also have dragged out the World War I ideas: England will never pay. Help, don't hurt, the Germans. Why should we feed Europe? Another propaganda front fought with tooth and nail the idea of the San Francisco conference, have belittled everything attempted there, have foreseen international squabbling and an impossibility of purpose.

Other schools of thought, determined to counteract the undermining character of the vicious propaganda, are spreading the "live together in peace" thought, the "work together" idea, and the "talk it over" principle. All of us should pray for the victory of the latter over the former force.

The average layman would be amazed at the oceans of propaganda which pour into a newspaper office. Much of it is so cleverly disguised as to challenge the detection of its beneficiary. The soap manufacturer propagandizes for cleanliness and the use of soap. On the surface this might appear to be good propaganda. But somewhere in the manufacturer's treatise there might be buried a phrase or a paragraph which points directly to the soap man's own brand of soap.

"Suggested editorials" sent to newspapers often appear innocuous in intent and purpose—but way down there in paragraph three lurks what is known to the profession as "poison".

We don't mean to scare you into believing that everything you read might possibly carry a little barb of poison—but an awareness of that possibility can't possibly hurt any one of us.

At this crisis in human affairs we can only save ourselves by great effort, and the rest of the world by great example.

There are ideas worth dying for. But none worth lying for.

Amiable good will is no match for malevolent self-will—in men or nations.

The story about
THE MAN BEHIND THE MAN BEHIND THE PLOW!

RECORD breaking wartime food production in this State, in the face of shortages in machinery and labor, is a glowing tribute to the Florida farmer... standing side by side with that farmer and deserving similar praise is the County Agent. Practically every Florida county has a County Agent and most of them have his feminine counterpart, the Home Demonstration Agent, as well. For a quarter of a century, these trained agents, selected because of their knowledge of the agricultural problems of the particular county in which they serve, have labored unceasingly at a never-ending educational problem. From the University of Florida Agricultural Extension Service and similar experimental stations throughout the country, from the U. S. Department of Agriculture and from other sources, they have obtained the newest information of value to farmers and they promptly passed along. Through 4H Club work they have reached the farm children.

With the outbreak of the war, they have acted as rationing agents for the government for farm machinery, gasoline and other agricultural needs. The A.A.A. is operative through them, as are many other federal agencies. Problems of farm labor, use of Bahaman natives and prisoners of war fall under their jurisdiction. Through them, the American program to feed the nation, its armed forces and untold millions throughout the world has been vitalized and has been made to work.

And so, we salute the men and women behind the plow... Our County Agents and Home Demonstration Agents, and their chief in Florida, A. P. Spencer, Director of the University of Florida Extension Service.

These men can tell you why the 7TH WAR LOAN is the BIGGEST yet!

YOU ARE being asked to lend more money than ever before—in the 7th War Loan. These men can tell you why. They can tell you of giant ships ready to slide down the ways this year.

They can tell you of a whole new air force in the building—huge new bombers and fast new jet-propelled planes coming off the lines by thousands. They could show you why it is cheaper and quicker to give our Pacific Forces entirely new equipment sometimes—instead of shipping tanks and guns from Europe. They can, in short, show you 101 ways in which your dollars are needed more than ever to bring America's might to its full strength—so that we may crush our foe the faster, make an end of killing, and bring our men back home.

Will you tell these men "I can't afford to buy my share"?

THE GENERALS and admirals can show us why our money is needed—more money than before. But other men can show us something, too. They're the men with twisted, crippled limbs... with clever iron hooks instead of hands. The blind men... the men with scarred, seamed faces. And perhaps worst of all, the men with blasted, darkened minds. They can show us, clearly, how small is any sacrifice we make in lending money. If you have an income, whether from work, land, or capital, you have a quota in the 7th War Loan. Find out what that quota is—and make it!

Miami Army Air Field Maps 'Open House' Program May 27

The huge passenger terminal at Miami Army Air Field, funnel-neck through which the ever-increasing flood of returning overseas veterans is pouring day and night, will be open to Mr. and Mrs. Miami during the open-house program Sunday afternoon, May 27, marking the fourth anniversary of the Air Transport Command.

On the broad, concrete ramp outside, ATC's giant airlines spill a steady stream of returnees onto home soil again after flying the Atlantic. From combat theaters in Germany, Italy, —from African and Middle East bases— from India, the jungles of Burma and outposts in the virtually trackless interior of China, the veterans come after months and in many cases years of service.
