

Robinson Named to Works Post

Former Building Inspector Gets New City Job

Lewis W. "Jimmie" Robinson, Jr., formerly associated with the U.S. Engineers department and the Post Engineers in Trinidad, has been appointed Superintendent of Public Works in Coral Gables.

Robinson was Building Inspector in this city for three years previous to joining the U.S. Engineers in 1943. He continued his job as inspector with the Engineers in Trinidad, and was also in charge of the "turn-over" of buildings from the U.S. Engineers to the Post and Army engineers. After a year and a half, he transferred to the Post Engineers as operation officer.

The Public Works Department is a relatively new department in Coral Gables. Robinson will be in charge of all major construction projects of Coral Gables and the project planning of such construction programs. Repair of all city buildings and the Inspection Department will also come under the supervision of the Public Works Department.

Improvement plans are being worked on for the storm and sanitary sewers in the business area of Coral Gables.—C.G.

Kiwanis Club Installation Is Observed

Frank N. Holley, Jr., was installed as president of the Coral Gables Kiwanis Club at ceremonies held Wednesday evening at the Country Club of Coral Gables.

Other officers installed included O. B. Sutton, first vice president; Denis Renault, second vice president and Harry Rath, secretary and treasurer.

Lieutenant Governor Ed Stumpf of West Palm Beach was installing officer, but turned the honor of installing Holley over to James M. Hoffman, former lieutenant governor and member of the local club.

Henry Clay Anderson, retiring president, was presented with a plaque commemorating his presidency and the achievement cup as the outstanding Gables Kiwanian of the year.

Holley, in his acceptance speech, urged his fellow club members to take a serious interest in the affairs of state and national government to insure the election of competent officials and the preservation of the American way of life.

Former University Student Ferreted Fascists in Italy

By WINIFRED WOOD

Both his success as an amateur detective and his appointment as special aide to a general are credited by Attorney Louis A. Sabatino to the fluency with which he speaks Italian. While serving as prosecutor of the general military court in Naples, Italy, he made use of his knowledge of the native language to question the suspects in a murder case and learn the identity of the killer.

When the British police, handicapped by their inability to speak Italian, were unable to identify the man who had stabbed a Canadian soldier to death and had hidden his body in a shallow grave, Capt. Sabatino came to their rescue and pointed out the murderer. In addition to playing Sherlock on the case, he also prosecuted the criminal.

Sabatino, who is a graduate of the University of Miami Law School, joined the Army in March, 1942. He received his commission at the artillery officer candidate school, Fort Sill, Okla., and then was enrolled in classes at the military intelligence training center at Camp Ritchie, Md.

Upon completion of his training at the military government organization which moved forward with the invading troops

Group Asks Labor Law Be Enforced

Closed Shop Opposed by State Attorney

Copies of a resolution to enforce the closed shop amendment to the State constitution are being sent to local Chambers of Commerce throughout the state with the request that such organizations adopt a motion approving the resolution.

This proposed plan was revealed in an interview with City Commissioner Paul H. Brinson. Coral Gables delegate to a meeting in Ocala last week of representatives of Chambers of Commerce and business organizations from all over the State, which was also attended by representatives of A.F. of L. organizations. The meeting was called by Florida Attorney General J. Tom Watson with the stated purpose of building up public opinion for the enforcement of the "right to work" amendment.

Watson's proposed resolution was revised by a five-man committee, of which Brinson was a member. Then, the revised version was adopted without dissent by the delegates.

"As it stands now, the resolution urges all members of Chambers of Commerce and all employers to renounce any provision in any contracts with labor organizations that have to do with closed shops," said Brinson. "Furthermore," he continued, "it asks them not to make new contracts which include any closed shop provision."

"If public recognition of the amendment by both the employer and the employee can be achieved it will reduce to a minimum cases of violation that have to be referred to law enforcement officers for prosecution," Brinson said.

"And recognition and enforcement," he concluded, "are what we are after."—BJR

Chest Hears Youth Center Fund Plea

Aid of Expert Is Promised by Drive Leaders

Expert aid in operational planning was promised the Coral Gables Memorial Youth Center this week by leaders of the Dade County Community Chest. The Chest leaders also told Youth Center directors that the Center's plea, to be recognized as an independent participating member of the chest fund, would be given careful and sympathetic consideration.

Meeting with the Youth Center directors on Tuesday evening were John Thompson, president of the Chest; Stanley Meyers, campaign director and Donald Eyster, executive secretary.

The Chest executives told the directors that they would pay the expenses of a nationally known youth center expert to come to Coral Gables and help the local board prepare operating plans and a budget to be presented to the Community Chest for consideration.

The offer was made after the Chest representatives had been given a verbal history of the Youth Center, and had been told that negotiations with the YMCA for operation of the center had resulted in a decision to operate independently.

Mrs. S. A. Shikany was named chairman of a house committee to work with Ed Beckham and Betty Ward, directors at the center. Other members included Andrew Houston, Demman Fink, Mrs. Jack Harding and Larry Westerdahl. Byron Sperow was named chairman of the finance committee, assisted by Harry Rath and Paul Brinson.

Mrs. Casanave Heads Division For Red Cross

Mrs. John H. Casanave of 1036 Palermo Avenue, will head the Volunteer Special Services division of the Dade County Red Cross for the coming year.

The appointment of Mrs. Casanave to this important post in the administration of Red Cross was announced by Henry E. Mangels of Miami Beach, newly elected chapter chairman.

Mrs. Casanave will direct the activities of the eight women's volunteer services: production, motor corps, nurses aides, home service, staff assistance, gray ladies, arts and skills and canteen.

Before coming to Coral Gables to make her home while her husband, Major Casanave, now in Hawaii, was stationed here, Mrs. Casanave was active in Red Cross work with the New York chapter, serving as a volunteer in the blood donor service and inquiry and information.

She is a former neighbor and close friend of the national Red Cross chairman, Basil O'Connor. Mrs. Casanave has been active in the Dade County chapter for several years, and last year served as vice chairman of volunteer special services in charge of canteen. During that time she directed the operations of the largest Red Cross canteen service in the entire south, with nine

Marine Sees Father Again After 10-Year Separation

Glad to be with his father in Coral Gables after a ten year separation and many exciting adventures with the Marine Corps, is Daniel A. Marshall, who has seen service at Samoa, Bougainville, Guadalcanal, Guam, New Caledonia, Russell Isles and New Hebrides.

These names don't sound too strange to the major, for he was born in Rangoon, Burma. His father, who now lectures on southeast Asia at the University of Miami, has served for 40 years as missionary to Burma and recently completed his book, "Flashes Along the Burma Road."

Little dreaming that he would not be with his father for ten long years, Major Marshall entered Dartmouth college in '38 to major in sociology but before he could finish his education, the Japs had taken over Burma and his father forced to come to the United States.

Joined Marines At this time he joined the Marine Corps, where he met his brother, Lt. Comdr. John P. Marshall twice, but due to transportation difficulties, he saw his father for only two short days during this long period of time.

Coral Way Group Plans First Annual Meeting

Election of Directors Slated At Dinner Celebration Tuesday

The annual dinner meeting of Coral Gables' Coral Way Association will be held at 7 p.m. Tuesday at Victor's Restaurant, George K. Zain, president, announced yesterday.

"The meeting will celebrate the first anniversary of the association, composed exclusively of property owners on the 'Miracle Mile' four-block deluxe shopping center which extends from the City Hall to Douglas Road," Zain stated.

With Mayor Thomas C. Mayes acting as toastmaster, honor guests will include Guy Ellis, counselor for the association and executive secretary of the Lincoln Road Association; Allen Abess, president of the Lincoln Road Merchants Association and lessee of a 50-foot frontage on Coral Way and M. J. Schwartz, district manager of the Madison Drug Stores, who is flying from Tampa to attend the meeting.

On the business calendar of the meeting will be the election of the board of directors for the coming year. A slate will be presented by a nominating committee headed by Roy Page and composed of Dr. L. D. Pankey and L. D. Llewellyn.

Miss Carlotta Lewis is chairman for the dinner arrangements, assisted by S. E. Giffen and Roy Van Devere.

"In addition to the election, annual reports will be presented and problems confronting the 'Miracle Mile' in Coral Gables will be discussed," Zain said.

Local Leaders Ask Aid in Polio Drive

Full cooperation of Coral Gables residents in the "March of Dimes" campaign against infantile paralysis was urged today by Ray J. Westcott and Richard A. Marshall, Jr., local campaign chairmen.

Collection tins for the dimes have been placed in the majority of Coral Gables business places, the chairmen stated, and Gableites are asked to give as much and as often as possible.

Half of the contributions to the March of Dimes remain with the local chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis to be used for special equipment, hospitalization, transportation, and treatment and care of polio patients. The other half goes to the national foundation for research, education and emergency aid during epidemics.

"Infantile paralysis is one of the most expensive diseases known to medicine," Westcott stated. "Not only does the proper treatment of the disease in its acute stage require constant skilled care of nurses and physical therapists, and frequently expensive equipment, but care and treatment must be continued for months afterwards."

Hospitalization for a single patient costs about $2,500 a year, with some costing less and some more depending on the severity of the attack, he pointed out.

"The Foundation has pledged that no victim of polio shall go untreated for lack of money, regardless of age, race, creed or color," Westcott said. "You can help fulfill this pledge by your contribution to the 'March of Dimes.'"

Hearing is Slated for January 28

Concourse Site Is Selected by Vincent Lombardi

Possibility that a plant for the manufacturing of textiles and textile equipment may be built in Coral Gables was foreseen today with the announcement of a public hearing at 7:30 p.m. January 28, at the proposition by the Zoning Board of Appeals.

Proposed builder of the plant is Vincent Lombardi, 1000 Sunset Road, who appeared before the board on Tuesday to ask a change in classification from C-2 commercial to industrial, to permit erection of the plant on lots 13 through 32, block 196, Riviera section. The property fronts on University Concourse near the intersection of Red and Sunset Roads.

Lombardi told the board that a textile manufacturing center could be located in the Gables industrial area, and that other manufacturers had also indicated interest in locating here. He has long been a manufacturer of textile manufacturing equipment, owning factories in Italy and the United States prior to the war. He proposes to build an air conditioned, soundproof building.

Lombardi stated that the textile business would be ideal for the Gables industrial area, inasmuch as it is relatively noiseless and free from dirt and smoke.

Other action taken Tuesday by the Zoning Board included: Disapproved an application for the establishment of a veterinary hospital in Coral Gables.

Recommended the extension of the building permit granted to the Sinclair Refining Company for construction of a service station at Flagler Street and Ponce de Leon Boulevard.

Turned down a request submitted by G. H. Mulcahey and R. M. Bullman to install a boat storage and repair base at the Tahiti Beach canal entrance.

Referred to the City commission for decision an application of the Boothbay Playhouse to place direction signs at various intersections in Coral Gables.

Recommended approval of a request to mount liras at the rear of lots 43 to 46, block 6, section 1, in connection with a tire business on the property.

AGREEMENT REACHED

An agreement between the Florida Power and Light Company and the city, under which the city will do tree pruning on wire right-of-ways on a cost plus basis was approved in final form Tuesday.

OUR TOWN Hole in the Dyke

By Jim Moore

A representative of the Embry-Riddle School of Aviation appeared before the city commission on Tuesday to ask some help with a problem that has been troubling all of us lately. The Embry-Riddle School is harassed by the housing problem.

It was explained to the commission that the school could train approximately 2,500 students next year if the bugaboo of where to house them could be solved. The commissioners perked up their ears, because 2,500 students would mean something to this town in the way of cash jingling into the registers of local merchants and in publicity.

As a partial solution, the school had the idea of erecting temporary barracks on the lots the institution owns just north of the Coliseum. The school official proposed to put up these buildings with the guarantee that they would tear them down again within a period of four years time. The commission was asked if it would consider setting aside the zoning and building (Please turn to Page 4)

Safe Driving Plea Voiced By Lt. Brasher

By DIANA EPTING
 Lt. F. P. Brasher, who is in charge of the Coral Gables traffic bureau, this week set up a number of safe driving rules whereby it will be possible for our city to go through another year with no traffic fatalities.

Lt. Brasher believes that if people will observe all traffic rules and regulations there is small chance of their being involved in a traffic accident. Special attention should be paid, Lt. Brasher advises, to stop signs, speed limits, various zones, and to hand signals. Proper hand signalling, the traffic director observed, is of paramount importance to the driver of an automobile.

The use of extremely bright headlights at night is dangerous, inasmuch as these bright lights often blind another driver and thereby cause an accident which might have been prevented had the lights been dimmed.

Lt. Brasher would like to take this opportunity to thank the people of Coral Gables for their cooperation in observing traffic rules during 1945, the entire year having no traffic fatalities in Coral Gables. He expressed the desire that the public cooperate with the traffic bureau to insure another safe driving year in 1946.

So far this year there have been eight minor traffic accidents in Coral Gables.

Reader Suggests Chinese System To End Strikes
 Editor, The Riviera:
 I have just been thinking! Now please don't take that remark as your cue to wisecrack that you are glad to learn that I have the equipment for that process.

And what have I been thinking about? Strikes—and how to settle them. The thought was prompted by the good old Chinese custom of not paying the doctor while you are sick. You pay your physician to keep you well, so much per month. Then, in the event of being ill, the doctor is taken off the pay roll.

Dan Tobin of the Teamster's Union gets $30,000 a year for life, plus practically unlimited expenses. Besides which he has, or had, two sons on the pay roll at $10,000. This is a sample of what the hundreds of union executives charge the working man for their services.

Take the G.M. strike for instance. The men have drawn no pay for two months but do the leaders care? Would they be willing to show that they do care by voluntarily giving up their fat pay checks for the good of the cause?

Have the working men considered this angle? Would they dare propose such a thing?

I am convinced that if the system were put into effect we would have very few long winded strikes. The guys who run the unions are working first for themselves and their fat salaries and only incidentally for union members.

I have nothing against labor unions. I used to belong to one myself; but that was many years ago when the United States was a free country and no organized gang could tell a citizen that he could not work until he came across with a certain amount of dough and joined their clan.

But the primary object of this piece is simply to suggest that the fat salaries of union leaders be suspended during a strike.

Many Seek Pro Position At Riviera Club
 With work on Coral Gables' new Riviera golf course progressing at a rapid clip, directors of the new country club turned their attention this week to an imposing list of applicants for the position of club professional.

While naming of the new pro is slated for two months from now, already more than a dozen well-known golf professionals have indicated interest in the post at the new Gables club. Ned Everhardt, formerly professional at the Miami Biltmore Country Club and presently golf manager for the course operated under the Army Air Forces, is among those who have applied for the job.

Would-be Buyers Haunt Local Auto Dealers

By JOYCE EDWARDS
 When can I get a new car? According to Coral Gables Ford, Chevrolet and Dodge dealers, this is the current question. The strikes have held up the expected production, and when the new machines will be arriving remains a deep, dark secret.

R. E. Thiel, Chevrolet dealer, said, "We could sell 1,000 cars right now if we had them." At present there are two cars on display at the Chevrolet show room.

Regular Ford car production of 1,000 cars a day is scheduled for the month of January. However, according to Clarence Hushkamp, Ford dealer, it will probably be another year before every person who wants a car will be able to get one.

Tales of Woe
 Every day people come to see the car dealers with the tale of woe of how they have completely wrecked their cars, and slowly ask, "Can't I have a new car?"

There will be a delay in getting all new cars, regardless of what they are needed for, but before another year rolls by, we expect to see Mr. and Mrs. Doe rolling by in their new models, the dealers said.

McVay Uses Different Voice Culture Method

By FLORENCE KEATHLEY

Charles G. McVay, voice culturist and musician, presents a different personality and phase of training in the field of music. Mr. McVay, who is the choirmaster of St. Stevens Episcopal Church in Coconut Grove, trains voices in a way which insures the utmost development of voice and voice production in a safe and natural manner.

Mr. McVay was invited to Miami last September for the purpose of organizing a boys' choir at St. Stevens. He now has approximately 20 boys under his trainership, but in the near future he plans to enlarge this number to 40. Because it is best to get boys before their voices begin the period of change, the boys in McVay's choir range from 7 to 12 years of age. The choir gave its first performance on Christmas Eve and a repeat performance on Christmas Day.

As a young boy in high school, McVay felt that many fine singers failed to derive the most and best from their voices because they actually did not know how. Thus, McVay developed a strong and sincere way to train people to make the most of their voices and to learn to sing in their own natural voice in an effortless easy way. McVay believes that singing should be as natural and easy and automatic as breathing.

Pursuing his desire to cultivate voices, Mr. McVay experimented and tested for many years, and it was not until two years ago that he found the

Water Safety Course Opens At City Pool

An expanded training program for instructors in water safety will get underway at 6:30 Monday evening at the Venetian Pool, under the auspices of the Dade County Chapter of the American Red Cross. Harry Kenning, Red Cross Field representative, will conduct the course. A specialized course will begin January 28.

The course is a part of the Red Cross' training program for instructors in First Aid, Water Safety and Accident Prevention, initiated by Ray H. Miller, director of Safety Services for the Dade County Chapter.

The review course in first aid opened Monday in Red Cross headquarters in Miami.

The review course is open to all persons who hold current standard, advanced and instructors certificates in First Aid; Miller stated.

final answer. When he did, he was amazed to realize that the answer was so simple that people had completely overlooked it. The formula is to teach a person to sing without letting any interference come into play, that is, to sing in such a natural manner that the best may be derived from the voice.

In 1931 McVay happened to read a book entitled "The New Vocal Art" by Dr. P. Mario Marafioti, who is an Italian voice physician formerly connected with the Metropolitan opera company and with Metro-Goldwyn-Meyer picture studios.

For a year, McVay corresponded with Dr. Marafioti. They exchanged theories and ideas about voice culture, and later in the summer of 1932, McVay studied under Dr. Marafioti. Here he received basic ideas about the voice which served as a foundation upon which McVay built his own theories.

Although he did not attend college to get a musical degree Mr. McVay specialized in his music subjects. As early as high school days he began teaching piano. Later he began his work on the voice, and prior to coming to Miami, he was choirmaster at St. Marks Episcopal church in Johnstown, Pa. He also conducted a school for children's voices. The usual period of voice training is two years.

As the voice is an intangible object, and the teaching of voice is largely a matter of theory, McVay believes that the teaching of singing is the most debatable phase of all art. Mr. McVay's work is unusual because he can

'City Slipping' Reader States

To the Editor, Riviera:

I don't know what has happened to our perfect little city but something has slipped.

I'm writing to complain of the disgraceful condition at the corner of LeJeune and Navarre. I don't know whether it is the newsboys who throw left over papers there, or people who wait for the bus and just pitch the paper away. Whoever does it should be confined somewhere.

We, in this neighborhood, try to make it a nice place to live. My husband has been in the Pacific for two years, and when I came home I found my place a disgrace. But I got out and did the work myself, digging weeds, planting grass and caring for shrubbery my tenants had just let go to ruin.

Another gripe I have is, why are we who pay taxes to pay the police the ones to get called down. I haven't been given a ticket but was called by a policeman for making a U turn on Coral Way. I had seen hundreds of cars do the same, and they still do, so I supposed the rule for that street had been changed. He also doubted my veracity about being parked in the right spot and didn't like it when I proved he was wrong. He didn't know they had extended the parking lines for the post office at Sam's Silver Fleet station.

One policeman told me they didn't try to force tourists to pay fines for if they gave them a ticket they were just ignored by the court. Is that any way for tax payers to have to be treated?

I do not like tourists who are allowed to think they can run the town to suit them. We are fast being taken over by what the Beach has contended with and I resent ruining our pretty city and congenial, friendly atmosphere. That is what we, who have bought homes here years ago, loved about Coral Gables.

I know this will have to be revamped by some one but you can put it anyway you like. Or plaster it over the whole front page as it is.

My husband is a Major in the Marine Corps, hoping to come home to the town he loved but it is going to be a sad awakening I fear.

Sincerely yours,

Ruth K. McCormick

A Message to Investors:

If you are an investor we feel certain you will find our booklet "A Primer For Investors" unusually interesting and helpful.

For example, it discusses in an easy-to-read, informal manner such important subjects as the various kinds of securities, how to calculate yields and the significance of price-earnings ratios. In addition, you will find a concise explanation of the advisability of, and approach to, the diversification of portfolios together with comments on prices and symbols to be found in the daily tables of transactions on the New York Stock Exchange.

Here, too, will be found a study of estates and trusts, as well as vital information on the making of a will, choosing a beneficiary and the naming of an executor.

Thus you will find "A Primer For Investors" an invaluable source book of lasting value. A copy will be gladly mailed on request—without cost or obligation.

OUR TOWN

(Continued from Page 1) regulations to make this possible. There was no discussion. The proposition was refused, politely but flatly.

To some one not familiar with our town, this might seem a strange attitude for a group of city fathers to take. In fact there might even be some of our local residents who would label this action shortsighted or arbitrary. But such is not the case.

During the war years the city commission has been literally besieged by various groups, asking that we let down the bars of our building and zoning restrictions to alleviate housing shortages. Each case was given careful consideration, and in some instances, exceptions were granted because of the emergency nature of the plea.

In no case, however, did the commission go so far as to allow temporary type buildings to be constructed. Nevertheless, in the majority of the cases where the code was relaxed in the name of "emergency" the result has not been satisfactory.

In some instances "houses that had to be rushed through to house war workers", still stand uncompleted. Eventually they will be completed and sold by the builder at a profit. But in most instances, the general character of such areas is not up to the Gables standard.

The Embry-Riddle plea is not a new one. Ben Turner, representing the J. P. Riddle School, sounded the commission out on the same proposition and got the same answer several weeks ago. The University faces the same problem, but is attempting to solve it by the erection of permanent buildings in keeping with the school's new campus plan.

The plight of the two technical schools is well realized. But helping them at the expense of the Gables standards is a solution not to be desired.

As a matter of fact, we have gone too far already in relaxing our codes here and there. The time has come not to look for further loop-holes in the code to allow exceptions, but to strengthen our stand against any trend that would tend to lower Gables standards.

I believe that the city commission fully realizes the necessity to stand firm against any inroads in our building and zoning codes. Fortunately, too, our zoning board and board of supervising architects are aware of the necessity of strengthening, rather than weakening.

Like the famous hole in the dyke, granting small exceptions here and there tends only to weaken the whole structure, and could eventually bring it tumbling down.

Coral Gables future rests mainly on the maintaining of Coral Gables standards. Let's bolster rather than weaken.

Ideology

A boy in school may play, eat, breathe and sleep football. Football is his ideology, for an ideology is an idea worth living for. It is different from an ideal which, too often, is just an idea nobody does anything about until they have to die for it.

This boy (meanwhile, enjoys living in a democracy. But he doesn't train for democracy or feel excited about it, the way he does about football. In fact, he doesn't do anything about it at all until he is 21. Then he may go out and vote once a year. Or, if his country calls, he may go to war and die for the ideal of democracy that he never bothered to live for.

Another chap may not play football but has learned another game. He goes out for personal power or to put what he thinks is his "downtrodden class" on top of the heap. He becomes an extremist of the Right or Left. He eats, breathes and sleeps his idea just as the football player does. And, when it comes to scoring for his ideas, he can put it all over the football player or anybody else who enjoys the democracy he lives in but does not live FOR it.

There was a time when people did live for democracy —when freedom, justice and equal opportunity for all were something worth living for, even more than football. They ate, breathed and slept democracy until, through the American Revolution, they achieved democracy.

To make democracy a lived-out ideology today does not necessarily mean launching another revolution. But it does call for a might renaissance in all our thinking and living.

It means realizing, first of all, that democracy will not work when made up of self-seeking self-willed people. And, that to break self-will, without dictatorship, means inducting an inner discipline. Our forefathers who aunched and really lived democracy, called this "letting God speak to them in their hearts."

If, today, we eat, breathe, sleep and think just when and as we wish, we will be enjoying democracy but not living it. But if, from morning till night, we take God into our councils in every motive, thought and act, we will begin to live our ideology. That ideology, in turn, will begin to touch the hearts of people, and to change their thinking where once—if active at all—it merely shook its fist at them.

Zain Will Retire From Association

Zain has been a generous contributor of ideas to civic enterprises in Coral Gables. He was also the author and originator of many newspaper ads entitled "Why I love to live in Coral Gables," which started in 1937.

In 1941 because of his health Zain was forced to retire from his business, The Zain Advertising System, which he founded in 1912. He chose Coral Gables as his permanent home since 1941 having been a property owner here since 1924. Prior to his retirement he was known throughout the newspaper world for 32 years as "Doctor of Business" because of his work in the U. S. and Canada in helping to solve the problems and increase the business of leading national and local manufacturers and retailers as well as newspapers throughout the country.

In a statement to the Nominating Committee for the election of new Directors of the Association headed by Roy Page, Zain said "I regret I will be unable to accept any post either as an officer or director. My doctor forbids it."

"My forced retirement from my own business in 1941 wasn't easy for me to accept having been active all of my life. After a short period of rest here during which time I was surrounded daily with the tremendous possibilities of Coral Gables, the temptation to help make those possibilities a reality was too great to resist, even at the expense of my health. . . now however, I must cease all activities which I deeply regret as I should like to have continued until the four block street was completed. There is, however, one great consolation, this four block shopping center is built on a firm foundation and is in the hands of its capable and interested property owners, who will I know, carry it on to a successful completion so that it will be for all time a fitting monument not only to Coral Gables but to the entire Miami Area."

"During the year that I served as the Association President, I am proud that the largest transaction in the Miami area took place on our four block street . . . which was the leasing of Sam Weisell's corner for nearly three million dollars to Harry Sirkin, one of Lincoln Road's largest property owners. This and other 99 year leases are now being consummated and which will be announced shortly, clearly demonstrate I am happy to say, that the big investors also share my faith in the possibilities of the four block street.

"I want to thank the Coral Gables Riviera for their willingness and cooperation in keeping the public informed of the plans and progress of the Association since it was formed. They have rendered a great public service to the whole community of which the newspaper is an important part."

Marine Sees Father After Ten Years

(Continued from Page 1) seen in his travels. They were black as ebony and the men had long bushy hair dyed red, which gave them a fantastic look. They were fond of GI clothing and the women or "Marys," as we called them, were quite plump and often wore less clothing than the two-piece bathing suits seen on Miami Beach. They were fond of bright pennies and the GI's bartered with them for grass skirts, which they sent back to their best girls."

Natives Reorganized The Australian civil service soon reorganized the natives into units that aided with the building of roads, malaria control projects, gathering up discarded equipment and building native huts for mess halls, the major explained. After a few weeks of eating the rice salvaged from the Japanese and having medical care and attention, he noticed the natives looking much better. "They were made extremely happy with the junk jewelry that had been sent to the Australian civil service for the express purpose of bucking up native morale. The first movie that was shown on the island was "Stormy Weather," and the natives, who didn't understand it, rocked and screamed with laughter."

At Guam he saw the war buffalo plodding along, pulling the primitive, two-wheeled carts, much to the disgust of the jeep drivers who "were born in the Barney Oldfield tradition."

Beauty Remembered The last and most beautiful thing he remembers about the islands was the sun setting behind an active volcano on Bougainville. "It was Christmas Day and we were leaving the island and many of our friends who wouldn't return after two months of heavy fighting. The luxury of the ship was in tre-

As to future plans, the major is indefinite. He will take a refresher course in business administration at the University of Miami, and thanks to the hospitality with which he has been received here, he hopes that these plans will eventually include a permanent residence in Coral Gables.

COMPOSING ROOM CONFERENCE

There's many a step twixt the copy and the final printed matter. Above you see Artist M. J. Davis' impression of just one of them, in The Riviera's composing room. Both the linotype operator, who has just cast the last line of type, and the boss man watch anxiously as it is lovingly placed in the "form." There it will be "locked up" and sent to one of the high speed presses where the printed impressions will be made.

We pride ourselves, here at the Riviera plant, in seeing that each step in the process of creating printed matter from customer's copy is watched just as carefully. From lay-out stage to bindery, each operation is given the undivided attention of craftsmen who are highly proficient in their art.

Whether your job be large or small, business cards or complicated color booklets, it will receive the same careful treatment in the Riviera's commercial printing division. Our employees, all members of the Allied Printing Trades Unions, are men who know their jobs, with years of experience in the graphic arts behind them.

Printing, done the Riviera way, is your guarantee of complete satisfaction.

Pigeons from Capitol Had Expert Care During Visit

By FLORENCE KEATHLEY

If you were sending an invitation to a water ballet, how would you send it? The usual way, of course, is by mail, but Baroness Mimi Surani did not want the usual way. Something different was required, and her invitation to Governor and Mrs. Millard Caldwell to attend the water ballet at Venetian pools to benefit the AAF hospital and the Cancer Relief Society was sent by carrier pigeons. A novel way to be sure!

At 2 p.m. on Tuesday in front of the Coral Gables Chamber of Commerce, Mayor Thomas Mayes and Baroness Surani released two carrier pigeons which were to carry the invitations to the governor of Florida in Tallahassee. Swooping up to the sky, the pigeons circled the city several times, each time gaining altitude, until they flew out of sight.

Although the pigeons were raised in Tallahassee, Fla., they had to be kept and cared for here until time for the flight back home. Joe Ward, who owns approximately 200 pigeons, offered to house the two carriers. When the time came, he brought the pigeons to the chamber of commerce office and explained to Baroness Surani and Mayor Mayes the art of handling a pigeon so as not to crush its delicate wings and bones.

Outlines Hazards
Ward, who is a member of the American Union for Racing Pigeons and also a member of the Miami Racing Club, explained some of the perils that may befall a bird while it is on flight. When flying in a city, a pigeon is liable to become entangled with electric wires. In this way he may break many bones. If he is flying low in the Everglades, or in any similar place, explained Mr. Ward, his wings may be singed by fires. This is liable to prevent him from ever flying again. While flying in heavy downpours, the pigeon may be forced down, or he may even be drowned. Or perhaps, while in flight, hawks and hunters will overtake the pigeons and kill him. "So you see," smiled Joe Ward, "anything can happen, and you never know until they get home."

Mr. Ward's pigeons hold many records of race wins. Pointing proudly to a certificate showing that "Joe Ward's Loft maintains the highest speed records," Mr. Ward revealed that this was "the one he likes."

Surrounding each pigeon's leg is a metal band which states the date of birth and serial number of the pigeon. The band is clamped on during his first week of life. On the opposite leg is a similar metal band stating the name of the owner and the owner's address.

In reference to the flight to Tallahassee, Mr. Ward expressed his hope that the birds will arrive safely. "At any rate," he said, "we'll know in a few days."

Local Woman's Nephew Directs Tokyo Railroads

By JOYCE EDWARDS

Lt. Col. D. R. Changnon, nephew of Mrs. William Ernest, 1920 Granada Blvd. is now stationed in Tokyo working with the Third Military Railway Service, a letter received recently revealed.

When the occupation of Japan began, Col. Changnon was one of five officers who came in by air on occupation day. They worked to establish a port where they could unload ships and send food to the combat troops. Colonel Changnon was for three months Deputy Port Director and Director of Operations. In this time he built up the operation until he had more than 35,000 men and 145 officers.

"We were discharging and moving, by trucks and rail, more than 12,000 tons of food and supplies a day," the Colonel wrote. About three weeks ago, a big "major port outfit, such as I was in, over in Europe, arrived from the U. S., to take over the operations."

Then he went to replace Brig Gen Mattson on the Third Military Railway, who had to go home because of sickness.

On December 15, he wrote, "I was appointed deputy director and general manager, as such, I control the operations of all of the Japanese railways. The Japs run the road, but we pass on everything they do and actually instruct them in what they shall or shall not do."

According to Col. Changnon, the Japanese railways are well organized, and very modern. In some cases, he says their cars are much better than ours. There are more than 18,000 miles of lines and the traffic is about four times as heavy as any of our railways.

"When I or the general go out we are treated as the emperor would be treated. As we come in to the station, the stationmaster standing at attention and all of the employees lined up behind him like an army. They salute and bow, sometimes I feel rather foolish, but that is the way it has to be," he stated.

Under the present system the railway operates military trains, both freight and passenger. Col. Changnon wrote his parents that he has hoped to be able to come home when he was finished with the work in establishing the port, but he was not declared surplus at that time.

Gibson Heads Fund Drive For Red Cross

Harvey D. Gibson, nationally known financier and philanthropist, will head the 1946 Red Cross Fund Campaign which will be held March 1 to 31 inclusive for a national quota of $100,000,000.

Announcement of Gibson's appointment was made by Basil O'Connor, national Red Cross chairman, who declared that the Red Cross was "exceedingly fortunate to have a man of Gibson's leadership and vision at the head of this greatest Red Cross peace-time fund appeal."

As American Red Cross commissioner to Great Britain and Western Europe from 1942 until 1945, Gibson organized and directed the extensive Red Cross participation in the invasion of Europe in 1944. One of his outstanding accomplishments was the founding of the Red Cross chbmobile service, a major project through the world.

For his outstanding service Gibson was presented by President Truman with the United States award for merit in June, 1945, and he has received honorary decorations from the governments of France, Belgium, and Sweden. Gibson, a native of North Conway, N.H., has been president of the Manufacturers Trust Company in New York since 1931. During World War I Gibson was successively chairman of the New York county Red Cross chapter, general manager of all Red Cross Activities in America, a member of the War Council, Red Cross Commissioner to France, and Red Cross Commissioner to Europe.

"End of the war has brought new challenges to the Red Cross," declared O'Connor. "For the men and women in the armed forces, overseas and at home, for our wounded, for our veterans and their families, and for traditional and pioneering services on the home front, the

Importance of Citrus Cited

The production of citrus fruit is the leading agricultural industry of Florida, representing an investment of from $350,000,000 to $500,000,000, with an average annual commercial rail and boat shipment for the past ten years of 20,356,429 boxes, with a gross return of $42,074,144, from a grove area of approximately 350,000 acres. Some varieties of citrus fruits are produced in practically every county in the State; the commercial crop, however, is confined largely to the central and south portions.

Types range in order of commercial importance as follows: oranges, grapefruit, tangerines, limes, lemons, and kumquats. To those must be added a number of hybrids of increasing importance to the industry. Florida orange shipments have increased from 600,000 boxes for the season 1934-35 to 14,580,603 boxes, rail and boat, for the season 1936-37. Grapefruit shipments increased from 12,000 boxes during the season 1899-1900 to 9,352,859 boxes, rail and boat, for the season 1936-37.

Poet's Corner

TO MY WOMAN
And as the rising sun,
Warms our hearts, and plants
Courage and hope in our souls—

So also, does your smile,
Give me the faith and
courage,
To survive, each, unending
day

Strange; this power of you women,
To shape and determine our lives,
In accordance to your whim
or fancy

And I, as a man, humble and weak,
Yield to your charm and beauty
Without restraint or caution.

And in so doing, I gladly give
My heart, my soul, my health, wealth, life, my all; to you—
my woman

And in the black of night
Creeping and crawling by
I see the tired, battered,
doughboy
Going forth, to die

Former Student Tried Fascist In Italy

tage, counterfeiting and espionage cases which he prosecuted at this time, Capt. Sabatino considers a trial involving 14 saboteurs who buried explosives in a Roman park to be the most memorable.

"We were using the park as a bivouac area," he explained. "American G. I.'s were sleeping, cooking and playing poker right on top of a cache of TNT and dynamite!"

From Naples Sabatino was transferred to Turino, where, as a purgation officer, he supervised the purging of fascists from political and economic positions of authority. He tried the socialist cabinet member Nenni for making a forbidden speech and obtained his written promise to secure the permission of the Allies before making any additional public statements.

In addition to the Cavaliere Officiate of the Italian crown, an Italian decoration which was presented to him in October, 1945, Capt. Sabatino has been recommended for the Maltese Cross. The citation for the Maltese Cross, which is awarded for humanitarian services in the field of medicine, would be based on Sabatino's investigations into conditions extant in prisons and insane asylums in southern Italy.

He secured bedding and medical supplies for the prisons, released five anti-Nazis who had been confined to insane asylums under false registration, and supervised the rounding up of a large number of dangerous lunatics who had been turned loose by the evacuating German troops as a means of creating confusion in the areas invaded by the Allies.

On Thanksgiving Day, Capt. Sabatino returned to the States. Although he is still on terminal leave, he has already picked up the reigns of his law practice in the Vincent C. Giblin office.

"Miami looks good, my wife Virginia looks good, and my office looks good," he stated. "Housing situation and taxes he hanged, it's still wonderful to be home."

that soveith to his flesh shall of the flesh reap corruption; but he that soveith to the Spirit shall of the Spirit reap life everlasting" (Gal. 6:8).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Then spake Jesus again unto them, saying, I am the light of the world: he that followeth me shall not walk in darkness, but shall have the light of life. Verily, I say unto you, If a man keep my saying, he shall never see death" (John 8:12, 51).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science text book, "Science and Health with Key to the Scripture" by Mary Baker Eddy: "This is life eternal," says Jesus,—is, not shall be; and then he defines everlasting life as a present knowledge of his Father and of himself,—the knowledge of Love, Truth, and Life" (p. 410:4-7).

An aged negro was crossing-tender at a spot where an express train made quick work of an automobile and its occupants. Naturally he was the chief witness, and the entire case hinged upon the energy with which he had displayed his warning signal.

The night was dark and he had waved his lantern frantically, but the driver of the car paid no attention to it.

Later, the division superintendent called the flagman to his office to compliment him on the steadfastness with which he had stuck to his story.

"You didn't wonderfully, Rastus," he said. "I was afraid at first that you might waver in your testimony."

"Nosir, nosir," Rastus exclaimed, "but I done feared e'vy minute that 'ere drivin' lawyer was gwine ter ask me if mah lantern was lit."

Honoring Admiral John F. Shaforth commandant of the seventh naval district, and Mrs. Shaforth, Captain and Mrs. Ralph P. Craft will give a tea Sunday afternoon at their home 1264 Coral Way. Sharing honors will be Capt. and Mrs. Craft's son-in-law Colonel J. W. Ernschaw of the Marine Corps, who recently returned after eighteen months duty in the Far East.

Mrs. Herbert O. Vance of 4520 Santa Maria Street will be hostess for the P.E.O. Founder's Day tea to be held from 3 to 5 p.m. Tuesday. The program under Chapter "M" will include a group of songs, some original compositions, by Mrs. Will M. Preston with Mrs. V. D. Goddard at the piano. Visiting P.E.O.'s are invited to telephone their acceptances to Mrs. O. B. Simmons.

Thornton M. Fincher, president of the Century Club and Mrs. Fincher will be dinner hosts to 60 guests at the Country Club of Coral Gables preceding the club dance January 31. The out-of-town guests attending the dinner will be Mr. and Mrs. John Hilton of Pottsville, Pa., Mr. and Mrs. Scott Deming of Indianapolis, Ind., and the Towers Hotel, Miami, Roy Billington and John Johnson of Syracuse, N.Y., Mrs. Ipolito Longhi, Mrs. James Morgan Brady and Ike Kinney all of Boston, Mass.

The building was originally a fort during frontier days. These same walls form the foundation for the hotel which had among others as guests the distinguished Marquis de Lafayette, Sam Houston and Jenny Lind. The building is still in use as an apartment house.

One of the thrills of the Opera Season just past, was Mrs. Lewis Painter Clephane's glimpse into the lives of the Metropolitan stars brought about through her painting the portrait of John Dudley, the "Faust" in the production.

"Faust" posed in his blue velvet robes singing the role that made him famous. Mrs. Clephane who signs her paintings "Rosebud Clephane" invited the other members of the New York cast in on Sunday to view the painting. It met with instant approval.

THE STATE OF TEXAS WILL BE FUTURE HOME OF MR. AND MRS. CRAIN

MRS. ROBERT LEE CRAIN

A dream come true, that of residing after her marriage in the state in which she was born, has come to pretty Mrs. Robert Lee Crain whose marriage to Robert Lee Crain, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald F. Crain of San Antonio, Texas was an event of December first. The wedding of the former Miss Doris Moore Powell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Powell of 6000 S.W. 28th street, and Mr. Crain took place at high noon in the Episcopal Cathedral of St. Philip in Atlanta, Ga., and was witnessed by a small group of college friends of the couple, including Wylie Keck Jr., of Coral Gables a classmate of the groom's at Georgia Tech. The bride chose a cocoa beige crepe afternoon dress with mink fur trimming. Her hat an original model of the same material with mink trim was made by Gladys Winthrop milliner of Coral Gables. Shoes and bag of Lizard matched other brown accessories and she carried pink carnations.

Miss Norma Anderson a classmate and also sorority sister at Brenau College, Gainesville, Ga., was maid-of-honor. She wore a suit of pale coral and navy accessories and a corsage of Gardenias. Immediately following the ceremony the couple left on a motor trip for his Texas home stopping enroute at Gainesville for a visit at Brenau and the Alpha Phi Omega Sorority house, where both the bride and her attendant had lived.

Mrs. Crain came to Coral Gables at the age of four from her native Texas. She attended the Elementary School and was graduated from Ponce de Leon High school. At Brenau College she majored in art.

Mr. Crain attended the University of Texas where he was a member of Kappa Sigma fraternity. Following his release from the Marine Corps in which he served for two years, he returned to Georgia School of

"Two 12-year-old girls sang a two-hour concert program of oratorio, opera and modern song numbers that entertained many beyond expectations." "The auditorium was jammed with a capacity crowd. Many were astounded that what they had heard was not the light, airy voices of children, but the highly cultured tones of trained soloists." From the Johnstown Tribune of November 20, 1928. "Breathing in perfect unison between bars, soaring to high notes with astounding ease, shading their tones to a murmur, the group of 40 children proved that the field of vocal art need not be limited to adults." From the Johnstown Tribune of May 11, 1928.

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS... DICK: "I wonder how the distillers feel about that new movie built around an alcoholic." OLD JUDGE: "It's funny you asked that, Dick... I was just reading a piece about it." DICK: "What did it say?" OLD JUDGE: "A very sensible statement. It said the beverage distillers are fully aware of this problem and are cooperating in every way possible to help solve it. The alcoholic is to the beverage distilling industry what the reckless driver is to the automobile industry. There is nothing wrong with the automobile, but in the hands of a man who doesn't know how to drive it or is reckless, it becomes a menace. Likewise, it's not the use but the abuse of alcoholic beverages that causes trouble." DICK: "Wonder why it is most men can drink moderately and others can't?" OLD JUDGE: "Intensive research at a great university has shown that most excessive drinkers are really sick people. They are suffering from some physical, social or emotional upset. And great strides have been made in developing clinical methods of helping these unfortunate people." This advertisement sponsored by Conference of Alcoholic Beverage Industries, Inc.

Youngsters in Good Form At Tropical Park Workouts

Tropical Park juveniles promise to play a more important part in competition for thoroughbreds of that age than ever before in Florida racing history. Conservative estimates place the number of newcomers at the Gables course at 150 and, in the words of astute clockers they are "the best ever seen" in training over that oval.

During recent days they have been showing sharper speed in trials, in preparation for activity under colors in the immediate future.

Most pretentious of Tropical Park's 2-year-old aggregations is that owned by Frank Frankel, Texas oil tycoon. His Florida division of 14 were acquired, with many others, during 1945, the local lot at a cost in excess of $100,000. Next largest band at the Bird Avenue grounds is that trained by the little New Yorker, Jake Byer. This numbers an even dozen head, the property of three owners. Then comes Hirsch Jacobs with nine, including the first of the get of Sir Lancelot and Henry McDaniel with 5, while the rest are scattered in smaller numbers among numerous outfits.

Names for the Frankel babies already have been selected and, with three exceptions all start with the letter "F," first one in the Texan's name. Two have been named for sons and another pair for grandsons. The Bimelech-Clonasee colt which cost $20,000 will be known to racing as Harding F. This is for his youngest son, a member of our European invasion forces as a sergeant in the Signal corps. Friendly Don is the title given the $11,000 Grand Slam—Nursemaid colt, for the oldest son, a former member of the FBI forces. The dams of both have spent plenty of good winners to the races.

Fearless Ken, an $8,000 Bull Lea—Ruth Hope colt was named for Frankel's oldest grandson and Frisky Tom, a $6,100 Questionnaire—Alouette male, for his youngest.

Second high among the Frankel purchases represented in the Tropical Park division is Frametown, a son of Jamestown and Big Doings, acquired at auction for $18,500.

Names selected for the Texan's other locally quartered 2-year-olds are as follows: Colts—Fact Finder by Rhodes Scholar—Perimeteric. Fairanfit by Hairan—Glitter. Flag O'Peace by Wave On—Weatherly. Flashco by Hash—Contrast.

New Timer Clocks Dogs Accurately

West Flagler
First to Install
Electronic Device

BY GEORGE GALLET

A new electrical timer, in which 1-5 or even 1-10th of a second on the dial is visible to everyone on the track, is being introduced to American racing at West Flagler Kennel club. "Timer" was invented by a Milanian, Richard R. Harris, formerly with Westinghouse. With the new automatic clock, it is possible to time racing electrically at 1-10th, or even 1-100th of a second.

While the old timer works on a 60-second dial, the new electronic apparatus has a 10-second dial, five feet in height. One second of the dial is spread over 18 inches and each fifth is separated by four inches. After each revolution of the dial, ten seconds is registered on a tally board above the clock.

Working entirely automatically, the human hand touches no part of the clocks mechanism during the night's program. The timer resets and prepares itself for the next race automatically. The opening of the doors for the start of the race automatically throws a switch, which starts the clock, while an electric eye at the finish stops it.

The new clock will be greatly beneficial to dog racing. Occa-

A WHISPER is usually more effective than a shout and Lee Bowman seems to be getting results with Rosalind Russell in this scene from "She Wouldn't Say Yes," which will be shown at the Grove Theatre Saturday at 9:30 p.m. and Sunday through Tuesday, January 19-22.

CROSS WORDS lead to crossed swords in "Captain Kidd." Here's Randy Scott and Gilbert Roland vying for the favors of Barbara Britton. Charles Laughton plays the high seas hijacker himself. "Captain Kidd" will be shown at the Parkway Theatre Saturday at 9:30 p.m., and Sunday through Tuesday, January 19, 22.

sionally a greyhound decides to run in the wrong direction after the break, but in such a case the dog's passing through the "eye" does not stop this new clock. The only time the beam of the electric eye is in action is between the time the rabbit goes by the judges stand the last time and the dogs break the ray stopping the clock at the finish. Actually the beam of the electric eye is in action less than 1-5th of a second, insuring nothing to interfere with the running of the clock until the finish of the race.

Harris, who invented the clock, said it took five-years to complete the delicate mechanism. It's a big improvement over the old clock. Harris plans to install the Timer on other dog and horse tracks throughout the United States.

The regular Friday night dance will be open to high school and University of Miami students. It was formerly confined to the younger members, but there are many of the university students who have no place to go, who wish to attend the dance.

Red Cross Names Graham

E. G. Don Graham, former chief air raid warden for Dade County, has been appointed chairman of the Disaster Preparedness and Relief divisions of the Dade County Chapter of the American Red Cross.

Announcement of his appointment was made by Henry E. Mangels, chapter chairman.

Graham succeeds Maj. Gen. Henry W. Baird, USA (retired) under whom he served during the past two years as chairman of the survey committee of the division. He is immediate past president of the Miami Exchange club and is a member of several Masonic orders.

pine Lodge Camp took place last Saturday with Tocassee the winner by 16-14.

The line-ups were:
Tocassee — Betty Arnold, Marty Austin, Shirley Ward, Barbara Fosgate, Pee Dee Dodd, Trix Fosgate, and Emily Gahr.

Alpine Lodge Camp — Jane Smith, Tootsie Aries, Barbara Brown, Rene Lippman, Mary Vance, and Fern Crain.

Patsy Denning refereed. Ponce de Leon's various clubs are now using the rooms at the Center as meeting places each week.

Miss Ward said, "The business at the Snack Bar is a clear indication that the attendance at the Youth Center is growing daily." She is well pleased with the interest and satisfaction shown by the parents. On dance nights many parents come for a brief visit, while others drive over in their cars and watch for a while.

Hydroponics Experiment Yields Super-tomatoes for Local Man

By NEIL SCHIFF

In a few years most of the vegetables we eat will have been raised without the benefit of soil, according to James E. Lindley, 639 Alhambra Circle.

Mr. Lindley bases his theory on the results of successful experiments in hydroponics he has been conducting at his home. Hydroponics is the science of raising fruits and vegetables in water, without soil, by adding the essential chemicals needed for the plant's growth.

Although Mr. Lindley regards planting as just a hobby, he has raised more than 500 pounds of tomatoes in a wooden box which is approximately only eight feet long and three feet wide and which contains gravel instead of soil. In the evening Mr. Lindley merely pumps chemicals over the gravel, lets it drain into a tub during the day, and then watches his family and neighbors pick all the tomatoes they can possibly eat. The same chemicals can be repumped again and again and thus the cost of raising these vines, which produce for four months instead of the usual three weeks, is less than $15. This includes the price of building and waterproofing the box, which is durable for many years.

Read About Idea

"The idea certainly isn't original with me," admits Mr. Lindley, "I got it from reading about successful experiments conducted at Purdue university nearly fifteen years ago."

Although Mr. Lindley's main forte has been tomatoes, he has also successfully raised lettuce, onions, and even roses in the same box, and believes that celery, cucumbers, melons, and other fruits and vegetables could be produced in great quantities by the same method.

The chemicals he uses are a mixture of saltpetre, calcium phosphate, Epsom salts, and calcium sulphate. Not in the least bit secretive about his success, Mr. Lindley offers to help anyone interested in adopting the same method.

Now in his second year of experimentation with hydroponics Mr. Lindley, salesman for a drug concern, would like to concentrate on raising vegetables commercially.

"Now that the war's over, I should be able to get some large metal boxes and electric pumps," says Mr. Lindley, "I'm certain that with modern equipment I could produce from two hundred to three hundred tons of vegetables per acre each year."
