4 KILLED, 12 WOUNDED IN BOLD ATTACK ON PORT; U. S. OFFICER CHEATS DEATH

SALONIKA, Greece, Feb. 10. (UP)—A bold band of guerrillas stole in close to this city of 250,000 early today, arched artillery and mortar shells into its heart, and rolled up an official casualty toll of four dead and 12 wounded.

Two Greek women and one British soldier were among the dead in the shelling of Salonika for an hour and a half with a 75-millimeter field piece and at least one mortar.

A United States army officer, Maj. M. K. Molyneux of Detroit, was jolted awake by a 75-MM shell bursting outside his hotel window. Had it been 10 feet closer, he said, it would have "ended my army career."

Greek troops and planes went into action against the band which carried out the most defiant gesture of the civil conflict in Greece. Within a few hours they reported they had cornered the guerrillas believed to have made the attack.

Ship Reported Holding Own As Hull Cracks at Sea

NEW YORK, Feb. 10. (UP)—The United States Lines freighter Pierre H. DuPont, with 44 crew members aboard, reported today she was "holding her own" after her hull cracked 660 miles southeast of Argentina, Newfoundland, and water poured into a hold.

As several ships in the vicinity sped to her rescue, the stricken vessel, a 7,176-ton Liberty ship, radioed the Coast Guard here at 7:45 a. m. (EST):

"Still leaking. Holding own."

Earlier, the DuPont, enroute from Rouen, France, to New York, called for immediate help, reporting that she was flooding fast from a crack in the hull forward of the bridge.

Dade Seeks Half Million For Hurricane Protection

SPECIAL TO THE RIVIERA-TIMES

MIAMI, Feb. 10.—A resolution seeking $500,000 in Federal funds to strengthen the Dade-Broward dike to prevent flood damage in the event of a hurricane next summer was adopted by the County Commission today.

The resolution was directed to the Army Engineers and Dade's representatives in Congress and asked that the monies be appropriated from existing funds or funds which will be made available in the immediate future.

$25,000 Stolen from Bank In New York Armed Robbery

NEW YORK, Feb. 10. (UP)—Two armed men darted into the Whitestone branch of the bank of The Manhattan Co., today and fled with an estimated $25,000 before employees could sound an alarm.

Bank employees told police that one of the men stationed himself at the door while the other forced a guard to open a door leading to the rear of the tellers' cages. The second man took between $25,000 and $30,000 from the tellers' cages, then fled with his companion.

Farmers Hold Back Cattle As Meat Prices Dip Lower

CHICAGO, Feb. 10. (UP)—Farmers, trying to halt a major break in the livestock market, kept their cattle and hogs down on the farm today, but prices dipped still lower.

Meanwhile, July wheat dropped the full 10-cent limit on the Chicago Board of Trade.

All Chicago corn futures dropped the full eight cents a bushel as the market broke sharply after opening lower. May wheat was off the 10-cent limit at Minneapolis and may corn dropped the full eight cents at Kansas City.

Despite sharply reduced hog shipments, the livestock market at Chicago was slow with a few early sales on weights under 230 pounds about 50 cents below yesterday's average.

FBI Grabs Commy Official In 'Most Important' Arrest

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10. (UP)—The Justice Department announced the arrest in New York today of John Williamson, national labor secretary of the Communist Party of the United States. FBI agents made the arrest.

Williamson, the department said, will be held for deportation to his native Scotland. A department spokesman referred to the arrest as "the most important Communist arrest so far."

Opening of Munich Papers Seen Hurting Britain, France

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10. (UP)—American officials conceded privately today that publication of all the Nazi Foreign Office documents probably would embarrass Britain and France.

They referred especially to the "appeasement" period, which reached its pinnacle at the Munich conference where Czechoslovakia was "sacrificed" to Nazi Germany by Britain and France.

A promise to release Nazi documents for that period came from Soviet Russia last night when it bitterly denounced the State Department as "fakers of history" and blamed the U. S., Britain and France for policies which started WORLD WAR II.

The blast was the long-awaited answer from the Kremlin to the book published by the State Department last month on Nazi-Soviet relations.

Byrnes Says Government is Arrogant In Blasting Movie Producers

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10. (UP)—Former Secretary of State James F. Byrnes today accused the government of "arrogance without foundation" for complaining that big Hollywood producers make movies with an eye on boxoffice profits rather than "culture."

It's not only untrue, Byrnes told the Supreme Court, but has no place in the Justice Department's 10-year-old anti-trust suit against eight major movie firms.

In his new role as private lawyer, Byrnes appeared before the court on behalf of Loew's, Inc., one of the eight firms.

Six of the justices of the present court sat with Byrnes in 1941 and 1942 when he was a justice himself. One of the six, Robert H. Jackson, disqualified himself from the case, however. He was attorney general in the early stages of the suit.

CITY BUSES TO EMBRACE AREAS WEST OF GABLES STARTING NEXT MONDAY

COUNTY ROAD REPAIRS OPEN WAY FOR EXTENSION OF SERVICE

Two extensions in bus routes affecting the Biltmore and Salvadore Park routes will go into effect next Monday, Transportation Superintendent Chester E. Smith announced today.

The changes have been contemplated for over a year, said Smith, and had been held up pending road repair in the county area by county crews.

One entire street was built to accommodate the extension in service by the municipal transportation system and a number of other roads were repaired.

The area on Blue Road between SE 82nd Ave. and Ludlum Road, formerly little more than a cow-path, was completely rebuilt.

The changes in the Biltmore route are as follows:

Following the present route to Avenue Anastasia, and Indian Mound Trail, the bus will turn north on Indian Mound Trail to Avenue Valencia, then west to Red Road, then south to Murcia, then east to Alhambra Circle, then south to Bird Road, then west to Red Road, then south to Blue Road, then west to Ludlum Road, then north to Bird Road and then east to Alhambra Circle. At this point, the bus will turn north on Alhambra Circle and reverse the route returning to the Gables terminal.

Buses will leave the terminal every 20 minutes through the day up to and including the 8:20 trip (Please turn to Page Three)

Eleven directors attended the meeting at the Youth Center last night, presided over by Harry Morgenthaler, and discussed a revision of the center's program to provide for more widespread use of the facilities for various age groups.

To Fence Ballfield

The board also received the January report from directors Ed Beckman and Betty Ward and heard several recommendations for improved operation of the recreational plant.

Among the proposals offered by Beckman which are to be considered by the executive committee is the fencing of the softball field, the revision of the wiring system to allow for a commercial rate on electricity consumption and the obtaining of part-time clerical and janitor help to allow the directors more time for supervision of increased center activities.

The financial report revealed that the center has funds available for operating expenses through the first of April.

Realty Sales Hit $861,800 In January

Decline Seen Normal by Donald Peck

Real estate to the value of $861,800 changed hands in Coral Gables during January, Donald F. Peck, president of the Coral Gables Board of Realtors announced today.

The trading dropped off from the December, 1947, peak of $1,515,800, but was higher than the figure for January of 1947, when the total was $715,863.

The decline in the figures was attributed by Realty Head Peck to the normal falling off from the end of the year December peak.

Usually Highest Month

December is usually the highest month, Peck said, because owners try to file transactions in time to claim homestead exemptions for that year.

A breakdown of last month's figures showed 21 residences sold for $388,600; one apartment at $27,000, one duplex at $19,000, four commercial buildings at $196,000 and 236 lots at $230,300.

Whalen Leaves Police Force To Rejoin Army

The resignation of Sgt. Carl W. Whalen, Jr., for 11 years a member of the police department here, was announced today by Safety Director William G. Kimbrough.

Sgt. Whalen left his post here to return to counter-intelligence unit of the U. S. Army. He is now at Ft. Jackson, S. C., and expects to go from there to counter-intelligence school at Baltimore.

"Sgt. Whalen was a police officer as ever served on this force," said Safety Director Kimbrough as he announced the resignation.

Whalen joined the force here in 1937 and served continuously until the war, when he was granted a leave of absence to join the Army. He served in the Pacific theater.

Officer Robert Ingersoll, who has been a member of the department here for 12 years, was today promoted to the rank of sergeant to take Whalen's place. He is also a veteran, having served in the Navy.

Group Probes Pratt Conditions

The Pratt General Hospital was visited this afternoon by a committee which will investigate reports of overcrowding at the veterans' installation.

The group, consisting of members of the American Veterans of World War II, was met by Dr. Irvin Machlin, hospital manager, who extended them an invitation to visit the installation.

Leib, who heads the group making the probe, was credited with starting the 1944 fight to clean up the Veterans Administration which resulted in the retirement of Brig. Gen. Frank T. Hines as director.

Spectators Barred From Hunt Trial

In a courtroom from which spectators had been barred, the state today continued to elicit testimony in its case against Ernest V. Hunt, indicted on a charge of raping a 16-year-old girl at S.W. 63rd Ave. and the Tamiami Trail last November 25.

The pretty brunette school girl testified in a low voice how the man she identified as Hunt followed her after she left a bus and attacked her in an isolated spot.

Today's witnesses included Dr. Billy Rentz, interne at Jackson Memorial Hospital, and Dr. J. Raymond Graves, who had both examined the young girl shortly after the alleged attack.

Postal Clerk Richard J. Jakubowski and Gables Mail Superintendent John L. Beauchamp admire the poster Jakubowski painted, plugging the use of air mail, for the Coral Gables branch post office.

Gables Launches Campaign To Push Use of Air Mail

POSTER IN LOBBY HERE PORTRAYS CITY HALL, PROVIDES FACTS

Employees of the Coral Gables branch post office launched a campaign today, aimed at securing the use of air mail for all letters going outside of the state of Florida from Coral Gables.

Superintendent John L. Beauchamp, reporting that 56 mail planes depart from the Miami area every day for the North and West, stressed the fact that letters are only four hours' flying time away from New York and Chicago.

A large poster, stressing the use of air mail, and portraying a picture of the Gables city hall, was put in place in the post office lobby.

Promote Air Mail

A pamphlet on air mail information is being distributed in all boxes and by local carriers, Gables stationery stores and five and ten cent stores are cooperating by enclosing a copy of the information pamphlet with each stationery purchase, Beauchamp reported.

All stamp and parcel post windows at the Coral Gables branch have been provided with air mail stickers and gammed air mail address labels for distribution to patrons on request, Beauchamp reported. The sale of stamped air mail envelopes is being featured at the stamp windows.

Gables hotel operators have been asked to cooperate by making air mail stationery and stamps available to guests.

CopPops Top Retting Can't Even See New Daughter

Officer D. M. Retting of the Gables police had a big smile on his face as he passed out cigars today, but underneath he was pretty mad.

The policeman's wife had just given birth to a fine baby girl at Jackson Memorial Hospital and that was enough to make anybody happy. The only catch was that Retting hasn't seen the new addition to his family yet. And he isn't even too sure right now when he will see his new daughter.

Following an outbreak of infant diarrhea at the Jackson Hospital, fond fathers have been barred from the maternity ward for fear they'll carry the dread disease into the wards.

M'Ilwain, Officials Off to Washington

William T. McIlwain, Coral Gables city manager, was speeding to Washington today and will see President Truman and Florida congressional representatives tomorrow to protest against fuel oil prices.

Joining some 40 officials of 27 Florida cities, the Gables city head will meet with the President at 11:15 a. m.

Baptist Church Steeple Seen 'Not in Keeping' With Gables

ZONING BOARD ACTION DELAYS CONSTRUCTION OF NEW EDIFICE

Plans for the construction of the new University Baptist Church were again delayed last night when the Zoning Board of Appeals upheld a contention of the Board of Supervising Architects that the proposed steeple for the structure is "not in keeping with Coral Gables architectural character and building code."

The board's stand, was taken after the Rev. Ladislav Biro, Ira Haycock and Architect Robert F. Smith appeared to discuss the plans with the group.

The board did recommend for approval the zoning exception allowing the church to face Riviera Drive instead of Segovia Street.

Church leaders had not indicated today whether or not the steeple plans would be revised or whether the matter would be appealed to the city commission.

Other action taken by the zoning board last night included: Recommended approval of the construction of a duplex residence at University Drive and Segovia Street applied for by S. A. Shikany.

Court Grants Extension On Payment

Officials to Seek $101,000 Fund Before March 8

The City of Coral Gables today abandoned its motion for a new trial in the condemnation suit of one block of land in the heart of the business area, and was allowed until March 8 to pay approximately $101,000, which a 12-man jury awarded as damages to the owners of 31 lots.

The total jury award of $104,825 is reduced to approximately $101,000 due to the fact that one of the lots involved in the litigation is city-owned and was included for title-clearing purposes.

Circuit Judge George Edward Holt allowed the extension of time to pay the award because the verdict was far in excess of the $42,000 originally appropriated for this purpose by the city commission.

Filed as Precaution

It was understood that the appeal originally was filed within the four-day period as a matter of precaution. E. L. Semple, city attorney, said that he had abandoned any plan for an appeal to the supreme court.

Semple's action followed a conference yesterday afternoon also attended by Finance Director E. B. Poorman and City Manager William T. McIlwain.

Poorman said today that the city is still exploring ways and means of financing the purchase of the entire block by the March 8 deadline.

The block, which will be used as a site for a municipal bus terminal, is bounded by Avenues Aragon and Giralda, Salzedo Street and Le Jeune Road.

Chordsmen Shift Meeting Place To Elks Club

The "swipes" and close harmony of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America will be heard in the Coral Gables Elks Club at 8 o'clock this evening as the local chapter changes its locale from the Country Club of Coral Gables.

According to Robert Holbrook, secretary, the Elks have invited the harmonizers to make the club their permanent home, "with the understanding that if it doesn't meet with the mutual satisfaction of both parties, the arrangement can be terminated."

The 64 songsters will meet regularly on Tuesday evenings in the new location.

Germes Given Knockout At Food Handlers School

Germes, which are transferred from person to person through improper handling of food, are taking the count of ten in cities where the Florida Food Handlers School has been held.

This school, which has just completed four months in its fight against disease, was launched as a service to eating and drinking establishment operators in the state.

During that time, seven Florida cities were visited and more than 700 persons handling food commercially received the high spots in elementary sanitation.

Some of the immediate and far-reaching results of the school have been: A number of restaurant operators put in new equipment and "cleaned house" after attending the school.

Waitresses declared that never again would they be guilty of such breaches of sanitation as serving thumb-flavored soup, picking up glasses by the rims, or letting their hair fall in food.

Dishwashers are doing their best to kill any germs coming their way by keeping rising water at 170 degrees or hotter.

And, Mr. and Mrs. "Eating-out Public" are finding that it is becoming a rare thing, rather than a frequent occurrence, to be served coffee in a lipstick-stained cup, to find dried egg on their forks, grease on their knives, or finger-prints on the butter.

The school is a state-wide, county-to-county project, supported by the Florida State Board of Health, Restaurant Association and Hotel Commission, presented through local health departments.

Cities where the school has been held include Deland, Sanford, Perry, Winter Haven, Lakes Wales, Bartow and Auburndale. Scheduled for visits in the immediate future are Quincy, Gainesville, Lakeland, St. Petersburg and Miami.

New Faces Are the Rule As Visitors Come and Go

By VERA BARNES, Riviera-Times Correspondent

New faces are the rule rather than the exception in the park these days. This is the height of the tourist season, and Coral Lake is a convenient stop-over between trips to Key West or to the Everglades and West Coast.

The perfect weather we've been having has been instrumental in holding over some of the folks who should have been in the cold, cold north by now.

Here enjoying the sunshine are Joan and Al Brodsky of New York and W. E. and Martha Royals of High Point, N. C. Both these families are with the Outdoors Shows outfit at Douglas and Coral Way.

Then there are George and Vivian Kirby and their two children Gary, age five, and Marcia, age three. The Kirbys hail from Gilmore City, Iowa, where Mr. Kirby is a farmer. Also in the farming business is Mr. Sid Hanna and his wife Olive, of Worthington, Minn.

John and Marjorie Penkington, and John's parents, John and Agnes Penkington, Sr., of Chicago, Ill., are spending a few weeks here, and so are Harold and Rita Kullman of Oceanside, N. Y. Mr. Kullman is a salesman by profession. Here also are Mr. and Mrs. O. G. Scott; Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Kalker of Monaca, Ga. where Mr. Walker is in the lumber business. Mr. William Bost of New Jersey, a horse trainer is here for the rest of the racing season, and here too are Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Dilger from Cairo, Ill. Mr. and Mrs. Dilger are friends of Mr. and Mrs. Ike Seybold, Mr. and Mrs. Ury and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Tice. They had a grand reunion, and hope that they'll all be bringing in plenty of winners this season at Tropical. The Dilgers moved into Coral Lake from the Tower Camp in Hallandale, Fla. Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Sherwood and their two children Bernard Jr., age 7, and Susan, age 17 months, are here from Seattle, Wash. Mr. Sherwood is an A & E mechanic 1/c. Then here too, are Charles and Betty Ross of Mackinac Island, Mich., where they have a gift shop; Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Lilly of Athens, Ga., where Mr. Lilly is in the insurance business; and Jim and Jeanette DeBerry of New Orleans, La., where Mr. DeBerry is a CPA.

From Newcastle, Va., are Mr. and Mrs. Emory Abbott and their three and a half year old daughter, Lillian. And from West Virginia are the W. E. Morgans. Mr. Morgan is a real estate broker.

Some permanent folks are Mr. Ernest Quillen of Toledo, Ohio. Mr. Quillen moved here when high rents forced him out of another park in the city. Also here for the winter are Charles and Alta Ross of Stuart, Fla. Mr. Ross is in clerical work. We have four men batching it here, and they'd better be careful, after all this is Leap Year. I'm talking about G. S. and H. E. Podgett, E. J. Dickerson and E. D. Anddes, all of Waynesboro, Va., and I think they're all carpenters.

The following folks are also winter visitors: Mr. and Mrs. P. E. McGary, of Newton, Mass., Mr. B. A. Schwartz, Mr. F. Beauregard, Mr. and Mrs. George Searls, Mr. and Mrs. Nick Bowman and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bloom who are renting Dersaweh's trailer.

Guests Mr. and Mrs. Sam Backinger, visitors from Hollywood, Fla., were the Sunday guests of the Seybolds and the Dilgers. Mrs. Backinger is also going to be here Tuesday, when the gals plan a real old-fashioned gab-fest. Mr. and Mrs. Delph were pleasantly surprised a week ago, when Mr. Delph's father visited them very unexpectedly. He could only stay for the one week and Mrs. Delph took her father-in-law to the train today where he's returning to Williamstown, Ky. Mr. and Mrs. Emerson Delph of Cincinnati, Ohio are also here visiting the Delphs.

Sick List Doc Weir was the latest to succumb to the cold bug that has been making the rounds, and was off work for three days till he managed to get the best of that durned cold.

And at two Monday morning, Mrs. Mary Love got an emergency call from Mr. Art Savoka to come up there, Mary found the youngster in convulsions, and she did what she could to ease the spasms. She told them to call a doctor, and the boy was operated on at the Jackson Memorial Hospital at six this morning for a strangulated hernia. The doctor seems to think that the hernia caused the convulsions, and at last report the youngster was doing O.K. We hope he has a very successful recovery.

Infantry News Mr. and Mrs. Retting became the parents of a nice baby girl at about nine Monday morning. Mr. Retting is a Coral Gables policeman, and they were just a little worried about the young lady because she's almost a month overdue. Isn't that just like a woman, late for her own birthday party!

Dance Notes Another Saturday, and another of those swell dances in the Community Hall. This one was a paper dance, and a prize was awarded for the best costume. The crowd couldn't decide who had the best costume between Rosemary Decavitch and Mr. O'Neil, so the girls split the prize. Music was by Doc Martin's orchestra, and I, personally can vouch for the fact that a good

War Bride's Parents Follow Her Over

CULLISON, Kan. (UP)—This little Kansas town, population 242, has a touch of Britain, and the English village of Chorley, in Lancashire, has lost three of its residents.

The population switch resulted from the war. Charles Grigsby, Jr., of Cullison, was stationed near Chorley for part of his 3 1/2 years in England.

He wooed the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charley Handley. Coming to Kansas after her wartime wedding, the young Mrs. Grigsby wrote her parents in glowing terms of her new home.

So the Handleys—he's a retired veteran of 22 years in His Majesty's Army—packed up and followed their daughter to make their home in the South Kansas wheat country.

Salmon P. Chase, secretary of the treasury in President Lincoln's cabinet, is one of only three men to be pictured on greenbacks without first having served as President of the United States. Chase's likeness appears on the $10,000 bill.

Rolling in luck, is the way Lou Richardson aptly terms her husband who, after traveling all over the Southern states, arrived home in time to have an emergency appendectomy. Lou shudders when she thinks that it could have happened when he was alone and far away. Bracy is

Coral Groves, Coral Estates Residents Urged to Register

Captain and Mrs. Robert Kenny and very young daughter, Karen Ann, are visiting in this area, spending a lot of time with Bob's mother and brother, Mrs. O. H. P. Kenny and Dick, at 707 Obispo Ave. On leave from Bob's base at Tucson, Arizona, they are renewing old acquaintances. Bob graduated from Ponce de Leon High School in 1933 and attended the University before entering the Army Air Corps. Mrs. Kenny, the former Jean Adams, was reared here too, and attended Miami Schools. The senior Mrs. Kenny is finding it so hard to work, when she would much rather be devoting her time to her first grandchild, little 10-months-old Karen Ann, who is making her first visit to Coral Gables.

Riviera Group Asks Upholding Of Zoning

A group of 42 home owners in the Riviera Section of Coral Gables secured the recommendation of the Zoning Board of Appeals last night that no zoning changes be effected in their area.

The board took action after receiving a petition from the group, presented by Laurence A. Schroeder and W. J. Troup. The area concerned is bounded by Bird, Miller and Red Roads and San Amaro Drive.

In the petition, the residents had pointed out that they had invested in property and built homes in the area and did not wish to see values threatened by the potential lowering of zoning restrictions.

The board's recommendation, the first on Riviera re-zoning, was forwarded to the city commission.

Gableite Cited As Salesman

J. R. Matthews, 1235 Avenue Catalonia, has qualified as a member of the 1948 Presidents Club of Investors Syndicate, national investment firm for which he is divisional manager.
As announced today, Matthews' appointment is based upon outstanding sales achievement in competition with more than 1,500 representatives of the company located throughout the United States.

New-Type Heart Surgery Performed on Carolina Girl

CHARLESTON, S. C., Feb. 10. (UP)—A pretty 21-year-old girl expects to be discharged from the hospital this week after an operation that may be unprecedented on medical records—the removal of scar tissue from a valve of her heart.
Dr. Horace C. Smith, assistant professor of surgery at the University of South Carolina, performed the operation 10 days ago on Betty Lee Woolridge of Canton, O. He detailed the surgery at a regional medical meeting and introduced his patient, who walked among the doctors smiling with newly found health.
Doctors said that if Miss Woolridge lives the normal life that her present condition would indicate hers would be the first completely successful operation of that nature in medical history.

B'nai B'rith Gives Party for Vets

Coral Gables Women of B'nai B'rith will sponsor a Valentine party for patients in the T.B. ward at the Pratt Veterans' Hospital Saturday afternoon, Feb. 14th.
A joint project of the men's and women's lodges, the affair will feature community singing and a musical quiz. Mrs. Sidney Boeninger and Mrs. Maurice Corenblum are co-chairmen. Piano selections will be presented by Mrs. Sidney Richman and Mrs. Joseph Mondres will offer vocal numbers. Refreshments will be served following the program.
The party is one of the year-round hospital services projects sponsored by Coral Gables B'nai B'rith lodge.

Taft Begins Campaign Trip, Urges Freedom Safeguard

CHICAGO, Feb. 10. (UP)—Sen. Robert A. Taft (Rep., O.), started a western campaign trip today with a declaration that the U. S. foreign aid program must not jeopardize freedom at home in the name of protecting it abroad.
Taft, a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, included that declaration in a "political credo" prepared for delivery before the Inland Daily Press Association. It was the first of 10 speeches he will deliver in five days of major campaigning in six states.

Reds Charged With Directing Korean Communist Agitation

SEOUL, Korea, Feb. 10. (UP)—Lt. Gen. John R. Hodge, commander of American-occupied Korea, charged today that recent Communist agitation in South Korea was directed from the Soviet zone.
In a blunt, 1,500-word statement distributed to the Korean press and radio, Hodge said the purpose behind last weekend's disturbances was to delude a United Nations commission into believing that Koreans "either do not want, or are not ready for an election."

Lensman Hooks Bump With Wrong Man

A Coral Gables free-lance photographer paid a $50 fine and lost his driver's license for a year largely because he picked the wrong man to hook bumpers with.
'Lewis Ed Wardwell, 49, of 103 Avenue Aragon, hooked his rear bumper with the front bumper of Miami Police Lieutenant C. W. Potterton on NE 2nd Avenue at six yesterday evening.
The picture-snapper was found guilty of driving under the influence of liquor in Miami municipal court this morning.

OUR TOWN

Wooing Season

By Jim Moore

This is the season of the year when the guys who work on newspapers get wooed not only by the politicians and the friends of friends of politicians.

JIM MOORE

Within the past few weeks I've discovered that I have a large group of very dear friends who all of a sudden turn out to be very dear friends of someone who is seeking office.

What is more, they've all developed a very keen interest in what I think and what I have to say about who is going to be elected in this race or that one.

Frankly it amazes me, because I always have the feeling that they know a heck of a lot more about it than I do. Most of the time I don't even use the office crystal ball. I just guess. And there's no use trying to be cagey. I've tried that.

The phone will ring and a familiar voice will say, "Jim—this is Bill. How are you, boy? Get over that flu yet?"

I'll allow as how I'm just fine and that I've pretty well gotten over it.

Then Bill puts it to me.

"Jim," he says, his voice dripping respect. "What do you think about the Governor's race?"

I try my cagey approach.

"I wouldn't run for it if it were handed me on a silver platter," I laughingly say in my best bantering voice.

It doesn't work. Bill laughs weakly, to please me, then continues.

"Honestly, Jim. You newspaper fellows have your ear to the ground. How is it shaping up to you?"

Actually it isn't shaping up to me any more than it is to him, but I feel called on to say something. This time I figure, what the hell, I'll use my authoritative tone.

"Well, now that you put it that way, Bill," I say in my best Gabriel Heatter, "it looks like Dan McCarty, Bill Shands and Fuller Warren are out in front at this reading."

"That's the way I figure it, Jim," says Bill enthusiastically, because by my Irish luck I've mentioned his friend, in the trio I plucked from my agile brain.

Then he starts to steer me, depending on which one of the three happens to be his personal friend. He gives me some political inside stuff about how sixteen counties in the central part of the state have deserted one candidate and come over to his man. He tells me that the other candidate is in poor health and is expected to pull out of the race at any minute.

He advises me that the Riviera-Times is a potent force in moulding opinion in Coral Gables and vicinity and suggests that we no doubt have some candidate in mind to endorse for the office.

This I deny, emphatically, saying that as yet the paper is uncommitted.

So he fills me with some more material about his candidate. His war record. What he has done for the Jaycees throughout the State or how he stands on a sales tax.

All of the time I am answering with some very knowing sounds such as "Um-m-m-m", "A-h-h-h-h" and "So I've heard."

So maybe I haven't had my ear to the ground. But I've sure had it glued to the telephone, and my cranium is fast becoming stuffed with inside political knowledge.

And that isn't limited to the governor's race. I am amassing a vast store of information about every contest that's going on. It's really amazing.

Well, to get back to Bill. We finally get around to the hanging-up point and he says, "Well, Jim, thanks a lot for the information you've given me. (I've given him, ha!) I know your paper will do the right thing when the time comes."

And what was that last thing he said? "Shand's the Man." Or was it "Dan's the Man."

Gosh, I dunno. Maybe it was "Win With Warren."

Marriage Seems to Help
 MADISON, Wis. (UP)—Married veterans are the best scholars among University of Wisconsin students. The married veterans' grades averaged slightly under straight B in the 1947 spring semester. The overall average for the student body is close to C-plus.

Monks Buy Dude Ranch
 PECOS, N. M. (UP)—The Valley Ranch, one of the largest dude ranches in northern New Mexico, has been sold to the Cistercian Order, a group of Catholic monks also known as Trappists.

director instructed the bobby-soxers to clamor loudly for Miss Russell's signature during the scene. The 23 bobby-soxers did a n unenthusiastic job during the first take.

The assistant director asked why and got his answer.

Don't Do It Any More
 "Bobby-soxers don't do that any more," Patty said firmly.

Gage consulted his assistants and then offered to negotiate with a delegation from the bobby-soxers. They sent Patty.

It was explained to her that in Manhattan, where the picture takes place, bobby-soxers are sort of old-fashioned and still go for autographs.

"And how!" Miss Russell chimed in. "Why, the last time I was there..."

A truce was worked out. It was accepted by Patty, on behalf of her group, that all were actresses portraying the less enlightened, less sophisticated type of New York bobby-soxer, who still seek autographs.

Remembering back to when they were maybe only 17, the young ladies threw themselves into their work with avidity and battled for Miss Russell's autographs.

But, as mentioned, it was only acting.

It Says Here

We eavesdropped on a conversation between director Sid Casell and Lee Gebhart after the "Kind Lady" opening last night. Lee took great pains to tell Sid how the epilogue did not fit well into the plot. After listening to the discourse for about ten minutes, Sid said, "Lee, did you get here in time to see the prologue?" . . . "Prologue?" said the former radio writer, "Land o'goshen, I must have missed that one" . . . We also overheard Susie Gleason lean over and confide to her companion, "This play is so sinister it makes me feel that even you might be a crook."

Jane Curwin Bia Lowas sends us a copy of a courtesy card that the police in Wilmington, N.C. put on out-of-state cars. It says, "Greetings Visitor. We extend a warm and cordial welcome and want you to stay as long as you can and come back as often as possible. This card entitles you to park as long as you please in time or meter zones in Wilmington. It cannot, however, exempt you from penalty for parking in safety zones, near fire hydrants, or in alleyways." Now there's an idea worth thinking about.

Incidentally, we've had it called to our attention on several occasions that some of the newer men on our police force don't have the same, friendly manner that some of the old timers have. It's just as easy to smile as to frown. It's easier to be courteous than to be rude. Some of the boys on the force have made our town famous for its friendliness and courtesy. Let's not lose that reputation.

FROM A RIVIERA NOTEBOOK

By Mary Helm Clark

With our Redland neighbors getting ready for a Food and Vegetable Fair, the Notebook presents three neighbors of the Guavonia section who vied with each other in the production of excellent fruits. The three neighbors were J. D. Girtman, Solomon G. Merrick and Charles LeJeune.

J. D. Girtman came to Guavonia, (so called because of the many wild guavas in the area) in 1901 and purchased forty acres for $13.50 an acre. There was an additional tax burden of $9.40, but he considered the land a good buy. He purchased the land from Joseph J. McAllister, who had received it as a grant from President Grover Cleveland. Twelve acres of his grove he planted in citrus trees.

Sociability was largely a matter of gathering at rural mail boxes, so Mr. Girtman interested his neighbors in subscribing to a fund to build a road with rock bedding from a point now known as Tamiami Trail and LeJeune Merrick's plantation. (Where the City Hall is now.) In 1906 it was declared a county road and a cluster of mail boxes were placed at the present City Hall site.

Solomon G. Merrick preceded the Girtmans by several years. He and his family came from Duxbury, Mass., in 1889, and soon after their arrival they purchased a relinquished land grant of 160 acres for $60.00. In 1902 he purchased more land (around Salvadore Park) for $5.00 an acre, and offered it to other retired ministers for a pleasant and profitable retreat.

There was a four room house of logs and boards on the original Guavonia purchase, and Althea Merrick made it livable by stuffing the cracks and "papering" ceiling and walls with unbleached muslin, calcimined with cheery colors. The Rev. Merrick chopped trees along the route from Coconut Grove to his new homestead so he could haul his furniture by wagon. While they were waiting the six years for the groves to bear, his son George hauled fresh vegetables from the Merrick garden for the three hour trip to the Royal Palm Hotel in Miami.

Althea Merrick trudged the wagon road each Wednesday to Coconut Grove to meet with the women of the Union Congregational Church (now Plymouth), where the Rev. Merrick was acting as pastor. She frequently stopped to pass the time of day with Charles LeJeune, bachelor homesteader from Belgium, who experimented with citrus fruit and many plants from his native Belgium.

The Girtman family, the Merrick family and the friendly bachelor, Charles LeJeune dispensed hospitality with a lavish hand. As time went on, the Merricks created a city and called it Coral Gables. The Girtmans sold their property for home sites (retaining the manor at 1700 LeJeune). With the coming of so many people to his "country place," Charles LeJeune left the teeming little city and moved farther out on the road that bears his name. Residents south of the San Sebastian have discovered that the nubby wild lemons, clinging tenaciously to land which was theirs, make fine lemonade when neighbors come to call.

REMINISCING
 By TRACY HOLLINGSWORTH

Yesterday, I was on a cot in an osteopath's office in the Gables, with "hot electric waves" applied to my back, when I heard a fellow in the next "spot" ask the doctor a question. His voice sounded familiar, so I made a guess and said, "Hello, Hess."

He said, "Who is that? You sound like Tracy?" Yes, I said.

"Oh, I'm here for my back," I remarked. "What's the matter with you?"

"It's my eyes. Don't you remember? But even if I am 77 years old, the doctor is helping me plenty. I can almost see to cross the street."

All of which recalled several months ago when the "lung clinic" was on Coral Way, and I was waiting in line to see if I had "TB" or nothing, and Hess was next in line behind me. I spoke to him. He said "I can't see you, but you are Tracy, aren't you?"

I looked at his eyes. They looked just perfect, so I asked what was wrong.

"Well Tracy, I have been going blind for some time. The other day, I wanted to cross Coral Way, and asked a man next to me to assist me to the other side, as I couldn't see. He said he would be glad to do so, so he took my arm and away we went. When we reached the other side of the street, he told me—confidentially—that he was totally blind." The blind leading the blind, or confidence?

Most folks in the Gables know E. J. Hess. He has pioneered in making things out of papaya—until recently. But the old boy is coming back—I believe.

Let Dad Get To Know Beau Nancy Advises

By NANCY MOTTRAM

"Dear Nancy: I have been going steady for over a year with a boy I like very much. My father and mother are divorced, and at present I'm living with my mother. She doesn't object to him, but now I have to live with my father and he doesn't wish me to have a boy friend. He doesn't let me go out much, because he thinks I'm going to meet this boy. I don't want our friendship to end, but if I don't see him very much it will cause us to break up, even though he's willing to keep up his part. What do you think I should do?"

Instead of arguing it out with your father, why don't you put your point of view in front of him, just the way you feel, and ask him if you and he couldn't reach a compromise. Explain that you like to have dates like the other girls you know, and let him see that you're smart enough and mature enough for your age to have dates. Ask your father to meet him, and show him that he's the kind of boy he'd like his daughter to date.

"Dear Nancy: I used to go with a fellow I still like very much. He says he still likes me, but this is where the problem comes in. This summer he met a girl at a nearby lake. He went with her during the summer, then when she went back, he came back to me. Every time he can see her he does, but then he begins dating me again. We don't go steady when she's not here, but he takes me out more often than any other girl. I have tried everything I can think of. What should I do?"

You can't tell how he really feels about this girl, but don't pursue the subject so that he'll hear about it. Above all, don't face him with fury and tell him to make a choice—it's either you or her. No matter how he feels, at that point he may very well decide in her favor. If you really want to know how things stand, mention her to him sometime. Not in a snide, catty fashion, but inquire how she is, or compliment her in some way. His response will almost always tell you what you want to know. Outside of that bit of strategy, it's better to let it alone. Concentrate on being as cheerful and interesting as you can when you're with him, and let your personality do the rest.

Glittering First Night Throng Cheers (and Hisses!) Premiere Of Meller Drama 'Kind Lady'

A formally clad, glittering first night audience rose to its feet and cheerfully booed the nastiest bunch of nice people that ever trod a board last night at the Country Club premiere of "Kind Lady".

Bouquets went—and justly—to leading lady Betty Arnold and her feminine supporters, Roxie Walters, Janie Gobat and Phyllis Rowland. But enthusiastic hisses were the compliment meted out to the stellar performance of Dick Trice, turned complete rotter for his role in the goose-pimple raising mellerdrama, and—"I loved 'em!" he admitted with a grin after the show.

Not far behind Dick for villainy were Joan O'Dell, D. M. Bunce, Angus Harrison, Annabelle Nitzsche and Gwen Tuckerman.

Ruth and Jimmy Henderson planed in from Boston in time for the premiere with half glad, half sad news to tell. The good word was that Bean Town specialists diagnosed the mysterious skin ailment plaguing their six-year-old son Pete as nothing more serious than irritation from dog hair. The sad news is that the Hendersons are now looking, oh so reluctantly, for a good home for two pet Boxer pups.

Ruth's voice was reduced to a froggy whisper, incidentally, by germs she swore she picked up at Washington, Richmond, Raleigh and points South on the plane trip down. "The only seats we could get were right near the door on a 'local' that stopped at every city en route," she explained. "But I'm not complaining—the plane we tried to make was the Constellation that lost its engines and had to make a forced landing near Jacksonville!"

It was a great night for red-heads and Dora Livesay and Ewelyn ("Don't call me RED!") Whaley made it so. Both wore stunning green formal gowns to set off their titian locks, Dora's a soigne green satin embroidered in gold thread, and Ewelyn's rustling taffeta with an extravagant bow perched over the left hip bone.

Joan DeNoon, just fourteen, put her dad, Country Club president Earl DeNoon and her mom completely in the shade in a red and white checked formal whose ruffled neckline was matched by a petti-skirt ruffle at the hemline.

Rhinestones are back! Sing Thiel wore hers sprinkled like frost over a dream-blue dress while Marge Gebhart's were fashioned into a choker necklace dripping tear-drop pendants of the same stones. Chica Nugent's neck-ace was an heirloom piece handed down to her by her mother, and Jackie Pierce's blush-pink frock glittered at the neckline with a strand of the rhinestone sparklers.

That hilarity on the patio during the Smorgasbord supper, incidentally, was inspired by Chica's story of the soft drink firm. Don't ask her about it when Aunt Emma's around! The same goes for Bob McVoy's free translation of "De mortuis nihil nisi bonum". Bob was having a mighty fine time until a bailiff walked up to him in the Club lobby and handed him a subpoena to appear as witness in an upcoming trial!

Helen Pennock looked swish as all get-out in a handsome black formal accented by aquamarine earrings and two stunning aquamarine clips. . . Mrs. Karl Schmitz chose deep fuschia for the opening night festivities and wore her hair in a becomingly severe off-the-face coiffure. . . Mrs. Leo Adee, guest with her husband of the Dick Thiels, wore a winter-white topper over her sophisticated black crepe frock. . . Mrs. Walter Ashby was Springy as April itself in multi-colored posey print on dark background. Her antique gold necklace was matched by pendant earbobs of old gold.

An engaging little-boy note was struck by Anna Mae Esslinger, whose blue and white two-piecer was topped by a Buster Brown bow tie. . . and Mrs. Talton H. Embry, who wore a blue and white polka dot neckerchief with her Winter-white tailored dress. . . Mrs. P. B. Welch, wearing her dark hair in a coronet braided and a midnight blue jacketed frock, watched with justifiable pride the expert performance given behind the footlights by her son, Paul. . . and stunning's a mild way to describe Mrs. Forrest Le Baron's crisp black taffeta ballerina formal criss-crossed with satin insets of shocking pink ribbon.

Mrs. Albert H. Gleason's summery white semi-formal, garlanded with wisteria and green flower print, matched the summery night. . . and completely feminine was Mrs. Marge Cann in tailored navy with pink chiffon at throat and matching pink ruffs at wrists. . . Virginia Woodward was elegant as a moyer age portrait in dramatic black taffeta designed with off-the-shoulder neckline, long sleeves and wide whispering skirt, while Billie Harting looked like a Latin senorita with a bouquet of pink posies behind one ear and pencil slim pink and white print gown. All in a Day
 By GEORGE McNEILL RAY

When your keen appreciation of finer things in life has been injured you feel hurt, and you want, first of all, to get it off your chest. Well, for the past few weeks I've heard nothing but a jagged tune they call a "hit" with words that go something like this: "you can have her I don't want her—she's entirely too fat for me."

What I'm really wanting to do is to come to the aid of those people who feel so keenly the brunt of this slap-in-the-face.

I've known some of the finest people in the world who were at the height of their weight, and who are today being and given the "brush-off"—just like that!

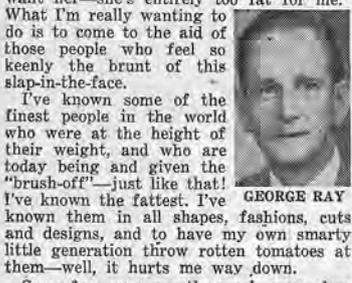

I've known the fattest. I've known them in all shapes, fashions, cuts and designs, and to have my own smartly little generation throw rotten tomatoes at them—well, it hurts me way down.

Some few years ago the music marauders lifted their eyebrows at every male "five by five" and I got sore about it then. And just about when all the soreness had left me, out comes a brand new set of insults balanced bravely on a series of musical bars which have certainly bored their cutting way without regard to the weightier things in this world. I was rather lean and lanky in those days when Mr. Square was insulted, but now they're singing about it again, and I'm not the same looking fellow I was, what with pounds gathering slowly but noticeably about the mid-way stripe. Now I can conscientiously attack my attackers. Not only in my behalf, but for the sake of those who are timid and bashful about their terraced chins and enlarged frontispieces.

I'm not thinking altogether of myself in this atrocious insult. I'm thinking of a friend of mine, whose misplaced tonnage, though inherited perhaps, is as jolly a fellow as you've ever seen. He has a soft blubbery laugh that leaves him weak from convulsive exhaustion. Most every "fat" person is like that, and what's more if we had more of them, we'd be better off than we are. What this country needs is bigger and better abdominal ha-has! I often enjoyed, (secretly) the way this friend of mine laughed, because so much of him seemed to have loads of fun doing it! And the way he'd take a seat would kill you. Gently, he would lace the fingers of his hands together, thus forming a stirrup-like support, and with this sling of strength formed by two ham-like hands of laced fingers, he would cup up his entire front arch in one happy lift, and with great ease and comfort he would lower himself onto the chair while the rest of him slowly followed suit. It took four people to up him from a sitting position, a position he enjoyed with satisfying fervor. Four people! One at each wing, one a-hold of his belt, and a handy man at the rear exit for extra pushes once the old boy moved the slightest bit forward and upward.

My friend's family couldn't do without him. They wouldn't swap him for a ton of gold. That's what hurts so much, knowing how we all love one another in families and friendships—then, to have somebody come along and give them the one-two cast off. Fat ones make good friends!

"I'd hate to have one become my arch enemy!"

HOLLYWOOD—A resolutior in bobby-sox ranks was disclosed when a Hollywood bobby-soxer turned down an autograph.

The bobby-soxer who made adolescent history was Patty Lou Arden, 18, who could have had a signature from Rosalind Russell but said no thanks.

"I think autographs are silly," said Patty.

That caused a major upheaval on the set of Independent Artists' "The Velvet Touch," in which Rosalind Russell was supposed to be besieged by autograph hunting bobby-soxers as she comes out the stage entrance of a Broadway theater.

Director Jack Gage wasn't up on bobby-sox trends. He didn't know that among the Hollywood young set, autograph-hunting was as passe as last week's dream puss.

Patty set him straight. The assistant

Barbara Jean Bowyer Is Bride of Edward A. Kerr II

A complete surprise to their friends in Coral Gables, as well as Philadelphia, Pa., was the marriage of Miss Barbara Jean Bowyer and Edward Allison Kerr II, which is being announced today by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Howard Bowyer of 610 Avenue Obispo.

The marriage took place February 4th in Folkston, Ga. Mr. Kerr is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kerr of Miami Shores and Philadelphia.

The pretty blonde bride chose a gray gabardine suit with red accessories for her marriage and for her wedding trip.

The new Mrs. Kerr is a freshman student at University of Miami where she is majoring in art. Outstanding student at Ponce de Leon High school, from which she was graduated last June, Barbara was a member of the National Honor Society and the Beta Club. She won the Ponce art medal in 1947.

She came to Coral Gables with her family to live eleven years ago and attended the Coral Gables Elementary School. She is a Kappa Kappa Gamma pledge at the University.

Mr. Kerr is completing his courses at the University of Miami which were interrupted by the war. He served two years as an Army signal corpsman.

The couple is residing with the senior Mr. and Mrs. Kerr in Miami Shores.

Merrick PTA Sets Program, Dance Tonight

Young ladies and gentlemen of the Merrick Demonstration School's sixth and seventh grades will join their parents and teachers tonight when the school PTA celebrates Founder's Day with a special program and dance.

Dr. James S. Thomas, wartime area director for the Office of Price Administration, will speak at the meeting slated to get under way in the auditorium at seven-thirty. Dr. Thomas is now active in the University of Miami's expansion plan.

Mrs. George Murray, PTA president, will conduct the brief business meeting at which a silver offering will be taken.

At the conclusion of the program, association members and guests will adjourn to the school cafeteria for an old fashioned barn dance, with Mr. Bob Jaynes calling the figures.

Coffee and doughnuts will be served to adults, while the youngsters enjoy fruit punch with their "sinks."

Gables Women Name 'Hillbilly' Dance Heads

Hillbilly music will fill the great rotunda room of the Colonnade Building Friday night when members of the Coral Gables Soroptimists Club stage their first annual barn dance.

Guests and patrons are asked to wear country-style, hillbilly or just plain western garb for the costume party. Prizes will be awarded for the most authentic, the funniest and most outlandish.

There will be plenty of entertainment besides "Uncle Harve" and his hillbilly band, famed through his Grand Ole Opry radio presentations. A fortune teller will be on hand and refreshments will follow the theme of the party.

Committee chairmen include Marion Costner, fortune teller; tickets, Lucile Neher; Frances Roosen, Nikki O'Conner, Sue Jenkins, and June McKay; decorations, Marie Baxter, Virginia Sumner, Juliet Petrecca, Frances Rosendale, Sue Jenkins and Ceil Abbott.

The refreshments will be handled by Bess Jones and Bertha Webb assisted by Ann Blowers, Susan Archer, Lila Lehman, Loretta Sheehy and Ruth Clouse.

Supervision of booths will be the job allotted to Virginia Sumner, Juliet Petrecca and Frances Roosen.

Pennsylvanian Here

Here from Pittsburgh, Pa., is Mrs. Ruth Bowers, who is the house guest of Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Cooley, 6585 S.W. Twelfth Street. Mrs. Bowers will be here for two weeks.

REUNION AT THE CENTURY CLUB

The talk was about old times when the J. Bruce Langdons (left) and the Richmond P. Gibbons met at the Century Club dance at the Country Club Friday night. The Langdons are long-time Gables residents, while Colonel and Mrs. Gibson returned recently after several years absence to make the Gables their permanent home.

Fugitives from Northern Cold Find Haven with Gables Folk

Relatives from Minneapolis, Minn., who now reside in the Miami area, were guests at the cocktail party and buffet supper Mr. and Mrs. Warren W. Zinsmaster gave Sunday night at their Madrid Street home and gardens.

The family reunion party honored the host's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Zinsmaster, who came South to attend the convention of the National Association of Manufacturers last week at Boca Raton. Mr. Zinsmaster is president of the American Bakers Association.

The visiting Zinsmasters left yesterday and will tour the State of Florida before returning to their Minnesota home.

It was fourteen above zero when Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Stabich and Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Lucic left Cleveland, Ohio, the other day for Florida, but it is much colder there now they report. Here from Brattonhall, O., the foursome are the house guests of Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Matonich of 1236 Avenue Obispo.

Not a first visit, the Clevelanders formerly stayed at the Beach but have now become so intrigued with our fair city that they may pull up those Ohio stakes and make Coral Gables their permanent home some day.

The power of our sun was unknown to Mrs. James Redman when she made her first trip to Florida last week. As a result she has a glowing sunburn to take back to her home in Detroit.

"I tried to tell her to take her sunshine in small doses," said Mrs. P. T. Currier about her Detroit houseguest, "but she just wouldn't listen."

Also visiting in the Currier home, 1041 Avenue Sevilla, is Gerald Currier, son of the Gableites, who is an attorney in Detroit. Both Detroit guests will be here for a few days longer.

Other assistants will be Mrs. Clyde Higgins, Mrs. J. W. Hunt, Mrs. George Batcheller, Mrs. W. Landers Gramling, Mrs. William A. Cann, Mrs. Herbert O. Vance, Mrs. Ernest Nitzsche and Mrs. Charles Bell.

Mr. Salverud, who, with his wife, moved here from St. Louis in January, has recently been appointed manager of the Dade County chapter of the American Red Cross. In Missouri, he was assistant manager of the Midwestern area for A. R. C. Mrs. Wittichen is the vice-chairman of the Dade County A. R. C. chapter.

Assisting Mrs. Wittichen in pouring the tea will be Mrs. Henry E. Mangels, Mrs. J. Howard Webb, Mrs. M. L. Heiss and Mrs. W. A. Haggard.

Gables Plays Host to Winter Visitors

The Thomas J. Cosgroves have opened their home at 716 Alhambra Circle for the remainder of the winter. From Hazelton, Pennsylvania, the Cosgroves spend each of their winters in our town.

For the second year in succession, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Rickard are spending the winter with their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Freeland R. Cameron of 724 Alhambra Circle. The Rickards, who are from Detroit, Michigan, will be here until the last of this month.

Mrs. Frederick Glickstein of Chicago, Ill., is the house guest for several weeks of Dr. and Mrs. Leonard M. Glickstein of 317 Avenue Mendoza.

Mrs. John M. Brian, of 234 Avenue Viscaya, has a group of visitors from Princeton, Ind., who are enjoying their first trip to Florida. They are, Miss Janet La-Grave, Miss Helen Sprowl and Miss Betty Watson.

Mrs. Joe S. Stuhl of 227 Avenue Phoenicia, not only entertained visitors from seven different states last Thursday but she saw her daughter Mrs. A. R. Finney (Jane Stuhl) off to Gainesville on the same day. The former Jane Stuhl will join her husband in the up-State city.

Mrs. Fears Feted On Birthday

Happy birthdays were wished Mrs. R. D. Fears at an informal birthday dinner given recently at Maxine's Restaurant on the beach.

Invited to share in celebrating this event with Mr. and Mrs. Fears were Dr. and Mrs. Charles Carroll.

The Fears reside at 6375 S.W. 27th Street.

SON BORN TO ROGER E. STIGERS

It's a boy at the Roger E. Stigers, 1514 Capri Street. Born Saturday morning at the Coral Gables Hospital, the first baby boy in the family will be named for his daddy.

His maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Barnes, Jr., of 423 Avenue Candia and his paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Stiger of 1514 Capri.

The baby's mother is the former Miss Martha Jo Dunagan. Both Mr. and Mrs. Stiger are graduates of Ponce de Leon High school.

Dave Kelly Gets Army Discharge

Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Reeves of 2639 S.W. 34th Avenue will soon be welcoming home their nephew, David E. Kelly who is being discharged from the Army after serving one and one half years.

David, nineteen, arrived in Seattle, Wash., Friday and will be home any day now. He attended the Coral Gables Elementary and Ponce de Leon High schools.

Presbyterian Women Mark Day of Prayer

The Woman's Association of the First Presbyterian Church will sponsor "World Day of Prayer" which will take place at one o'clock Friday in the church.

Mrs. O. H. Charles will be the leader and "The Lord's Prayer", the theme. All women in the community are urged to attend.

Because of the stated church meeting, groups of the association will meet earlier than usual, on the morning of same day, as follows:

Group One at eleven o'clock with Mrs. Carl Deremo, 4364 S.W. 16th Street; Group Two, at ten-thirty with Mrs. S. A. Naughton, 629 Avenue Palermo; Group Three at ten-thirty with Mrs. J. Forrest Diehl, 329 Avenue Sarto; Group Four, at ten-thirty with Mrs. Arthur Wolf, 1500 Salzedo Street; Group Five, at eleven o'clock at the home of Mrs. J. Wyly Keck, 2520 Avenue San Domingo and Group Six at ten-thirty o'clock at the home of Mrs. C. B. McAlister, 1821 S.W. 10th Street.

An O'Brien Is Born

It's a boy for the Stephen O'Briens of 6863 S.W. 21st Street. Born Monday morning at Jackson Hospital, the baby will be named Thomas if his father has his wish. This is the third son for the O'Briens, who also have two daughters.

GOBA Strike-Boycott is Pretty Flimsy

The boycott-strike by greyhound racers that has closed local tracks since last Friday night is seriously hurting a sport which has long enjoyed exceptional public confidence for one involving gambling, even though legalized.

It would seem that the issues outlined by the dog owners are pretty flimsy and do not warrant such a drastic step. First, the dog owners say they are striking because track operators are refusing to deduct two percent of each purse for payment into a special Greyhound Owners Benevolent Association fund for public relations purposes.

It is generally understood that State Racing Commission regulations prohibit the paying of any purse or portion thereof to anyone other than the owner of the greyhound, which is a healthy rule, per se. Do the racing dog owners want the operators to break the law in order to satisfy their demands? Winners could easily pay their two per cent of the purses directly to their association if they are so anxious for the group to get the money. The GOBA says it is well organized, knows what it is doing and desires to present its case with clean hands—yet the most casually informed person can deduct that this request is simply to disguise a more direct demand for larger purses. If that request had been made properly perhaps the track operators would have been willing to listen . . . as it is, who is kidding who?

'Closed Shop' Illegal Too

Next, the strikers demand that tracks book only kennels that are members of the GOBA. Such a mandate could easily be construed as a violation of Florida's law prohibiting "closed shops." Here is where some of GOBA's "press agency" might do them some good, because this scheme smells of the well-known device whereby the little fellow does all the agitating and the bosses take over the profitable reins after the dirty work is done—and usually boot the little fellow clean out of the organization on the slightest pretext.

So They're Big Boys Now

The GOBA has just completed an intensive drive for members. The first of the year found the initiation fee increased from $100 to $500. This means that virtually every greyhound owner, breeder and trainer who could be dragged into the fold with bright promises, has laid considerable cash on the line already. As a consequence, the Greyhound Owner's Benevolent Association has reached the zenith of its power if a large, disciplined membership is the criterion of organizing success. It is said that a large element has long nursed a yen to test their strength against the track operators, and now they are making that bid when they have strength in numbers.

Now, ordinarily, to think of a labor union in sports is a joke, because the public who pays the freight doesn't like any tampering with the status quo that gives them their money's worth. They're going to force baseball owners to cut down the price of admission and they're not going to condone any action that does nothing to improve the sport of dog racing but only strangles it in the midst of a not-too-successful season.

They're Bragging Too

Several of the more rambunctious strikers, it has been reported, have been bragging that the Racing Commission will force the track owners to play the game their way. Maybe there will be sympathy for the "little man" appeal, but the disguise is still too flimsy, the motives a little too shady for the state representatives to act before they consider the issue.

What issue? That's what the track owners and this corner are trying to find out. Don't tell us, leave us guess.

PREDICTION: The strike will collapse of its own dead weight this week.

Visitors Own Win Over Ponce

Ponce de Leon High school's basketball Cavaliers step into the Miami prep-school cage limelight tonight when they bid to upset the Miami Beach Typhoons at the Coral Gables Coliseum at 8:15 p. m.

Coach Clarence Dreppard will send his squad out stinging from an upset at the hands of Vero Beach on the local court last Friday night which greatly reduced their chances of ever gaining the leadership of the Gulfstream Conference.

It was the Cavs third defeat in loop competition. The Typhoons, on the other hand boast an brilliant record that has gained them the leadership of the Gulfstream loop. Coach Jackson's seaward quintet handed the Dreppardmen their first defeat of the season over at the Beach gym on Jan. 9. Since then the locals have bowed to Fort Lauderdale, who is chasing the Typhoons for the lead, and the Indians of Vero Beach.

Dreppard will stick to the strategy of a breakneck-speed offense that has stopped all except the above-named clubs this season. The system had Miami Beach on the ropes in their previous encounter, could not overcome an early Flying L margin, and failed to stem the Indians desperation surge—but has otherwise proven effective.

Taking the court in the crucial contest tonight will be John Edwards and Bob Peterson, forwards, Tom Gibson at center, and Joe Ciancimino and Kibbell Steadman handling the back-court chores. The Beach will counter with Lehrman and first up front, Rodenberg in the pivot, and Goldman and Brooks starting at guards.

A 7:15 p. m. junior varsity preliminary game is the first half of the twin bill. The baby Cavaliers have fared better than their elders, having lost only to Miami Beach juniors this season.

U-M Net Tournery Registry Enters Final Day

Entries for the fifth annual University of Miami Tennis championships will close at noon Wednesday. The tournament is booked to open Sunday in the Hurricane net stadium.

Players still seeking entry may register at the University of Miami Athletic department.

The signing up of 13 more players in the meet has been announced. Registering in the men's singles were Donald Kramer, James Worcester, Billy Gillespie, Manny Berliner and Charles Burkett. The teams of Hobart Wrobbell—R. B. Mulloy and Larry Larson—Ted Slack entered the veterans doubles, while Larson and Slack and the team of A. L. Schuster and Bill Sarossy joined the men's doubles field.

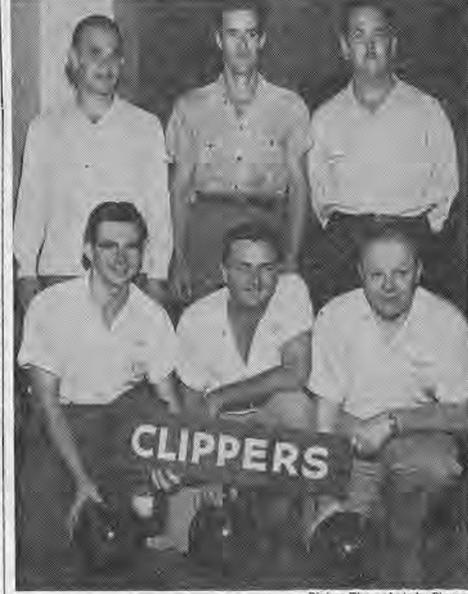

Tournament events include: Men's singles, men's doubles, women's singles, mixed doubles, veterans singles and veterans doubles.

LEADERS PRESSED AS JAI ALAI SEASON ENTERS SECOND HALF

Jai Alai at the Biscayne Fronton reaches the half way point in its 100 night 1947-48 season with Hernando and Andriuna due to continue their bitter battle for leadership in the championship sixth and seventh game singles matches.

While the two cesta-men have piled up a comfortable early season lead play of the past few nights has moved Piston II, Echave, Barruti, Cecilio and Erdoza within easy striking distance of the leaders should they suffer a few bad nights of competition.

Last week's matches also brought to the front some of the younger players participating in the earlier matches with official handicapper Pedro Mir watching the efforts of Gaytan and Rezola with particular interest with an eye toward advancement to featured game play in the night's later matches.

Tonight's competition will also give Mir an insight into the men he will choose to play in the Peruvian Handicap, week's featured event slated for Friday night, Feb. 13.

Dundee Denies Quitting Coliseum Matchmaking

Chris Dundee, matchmaker for the Coral Gables Coliseum, denied this morning that there was any truth in the widely-circulated rumors that he intended dropping fight promotions here.

In a telephone interview Dundee said that because of other bookings at the Coliseum and a desire not to compete with the Willie Pep-Humberto Sierra fight for the featherweight championship at the Orange Bowl, he would probably not stage a card here until early in March, but that he had no intentions of dropping his option for fight promotions at the Coliseum.

Hurricane Swimmers Schedule Florida At Lake Worth

Only one swimming match for the University team coached by Tom Lamar has been definitely scheduled to date, the Hurricane tank mentor announced this morning. The University of Florida will meet the local squad at the Lake Worth Casino, under the sponsorship of the Lions Club of that city on April 4.

Lamar has failed in his efforts so far to arrange several other meets on the road and at least three in the Hurricanes "home" pool at Pratt General Hospital. Two tentative tours through Georgia and South Carolina have been cancelled.

Last season the Lamarmen won five straight meets against Jacksonville Naval Air Station, Georgia, Auburn and Florida State.

Dog Tracks Won't Reopen Before Friday

Dog track operators today had three court orders in their favor as the best means of resuming racing in strike-bound Florida plants, but West Flagler Kennel Club officials here were not very hopeful that the greyhound owners would come to terms much before a meeting of the Florida State Racing Commission in Miami Thursday.

The tracks might be able to resume racing Friday night, was the consensus—and even that was qualified by uncertainty as to what action the racing commission might take.

Injunctions against the Greyhound Owners' Benevolent Association were issued in Miami, Tampa and Fort Lauderdale by petition of the eight tracks, which claimed contracts were violated when the racing plants were forced to close Saturday.

Individual members of the GOBA hold contracts where their dogs run but the association itself does not. Operators claimed the GOBA forced the owners to violate their contracts by not allowing them to race their dogs.

New Plug-Casting Entries Swell Met Tournament

Two new leaders in the Plug-Casting division of the Metropolitan Miami Fishing tournament and other Florida General division marked the rapidly increasing number of entries by anglers from throughout the United States and the Bahamas as well as by local anglers, as official entries rolled into tournament headquarters.

The principal Plug-Casting division entry was a 68-pound tarpon taken on 18-pound test line by Carl Hopkins of Hollywood, Fla., as he fished the bay from a row-boat. This fish, weighed and tackle checked at the Tarpon Tackle shop, still was 29 pounds under the all-time tarpon record set last year but a strong leader of the current tourney for prize consideration.

The other catch in this division was a new leader for the Pompano class, a three-pound, one-ounce entry taken on 15-pound test line by Ralph R. Otto of Miami as he fished the North bay, this catch also being weighed and tackle checked at the same station.

Albert Fruman of Detroit registered the twenty-fifth citation-earning sailfish of the tourney's first month as he weighed in a 58½ pounder caught from the boat, Sea Boots, with Capt. Buddy Carey out of Pier 5.

Frank O. Whitehurst of Dietrich, Ill., made a double entry in the competition as he fished off Alligator reef with host, Ivy Smith, aboard the boat, WAS, with Capt. Buck Starck out of Caribee Yacht basin. One was a 25-pound amberjack and the other a 25-pound African pompano. On the same trip, another guest of the veteran Rod and Reel club angler, L. H. Jansen of Effingham, Ill., took a 32-pound African pompano on 12-thread.

Carl's might have too much reserve strength for Tommy Hands in the middle game, and St. Mary's can have third place all to themselves by whipping the Jaycees. Eastern and the Elk's Club are idle tonight.

TODAY'S SPORTS PARADE

There's Little 'Good Old Days' Among Cage Phi Beta Kappas

By OSCAR FRALEY
UP Sports Writer
NEW YORK, Feb. 10. (UP)—Long, lean Joe Lapchick proved today that he wasn't one of those "good old days" guys when he came up with an assertion that the court kids of today are better all-around players than his own famed Celtics.

Lapchick, whose New York Knickerbockers are leading the tough Basketball Association of America, would know. He was the first of the famed "Tower Powers" back in the rugged days when the Celtics were touring the country and writing basketball history with such performers as Dutch Dehnert, Nat Holman, Johnny Beckman and Pete Barry. If the game recognized such awards those lads would be Phi Beta Kappa.

But according to Joe it is time for the legend to move over and make room for the living. Defensively he'll still give the old timers the best of it. But offensively and on all-around ability his nod goes to the youngsters playing pro basketball today.

"That's not just because I'm a pro coach now, either," insisted Lapchick, whose St. John's Indians twice won national invitation honors before he took over the Knicks this year. "The pro players have even more spirit than the collegians now and are more polished players."

There's a good reason for this and Lapchick makes it sound like poetry:

"If you don't hustle, you don't play. If you don't play, you're not young."

It's A Better Game
As for the old days, Joe, who went right from neighborhood games to the original Celtics without benefit of college competition, doesn't believe everybody got a fair shake so the teams couldn't have been the best.

"If you weren't one of the players' friends they froze you out," he explained. "Vic Hansen of Syracuse was a great player and we wanted him on the Celtics but he wound up at Cleveland. So what happened? They had a clique protecting its friends and he never got anywhere."

The competition is so intense today, however, that it's every man for himself and team interest subjugates such tactics in most cases, Lapchick contended.

The outcry against tall men in basketball and the clamor for legislation against them was sublimated (Please Turn to Page Seven)

ST. LOUIS DOES IT AGAIN

Notre Dame Home Court Invincibility Shattered, 68-51

By JOHN GRIFFIN United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Feb. 10. (UP)—Notre Dame's famed 38-game winning streak on its own basketball court lay in ruins today, pounded to dust last night, 68 to 51, by the rampaging Billikens of St. Louis University—perhaps the best college team in the nation.

The ease with which the Billikens racked up their 15th win in 16 games at the expense of the Irish amazed the court world and assured St. Louis of a final high ranking nationally. A post-season tournament invitation, with its shot at a clear-cut national championship, was a foregone conclusion.

The standout performer of St. Louis was "Easy Ed" MacCauley, graceful six-foot, eight-inch pivot man who ranks as the leading giant in the collegiate game today. The 21 points he scored and his mastery of the backboards were the big factor in the Irish defeat, first they have suffered at home since bowing to Western Michigan on Dec. 4, 1943.

The Irish, recent conquerors of Kentucky, were simply outrun and outshot by the Billikens. St. Louis hit 29 out of 66 shots from the floor, Notre Dame on 19 out of 60.

SCOTT HAS 'EM GUESSING

Olympic Skaters Poised For Championship Trials

DAVOS, Switzerland, Feb. 10. (UP)—Virtually the same array of sparkling skaters who performed in the Olympic games, headed by Champions Barbara Ann Scott and Dick Button, were getting in their final practice links today for the opening of the world's championship competition tomorrow.

Miss Scott, from Ottawa, Canada, and Button from Englewood, N. J., were, of course, prohibitive favorites to repeat the one-sided triumphs they scored at nearby St. Moritz.

Replacing the usual speculation about the outcome of the competition coming up was guesswork about whether or not beautiful Barbara would cash in on her world-wide fame by turning professional. She left the subject open for discussion yesterday when quizzed about her future plans.

"I will want to take a master of science course at some university," said Canada's honey-haired queen of the ice, before leaving St. Moritz, but then she reawakened the pro rumors by adding, "but I don't know when that will be."

Miss Scott revealed she planned to return to Canada by plane on March 10 after exhibitions in Oslo, Bern, Paris and possibly Copenhagen and other European cities.

Officials of the U. S. Olympic team left St. Moritz grumbling a little about the bills submitted to them by the Swiss hotels and about little aspects of the way the games were conducted. None of the sore points was big enough to warrant an official complaint, but they were large enough to evoke private criticism.

First of all, the Americans found their budgets wrecked by the "incidentals" that were added on to their hotel bills. There were charges for baths and other small services which ordinarily are free in American hotels and officials complained they were charged for milk the athletes never drink and for fancy breakfasts which, though perhaps ordered, shouldn't have been served.

The Americans also complained that the Swiss didn't show enough ingenuity and imagination in presenting the games. And they pointed out that the Swiss gatekeepers were so lax in their duties that scores of "gate-crashers" got in for nothing and thus reduced the total receipts.

The public address system at St. Moritz also came in for American criticism. The Yanks said the loudspeakers were so poor that announcements were unintelligible, announcers got sore throats, and the sweet music accompanying the skaters sounded like "crows descending on a field of grain."

Wrong Kind of Baby Gets Sweater as Gift INDIANAPOLIS, (UP) — Mrs. I. E. Parker met a former school classmate, Paul Hartwig, in a Terre Haute, Ind., elevator.

Hartwig remarked, "We have a beautiful four-month-old baby girl at our house. You must see her."

Just then the elevator stopped and the conversation ended.

Later, Mrs. Parker bought a little wool sweater for the baby and had it delivered to the Hartwigs. Now she has a letter, thanking her for the gift but adding:

"Our baby won't be able to wear it. Our darling girl is a registered cocker spaniel."

Calumet Shoots the Works For $10,000 Seminole Stakes On Armed, Faultless, Citation

WOFFORD SENDS DELEGATE, SUNSHINE POISES DELEGATE; ASSAULT DECLINES THE ISSUE

By DON CUDDY Riviera-Times Sports Editor

Every blue-ribbon stable with the exception of King Ranch and Circle M shoots the works for the $10,000 added Seminole Handicap at Hialeah Wednesday, with Calumet Farms sending in the heaviest artillery to regain their favored place in the stake-racing sun.

Listed for the seven furlong distance under the Devil's Red and Blue banner is Armed, Faultless and Citation, possibly the greatest trio to ever answer "Pay Call" as one entry.

But the other big-timers didn't let any grass grow under their feet, literally storming Racing Secretary Charles J. McLennan to challenge Calumet's long reign.

Wofford Stable has Delegate poised for the test, Sunshine sends in Buffuzz, Stanford Stud comes up with Roundview and Yankee Hill, Marlet has held out Gestapo and Wide Wing for this one and the field is rounded out with A. F. Plock's Tavistock going to the post a long-shot. Only Assault and Riskolator declined the issue.

The field is a chalk player's favorite dream, with the Calumet entry just too potent to be risky. But there's a pair of great sprinters ready for the test that can make the hunch betters happy too: Delegate captured the Palm Beach Handicap and the Hialeah Inaugural and Buffuzz, who rarely disappoints, will also be heavily backed.

Armed draws the top impostor of 128 pounds, Faultless comes in at 124, Delegate will carry 123 and Buffuzz 120. Citation carries 112, three pounds below Stanford's Roundview.

Betty Arnold as Mary Herries, the "Kind Lady," proved again to Country Club audiences that she is an accomplished thespian. She evidenced an understanding of her part and the ability to play it convincingly.

Annabelle Nitzche, who nearly stole the show as the little cockney woman in "Outward Bound" was back in a similar role, again revealing her adaptability in difficult character parts. As Mrs. Edwards, one of the pack of scoundrels brought in by Henry Abbott, Mrs. Nitzche had the difficult assignment of playing comedy, yet maintaining a feeling of evil for it all.

The versatile Jane Gobst handled the role of Rose, the sympathetic maid, with her usual deftness. Roxie Walters was charming as Lucy Weston, the friend of Mary Herries.

As Peter Santard, a brandy-smitting American betrothed to the British niece of Mary Herries, Paul Welch carried off the male juvenile part with ease. He handled the scene in which he had over-imbibed with particular dexterity. Phyllis Rowland as his fiancée added just the right touch of lightness to her part.

Joan O'Dell as Ada, the demure wife of Henry Abbott, achieved the vacuity of expression required by the part that necessitates cleverness on the part of the actress.

Josef Ronco, a newcomer to the theater group, brought applause from the audience with the way he handled the role of a French art dealer. Both his make-up and his characterization were well done.

John Prunty was very much the banker in the role of Mr. Foster, the financial representative who finally turns the tide for Mary Herries. D. M. Bunce was well cast in the part of the doctor.

Kudos are also deserved by Dr. Sidney Casell for a job of directing that caused the audience to demand his appearance after the final curtain.

The setting, designed and executed by Tom Findlay, established a new high in stage decor at the Country Club playhouse.

"Kind Lady" will be repeated tonight and Thursday. —Jim Moore

Local Navy Man Plays Role in Amphibious Rites Jock Golsan, aviation ordnance man, 2nd class, USN, the son of Mrs. Alberta Farmer Golsan, 5125 Riviera Drive, is participating in the amphibious training exercises being held on the Southern California Coast while serving with Fighting Squadron 2-A.

The amphibious exercises include landings at San Clemente Island, and at Camp Pendleton, near Oceanside on the California coast. After storming ashore from landing ships and craft, the "leathernecks" of the First Marine Division will maneuver inland to the airfield and develop it for further operations against the "enemy." Live ammunition from fire support ships and planes is used at San Clemente, but only simulated firing is done at Camp Pendleton.

The training at sea consists of such exercises as: seamanship, damage control, engineering, communications, and gunnery. Fire, man overboard, collision, abandon ship, and battle station drills are also held in order to keep the ship at peak efficiency.

Rear Admiral B. J. Rodgers, USN, commands the Amphibious Group One ships and craft in which the troops are embarked. Maj. Gen. G. B. Erskine, USMC, Commanding General of the First Marine Division, is in charge of the Tactical exercises ashore after the amphibious landings.

Navy-Marine Corps teamwork which brought success in the amphibious campaigns of the war is stressed in these exercises which train new men to take the places of the Pacific veterans who are no longer in uniform.

Enough protein now is lost in handling hay to feed 7,500,000 dairy cows for six months, according to dairy nutrition experts.
