

Attempt on Red Chief's Life Ignites Civil Strife in Italy

GENERAL STRIKE CALLED AS MOBS STORM FOREIGN OFFICE AFTER SHOOTING

By NORMAN MONTELLIER
UP Staff Correspondent

ROME, July 14. (UP) — A Sicilian law student shot and seriously wounded Palmiro Togliatti, Italy's Communist boss, today, and his act set all Italy aflame with Red protest demonstrations.

In Rome, the worst civil disorders since the war broke out, and at least 22 persons were injured in the first few hours after Togliatti was shot down as he left the Palace of Parliament by a side door. Police fired into the air to disperse a crowd storming the foreign office with shouts of "assassins."

The Communist controlled National Labor Federation proclaimed a nationwide general strike tonight for an indefinite period. In Rome, Milan, Genoa, Turin and other large cities workers left their jobs without awaiting the national strike call. Buses halted in the streets as drivers walked away.

Troops and police throughout the nation were alerted as Premier Alcide De Gasperi, who called the attempted assassination "the worst thing that could have happened," prepared to take firm measures against disorders.

Public buildings were heavily guarded. Armed police in jeeps patrolled the streets of the large cities. Troops were alerted for swift movement to any danger points.

President Truman to Accept Nomination in Speech Tonight

CONVENTION HALL, Philadelphia, July 14. (UP) — President Truman comes here today to accept the Democratic presidential nomination and try to patch up a party split by factional fights over the platform.

Democratic National Chairman J. Howard McGrath telephoned the White House that Mr. Truman's nomination would be an accomplished fact in time for the president to make his acceptance speech around 10 p.m. (EDT.)

McGrath's marathon convention windup calls for Mr. Truman to arrive here by train about 9 p.m. After the president's first ballot nomination and acceptance are out of the way, the convention is slated to nominate Sen. Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky for vice president.

By the time President Truman gets here, convention officials hope to have cleared away the debris from a bitter Southern floor fight against the civil rights plank in the 1948 campaign platform.

Red Reply on Blockade Is Termed 'Unsatisfactory'

LONDON, July 14. (UP) — Authoritative sources said tonight that the Russian reply to Western Power protests against the Soviet blockade of Berlin was unsatisfactory and "the Berlin crisis goes on."

"There is nothing in the Russian note which changes the situation," these sources said. "The note contains nothing unusual or sensational."

The Russian note was delivered by the Soviet ambassador to the British foreign office earlier today. At the same time, the Russians replied in Washington and Paris to American and French protests similar to that sent by Britain a week ago today.

The emergency British, American and French committee which decided the terms of the protest of the Western Powers against the blockade went into session at the foreign office almost as soon as the Russian note, 12,200 words long, was translated.

Civil Rights Fight Looms On Floor of Convention

CONVENTION HALL, Philadelphia, July 14. (UP) — A Democratic convention floor fight over the crucial civil rights issue appeared inescapable today.

Southerners said they were "determined" to press for a states' rights stand in the party platform.

The announcement was made by former Gov. Dan Moody, of Texas. He said he has drawn up a states' rights plank and will "insist" that it be included in the party platform.

The heart of his proposed plank said: "Traditionally, it has been, and it remains, a part of the faith of the Democratic party that the Federal government shall not encroach upon the reserved powers of the states by centralization of government or otherwise."

Moody's determination to press the plank put an end to the hopes of party leaders that they could avoid a floor fight.

Jews Capture Arab Base In New Push from Haifa

TEL AVIV, July 14. (UP) — Jewish forces today captured Shafa Amr, one of the main Arab bases in northern Palestine, in a new offensive aimed southeastward from the Haifa area.

Fighting flared up briskly in several sectors of the Palestine front despite some prospects for a new truce in response to the appeal by the United Nations security council.

For the second straight day Arab bombers struck at Haifa. When the bombers appeared over the great port city shortly before noon, it was their third thrust within 90 minutes. Anti-aircraft batteries roared into action.

The defense fire forced the raiders to fly high and rattled their aim. The nationality of the planes was not established.

The fall of Shafa Amr, 10 miles east of Haifa, came a few hours after the Jews in midwestern Galilee opened their rush southeastward. The town was a primary base of the so-called Arab Army of Liberation under Fawzi El Kawkji.

Airline Pilots' Union OKs Board Plan to End Strike

CHICAGO, July 14. (UP) — The Air Line Pilots Association (AFL) today announced acceptance of a presidential fact-finding board's recommendations to end a six-month strike against National Airlines.

David L. Behncke, president of the union, said that the strike will not end until the company also accepts the terms. The board, in a report to the White House last Friday, blamed the airline for the strike. It charged the company with failure to try to settle the dispute.

The board recommended that all pilots discharged as a result of the dispute be reinstated, and urged that the company and the union decide on a method of arbitration for future grievances.

ZONING ASKED FOR $200,000 IN DUPLEXES

Canal-LeJeune Bird Road Units Await Approval

Plans for a $200,000 project for building residential type duplexes on Bird Road were revealed today.

The plan was presented to the city commission, sitting as a board of tax equalization, in a letter from Hollis Rinehart Jr., attorney for J. M. Chupp, the proposed builder.

The duplex buildings, which would resemble large residences from the exterior, would be built on both sides of Bird Road in the area from the canal east to LeJeune Road.

The plan had previously been presented to the zoning board of appeals which declined to recommend that zoning in the area be changed from residential to permit the construction of the buildings.

Conference Planned

In his letter to the commission, Rinehart pointed out that increased traffic on Bird Road and the proposed construction of the new high school at Bird and LeJeune had made the sites unsuitable for single family dwellings. He further stated that two boom-time apartments are located in the area.

Rinehart proposed that the commission grant permission for the immediate construction of two of the buildings to show their suitability. Mayor W. Keith Phillips announced that he would confer immediately with members of the zoning board to endeavor to remove obstacles to the project.

Mincer Probes Qualifications Of Two Jurors

Dade County's first Negro grand juror, Dennis N. Daniels, was under investigation today by the state attorney's office which already was busy investigating the qualifications or disqualifications of Juror R. "Red" Rainwater, whose conviction in federal court for the violation of the prohibition law was discovered after he had been selected as a member of the grand jury.

State Attorney Glenn C. Mincer promised that a statement will be made Thursday morning on the Rainwater situation, but volunteered no information on the Daniels case.

City of Miami police records on Daniels were spread over Mincer's desk today. The records revealed that Daniels, operator of a cafe in Miami's Negro section, was charged with a number of misdemeanors and one felony. The felony charged him with operating a gambling house but he entered pleas to a lesser offense of gambling and was fined in criminal court.

Mincer was drafting a motion which is expected to be presented in court Thursday in connection with the Rainwater incident. In addition to the federal court conviction and sentence to two years in the federal prison in 1934 Rainwater was indicted in 1945 by a county grand jury on perjury, but the charge was later dismissed.

COUNTY ACCEPTS RESIGNATION OF SIMMONS

The county commission today accepted the resignation of Marshall E. Simmons as director of the County Veterans' Center and appointed Martin S. Schwartz to act as director until the center closes on October 1.

The appointment of Schwartz was recommended by Joe H. Adams, chairman of the County Veterans' Center. No funds were allowed in the 1948-49 budget by the county budget board for the continued operation of the center.

COOL ZEPHYRS EVEN CHILL PROTESTS OVER ASSESSMENTS

Maybe it was the cool 82-degree temperature and the rain freshened breezes that caused an absence of "hot-under-the-collar" taxpayers at the final meeting of the board of equalization today.

At any rate it was a lot cooler in Coral Gables than in these towns further north:

Employment Service Aides See 'Open House'

Two members of the staff of the Florida State Employment Service visited the Coral Gables Industrial Area today in conjunction with the Open House festivities being held there this week.

Joe L. Staten, employers' service representative and Miss Virginia Gartrell, referral interviewer, were conducted through the area by Col. Jack R. Younger, industrial representative of the Coral Gables Chamber of Commerce.

The officials conferred with manufacturers in the area concerning job opportunities and cooperation between prospective employers and the bureau on problems of supply of qualified labor. Kiwanis Pays Visit

Yesterday afternoon, members of the Coral Gables Kiwanis Club visited the area and visited the plants of the Remann Lumber Company, Protecta Jalousie Company, Modern Textiles, Inc. and the Communications Company, Inc. The Kiwanians, in a special city bus, also cruised through the area and saw the location of the 60 other concerns in the district, and were interviewed by the WBAY man-in-the-street.

On Friday the Coral Gables Rotarians will take a similar trip. Tomorrow has been declared Open House Day for the general public and free busses will leave from the Chamber of Commerce at 12:30 p.m. Daily tours through the area can be taken any day at 12:30 from the Chamber.

PEG-LEG SOUGHT IN DIAMOND THEFT

Miami police today were searching for a man with a wooden leg who is suspected of relieving Mrs. Lucille Martin of 3772 Southwest 27th Terrace of a diamond ring valued at $800 and her wallet containing $8.

Mrs. Martin told police that she met the man and accompanied him to a West Flagler Street bar, later returning home where she missed her wallet and the ring.

Lamar Paxson Stricken at Home; Condition is Reported Serious

Former County Commissioner J. Lamar Paxson, 6915 Granada Boulevard, was reported in serious condition in his home today, following a brain hemorrhage.

The attack occurred at his residence just after he and his wife had completed plans to leave for their summer home in Highlands, North Carolina.

His condition was described as too serious to permit his removal to a hospital.

Gables Trailerite Who Refuses to Move Has City Officials Studying Law Books

Coral Gables city officials today were looking up the law to determine what could be done about a woman who is living in a trailercoach on property she owns here, and who refuses to move.

The trailer occupant is Mary Lindsey, who claims that she purchased the property between Wallace Street and Granada Grove Court just south of Tamiami Trail, before Coral Gables existed.

The situation was brought to the attention of Coral Gables officials yesterday when M. S.

Lions from 6 Latin-American Countries To Be Feted July 21 by Gables Club

A total of 375 Lions, representing six Latin American countries, will visit Coral Gables on July 21 and be entertained at a luncheon at the Country Club of Coral Gables, it was announced today by C. Dana Woodman, president of the Coral Gables Lions Club.

The visitors are delegates to the Lions International convention to be held in New York on July 26 through 29. They will arrive aboard the S.S. Florida, which has been chartered for the event, and will be met at the docks on the 21st by representatives of the seven Lions clubs in Greater Miami.

The delegates will rendezvous in Cuba for the boat trip, arriving there by plane from Venezuela, Peru, Ecuador, Colombia and Guatemala. They will be joined in Havana by the Cuban delegations.

To Tour City
Busses will take the visitors on a sight-seeing trip of the Greater Miami area, including a stop at the Venetian Pool in Coral Gables. They will be greeted at the Country Club at noon by Mayor W. Keith Phillips, Mayor Robert Floyd of Miami and James A. Henderson, president of the Coral Gables Chamber of Commerce. The Chamber is cooperating with the Lions clubs in arranging for the event.

Also on the honor guest list will be the Miami consuls representing the home countries of the delegates. Over 100 members of the Greater Miami Lions clubs will join the Latin Americans at the luncheon.

Woodman said today that the delegates, many of whom will be accompanied by their wives, are representative of the outstanding business and professional fields in South America and Cuba.

The delegation will leave Miami by train for New York at 5 p.m. that evening.

Woodman and L. W. Larson will represent the Coral Gables club at the international convention.

Gableite Wins Exemption for Family Home

Establishing a precedent, the county commission granted a Coral Gables woman, estranged from her husband, homestead tax exemption although the title to the property is in the names of both the husband and the wife.

Application for the exemption was made by Mrs. Maria Desilva Shuman who resides at 6301 Granada Boulevard.

Mrs. Shuman told the commissioners that she purchased the Coral Gables property but her husband William I. Shuman had the deed recorded in both their names.

A divorce action is pending at the present time and Mrs. Shuman claims that her husband, who resides in Jacksonville sought to embarrass her by informing the county tax assessor that he was the owner of the property and that she should not be allowed homestead tax exemption.

Vandals Sought In Light Shooting

A band of youths who are plaguing police by shooting out street lights, continued their depredations last night, extinguishing lights at the intersections of South Greenway Drive and Coral Way, at Granada Boulevard.

The acts of vandalism were reported by L. L. Holt, an employee of the Florida Power and Light Company.

On the night previous, three boys shot out the street light at Hernandez Street and Avenue Palermo and escaped before a squad car arrived.

Last month, three other street lights were shot out in a Gables residential area.

City Fathers End Sessions Held to Hear Protests

ONLY TWO ASK REDUCTIONS IN VALUATIONS PLACED BY ASSESSOR

The Coral Gables city commission concluded its sessions as a board of tax equalization this morning, after hearing only two protests during the three-day period.

No taxpayers appeared at this morning's session to protest assessments on their properties.

Two protests were received during the meetings, one from the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company, asking reduction of a $45,000 assessment on inventory and equipment in the Coral Gables store and one from Dr. J. F. Shallenberger, who requested a reduction in the $18,310 assessment on his home at 1026 Avenue Catalonia. Dr. Shallenberger (Please turn to Page Three)

Gables Girl Wins Weekend at the Waldorf

Miss Betty Ann Beresheim, 15-year-old Coral Gables Youth Center member, has been selected as one of two 'teen-agers from Dade County to enjoy a "week-end at the Waldorf," it was announced today.

Miss Beresheim will make the trip with 16-year-old Ted Hubert of the Uleta Youth Center, the other winner in an essay contest sponsored by Coca-Cola. Mrs. Tom Moore, director of the Coral Gables Youth Center, will make the trip as chaperone.

The winners will spend a week-end in New York, visit the Stork Club and other attractions and appear on the Coca-Cola Spotlight Review program with Dick Jurgens. The program is broadcast over 200 CBS stations and is heard locally over WGBS.

Jim Hartnett of the Coral Gables Youth Center was a runner-up in the contest and won a portable radio. Dal C. Kersey of Miami Springs, also won a radio.

Anna Mae Scheidt of Little River and Louis Frisco of Flagami both won Coca-Cola coolers as third prizes.

Contestants for the essay contest were selected by ballot at the various youth centers in the area. The winners will be guests, this evening, at the Barn Dance at the Coral Gables Center.

Knowles Grove Estate Value Set at $214,651

The estate of Francis E. Knowles, who lived at 4030 Kiasora Street, Coconut Grove, was valued at $214,651.66 in an appraisal filed in probate court today.

Knowles was 79 years old when he died at his home on April 19. Listed in the assets of the estate are 756 shares of Standard Oil of New Jersey valued at $60,480; 300 shares of Standard Oil of Indiana, valued at $13,500 and additional stocks listed at $50,357.50.

The Coconut Grove property was valued at $15,000 and a deposit of $20,458.26 in the Coconut Grove Exchange Bank was listed by the appraisers A. D. Harrison and Frederick A. Kemp.

Knowles' wife, Nellie Parker Knowles of Coconut Grove, and his daughter Elizabeth Knowles Noyes of Manchester, N. H., who are to share the estate equally after a few minor bequests, were named co-executrices in the will.

STAMPS STOLEN FROM GROVEITE SOUGHT BY POLICE

Miami police today were handed the task of locating $1,239.70 in rare postage stamps which were stolen from Miami International Airport last April.

The report was made by Harry N. Moss, insurance adjuster, who reported that the loss had been suffered by Bert Green, rare stamp dealer of 3675 Douglas Road, Coconut Grove.

Moss reported that Green had arrived at the airport and placed his stamp book on top of his luggage while he made a telephone call.

Miami police said that the report was the first they had heard of the loss and one of the largest losses of rare stamps ever reported to them.

Garbage Collector Bitten by Dog

Gables police reported today that George Hodge, a Negro city garbage collector, had been bitten by a dog yesterday while collecting garbage at 519 Avenue San Lorenzo.

Col. A. E. Bodreau, owner of the dog, told police that it was expecting puppies and was inclined to be cross at this time. He said that the dog had been inoculated for rabies, and that he would confine it to prevent any further mishaps.

The theft of tax assessment records from the office of Tax Assessor Thomas C. Blount was revealed at today's meeting of the board of tax equalization.

Blount informed the city commission, sitting as an equalization board, that someone had succeeded in getting into his office when it was vacant, and ripping an entire sheet from the tax roll book. The act was discovered when the tax assessor was in the process of a recapitulation of tax roll figures. When the roll for Coconut Grove Section 1 did not check with a previous adding machine total, Blount discovered that the sheet had been torn from the ledger.

He stated that the theft was probably committed by someone who had hoped to avoid payment of taxes on his property by removing the sheet containing the property description and assessment from the ledger.

To Replace Page
Blount said that the thief will fall in his intent, as he has a duplicate set of the assessments on his recapitulation sheet and will be able to replace the page.

The missing sheet contained assessments and descriptions of property in Block 15 of Coconut Grove Section 1.

Blount said that it would have been impossible for the thief to have achieved his purpose, as the missing sheet threw the ledger-out of balance, making a re-check necessary.

The amount of tax money that would have been saved, if it had been possible for the theft to go undetected, would have been negligible, inasmuch as that particular section is zoned for houses of 1409 square feet.

Chamber to Set Ad Campaign Figure Tonight

Members of the board of directors of the Coral Gables Chamber of Commerce are expected to set the appropriation for this year's advertising campaign when they meet tonight at the Country Club of Coral Gables.

Last year, in cooperation with the city, the Chamber's advertising committee launched the city's first national advertising campaign since boom days, spending approximately $9,000 in national magazines and northern newspapers.

Mrs. James B. Moore, executive secretary and manager, will report on the recent Southeastern Institute of Commercial Organization Secretaries, which she attended at Chapel Hill, N. C.

LAUNDRY CLERK IDENTIFIES MAN AS ASSAILANT

Marion P. Emery, 28, unemployed, of 6533 SW 35th Street, has been charged with criminally attacking a 50-year-old widow employed by a Coral Gables laundry. The woman yesterday identified her assailant in a line-up with five other persons in the Coral Gables police station, according to Claude High, chief criminal deputy in the sheriff's office.

According to Deputies B. W. Howden and J. T. Kersey, Emery was arrested on a general description given deputies by the woman, who claimed that Emery, a stranger to her, forced his way into her home and attacked her on July 8.

A warrant charging Emery with rape has been issued by Justice of the Peace O. B. Sutton. No date has been set for a preliminary hearing.

What's This? Convention Sans Smoke?

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
UP Staff Correspondent
PHILADELPHIA, July 14 (UP)
How much smoke is there in a smoke-filled room?
Not as much as you would think at the Democratic convention.

I had heard the City of Philadelphia had a smoke indicator which it used to measure the pall that once hung over the city. I thought it must be a big hunk of machinery. I called Herb Packer, at the City Health office. He said he was busy counting smoke rings at the moment, but to come over.

As I walked into Herb's office he shook me by the hand and offered me his smoke indicator. It turned out to be a simple chart—made of paper. About the size of a postcard.

All you have to do is squint one eye, look through a little hole. You're supposed to be an expert to do it, so I took an expert along. Herb. He said the thing to do is to hold the thing at arm's length and have a look through the hole. "Compare the smoke," Herb instructed, "with the markings on the chart—determining the shade in the chart most nearly corresponding to the density of the smoke."

We first went to President Truman's headquarters. A couple of old men were asleep there. Not smoking, of course. No density. Things perked up a little at the headquarters of Senator Joseph O'Mahoney. The folks from Wyoming had stirred up a 20 percent density, it said on the chart.

A lot of lovely ladies had gathered in the spot held down by Paul V. McNutt, who used to be governor of Indiana and who wouldn't mind being vice president. Density 40 percent.

And so it went. From dense to denser.

Senator Alben Barkley, Senator Claude Pepper of Florida, and so on. Density about the same.

No matter how much smoke you found in the various headquarters, you could be sure of one thing. It was hot everywhere.

State Schools Get $37,500,000 To Run System

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., July 14 (UP)—Florida's schools had $37,545,561 today of their record $41,750,000 appropriation to operate on this year. The other $4,000,000 is being held as an emergency reserve.

The state cabinet was told yesterday that it must release the huge sum so that the state's schools could handle 26,000 more students this year.

The cabinet, with Attorney General J. Tom Watson making one of his rare appearances, barely had a quorum present. Secretary of State R. A. Gray presided in the absence of Gov. Millard Caldwell, now at the Democratic National Convention.

The state executives also rescinded their June 29 action limiting salary increases in state departments to 10 percent.

Gray said he thought the earlier action had resulted from a "misunderstanding," and Watson commented that the cabinet had "no authority to limit salaries as long as they come within the budgets."

The Agriculture Department's budget was approved for $3,910,397 with $309,000 being held in reserve.

Railroad That Isn't Pays Dividends

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (UP)—The Rochester and Genesee Valley Railroad is the only line in the nation entirely debt free. But, then, the railroad isn't running, either.

However, for a railroad which doesn't run, the R. & G. V. does not do badly for its stockholders. It pays them a total annual dividend of four percent on $558,200. And that dividend is guaranteed every year until 2051.

It happened this way: In 1851 the railroad was organized by a group of Rochesterians to run from Rochester to Avon. It had a capital structure of $555,200 and a 200-year franchise.

In 1871, the Erie Railroad wanted to buy the R. & G. V. The stockholders refused to sell, but they offered to lease the line to the Erie in return for a guaranteed annual return of six percent of the capitalization.

The Erie agreed and a lease was signed running until 2051. Since then the Erie has had all the responsibility, and the R. & G. V. stockholders have just collected dividends.

Once, however, in the early 1940s the stockholders agreed to make a concession to the Erie. They allowed the interest rate to be lowered to four percent.

Five states have women superintendents of public instruction. They are Colorado, Iowa, Montana, Nevada and Wyoming.

Kentuckians Ask Barkley To Seek Presidential Spot

PHILADELPHIA, July 14. (UP)— Fellow Kentuckians called on Sen. Alben W. Barkley today to urge him to become a nominee for president instead of vice president. The conference started in Barkley's hotel suit shortly before noon. Closeted with Barkley were Gov. Earl Clements, and Lt. Gov. Lawrence Wetherby, of Kentucky, and Wilson W. Wyatt, former housing expediter and former mayor of Louisville. Wyatt said as he entered the room that he was going to place Barkley's name in nomination. "For president or vice president?" a reporter asked. "I don't know," Wyatt said. "That's what we're going to talk about."

Childbirth Made Less Painful

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (UP)— Childbirth pains are just a old wives' tale to 80 per cent of the mothers who have babies at the University of Michigan hospital. The hospital's maternity ward makes extensive use of caudal anesthesia, which virtually eliminates pain while the mother remains awake all during the birth process. Dr. Raymond L. Haas, assistant professor of obstetrics and gynecology at the university medical school, pointed out that caudal anesthesia is entirely different from spinal anesthesia, an alternate method of reducing labor pains. "In caudal anesthesia, the drug is injected in the lower end of the spine and blocks the nerves to the organs of birth. In the spinal method the drug is put directly into the spinal fluid," Dr. Haas said. Dr. Haas said caudal anesthesia is not routed through the lungs and does not interfere with either the mother's or the baby's breathing process. The use of caudal anesthesia has not become extensive because of the special training required to administer it, Dr. Haas said.

Slum Clearance Found Declining

CHICAGO (UP)— Slum clearance in the United States is virtually at a standstill, a planning official reports. Walter Blucher, director of the American Society of Planning Officials, blamed the shortage of housing. "Let us not kid ourselves about urban re-development," Blucher said. "We have legislation providing for slum clearance in 24 states but almost nothing has been done." Public housing, financed by cities, states and the federal government, must accompany any reconstruction done by private enterprise, Blucher said. "The hard fact is," Blucher said, "that many of the laws contemplate rebuilding of blighted areas and that there are no housing facilities available for those who will be displaced from the slums and blighted areas."

Bells From All Over In Priest's Collection

NEWPORT, R. I. (UP)—Collecting bells from all over the world is the hobby of the Rev. Edward A. Higney, 80, pastor of St. Joseph's Catholic Church. Father Higney began his collection some 25 years ago with the 50-cent purchase of a small hand bell in Gibraltar. He added another in Paris and after he had bought a third one in Quebec, word circulated that he was a bell collector. Since then he hasn't paid for a single chime and has received more than 300 bells the gifts from friends, relatives and strangers throughout the world.

S. Miami Sets End Sessions Held to Hear Protests

Citizens of the City of South Miami will have an opportunity to discuss an estimated 50 percent tax hike for the coming year when the city council meets tonight at 9 p.m. in a special open meeting for that purpose.

When the proposed budget was submitted to the council at last Wednesday's meeting the members were unwilling to approve it "without consulting the people who will foot the bill."

Acting Mayor W. T. Clark will preside at tonight's meeting. Formerly chairman of the council, he succeeded E. L. Thompson, who resigned the mayoralty prior to the meeting on July 7.

According to Mrs. Sylvia G. Martin, city clerk, the budget calls for an increase of $15,467 in operating expenses. Total operating expenses have been set at $31,702, with $445 allotted for publicity and $15,590 for parkways, street maintenance and lighting.

Balancing the budget would require a boost in millage from 23 to 30, Mrs. Martin told the council last week. South Miami's assessment roll is nearly double that of the previous year at $2,436,230 but Homestead Exemptions have cut 48 percent of that figure or approximately $1,040,430 from the taxable rolls. The city charter limits the assessment on that net figure to 50 percent of the appraised value. Personal property has been assessed at $238,220.

The city council met as a tax equalization board Monday and Tuesday evenings without hearing any complaints, Mrs. Martin said. They will meet again at 8 p.m. tonight for that purpose prior to the open budget hearing meeting.

Miami Files Answer in Hospital Suit

The city of Miami today filed an answer to the "friendly" suit which attacks that legality of the city transferring Jackson Memorial Hospital to the county and asks that the suit be dismissed. The suit, filed by A. J. Cleary, head of the Dade County Blood Bank, charged that the city would suffer injury should the transfer be made January 1, and that the city commission was without legal authority to make the transfer.

In the city's answer it is stated that the city will not lose use of the property and that the county through its broader taxing authority will be able to enlarge the facilities of the hospital and encourage the foundation of a medical college and center and cancer research bureau.

Care of the county charity cases, which have cost the city $5,000,000 over the past five years, will be the responsibility of the county after the transfer and thereby save the city money, it is stated in the answer. No date has been set for a hearing which will be scheduled before Circuit Judge Marshall C. Wiseheart.

Citrus Products Boon To Nursing Mothers

McALLEN, Texas (UP)—From orange and grapefruit peels have come products which may increase the food-giving supply of mothers. R. B. Myers, general manager of Universal Colloids, Inc., said a new process of dehydration of citrus peels had increased its absorption ability of water from four per cent to 10 per cent. Mothers in a maternity ward, given the new dehydrated peel, found their milk supply greatly increased, he said. Experiments in the dehydration process are continuing to see if the product has commercial values.

Survives Broken Neck After Fall at 73

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UP)—Wilbur W. Wise, 73, is a rugged man. When Wise was 73, a scaffold on which he was working collapsed and he fell 15 feet to a pile of broken brick. His neck was broken. Physicians say broken bones of a man his age seldom heal quickly or properly. Members of his family envisioned a long period of helplessness for Wise. But he fooled the experts. His bones healed rapidly. Today he has thrown aside his brace and gets around as well as though the accident had never happened.

Grass Roots

By Jim Moore

The proponents of the now deceased Dade-Miami merger bill are still flailing about trying to find ways to say that their "noble cause" was defeated in spite of the will of the people instead of by the will of the people.

Before the election, they were loud in their cries of "Let the people decide!" When the majority of the people did decide, they refused to accept their decision and have been casting about for any means whatsoever with which to rationalize.

The latest to join the mourners at the wailing wall is one Thomas W. Hagan, editorial writer for the Miami Daily News, who quotes Alfred Schindler, former under-secretary of commerce, to try to tell us that the merger plan failed because it lacked "grass roots" drive.

Hagan quotes Schindler as telling of a city with an ambitious program which died aborning because the people refused to accept it.

"They refused to accept it because they didn't know very much about it. Those who created the plan were unable to make clear to those who were expected to accept it that their support was needed," Mr. Schindler is quoted as saying.

Now in the first place, Mr. Schindler was not talking about the Dade-Miami merger, which in my opinion the majority of the people refused to accept because it was so confused, so ambiguous and so full of evils that it scared them to death.

But Mr. Hagan is trying to use Mr. Schindler to prove that the merger plan was defeated because the proponents "neglected the grass roots assistance available in every community."

I believe that he is a little twisted in his interpretation. To my way of thinking it was the "grass roots assistance" of the 17 smaller communities of Dade County that actually defeated the plan. They defeated it because they saw in the ill-advised merger bill a threat to the very things they had worked so long for in their various communities. They saw a threat to their very independence in the confused wording of the plan.

They were assisted in their defeat by hundreds of residents of Dade County and Miami who did not vote on the question, because the plan itself confused and puzzled them. They refused to approve "a pig in a poke" because of the proponents of the idea refused to present a clear-cut working plan of their idea. Instead they shouted Utopian phrases, ambiguous promises and very little else.

Mr. Hagan claims that the plan was defeated by "powerful political, profit and criminal interests in the status quo." In making such a statement he hurls an insult into the faces of the "grass roots" people of Coral Gables and our neighboring communities who saw just such interests lurking behind the merger bill, and who arose in their indignation to defeat it.

But then name calling by Mr. Hagan or any of the other backers of the bill won't bring it back to life. Such tactics will only serve to convince the voters that they were right in the first place.

All in a Day

By GEORGE McNEILL RAY

There's no doubt about vegetables from Georgia being better in taste and color than Florida's. I know, because recently I had the chance to see for myself and to make comparisons. It had been quite a spell since I had this opportunity, and believe me, it was wonderful.

The greenery was truly green all the way through to the core. The yellow was really yellow. Everything I tasted lacked that Florida sun-touch of a kiss, though Georgia's sun does fairly well in its own rights. But the soil means the difference, guess.

At first I thought it was the change of scenery, of eating in another's home. But it wasn't long until I knew, once and for all, that I wasn't kidding myself about good old Georgia vegetables being the best. Yep, it was Georgia's sun, climate and soil, all heaped into one source that made the difference. I could easily say it was the most unusual food I'd put my lips to in many a day. Good old Georgia, I kept saying. I tried to reason that it was my sister's art of cooking. But, no...! Cooking art or no cooking art, it was plain to see that Georgia had it on Florida's vegetables.

On leaving my folks I reassured myself with, "well, Pat, that's the best eatin' I've done in a long time. But, after all, you can't beat good old Georgia vegetables, now can you?" With upraised eyebrows, Pat queried, "Georgia? Where'd you get that Georgia stuff? Every bite of vegetables you've eaten was shipped in!" "Must have been Alabama or Tennessee," I replied. "None. Neither one," she strongly asserted. "Where, then?" I hurried.

"Florida, of course," she smiled, as I made my way to the car. And fast.

RECORD REVIEWS

Concert Music

NEW YORK (UP)—Evidently the tastes of record buyers are precisely measurable. How else can you account for competing record makers forever exploiting the same composers at the same time? This year so far Schumann and Brahms have had their innings. Now Ravel and Richard Strauss are having theirs.

The current Ravels are "La Valse" and "Spanish Rhapsody," issued respectively by Columbia and RCA Victor. The current Richard Strausses are "Burlesque," a sort of piano concerto, and "Der Rosenkavalier" suite, issued respectively by RCA Victor and Columbia.

Rhapsodic Performance

As regards recording and performance, the choice Ravel is the Rhapsody, played by the Boston Symphony under Serge Koussevitzky (two 12-in. alb.). Koussevitzky lets down his hair to the last pin and surely the very essence of being rhapsodic is to let yourself go. The music is delightful.

"La Valse" played by the Pittsburgh Symphony under Fritz Reiner (two 12-in. alb.) suffers from an over-interpretation and also from a not-too-good recording. Of course, it is a more difficult score. The composer is trying to convey a story, an attitude, and his own characteristic personality simultaneously. Conscientious Reiner undoubtedly was trying to make them all come out in balanced proportion. Probably it is no fault of his that they don't. "La Valse" is not by unanimous consent any masterpiece.

"Der Rosenkavalier" suite is played by the Philadelphia Orchestra under Eugene Ormandy (three 12-in. alb.). It is rich, engaging, always self-sustaining and the conductor gives you a sense of satisfaction—he's got everything out of it that it has.

Casual Pianists

You don't feel such satisfaction in the performance of Claudio Arrau and the Chicago Symphony, under Desire Defauw, of the "Burlesque." For all of his great technical skill, Arrau seems casual and it isn't interesting in what he is playing, why should you be? Anyway, it is very young Strauss and complicated without being sure. It takes half of the five 12-inch album and the other half is given over to Weber's perennial show piece, "Konzertstück." The recording is mediocre.

But the Strauss deluge has produced the best single the reviewer has heard in weeks. It is the first recording of the perfumed but turbulent love scene from the composer's early and almost forgotten opera, "Feuersnot," made by Sir Thomas Beecham and the Royal Philharmonic, (RCA Victor; 12-in.).

Another offering out of the beaten path is an album of polkas by the pre-eminent composer in that Bohemian dance form, Bedrich Smetana, performed by Erno Balogh, pianist (Vox; three 12-in.). In addition to novelty, they offer grace, rhythm, timelessness and surprising depth. Balogh plays them well.

UP AND DOWN BROADWAY

By JACK GAVER
United Press Drama Editor

NEW YORK (UP)—The British actor-producer, Laurence Olivier, who seems to have dedicated himself to putting Shakespeare's plays onto film, has done a good job with "Hamlet."

The film will not be available to the public until it opens next month in Boston on a road-show basis.

Last year about this time there was excitement among the intelligentsia over his first Shakespearean film, "Henry V," which was a good job in many ways but which certainly was never intended to appeal to the average movie-goer.

There were half a dozen lengthy scenes in it which were so much gibberish to anyone who had not familiarized himself with the play before attending the movie.

That was due to the fact that Olivier wanted to be as true to Shakespeare as possible and refused to compromise on the confusing passages, even though he must have known that the average person is unfamiliar with "Henry V."

Play Understandable

"Hamlet" is a different matter because of its single, undeviating story line and most people have at least a vague idea of what it is all about. They may not like it, but there is nothing in it they can't understand.

Olivier, of course, plays the title role and does a magnificent job. He also directed, produced and supervised preparation of the text, so the result is one of those rare integrated works that the movies seldom turn out.

The speech of all in the cast is clearly understandable and free of the curse of the British accent, which so many Americans complain they cannot understand. The text has been moulded and trimmed so that even the longest soliloquies are interspersed with action that makes them acceptable from the screen.

On two occasions, Olivier uses the technique of "thinking" a speech in which his lips do not move but his voice is heard reading the lines.

There is a surprising amount of humor injected in such scenes as Polonius' advice to Laertes, the word duel between Polonius and Hamlet and Hamlet's advice to the players. Some departures from the ordinary stage production are the exclusion of the Rosencranz and Guildenstern characters and the use of only one gravedigger. Also contrary to the stage, the role of the king (played by Basil Sydney) shows to better advantage than that of the queen (played by Eileen Herlie).

Players Hand-Picked

Every player is a hand-picked expert. Especially effective are Felix Aylmer as Polonius, Terence Morgan as Laertes and Jean Simmons as Ophelia.

Miss Simmons is a youngster who can be tabbed right now as a great actress of the future. She has a face you'll never forget and already possesses a sureness of technique that few achieve. Like our own Helen Hayes, she impresses as being an actress who will be equally at home in comedy or tragedy.

Now, if they'll only cut 30 or 40 minutes from the picture, it will be much better. It can be done without any damage to the story because as it stands now a lot of time is devoted to atmospheric camera shots that are not necessary.

Olivier made the film for J. Arthur Rank and distribution in this country is under the auspices of the Theater Guild and Universal-International.

Reviewing the New Books

By United Press

Bill Henry, sports enthusiast, globe trotter and one of America's top-echelon reporters has completed "An Approved History of the Olympic Games" (Putnam, $5). This is an Olympic year, and Henry's contribution to a better understanding of the sports classic is both notable and timely.

The author's reputation has been built on his skill as a broadcaster and a newspaper columnist. It was from radio that his interest in sports developed. As early as 1923, Bill Henry was reporting sports events over the air. He was the moving spirit behind the 1932 Olympics in Los Angeles. He helped cover the 1936 Olympics in Berlin. He was in Finland four years later to cover the 1940 games when war ruled them out.

The book makes available to sports fans a multitude of little-known facts concerning the early history of the games, such interesting details as the diet and training habits of the early Olympians. A complete listing of all winners in the modern Olympic games is included.

Iceland has not yet become a tourists' playground, but that is not due to lack of attractions. In this happy, healthful land of 132,000 people, Agnes Rothery found fine scenery, crystal clear atmosphere, plenty of good food and charming hospitable inhabitants. Temperature ranges from 33 degrees in the winter to 50 in the summer due to the Gul Stream. Miss Rothery, an experienced traveler and prolific author of travel books, writes engagingly of a land that is bound to become increasingly important from many standpoints. "Iceland, New World Outpost" (Viking, $3.75).

Another volume for the movie library is "The Art of the Film" by Ernest Lindgren (Macmillan, $4.50). Lindgren is an English critic and his book sets forth the fundamentals of film criticism in such fashion as to make easily understandable the various techniques in direction, editing, etc. It is profusely illustrated with pertinent shots from films of all countries.

W. G. Rogers has succeeded in giving a warm picturization of Gertrude Stein through his friendship with her. Miss Stein emerges from the pages of his book as a thoroughly likeable and fascinating woman, humane rather than an oddity, and brilliant company rather than uninteresting and trying.

Mr. Rogers accepts her brilliance as a fact, and strives to introduce her less familiar personal side. He met her quite by chance during the first World War, and their friendship lasted throughout the years, including her famed companion Alice and, later, his wife. Rogers tells about trips they all made together. The book, "When This You See Remember Me (Rinehart, $3), does not attempt to examine her works closely, but it does succeed in presenting a warm, likeable person and erasing many of the peculiar fancies that have gained currency regarding Gertrude Stein.

Older than its own league is the baseball club known today as the Boston Braves. Indeed, the National League was formed because the Braves, called the Reds before the beginning of the century had won too many pennants from others in the first professional group of teams.

The whole story of the club that once raced from last place to first in ten weeks and swept on to take the World Series, is told in Harold Kaese's "The Boston Braves" (Putnam, $3). An informal, thorough and lively story, one to convert many a fan's armchair into a grand stand seat.

It Says Here

By PATRICIA CLARY
UP Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—Movie audiences are due for relief from German gutturals and Scottish burrs they can't make sense of through the crunch of popcorn. The newest wrinkle for portraying foreigners is to say the words the same but twist them around.

The idea is that if you hear an actor talking reasonably plain English but tacking all his verbs on the end of his sentences, then you'll know right away he's German. If he inquires, "Speak you French?" you'll know he's French. That's the way the words are arranged in the French phrase, "Parlez-vous Francais?"

The No. 1 exponent of the new technique is Roland Winters, who is the Chinese detective, Charlie Chan, in the Monogram series, and now plays a Scottish sea captain in the Monogram movie version of Robert Louis Stevenson's "Kidnapped."

"If an actor uses the same accent a foreigner would in speaking English, most people won't be able to understand him," Winters said. "But if he just uses the slightest suggestion of an accent, combined with a phrasing typical of the character's own language, then audiences will get the idea and know what he's saying, too."

The cast of the picture is getting advice on Scottish customs and dialect from Tom McDowall, father of the star, Roddy McDowall, who has closely studied the country.

Dialect Modified

McDowall, Lindsley Parsons, the producer, and Winters agreed that a sea captain, which Winters plays, would have an "international flavor" to his Scottish accent. His dialect was modified to take account of that.

Winters has used his technique in speaking the parts of everything from Afghans to Yaquis on the radio for years before he took the Charlie Chan role.

It comes in handy in playing the Chinese, too. He words his sentences as they might be phrased by an Oriental just learning to speak English and having to work out each sentence in his native tongue first.

Lee Bowman can't find any place to invest his money, and he's afraid, when this news gets out, he never will. Everything Bowman invests in suddenly goes broke.

It's a sort of a financial kiss of death.

"All I have to show on the plus side for two ventures," he said, "is a snapshot of me with six trout."

Bowman tried to take a hand in business, on the advice of friends. They thought he ought to make his money work for him, instead of working for his money, as he's doing in Michael Curtiz's Warner Bros. production, "My Dream Is Yours."

"That was the way I learned that my place is on the stage, or the tennis court, or home—or any place except a business office," he said.

Bowman invested in a summer theater one year.

Quit Too Soon

At the end of the season the company, rather deep in debt, paid off 10 cents on the dollar.

"The following year they asked me to go in again," Bowman said. "I said uh-uh. I'd learned my lesson."

Bowman tried a new tack. He bought stock in a gold mine near Placerville, Cal. There were regular assessments, too, for developing the property, repairing the shaft, and reconditioning the mill.

When he got some time off from the studio, Bowman and his wife went up to see the "diggings." At least, he remarked, he got that new word out of the deal.

"It was the biggest hole in the ground for miles around," he said. "The crew turned out to be one lonely man who showed us around. The only piece of machinery in working order was a pump used to pump water out of the thing."

"The man said he was hopeful there was gold to be had. But he was more hopeful about the fish in the stream. "So, he lent us a pole and we went fishing."

LYNCHBURG, Va. (UP)—World War IV will be fought with bows and arrows, a noted Christian educator said here. Dr. P. W. Slosson of the University of Michigan told Methodist Young Adults that "history has proved that man can survive the atomic age and conflicts, though he will emerge crippled."

Even Water Costs More

CARLISLE, Pa. (UP)—Consumers in this community have been paying no more for one of the necessities of life than they did in 1878. Water rates have not changed in 70 years. But the times have caught up. A new rate schedule will increase water prices an average of 40 percent.

News of Social Import in the Coral Gables Area

Gablesgrams

By HELEN REYNOLDS, SOCIETY EDITOR

Fourteen teenager friends of Miss Laura Copeland will be her guests at the regular club buffet dinner and dance tonight at the Country Club of Coral Gables. Laura and her mother, Mrs. Olive S. Copeland of 1133 North Greenway Drive are leaving next week on a plane trip to Harrisburg, Pennsylvania to visit friends. They will include a trip to New York City to see the shows and to shop in their three or four weeks vacation trip.

Miss Reynolds, Junior Group of the Pan American League has issued invitations for a cocktail party at seven thirty o'clock Thursday night at the Atlantic Towers Hotel, Miami Beach. Showing of Cuban films will be a feature of the party.

Mrs. R. R. Hogan of "White Gate" Charlottesville, Va., writes of her new grandson, born July seventh to Mr. and Mrs. John L. Hamilton, nee Patricia Paine, at Washington, D. C. The new baby, (she didn't give his name) weighed in at seven and three quarter pounds. His brother Colin is staying for a time at the Hogan's country place. Mrs. Hogan also said the Harry Murrays of 2214 Granada Boulevard dropped in to see them, enroute North.

Leaving Friday on a brief motor trip up-state are Dr. and Mrs. Curtis Haggard and their two youngsters Pat and Andy. Owing a boat on which they took frequent trips down the Keys always seemed sufficient for summer time vacations for them all, said Mrs. Haggard, who is the new Dade County Federation of Women's Club corresponding secretary. However, now that the children are older, Dr. and Mrs. H. think they should see something of their own State. Incidentally a visit to Silver Springs, which is on their itinerary, will be also a "first" for the doctor and his Missus. Returning through Orlando, Pat who is ten, will stay for a week's visit with her little friend and former neighbor, Lu Woodall and will come on home by herself via the air routes.

Names are interesting and because we mixed up the given names of both Miss Patricia Gleason and her mother, Mrs. Virginia Gleason in a recent Kappa Delta sorority story, featuring both these outstanding college women, we learned how they came by their names. Virginia claims she was named for the state in which she was born by a doting father, Alfred R. Truslow whose ancestors were English. "However, if I had been a boy my daddy would have named me 'West Virginia' he was that loyal to his State," laughingly exclaimed the Beta Province president, Mrs. G. Roy Gleason (our Virginia).

Patricia, named by her mother and daddy, chose the middle name "Louise" for her own—in exactly the same manner her mother did; she picked the name for herself after she had grown old enough to do so.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry N. Rath who left the Gables the middle of June, are pleasantly situated in an apartment in Hamilton, N. Y., Helen Rath writes, after visits in Utica and Ithaca. "We have an apartment sublet from the "math" teacher and I am surely enjoying it—cooking my head off, as we are so hungry," Mrs. R. says. "Mr. Rath is in charge of a dozen or more GI's who are painting the Veterans Village. Their ages run from freshmen to graduate students working towards their masters or doctors degrees. They are very interesting but none of them knows one thing about "painting"."

Frank and Gladys Webster, winter residents at 1407 ElRado Street, send a penny postcard to indicate they are in the blanket brigade. They are summering in Whitefield, New Hampshire, after visits to Montreal and Quebec, in Canada.

Miss Helmbold Is Party Host For Bride-Elect

Carrying out a dainty pink parasol theme, even on the small shower cards which bid guests to the party, Miss Roxie Helmbold entertained at her home last night with a surprise lingerie shower for Miss Anne Morrow, bride-elect of Joseph Coppedge Jr.

Twenty-six of the honoree's friends, most of whom were Chi Omega sorority sisters, gathered at the Helmbold home, 4300 Palm-arito Street, at eight o'clock for the surprise courtesy.

Forming the centerpiece for the dining room table was a pink parasol laden with gifts for the bride-elect.

Pink cakes and ice cream molded in the shape of pink parasols, further carried out the general motif.

Assisting Miss Helmbold with the shower were Miss Jean Mixon and Mrs. W. T. Mixon.

MRS. WATSON, SON DAVID ON LONG TRIP

Mrs. Spear Watson of 2418 North Greenway Drive and her son David, have left for a two month's travel trip via the East Coast.

They will visit relatives in Washington, D.C., Wilmington, Delaware, Pocomo Lake Preserve and Pelham Manor, New York. They hope to do some sight-seeing as far north as Canada and the Gaspe country.

David, Ponce June graduate, is enrolled as a post graduate at McDonogh School near Baltimore for the coming year, and will enter at the end of his vacation. Mrs. Watson expects to return to her home about the middle of September.

Mrs. Watson's second son Beve left a short time ago on a round trip bus excursion to California and return with stop overs in all of the principal places of interest.

West Miamians Enjoy Cruise; Plan Benefit Party

Members of the West Miami Jewish Center will gather tonight at eight o'clock at 1000 S. W. 67th Avenue for their regular monthly meeting.

Guest speaker of the evening will be Rabbi Murray Grauer. During the meeting, plans will be made for the card party which the group will give August 7th at the Coral Gables Woman's Club.

In celebration of becoming a chartered organization, a moonlight cruise aboard the "Seven Seas" was enjoyed by the group recently.

In existence only eight weeks, the center now has fifty-three charter members and sixty paid up members.

Proceeds from the moonlight cruise, which was the first social event the club has undertaken, went towards payment on the land which the center will soon acquire for a clubhouse.

In charge of arrangements for the cruise was Mrs. Jack Nemeth, social chairman of the center.

Daughter Born To Duncan Cooks

Mr. and Mrs. Duncan Cook, 1237 Ferdinand Street, wanted their first child to be a girl, and they weren't disappointed.

She's Elizabeth Louise Cook and she was born June 16 at the Coral Gables Hospital.

Weighing seven pounds and five ounces at the time of birth, the new addition to the Cook family was named for both her maternal and paternal grandmothers.

Northern, Western Vacation Spots Attract Travel-Minded Gableites, South Miamians

Planning to visit "a million relatives" in Winston-Salem, North Carolina, soon are Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Dauerheim, 2707 North Greenway Drive.

The Dauerheims will fly up to Winston-Salem the latter part of this month for a three week visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George R. Simmons.

"It'll take us that long to get around to see all of my relatives right there in the same town," exclaimed Mrs. Dauerheim as she explained that she had "just oodles of kin folks," in the North Carolina city.

In San Diego, California today is Mrs. C. E. Smith, 704 Miller Road, South Miami, who left yesterday to visit her parents there.

While she is in California, Capt. Smith, who is a pilot with Pan American, will be in Europe where he has been sent by his company.

The Smiths will not return to South Miami for several months.

K. M. Ulrich Returns From Stay in Denmark Where Days Are 22 Hours Long, Nights, 2

From the land of the midnight sun to the land of "Truman's 30 cent solar system," K. M. Ulrich returned home, Monday night after a six-week visit with his mother, Mrs. Regitze Ulrich, in Fano, Denmark.

"Now I'll know when night comes without having to look at a clock," quipped the Gableite as he explained that for the past six weeks his twenty-four hour days have consisted of two hours of dusk and twenty-two hours of daylight. In spite of all the sun, however, Mr. Ulrich reported that during his entire stay, they had to have a fire going inside his mother's home, and, what is more, he was forced to don his camel's hair coat on numerous occasions.

"Conditions in Fano have improved greatly since my sister was there a year ago," Mr. Ulrich reported. "Even the food situation wasn't as bad as it has been in the past."

Upon entering the country, the Gableites received a supply of ration tickets sufficient to last him during his visit. With food he sent ahead prior to arriving in Fano, and with these ration tickets he said that he definitely "didn't get hungry."

Perhaps the most enjoyable part of his visit was the birthday party given for his mother on June 19th.

"Around seventy-five people were there," he estimated.

Because of this birthday, Mr. Ulrich, who hadn't seen his mother in twenty years, arranged his trip so he could be in Fano during the month of June.

Traveling to and from the Denmark town via American International Airlines, this was the Gableite's first plane trip, and, al-

An exciting two months vacation visiting their married sister in Scottsdale, Pennsylvania, is the realized dream of Rae Agnes and Patsy La Pointe, teenaged daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin C. La Pointe, of 700 Alhambra Circle.

The girls left yesterday by through bus on their first trip outside the State. In Scottsdale they will visit Mr. and Mrs. J. M. McLaughlin, nee Mary Margaret LaPointe, and make the acquaintance of their brand new niece, Maureen Terese, three and a half months old.

Climaxing their stay will be attendance at the first professional football game late in August, in which the "great" Notre Dame football star, Johnny Lujack, will play.

When he finally arrived, the couple spent a few days in the Empire City, and visited Mrs. Ulrich's sister, Mrs. James Ronde, Mr. Ronde, and daughter, Connie.

Connie, according to her Gables aunt, now has the title of "Miss New York," and she is preparing to enter the national beauty contest at Atlantic City soon.

After their visit in New York, the Ulrichs went to Madison and North Orange, New Jersey, to see some of their friends before returning home.

Now that they're home, are the Gableites going to be content to stay home at 324 Avenue Madiera for awhile?

"No, indeed," exclaimed Mrs. Ulrich who says that they're already making plans for a trip together to Denmark.

"Next time we'll go by boat," revealed the Gableite who believes that there are more interesting things to do than wait in New York for a plane that should have reached its destination twenty-seven hours ago.

Accompanied by her mother, Mrs. W. H. Rothgeb of 315 Avenue Navarre, Mrs. Ulrich drove to Elgin, Illinois with the Anthony Roths. Enroute, the travellers stopped off in Mentone, Tennessee to see Mrs. Ulrich's son, John, who is attending Camp Cloudmont.

From Elgin, Mrs. Ulrich and her mother journeyed to Ottawa, Illinois, to visit Miss Louise Grove, cousin of Mrs. Ulrich.

Leaving her mother in Ottawa, where she will stay until she goes to Minnesota to visit her son prior to returning home in October, Mrs. Ulrich boarded a train for New York, where she met her husband.

It's a Boy!

Charles William Dabney Jr., is now "at home" with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Dabney, at 1120 Tangier Street.

The junior Charles was born on the eighth day of June at Jackson Memorial Hospital. His weight at birth was nine pounds and six ounces.

Baby Charles is the first son for the Dabneys who also have a daughter, Artha Gay Dabney.

Robert Corbetts Have New Son

His maternal grandfather's first name, and his own father's middle name, were put together to form baby Alfred Burns Corbett's present title.

Born June 8 at Jackson Memorial Hospital, and weighing eight pounds and twelve ounces at birth, little Alfred is the second son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Corbett, 2626 S.W. 33 Court. Alfred's brother is Robert Dell, seventeen months old.

Gables Girls Plan Nursing Careers

New Residents of Coral Gables Find Our Town Lives Up to Expectations

When the Marshall Hopes were living near Homestead during the war years, Mrs. Hope decided then and there to live in the Gables one of these days.

"I knew I'd like the Gables better than anyplace else," she explained, and added, "and I wasn't wrong a bit."

Capt. Hope, who is a pilot with National Air Lines, was recently transferred here from Los Angeles, California. With his wife and son, Marshall Jr., he has leased the home at 438 Avenue Navarre.

Visitors From Deep South Find Coral Gables Ideal Summer Vacation Retreat

Almost mistaking South Miami for Coral Gables when he came here for a visit recently, T. F. Brasher admits that there have been quite a few changes made during the thirteen years he has been away from the Gables.

From Birmingham, Alabama, Mr. Brasher spent a week here recently visiting his son and daughter-in-law, Lt. and Mrs. F. P. Brasher, at 435 Avenue Giralda.

Accompanying him on the trip were Mr. and Mrs. J. Lewis Brasher Jr., and Sr., Jack Brasher and Miss Marlin Pounds; all of whom were making their first visit to the Gables.

"Things have been changed around so much that, when we first got into town, we started to head for South Miami to see my son," confessed Mr. Brasher.

During their guests' visit here, the Gables Brashers took them out several times on their newly purchased boat.

"As usual," explained Mrs. Brasher, "they really got blistered."

The guests are now back at home in Birmingham.

Spending this week with the Joseph L. Eggums, 110 Avenue Mendoza, are Mrs. Butler McCoy and Mrs. Richard Roberts from Atlanta, Georgia. Mrs. McCoy is Mrs. Eggum's aunt.

The Atlantans, who are making their first visit in the Gables, will return to their homes on Sunday.

Pan Am Couple Transferred Here From Colombia

Although the climate in her former home, Medellin, Colombia, seemed to her like "eternal Spring," Mrs. Richard Miles says there is still "nothing like being back in the U. S. A.," especially the Coral Gables section of the U. S. A.

Newcomers to the Gables, Mr. and Mrs. Miles were transferred here from Medellin, where Mr. Miles has been stationed for the past fifteen months as a co-pilot for Pan American Airways. They are now residing at 902 Salzedo Street.

According to Mrs. Miles, what appeals to her most in our town is the shopping center.

"The stores are so concentrated that shopping is a pleasure here," she commented.

Fredenbergers Return Home From Motor Tour

"Coral Gables is all right with me!" declared nine year old Billy Fredenberger, when asked by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Fredenberger of 526 Avenue Madiera, his opinion of the beauties of the central part of Florida, on their return from a motor trip.

However his sister Shirley Ann, barely in her teens, said that the stop at Silver Springs, "topped their trip."

"It was a nice top, that visit to Ocala and the springs," Mrs. Fredenberger admitted, "and although we had a perfect three weeks in the North, grand weather, and visits with all of our old friends and relatives, yet we were all glad to be back in the Gables."

The four Fredenbergers visited Kinsfolk in Louisville, Kentucky and Charlotte, N. C., taking their second trip back to Kentucky in two years.

YMHA, Carls Thrashed by Delta, Elks

Another pair of top-sided scores went into the Youth Center Men's Softball league records to the credit of Delta Airlines and the Coral Gables Elks last night. Delta swamped Miami Y.M.H.A., 20 to 3, in an abbreviated opening game, while the Elks helped themselves into a tie for fourth place in the standings by thumping Carls Liquors 10 to 2 in the regulation afterpiece.

Delta manufactured the assault on Y.M.H.A.'s Phil Kaplan with only nine hits, as many errors and eight walks. They got off to a three-run lead in the top of the first which the Hebrew club matched in their half of the frame. But from there on the Miamians couldn't keep in step.

The Elks had their day and the trooping of R.P.O.E. base-runners got a little dull when abetted by eight Carl misuses. Doug Preston and Bob Picard shared the pasting handed out by the Elks' 11 base knocks. Drew Healy's homer with a mate aboard in the fifth finished Preston, while Dury limited Carls to five hits that produced single tallies in the third and fifth frames.

Rained-out games from July 5 will be played tonight in the league, with Coral Park Market meeting the Coral Gables Elks in the opener and Coral Gables Elks Club playing Delta Airlines in the nightcap.

National Airlines has scheduled an exhibition game for the Youth Center diamond Saturday night against Southern Bell Telephone.

SCORECARD

By DON CUDDY SPORTS EDITOR

Aussie Visitor Spoils An Illusion

Did you know that in Australia the game of basketball was rated as a game for the girls until about five years ago and is just now being lifted out of the "exercise sport" category (such as riding might be considered in this country) and becoming quite a competitive activity?

That is one startling bit of information I happened upon in a chat with George Dutton of Sydney, who is in Coral Gables on a matter for the Australian immigration department. Try as I could I never came close to getting an admission that Yankee servicemen had changed the sports picture "down under" as they have elsewhere in the world.

Can't Sell Baseball Down Under

Take baseball, for example. Does our egotistic impression that we have sold our national pastime around the world stand up in Australia. Nope; the game is almost boring and probably will never "catch on" with the Aussies.

Well, surely, then, the Aussies took up American-brand football after watching our boys play the game. Wrong again. Australian football, being a much rougher game, appealed more to our fighting men stationed in Australia than the game they grew up with, and many Yankee converts to the modified manner of mayhem called rugby are willing to bear out that finding in this country today.

"Of course they didn't quite know how to get started with the game until the rules were explained—because the casual observer might be led to believe that there are no restrictions to the head-bumping and shin-cracking tactics employed," George observed.

Golf is More of a Team Sport

Our adopted game of golf is played under much the same rules down under, but the spirit of the game is not individual relaxation but team play. Individual sports have little standing outside of this country.

One partial exception to that statement is tennis; George keeps pretty well up on that sport during his roamings around the old globe because he went to school with Jack Bromwich, the Wimbledon singles finalist this year.

Scorecard's bones were rattled to the marrow with another candid observation by the visitor: "Hialeah Park would just about make a decent training-track for the Sydney race course . . ."

Cuban Bowling Junket Planned

Ten of the Playdium bowling regulars are planning to show their stuff in Havana this weekend against a picked team from the Cuban capital. The visit will be returned with an international match on the Tamiami Trail alleys July 31 and August 1.

Gables Sports Facilities are Reasonable

The Ponce de Leon Key Club has been distributing leaflets around town selling Gablettes on using their own municipally-operated recreation facilities. Few of the older citizens need to be told about the Biltmore, Granada and Venetian Pool facilities so the information is mostly for newcomers and the folks living on the rapidly-growing areas to the south and west of town.

But for everyone's enlightenment here is the information about four of the finest things about Coral Gables sports picture:

Coral Gables Biltmore Golf Course Fees: Daily Summer, $1.50; Daily Winter (Dec. 15 to April 15), $2.50; Annual resident, $100; for wife and each additional child under 21 years of age, $25 each; Annual non-resident, $150; for wife and each additional child under 21 years of age, $50 each; Special summer rates for play to November 30, 1948; single, $50; man and wife, $70; for each additional child under 21 years of age, $15. This is the finest 18-hole golf course in the southern states. Call 'Umps' Clark at telephone 4-0649 for other information or to make reservations.

Granada Golf Course Fees: Daily summer, $1; Daily winter (Dec. 15 to April 15), $1.50; Annual single, $50; for wife and each additional child under 21 years of age, $10. This is a fine 9-hole golf course and the fees are well within the budget of anyone who likes to play golf. Call the pro at telephone 4-9143.

Venetian Swimming Pool Rates: Children 5 to 11 years, $.09; Students, $.20; Resident rate, $.20; Service men, $.25; Adults, $.35; Lockers, $.25; Towels, $.10; Swim suits, $.15. Summer hours are: 9:30 a.m. to 9 p.m., week days; 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday and Sundays. This is an internationally famous swimming pool and the most beautiful in the country. Call John Rosasco at telephone 4-1801 for other information.

Salvadore Park: There are four clay tennis courts available for all ages, lighted for night play, and two all-weather asphalt tennis courts. Other facilities include handball courts, croquet and roue courts, shuffleboard, children's playgrounds and picnicking facilities. Call Leo Fullwood at telephone 4-9522 for information or reservations. All play facilities are free.

Football Days are Near Again

According to a report, the University of Miami is overlooking the best "work horse" halfback in South Florida Catholic football—a 180-pound six-footer named Bill Conine from St. Anthony's of Fort Lauderdale. This lad isn't touted to be a brilliant breakout mail-foter, nor has he rated much attention from the press before. But he did play every minute of every game last season for St. Anthony; did all the kicking, passing, most of the running and half of the tackling besides throwing in more than his share of blocking for good measure.

When I asked around the U of M football factory about this prospect the story was that several boys from St. Anthony came down for try-outs and all were cut from the spring practice squad. But it seems like a player who stood out like a light house on a team that won only one game in 10 might have something special to offer the Hurricanes.

Gold is Where You Find It

You seldom hear of potential All-Americans being passed up by any school; but the cast-off who came back to wreck his old team is an old story in baseball. So is the one about the prospector who couldn't see much use bothering with platinum because he was panning for gold. One day, perhaps not here, the most embarrassing football predicament I can think of will happen—as a result of too-hasty trimming of gridiron trial squads.

Seeds Post Turned Back By Minick

All that is left for Coral Gables Post 98 American Legion baseball team to do to claim the district championship was continue their present brand of baseball. Last night at Miami Field they turned back Harvey Seeds Post 29, the last of the other three teams that will be in the tournament that opens at Flamingo Park July 19, by a 2 to 0 count.

Angelo Mandis crossed the plate twice, driven in by Johnny Ellis both times, to give pitcher Bob Minick a lead to work with. Coral Gables collected only three hits, the same number as Seeds Post, but Minick fanned 10 enemy batters and bore down in the clutch to hold his foe impotent.

A triple by catcher Jim Egler was the only Post 29 scoring threat. His blow came with one away in the fourth, but Minick struck out opposing hurler Paul Chery and Hancock popped up to leave Egler stranded.

Jim Hooker also came through with an extra base knock that shivered the center-field timbers, but failed to tag the keystone on his journey to third and was tagged out and given credit for a single.

The Legion team has one more game scheduled, with the Coral Gables Merchants Friday, before starting its quest for the championship.

Junior Circuit Dream Team Cops 11th Win Over Nats

ST. LOUIS—Supporters of the National League wondered today if the all-star game was worth it after their 11th defeat, 5 to 2, in 15 starts against the American League.

The "dream teams" battle through a net $93,447 into the players' pension fund. But yesterday, for the third straight year, the Nationals' fan-picked crew took a shellacking from the Americans.

This time it was a pitcher, New York's Vic Raschi, overlooked in the pre-game hitting hurrah, who lashed out a fourth inning single that shattered a 2-2 tie and iced the game for himself. Raschi delivered the blow with the bases packed.

It scored Ken Keltner and George McQuinn and put Birdie Tabetts on third, from where he scored a moment later on pinch-hitter Joe DiMaggio's long liner to left.

Raschi, the middle man in the American League's trio of hurlers, got the credit for the win. The most effective pitcher the Nationals faced was finisher Joe Coleman of the Philadelphia Athletics. He allowed only two base runners, both on walks, in the seventh and ninth innings.

The Nationals scored both their first lining runs off surprise starter Walt Masterson of the Washington Senators in the first inning. And they nicked him for five of their eight hits. Raschi yielded the other three but the Nationals couldn't score off the crafty Yankee sophomore.

Stan "The Man" Musial, St. Louis Cardinal outfielder and the Nationals' leading hitter with a hefty .403 average, proved his right to inclusion in the all-star circle. In the first inning he bashed a terrific homer to the roof of the right center field pavilion to drive in Richie Ashburn of Philadelphia with the Frick group's only runs.

But National hopes were short-lived. The Americans came back with single runs in the second and third before their three-run fourth. Detroit's Root Evers tied an all-star game record by blasting a homer to left on his very first appearance in the midsummer classic. His second inning wallop matched the mark set in the same park by the Boston Braves' Max West eight years ago.

Chicago's Johnny Schmitz, who was charged with all three of the Americans' runs in the fourth, was the losing pitcher. Starter Ralph Branca yielded the other two and Johnny Sain and Ewell Blackwell held the Americans runless the rest of the way.

POLICY CONFERENCES SET STAGE FOR RING CONTROVERSY ACTION

Athletic Board Holds Confab At City Hall

Athletic Commission Chairman C. R. Williams said today that his board has not acted arbitrarily "either as individuals or as a group" in regards to questions of the conduct of boxing at the Coral Gables Coliseum.

Several members of the commission were slated to confer with city officials at the city hall in a closed meeting late this morning on the matter of the athletic commission's policy now that boxing has temporarily folded in Coral Gables.

Williams made no comment on the possibility that Coral Gables Post 98 American Legion may ask the city commission to "revamp" the athletic commission. He stated that the athletic commission acted strictly according to the powers given it by the city commission and under the rules of the Florida Federation of Boxing Commissions in all matters pertaining to the operation of Coliseum fight shows.

The present controversy concerns the suspension of fighter Jesus LeMela. When the commission did not meet the request of Promoter W. H. Peoples to hold a special meeting to lift the fighter's suspension and approve his participation in the card scheduled for tonight at the Coliseum, Peoples announced he "would not operate boxing in Coral Gables under the existing circumstances."

260 To Olympics

NEW YORK—The five-ringed Olympic flag will be raised to flutter alongside the stars and stripes on the mammoth ocean liner S.S. America as it sails today carrying 260 of America's 341 athletes to the Olympic games in London. Reports said that $50,000 of the $500,000 expenses for the team were still lacking but that pledges would cover most of the deficit.

Jahn Rallies For Upset in Middle States

PHILADELPHIA—Another former conqueror of Coral Gables tennis youngster Laura Lou Jahn fell by the wayside Tuesday as the 15-year old continued to force her way past the top-drawer women players in the country.

This time it was Mrs. Burt Barandon of Haddonfield Club in the second round of the Middle States Women's championship tournament held at the Philadelphia Cricket Club. Mrs. Barandon bumped Laura Lou in straight sets in the finals of the Eastern Women's Clay court tournament in 1947, but found that a year's time made a tremendous change in the junior player as she bowed 7-9, 6-3, 6-2.

The harder-hitting Pennsylvanian claimed the first set on the strength of her well-placed service, but fell before steady playing in the next two sets.

Today Miss Jahn faces Kay Garriguez of Wilmington Country Club in the round of 16. Monday she turned back Emily Dorrance of the Merion Cricket Club, 6-1, 6-1.

Tourists Blasted By Tampa, 13-1

Miami's Tourists were still taking it on the chin for their fame of pitching talent in the Florida International league Wednesday, falling before second-Place Tampa for the 14th time this season. The Smokers left few doubts as they shelled the visitors 13 to 1.

Tampa's Charlie Cuellar held the Tourists to six hits and pitched scoreless ball after the first inning after Miami scored on a walk.

At Flamingo Park, Miami Beach was bumped out of fourth place by the 7 to 5 loss to St. Petersburg. The Saints, in a fiery of hitting power, tagged four Beach hurlers for 14 blows, including a homer and three doubles. The victory put the Saints one-half game ahead of the Flamingos.

Al Harum Top-Seeded Boys' Player

Al Harum, Jr., of Coral Gables moved into top ranking in South Florida boys tennis circles today by virtue of placing sixth in the Southern Lawn Tennis Association group which will compete in the National Junior Boys tournament at Kalamazoo, Mich., on August 2.

The surprise ranking came as a result of Harum's showing in the Southern tournament at Davidson, N.C., last month. Three Florida boys made the group of eight players who were bid to represent the South in the national tourney.

Eighteen juniors will represent the Southern association, but Coral Gables did not place an entry in this division, according to Eddie Herr of Miami Beach, who released the unofficial rankings. The SLTA rankings will be made in October depending upon how well the regional players do in the national tournament.

Leslie Ruthven of Fort Lauderdale, who held top South Florida boys ranking, has moved out of the district, Herr said, which places Harum in the top post.

The Southern Lawn Tennis Association contributes $25 toward player's expenses to the national tournament.

Simple Defeated In Mid-Dixie

SPARTANBURG, S. C. — Ed Simple, Jr., of Coral Gables moved to Ben Turner of Columbia, S. C., in the second round matches of the 16th annual Mid-Dixie tennis tournament Tuesday.

Simple came back to win the second set 6-1 after dropping the opener 3-6, but was bumped out of the tourney when Turner fired a 6-4 third set at him.

South Miami Playground Weekday Program Set Up

A six-hour per day, four-day a week recreation program schedule for the South Miami playground was announced today by Director Emory M. Kaspisky. The schedule which will be conducted through August 27, is divided into boys and girls' activities and available facilities in the South Miami area. Miss G. Reeves is the director of the girls' program.

Kaspisky, a 1947 graduate from the School of Education at the University of Miami, is one of the group of playground directors appointed to supervise recreation in the Greater Miami area by the Dade County Board of Public Instruction. He is a physical education instructor at Coconut Grove Junior high school during the school year.

Friday is omitted from the scheduled activity outline to make room for special events and tournaments in various competitive activities. Teen age social and square dancing is scheduled for Friday from 4 until 5 p.m., under the direction of Rod Nowowski, who is an instructor at the Coral Gables school.

Merchants Win Behind Whitten, 2-0

Norman "Chink" Whitten hurled the Coral Gables Merchants to a 2-0 shutout of Carl's Market nine in a twilight contest limited to five innings on the University Concourse diamond yesterday.

Shortstop Bill Callender's double in the second inning was the only hit Carl's could muster as Whitten fanned 10 and walked only one man. His best inning as well as the only time he was in trouble was the fourth—when he had to strike out four batters to retire the side. Dave McDonald fanned but made first when catcher Don Lannigan passed the ball. He stole second and went to third on another passed ball. Brazington drew the only free pass off Whitten and "Chink" was in trouble with men on second and third and none away. But he set the heavy middle of the batting order down swinging.

His two-bagger put the winning run in position. Lannigan took his place as a "courtesy runner" and came around the horn on Cuddy's ground ball. John Hardeman, who collected two hits and a walk in three trips, added the extra tally in the third, scoring from second on Tommy Fitzgerald's single to centerfield.

Coch Bob Downes set the next Merchants' practice for 5:30 p.m. on the University diamond. They face Coral Gables Post 98 American Legion in an exhibition game on the Ponce de Leon field Friday and play Caney Cubans at home Saturday.

The Legion has an interest in keeping Coral Gables sports program running and especially a pecuniary interest in boxing, from which it derives 2 1/2 percent of the net gate receipts through an auspices agreement. The fund goes toward the construction of the new American Legion home.

Under the auspices agreement Post 98 furnishes ushers for the boxing shows and was to have received 5 percent of the gate receipts. When W. H. Peoples received the Coliseum for boxing promotions the Legion voluntarily cut its share of the gate receipts in half.
