

GEN. CHIANG TO QUIT IN BID FOR RED PEACE

HISTORIC DECISION SLATED TO BE REVEALED IN NEW YEAR'S STATEMENT

NANKING, Dec. 31. (UP)—Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek bids for peace with the Chinese Communists tonight in a history-making New Year's statement.

China's Nationalist leader for the past 24 years did not use the word "resignation" in his statement, but he indicated clearly that he would be willing to step down and perhaps to leave the country if an honorable negotiated peace could be obtained with the Communists.

But he warned that if the Communists are "not sincerely desirous of peace" then the Nationalist government, "with no other alternative, will fight them to the finish."

Reno Quake Spasms Taper As Chance Wheels Spin

RENO, Nev., Dec. 31. (UP)—Reno's earthquake spasms tapered off today after throwing seismograph needles off their tracks but failing to stop the city's whirling roulette wheels.

Seismologist Vincent Gianella of the University of Nevada said fewer tremors were shaking the city. Each new shock was weaker than the preceding one.

On Wednesday the seismograph recorded a "severe" jolt and then shivered over its paper as 50 more shocks rattled the town during the day.

No major damage was reported but some of the timorous among the divorce center's 30,000 citizens fled town, jamming transportation for a short time Wednesday.

Truman to Ask Tax Hike Of $3.5 Billion in Message

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31. (UP)—President Truman is expected to ask the new Democratic Congress to boost taxes by some $3,500,000,000.

The chief executive reportedly will tell the legislators in his budget message that unless the increases are made, the government will go in the red during the fiscal year beginning July 1. The message will be sent to Congress next week or the week after.

Budget Bureau officials said privately that present estimates show a spending total of about $41,500,000,000 for fiscal 1950. Cold war items—national defense and foreign aid—are the largest on the list.

The spending total, under a new accounting procedure announced last week, does not include the money the government expects to return to taxpayers for overpayment of withholding taxes and other refunds. Under that system the current spending figure would be about $39,474,000,000 instead of $42,203,000,000.

Repudiated 80th Congress Meets for Final Session

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31. (UP)—The Republican 80th Congress which President Truman called the worst in history convened at noon today for its last session.

Repudiated in the November elections, the GOP-controlled Senate and House had only a few minor items of business and a final round of oratory to dispose of before quitting for good.

The new 81st Congress convenes at noon Monday, Jan. 3, with the Democrats in control of both houses.

Today's meeting was fixed last summer in the resolution which recessed the special session called by President Truman after the national conventions.

The Republicans' last hours of political control were marred by an intra-party move to push Sen. Robert A. Taft out of the GOP driver's seat.

Israeli Report New Victories In Advance on Negev

TEL AVIV, Dec. 21. (UP)—The Israeli government reported sweeping victories in the Negev today and promised to consider Sunday a United Nations security council order to cease fire.

An official spokesman said the Israeli army had captured Auja and Bir Aslug in the border area, routing their Egyptian garrisons, and had taken hundreds of prisoners.

The spokesman confirmed the arrival here of the security council's order to stop the fighting and withdraw the troops to the old truce lines. While addressed to both Israel and Egypt, the order applied primarily to the Jews since they were the gainers.

The cabinet will take up the UN order at a regular meeting Sunday, the spokesman said. He added he did not believe any emergency meeting would be called before then.

Hike in Postal Rates Effective at Midnight

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31. (UP)—Postal rates are going up at midnight tonight on practically everything but first class mail and the penny postcard.

The biggest change, so far as the average post office customer is concerned, is an increase in air mail rates.

Air mail postage goes up from five to six cents an ounce on letters and small parcels weighing up to eight ounces. Packages weighing more than eight ounces will continue subject to the air parcel post zone rates which went into effect last September.

In addition, the post office is introducing a new air postcard, which will cost four cents.

BRANNING'S DEATH RULED AN ACCIDENT

Inquest is Held In Homestead On Shooting

A coroner's jury, meeting in Homestead, yesterday labeled as accidental the December 17 fatal shooting of Lewis Branning, Coral Gables First National Bank employe.

Branning was instantly killed when a bullet from a .22 caliber pistol penetrated his skull between the eyes when he reached to take it down from a shelf in his home.

As there was no witnesses to the accident, Chief Criminal Deputy Claude High of the sheriff's department requested that an inquest be held to determine the cause of death.

The inquest, yesterday, was conducted by Justice of the Peace Vernon Turner of Homestead.

The 43-year-old bank employe's wife testified that he reached for the gun to unload it to prevent any possibility of accident should his young son attempt to play with it.

Immediately after the accident Branning was rushed to James Archer Hospital in Homestead where he was pronounced dead on arrival. The body was later removed to Jackson Memorial Hospital for an autopsy.

Planes Continue Hunt for Missing Passenger Plane

Fifty military and private planes took off into rough, windy weather today to continue the hunt for a missing Puerto Rico to New York plane which vanished over the Caribbean early Tuesday.

The Coast Guard control station which coordinates the planes said the search would continue with "the same intensity." Bad weather yesterday limited the number of planes in the air to 30 in the third day of the unsuccessful hunt.

The DC-3 plane disappeared after sending out a feeble radio message reporting its position. Thirty persons were aboard, returning to New York after spending Christmas on the island.

IMPORTER HELD IN SMUGGLING OF $50,000 IN DRUGS

A New York importer was in jail today charged with smuggling after customs officials took more than $50,000 worth of drugs from his person at the Miami International Airport yesterday.

The drugs, two pounds of cocaine, heroin and opium, were strapped to the waist of Raul H. Jimenez, Inspector Henry C. Griffin said.

Jimenez said Jimenez, a native Puerto Rican, had lived in New York since 1920.

Agent H. G. Hopkins said he had been in Peru since November, ostensibly engaged in trade negotiations.

NEW YEAR'S SCANTY GARB MAY PROVE INADEQUATE

If little Happy New Year plans on arriving in Coral Gables tonight in his traditional garb of a piece of satin ribbon with the numerals 1949, he'd better be prepared to do a little shivering.

The weatherman is all set to give him a cool reception with no promise of any warmer weather until Saturday afternoon for the Bowl game. He says the mercury will drop below 45 degrees in Coral Gables this evening, but that he might kick it up around 60 for tomorrow afternoon's kick-off.

Yep, package stores remain open until 10 p.m. this evening.

First Baby To Receive Many Gifts

Riviera-Times Seeking News Of Newcomer

Who will be the first born in 1949?

That question was posed today as the Riviera-Times announced details of its second annual Baby Derby, and listed a galaxy of gifts for the first newcomer of the New Year and its mother.

Here are the rules for the 1949 Baby Derby:

1. The parents of the baby must be residents living within the corporate limits of the city of Coral Gables, or if outside those limits must be subscribers to the Riviera-Times.

2. Each baby reported must be accompanied by the following information: Name and address of parents, place and time of birth and name of attending physician.

3. Announcement of the winning baby will be made in the January 3 issue of the Riviera-Times if a birth is recorded before that time or in the first issue after a report is made and verified.

4. Persons knowing of a baby being born after midnight tonight should notify the Riviera-Times society editor before noon on Monday.

1. A hand-carved birthday candle to be burned on each birthday for the first 16 years and a pair of formal, scented candles to the parents from The Candle Studio, 2343 Salzedo Street.

2. A crisp, new ten dollar bill from the Riviera-Times.

3. Four weeks free diaper service. (Please turn to Page Three)

2 Negroes Admit Cracking Six Safes in Area

Two of four Negroes, who engaged in a gun battle with Coral Gables police recently, have confessed to six safe robberies in the Miami area which netted them $7,350, Miami Detective Chief James O. Barker reported today.

Two of the Negroes, Charlie Hughes and Leroy Wright, were captured by Coral Gables police when they attempted to rob Procter-U Jalousie Co., 4525 Ponce de Leon Boulevard. Wright was shot in the exchange of bullets.

Two of the Negroes, Isaac Smith and Henry Wilcox, escaped and are being sought by peace officers in Florida and Georgia.

Barker said that Detectives Tom Butler and Joe Teller obtained the confessions from the two Negroes while they were being held in the Coral Gables jail. The detectives were tipped on the safe robberies by Det. Lieut. A. M. Bishop of Coral Gables who first learned of them when questioning the prisoners.

The two Negroes admitted robbing the safe of the Tidewater Lumber Company, 3127 Douglas Road of $200; W. R. Robbins and Sons Roofing Company, 1401 NW 20th Street of $350; Premium Beverages Inc., 1515 NW 22nd Street, $3,600; Ralston Purina Co., 1026 NW 21st Terrace, $1,800; Fred Howland Contractors, 1451 NW 20th Street, $1,600 and George E. Bunnell, Inc., 15151 West Dixie Highway, $300.

Glitter (and Football, Too!) On Menu for Bowl Tilt

By DON CUDDY
Riviera-Times Sports Editor

All the traditional glitter of floats, glamor of parades and spectacle of minor sports attractions peel down to the 15th annual football classic between the universities of Georgia and Texas at the Orange Bowl tomorrow afternoon.

Everybody knows who is going to win the game except the gridders from the Lone Star State—and even they aren't sure they have the staying power to be out in front at the final whistle.

As the two teams undefeated in previous bowl appearances open their bids at 2:15 p.m. both will be without the men who did the most to bring them here. Texas Coach Blair Cherry's starting lineup does not include Fullback Ray Borneman, who was the Southwestern Conference's leading ball carrier, nor halfback Randall Clay, who ranked second in the Steers' ground-gaining tactics over the regular season.

Wally Butts, who ruled out playing any other Southeastern Conference team to challenge his Bulldogs' championship which brought them the bowl bid, lists only the lineup he will use in the event Georgia receives the opening kickoff. Missing from that combination is All-American Johnny Rauch, the nation's fourth-ranking forward passer, and Joe Geri, the hard-running ground-gaining leader of the SEC.

The game tomorrow is a delayed meeting of the two teams that should have developed seven years ago. It was then that Texas' terrific 1941 team rejected a bid to oppose Georgia (Please turn to Page Three)

CLARK ESTATE SELLER WINS SALES TROPHY

NEW YORK, Dec. 31 — The Joseph P. Day Memorial Trophy for the outstanding "Deal of the Year" was awarded today to Stephen A. McDonald, Vice President in charge of Out-of-Town Auction Department by Bernard P. Day, president, following a meeting last week of the directors of the Day Company.

This trophy was originally presented to the late Joseph P. Day by the members of the organization upon the occasion of the celebration of the 25th Anniversary of the founding of the firm, which is now entering upon its fifty-fourth year.

Police said today that they felt that nothing could be gained by (Please turn to Page Three)

McBride Gets Top Billing In Post Article on Cleveland

Arthur McBride, sportsman and owner of extensive real estate holdings in Coral Gables is recognized in the current issue of the Saturday Evening Post as one of the up and coming leaders of the city of Cleveland.

In an article on the Ohio metropolis by Mary Ellen and Frank Murphy, the owner of the Cleveland Browns is called one of the very few young leaders "coming up."

"(Cleveland)", the writers point out, "is a town of powerful men in their seventies and eighties; a lot of old leaders dying off and a very few young ones coming up."

In describing the "up-and-coming" ones, the Saturday Evening Post comments, "Others prefer to think of T. Arthur McBride, a

CLUBS PLAN GALA EVENING FOR GUESTS

Coral Gables polished the official key to the city today as its citizens prepared to give a rousing welcome to a youngster who holds the community's future in his newborn hands—A.D. 1949.

While literally thousands of Gableites prepared to join the trek to Miami where 250,000 persons are expected to view the King Orange Jamboree parade, others were readying festive apparel to ring in the New Year at gala parties in the city's three major private clubs, at home celebrations and QUEEN CORINE in nightclubs and restaurants across the boundary lines.

Capacity crowds were expected to jam the Country Club of Coral Gables, the Riviera Country Club and the Elks Club where dinner dances have been slated to climax the celebration.

Package stores, already doing a brisk business, were allowed two extra hours of grace as the city extended the official closing time until 10 p.m.

City buses planned to operate on a stepped-up schedule from 4 p.m. on, to take parade-goers to Miami on 10-minute intervals. At 6:30 p.m., the Miami terminal will be shifted to the southeast corner of Miami Avenue and SE First Street for the rest of the day. The expedited schedule will be maintained to return residents to the Gables after the parade according to the demand.

Gables Float in Parade
Employing the theme "The Land of Make Believe" the monster New Year's parade will feature 42 floats, 30 bands and a dozen other units. The Coral Gables float has been assigned the 14th position in the parade and will be the sixth float to be seen. It follows directly behind the University of Texas float.

The young ladies who will ride on the Gables float will be taken to Miami in a police car under the direction of Capt. Lou Reeve, leaving the police station at 5 p.m. They will be garbed in evening dresses.

Lieut. Floyd P. Brasher, head of the Gables police traffic division, today appealed to motorists to exercise extreme caution in driving this evening, both to and from the parade and before and after the year-end celebrations.

"You can't improve much on the old saying, 'If you drive don't drink. If you drink, don't drive,'" he commented.

And of course, no Coral Gables New Year's story would be complete without mentioning the fact that Ponce de Leon High School's own Corine Gustafson will reign over the Bowl festivities as queen of them all.

"GOD" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world on Sunday, January 2.

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "O Lord, thou hast searched me, and known me. . . . Whether shall I go from thy spirit? or whether shall I flee from thy presence? . . . If I take the wings of the morning, and dwell in the uttermost parts of the sea; Even there shall thy hand lead me, and thy right hand shall hold me" (Psalms 139:1, 7, 9, 10).

OUR TOWN

Happy New Year

By Jim Moore

Anno Domini 1949!
What will it mean to you, to me, to our town?

Will it bring a continuation of our post-war prosperity, with more homes, apartments and business buildings going up as newcomers seek the beauty and the climate that is ours?
Will it mean busy cash registers, fat pay envelopes and more luxuries and comforts in your home and mine?

Or could it possibly bring a tightening of the belt, a reluctance to part with saved cash, a let-down in building and vacant stores and for rent sales?

In uncertain times like these we peer eagerly into the future, try to pierce the veil. But the days ahead remain obscured by something far more potent than an iron curtain.

The year 1949 could mean that we will hear again the clarion call of the bugle, the tread of marching feet and the rumble of the guns of war. And if we do hear those sounds we must also expect to hear the anguished cries of the wounded and the wails and sobs of those who mourn for their dead.

But on the other hand, it can mean that you and I and our fellowmen have solved the riddle of lasting peace. That somehow, in our muddling way, we have discovered the secret of living in harmony with our neighbors, not only in Coral Gables but throughout the world.

What will 1949 bring? A mere weaver of words like myself could never venture to tell you. Analysts, pollsters, savants and those who gaze at the stars and into crystal balls may profess to be able to give you an inkling. But in actuality we have no Nostredamus who can write upon the pages of the calendar an accurate chronicle of the things to come.

Prosperity or panic—war or peace? By our actions we bring them about, yes. But despite that who can tell today what the morrow will bring?

Being a born optimist, I cannot help but face each new year with a deep-seated feeling that it will be better than the one just chalked off. I believe that man, in spite of himself, must learn something from the passing years to better the ones ahead.

But I am not a seer—just a writer. Some may challenge that.
So when we bid 1948 a farewell as the bells ring out at midnight, I can but wish for you and yours, the very happiest kind of a New Year.

Anno Domini 1949!

Smith is the $65,000-a-year president of the National Association of Electric Companies. He is the highest paid of 1,250 registered lobbyists in the capital. He and his organization have been attacked in Congress as tools of the power trust.

In view of moves by President Truman and the Justice Department to plug loopholes they say exist in the lobby law, Smith was asked in an interview to tell how he operates. He agreed.

"Nothing up my sleeve," he said. "I live in a goldfish bowl."
Little Direct Lobbying
Puffing on a two-for-a-quarter cigar, Smith began by saying he spends only a very small part of his time in lobbying. He spends most of it, he said, in keeping member utility firms up to date on what is going on in Washington and in suggesting what they ought to do about it.

Smith's association occupies a suite of offices in one of Washington's newest business buildings. The furnishings are modest. Tan carpeting covers each office from baseboard to baseboard.

"Our operations are highly decentralized," Smith said. "We leave it to the company or any group of companies affected by legislation to take care of their interests."
"I figure that about 90 per cent of the work of influencing legislation is done by member companies affected. They are the ones who contact members of Congress from their states because they know them better and know conditions better."

He said that on occasion officials of a member company ask him to see a particular Congressman on their behalf.
"But I know very few members of Congress personally," Smith added. "I don't make an effort to know them."
For that reason, he said, he does not entertain Congressmen.

"Of course," he went on, "no doubt officials of individual companies might entertain a member or even an entire state delegation in Congress. But so far as I know there is no carousing, no high-life. We wouldn't dare indulge in such practices."
He said he spent less than two per cent of his time on Capitol Hill this last year. His lobbying efforts, he added, have been confined to explanations of the utility side of an issue.

No Money Direct
Smith said that any idea that money is passed in an effort to influence legislation is "plain rot." It's possible, however, that some utility executives—as individuals—have contributed to certain Congressional campaign funds, he said.

"My job's like that of a football coach," he said. "My team happens to be scattered all over the country. But the team does the work."
His team didn't rack up a perfect score in the last session of Congress, he said, but it didn't do too bad, either.

"We didn't succeed in getting a single piece of legislation passed," Smith said. With a smile, he added:
"But we did manage to win some cuts in appropriations for certain public power projects we felt were unfair or competitive."

REMINISCING

By TRACY HOLLINGSWORTH

While the Miami city officials and others have been trying to locate a new Florida East Coast railroad station, anywhere from 82nd Street to 19th Street, the FEC itself, just recently completed a handsome new station in South Miami, and without all the fuss and bother the necessity is giving Miami.

One feature of the new South Miami station is that it is painted white. It is just north of the old station, and is a credit to the town as well as the railroad.

When Henry Flagler started his railroad, he must have had a peculiar "paint" complex. All his railroad cars, both passenger and freight were painted a sickly yellow. Even the stations were painted yellow, and he would probably have painted the engines yellow if such was possible. The bilious effect upon a person approaching an FEC station is most noticeable.

We hope that when Miami does get a new station, its color scheme will be anything but yellow.

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—Dan Dailey, currently acting the parent of a child movie star, may be coddling one along in his own nursery.

The Dailey sprout, at 15 months, sings, dances and beats on a drum, and it looks to be only a matter of time until Pop retires and Dan, Jr., takes over.

That would be okay with Dailey. He's doing more acting and less dancing in 20th Century-Fox's "You're My Everything"; people are talking about his chances for an Academy Award nomination, and it looks as though there's room for another song-and-dance man in the house.

"I'm not going to make a movie star—or anything else—out of him," Dailey said. "If he goes in the movies, it's all right with me. The business hasn't been so bad to me."

His own father couldn't see it for a career, Dailey admitted. Father Dailey ran a hotel in New Orleans that hosted a lot of carnival and burlesque troupes. He looked stiffly on their antics and decided show business was not for his boy.

Started Early
But Dailey was dancing around the play-pen when he was two, and his sister was singing professionally when she was five.

"Now she works for a bank," he said. "My brother's in the frozen food business. I'm the black sheep."

Dailey was working with about 15 babies and an equal number of dolls in a hospital scene where he gets the first glimpse of his future movie star child. Each baby can work only 30 seconds at a time, which makes it hard to put out an Academy Award performance.

"They get everything all set, the actors in place, the cameras turning," Dailey said. "Then they rush the baby in, switch on the lights and you start acting like mad. The nurse keeps a stop watch and at 30 seconds you could be giving the performance of the century, but she busts in and grabs the baby away."

The nation's only acting cow has turned out to be a Bing Crosby fan just like anybody.
The cow, Blackie, excels at standing still and looking contented. For that she gets $10 a day, plus hay.

Her trainers said she gave one of her most expressive performances in Paramount's "Top o' the Morning" when it came to standing still and looking contentedly at Crosby.
When it came to moving away, however, she was excelling at standing still.

Her trainers inspected their shoelaces in embarrassment. This, they let on, had never happened in Blackie's eight years as an actor. Always tractable, they assured director David Miller. Always reliable. Quick to learn and obey.

They pointed out tentatively that dairymen sometimes inspired their herds to super-normal milk production by tuning in Crosby warming up a few boo-boos. His famous groans, as dairymen have proved, have a hypnotic effect on cows.

Refusés to Budge
In the scene, Crosby, an American insurance investigator posing as an artist during a visit to Ireland, set up an easel in a field supposed to be in hailing distance of Blarney Castle. Blackie, munching contentedly beside him, watched him try to paint a picture.

Then she was supposed to saunter away. Her trainers cajoled, threatened, begged. They looped a wire around her horns and pulled. A handler hid in the bushes and yelled "boo." Blackie hardly turned her head.

They scattered choice tidbits of food along the route. Blackie gulped the first one, literally chewed up the scenery. Finally Crosby started off in the same direction.
"We'll have to get an udder cow," he said.
Maybe Blackie was chasing him, but she followed.

Grave Digging Lags
PORTLAND, Ore. (UP)—A lull in the grave digging business prompted Robert C. Bowen, 24, to take up shop-lifting, he told police. Bowen and his 17-year-old brother were charged with the theft in a chain store of 33 cents worth of cheese and 49 cents worth of canned meat. Bowen said he was discharged as a grave digger because "there's been a lull."

Death Repeats
ABILENE, Kan. (UP)—Death followed a tight pattern for father and son. Ray Teare, young farmer, died of a heart attack in his car, parked on an Abilene street. It was 17 years after the death of his father, who also suffered a fatal heart attack in a car parked almost at the same spot.

AROUND COURTHOUSE CORRIDORS

By ARTHUR PEAVY
Riviera-Times Staff Writer

As the New Year comes in both Coral Gables and Miami Beach start off with brand new, untried county commissioners, Jesse Yarborough, who resides in the southwest section and represents the Coral Gables area and Louis F. "Red" Snedigar, city councilman of Miami Beach.

Charles H. Crandon, who will be succeeded by Yarborough, terminated 20 years as a county commissioner and did not seek reelection. Cleary was defeated in the primary by Snedigar.
At the organization meeting of the commission, which may be held during the week of January 3, Commissioner Hugh Peavy will take over the chairmanship of the commission.

The two new members of the commission may expect little from the other three members in the way of chairmanships of various committees, as it has been understood that the "heavy" jobs will go to the older members. Red and Jesse may get the headaches inherited if they become chairmen of the committees which handle mosquito control, garbage and waste, and zoning.

The death this week of Richard "Chubby" Oelkers, member of the state legislature caused much speculation in the courthouse as to his successor.
Attorneys said that the governor will call a special election under the general election laws, which may mean that the Republicans may get another shot at the legislative post. Duncan Held, of Coral Gables, was about the strongest contender the Republicans advanced in the primaries and general election this year and may again be in the running.

It is safe to say that the two Miami dailies will take a leading part in the race, as they most likely will have candidates and must keep the interest more than luke warm to turn out the votes for a special election.

The Dobbs House, which has held an exclusive hold on the restaurant concession at Miami's International Airport at Thirtieth Street, is on the way out.
The county port authority has signed new leases with Dobbs limiting their benefits and providing that the lease is terminated when the new terminal building is constructed.

This may not be in the too distant future as Port Director A. B. Curry, and Attorney J. Mark Wilcox are working hard in the terminal matter which is slowed up by the inability at this time of the county to remove the Seaboard tracks and terminals from the center of the airport.

As soon as the tracks are removed a hotel operating company stands ready to build a new terminal on LeJeune Road and in return will get the hotel concessions. Hotel facilities will be included in the new terminal building. The county may then operate the restaurant and bar concession.
Dobbs already has lost some business. Eastern Air Line operates its own food concession in its new temporary passenger station and Pan American Airways received permission from the county to operate its own bar, which is one of the finest in the county.

Taking over Jackson Memorial Hospital from the city of Miami on January 1, the county commissioners soon may find themselves operating or controlling the emergency ambulance service in Miami and other parts of the county.
Nineteen funeral homes, operating 42 ambulances are seeking this service while a 20th director is seeking to continue his contract with the county. It is whipping up into a fine feud with good points offered by both groups. The commissioners this week postponed a decision until the next regular meeting when Commissioner Preston B. Bird, chairman of the hospital and welfare committee will be present.

Bulb Snatchers Warned
LARAMIE, Wyo. (UP)—C. B. Jensen, superintendent of the University of Wyoming grounds, ran onto a different kind of thief. In the campus newspaper, Jensen warned "female bulb-hunters" to beware. Jensen had found gladiola beds stripped of newly-planted bulbs, with deep, high-heeled, female foot prints in their stead.

Apologies, Anyway
HOUSTON, Tex. (UP)—A young hold-up man pocketed $110 from the cash register in a store. Then he ripped the telephone receiver from the wall, "I hate to do this," he explained to the clerk, "but I've got a sick wife."

Whispering Honk Invented
LONDON (UP)—A "whispering" motor horn invented in Britain was demonstrated for the first time at a motor show in London. The horn whispers at close range but is audible at a distance.

UP AND DOWN BROADWAY

NEW YORK (UP)—In a career as an entertainer that began when he was a child and has embraced all aspects of show business, Frank Fay thought he had experienced just about everything.

Something new happened to him in a Springfield, Mass., performance in the play "Harvey."

It was during that quiet, attention - holding scene where the friendly inebriate, Elwood P. Dowd, played by Fay, explains something of his philosophy of life and his association with the six-foot-two invisible white rabbit, Harvey.

All was proceeding smoothly when Dowd and his co-players suddenly noticed a large and tough-looking cat saunter onstage from the wings. The animal walked across with complete poise and stopped at the feet of the seated Fay.

The cat sat on its haunches, looking out at the audience, switching its tail against Fay's trouser leg while the star continued his speech. When Fay finished and rose it wandered offstage and escaped into an alley through the open stage door.

Fay found time to ad lib an aside to the other players that broke them up for a moment. "My," he whispered, "how Harvey has shrunk."

Sidney Kinfalet is a painstaking playwright. For about a year now he has spent almost as much time in a precinct police station as the desk sergeant. All in the interest of drama.

The result of this intensive research is "Detective Story," which Leland Hayward, producer, has just bought for early spring production. The play is no mere thriller, but a serious study of the work of the city's detectives.

Hayward, incidentally is the producer who hasn't had a flop (knock wood). His first success was "A Bell for Adano." He followed that with "State of the Union." Then came "Mister Roberts," which will be a year old next February and is still the show most in demand.

Just a few weeks ago Hayward, as a co-producer with the Playwrights Company, came through with Maxwell Anderson's "Anne of the Thousand Days," another smash. If he gets the Kingsley script on before June 1, it will be his third tempting of the fates in the 1948-49 season. His second, again a co-producing instead of a solo venture, will be the forthcoming musical "South Pacific," by Oscar Hammerstein and Richard Rodgers.

LOBBYISTS

Editor's Note: The new Congress will be asked to investigate lobbyists and to tighten the lobby law. This is the last of three dispatches on lobbying, the capital's highest paid registered lobbyist tells how he works. The information was compiled by Sandor S. Klein, Frank Eleazer and Joseph L. Myler of the United Press Washington staff.

Telephones Used
Lobbyists still bank on the grass roots approach, however. It consists in getting people from a Congressman's district to telephone him. How's he going to know they were put up to it?

The bulk of latter day lobbying probably consists in buttonholing Congressman in corridors, open and above board office calls, testimony before Congressional committees, and the familiar methods of publicity agents.

The people who pay lobbyists' salaries and expense accounts are not as glib as they used to be. The late Howard Hopson, a utilities magnate, told a Senate committee that a $25,000-a-year lobbyist for eastern power interests was worth every dime he cost.

If he wanted the address and telephone number of a Congressman, Hopson testified, all he had to do was call his lobbyist. In five minutes the man would come up with the information, Hopson said.

The committee asked the lobbyist how he did it. It was simple, the man said. He had put out $150 for a Congressional directory, which had the addresses, and $10 for a social list, which had the telephone numbers.

Thirty minutes after the hearing ended, the lobbyist was looking for a new job.

The Marks, who formerly resided at 3624 N.W. 5 Street, have moved, with their eight-month-old daughter, Paulette, into a home at 1021 S.W. 73 Avenue. With their son, Howard, and daughters, Barbara and Nancy, the Morgans are now residing at 941 S.W. 73 Avenue.

C.W. Munsons Have Ohio House Guests

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Munson, of 239 Avenue Fluvia, have as their holiday guests, over the New Year, Mrs. Munson's sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. J. N. McKibben and daughter Zelma Ann of Youngstown, Ohio, who arrived Sunday.

The Ohioans, enjoying their first trip south, have been doing a lot of sightseeing, basking in the Florida sun, and swimming. Zelma Ann, who is a member of the Rainbow Assembly of Girls, attended the Christmas party given by the local group last night. Wednesday night she was a guest at the Cavaleon Tribune Staff dance at the Youth Center.

Mrs. Munson, the first president of the recently organized Newcomers Club, is interested in all of the Youth Center activities, child welfare project of the Newcomers Club. The Munsons have been residents for a little over a year, coming here from Youngstown.

Winters Elsewhere Help Sell Gables

Three former winters spent in various sections of the Miami area convinced Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lomas of Lowell, Massachusetts, that Coral Gables was the best place to live. Accordingly they have taken an apartment for the winter at 1115 Lisbon Street.

Mrs. Lomas attained publicity recently, in her home city newspaper, the Lowell Sun, for achieving first place in a sales contest among dealers in Spencer individually designed foundation garments. She has been an agent for the Spencer company for 22 years.

Holiday Guests

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Sutton of Chattanooga, Tennessee, are the holiday houseguests of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Marschal Rothe Jr., and daughter Janice Rothe of Avenue Salamanda.

On a first trip to Florida, the Suttons are thoroughly enjoying the many things to see. They will remain for the Orange Bowl game and leave the next day for their Tennessee home.

Mrs. Margaret June Wagner, and children, Ronny, 10, and Connie, 11, are new home owners at 820 Avenue Sorolla.

Miss Jane Williams receives the ring from her bridegroom, Don Kuhn, as the candid camera snaps the scene of their Christmas eve marriage in historic Merrick Manor. Miss Purvis Hostess To Ex-Classmate Current houseguest of Miss Connie Purvis, 4515 Santa Maria Street, is Miss Norma Barringer, a student at Duke University in Durham, North Carolina.

Connie and Norma are former classmates at Salem College in Winston Salem, North Carolina. Both girls will return to school this week-end, stopping off first however, to attend Governor-Elect Fuller Warren's inauguration in Tallahassee.

Guest of Flannerys

Mrs. Eloida Kehn of Chicago, Illinois, is a guest at the Towers Hotel, and frequently visits in the home of Dr. and Mrs. M. G. Flannery, 3701 Durango Street. Mrs. Flannery is a niece of Mrs. Kehn.

Driving some 3,000 miles in their own car, from their homes in South Dakota, Dr. Flannery's mother, Mrs. Maud Flannery, of Vermillion, and aunt, Mrs. L. H. Nollkamper, of Gregory, are house guests, for the winter, of the Flannerys, occupying the guest house. The three visitors from the far West plan to do some traveling about the state, visiting Key West and other points of interest.

Texans Buy Home

From Laredo, Texas, have come Mr. and Mrs. Luis I. Carreras and sons, Luis, 5, and Vincende, 3, to buy a home at 910 S.W. 72 Court. Mr. Carreras is a pharmacist.

Rites Unite Lynne Knauer, P. J. Gilmore

Of interest to their friends, both here and in Jacksonville, is the marriage of the former Mrs. Francis A. Knauer and Patrick Joseph Gilmore, prominent Gables builder, which took place at nine thirty o'clock this morning in the Church of the Little Flower.

The marriage vows were pledged before the Rev. Fr. Thomas Comber and a nuptial mass followed. Only members of the immediate families witnessed the ceremony after which the couple left on a honeymoon trip to Nassau.

For her marriage, Mrs. Gilmore wore a navy sheer with blue accessories. Her navy and white straw hat was trimmed in tiny starched white pique roses and she wore a corsage of Eucharist lilies. Earl Marx, of Jacksonville, gave his sister, who was the former Lynne Marx, in marriage.

Mrs. Cyril Haas was matron of honor. Her peacock blue silk shantung dress was complemented with black accessories and she wore an iris corsage.

Percy Gilmore was best man. The couple will reside in the Gables.

Strange Man is Revealed As Xmas-Bedecked Dummy

"There's a strange man in the living room!" exclaimed Major J. Taylor Phillips to his wife early Christmas morning, and he wasn't far from wrong.

That "man," it seems, turned out to be a dressmaker's form all dolled up in the Major's Christmas presents from his wife.

"I tried to get him to go for a ride Christmas Eve so I could fix up this surprise, but he wouldn't budge out of the house," Mrs. Phillips reported. "Therefore, I had to get up at six-thirty Christmas morning to dress that shapely little form."

According to the Gables matron, who resides at 43 Avenue Madeira, when she decided to give her husband a complete new outfit for Christmas, she searched around for a novel idea with which to present the gifts.

"Seeing a dressmaker's form in the hall closet, which belongs to my landlord, I decided to dress the thing up with the Major's new clothes," said Mrs. Phillips.

After padding the arms of the strange "man," the Gableite stuck a Santa Claus face on "him," and dressed "him" in a Panama hat, eco brown suit, white shirt, yellow, black and white tie, and new brown socks. This done, she placed a cane over the right arm of the stranger.

That's the way the Major found his special presents this year. "And was he surprised," commented his wife.

Butler Wins Sportswriters Golf at Riviera

Twenty golfers turned out to play in the first annual National Sports Writers Golf tournament sponsored by the Orange Bowl Committee at the Riviera Country Club yesterday. Rain and winds which swept the course throughout the blind bogie tournament did not hamper a better turnout than expected, according to Press Director Ben Hogan.

Guy D. Butler, sports editor of the Miami Daily News, took down the top prize with 44-44-88. His two aides, John McMullen and Bill Wallace, wound up one and two strokes behind respectively.

Writers here to cover the Orange Bowl game were given a breakfast at Hialeah Park earlier in the morning.

DELEGATE will be only an outside hope to win the $7,500 Dade Handicap at Tropical Park tomorrow morning but likes the distance and the company and figures to be in contention right up to the wire.

Crandall Jab Gets Syracuse Tie with U-M

A 19-year-old Syracuse University heavyweight named Marty Crandall delivered the right cross that was felt like a California earthquake throughout Coral Gables last night at the Coliseum.

That one punch put away the pride of the University of Miami, Art Saey, in 1:40 of the first round to give the Orangemen a 4-1 tie in the Orange Bowl boxing bouts.

Saey, former national intercollegiate boxing champion, was the same "sucker for a right" that cost him a berth on the U.S. Olympic team in Boston last June. He was moving in on the Golden Gloves champion of Newark, N.J., with his thunderous left hook that has chilled some 17 collegiate opponents when the Orangemen unfurled a right that may have written "finish" to a brilliant collegiate career.

Saey neither slumped nor collapsed but was driven to the canvas by the force of the blow and Referee Billy Petersen's count was unheard. Saey struggled gamely to his knees about the time the talk reached eight but the grade back was too steep. And the 2,619 patrons were made to realize that the invincible Saey could be stopped.

Up until that point the script was a carbon copy of many other Saey victories, with the 205-pound Art throwing left hooks into his foe, just about ready to name the time of the kill. But there Crandall must have remembered his book "larnin on the bout he said he was "waiting a year to fight." For as Saey dropped his left for a body shot Crandall came up with the K.O. punch the likes of which Hurricane fight followers never expected to see.

That knockout victory enabled Syracuse to even-up a 4-3 deficit going into the finale.

WEST FLAGLER SET FOR OPENING MONDAY

THE GREYHOUNDS shove off from the box in a schooling race at West Flagler Kennel club. Wearing the No. 1 blanket is River Styx; No. 2—Mount Mahon Hebel; No. 3—Chief Cleaner; No. 4—Whim Wham; No. 5—Limit and No. 6—Eventful. The West Flagler track officials opens its season Monday night.

Profitable 85-Night Season Predicted for Local Track

The gates of West Flagler Kennel Club, the South's leading greyhound racing track in mutual plan and attendance, will swing open for a spectacular and colorful 85-night meeting Monday night.

Last year half a million fans saw the canines gallop at West Flagler and if schooling crowds are any indication a new attendance mark is certain to be marked up in the record books this year.

When the gates swing open Monday night, every nook and corner of the popular Flagler oval is expected to be jammed. Jacob Sher, president of the neighborhood track, is looking forward to a banner year and believes many new records will be set on the racing strip.

Schoolings were completed last night, with the veteran greyhounds each receiving three trial spins and the younger pups four training heats. Greyhounds which move over from the Biscayne dog track and have run at the North-side oval within the 10-day period required by the State Racing Commission are not required to school.

The West Flagler track will be decked out in all colors of the rainbow Monday. Workmen have given the track a complete going over, while the racing strip has been given its annual resurfacing.

Either Delegate or Irisen May Grab Dade 'Cap Payoff

By FRED CELESTE
Riviera-Times Handicapper

Buzfuz, Circus Clown, and Faultless figure to receive the greatest play from the betting gentry at Tropical Park tomorrow during the running of the $7,500 added Dade County Handicap. However the winner will probably be either Irisen or Delegate.

In a packed field of classy horses, anything can happen at six-furlongs. Buzfuz and Faultless, while better than average sprinters, prefer a little more distance. Circus Clown, though well suited at six-furlongs, is most unpredictable. Irisen on the other hand is not only capable of handling the sprint but is one of the most consistent thoroughbreds in America.

Delegate, the Maeda gelding, must also be rated as a powerful contender. Last spring, the Missouriian won the Coral Gables Handicap at a mile and a sixteenth, but he runs best in the sprints. He is a fast starter and figures to be in the contention from gate to wire.

Handicapper Francis Dunne has Buzfuz slated to carry top weight of 120 pounds. The Miami-owned performer will concede from one to twenty pounds to tomorrow's field. Among the well regarded horses, Circus Clown will tote 119 pounds, Delegate, 118; Agrarian U. 117; Phar Mon, 116; Irisen, 115; Erigeron, 114; Faultless, 114; King Midas, 114; Tavistock, 114; and Loriot, 113.

Director of Racing Jerry Brady has announced that there will be a 27 minute interval between races tomorrow morning instead of the usual half hour. The cut will mean a saving of 21 minutes and offers assurance that all can wit-
