Index to "The Bulletin" Collection
Compiled by Blair D. Conner
May, 2000

The Bulletin Collection is a collection of all The Bulletin newspapers available that are stored in the archives of the Greater North Miami Historical Society. The Bulletin was "The Miami Shores Chamber of Commerce's" advertising vehicle. It was a weekly paper that was delivered free to all the people in the Town of Miami Shores, Florida. Miami Shores in 1927 was located geographically where the City of North Miami is located today. The Miami Shores of today lies to the south of the original Miami Shores. Some of this geographical positioning and name changing is covered in the preserved copies of "The Bulletin" on file in the said archives. The collection begins in January 1927 and runs through March of 1928. Attached is an alphabetical Index of Surnames, businesses, churches, clubs, schools, and meetings that are found in the said newspapers. The Index was proofed several times, each time finding a few things that had to be changed. I would suppose that there may be a few more that I missed but "to err is human."

The first copy of this newspaper probably was published in January of 1927. In 1927 this part of Dade County was an almost rural area where the big Miami newspaper probably had limited circulation and was expensive advertisement for the local merchants. The great depression was in full swing and money was short, so the merchants put out their own advertising sheet that was free and was delivered to all. The paper was always loaded with clever advertising and neighborhood type copy. From what we know, being on an 8" X 10" mimeograph format did not hurt the advertising as the copy was short and to the point and in the consumers on Friday/payday.

The earliest known Edition of the paper is dated January 14th 1927. This January 14th copy refers to a (unavailable/lost) January 7th edition, which may be the first copy. I believe the paper was given birth in January 1927. The next issue on file is February 18th, 1927. There is an assumption that there were papers between January 14th and February 18th but there may not have been. The February 18th issue starts with a history of the Community including a quick look at the Indians and the earliest settler a Mr. Ihle. It is this historical "Point of Beginning" issue that leads me to believe that the paper had not been around very long. With this type of article they were at the starting point. The paper probably sputtered for a couple issues and then jump-starts in February. From this point, on the local history is serialized and it brings you along for a couple editions to the present time of the Editor more or less.

After a few issues the Editor, Edward F. Hill, moved out of state and "The Bulletin" became the undertaking of Don Henshaw and his wife Violet. Henshaw is also the local Congregational Church Minister. Henshaw improved the advertising with the help of his brother Earl and the three Henshaws kept the paper going. Some time in the late fall the Chamber of Commerce faltered and later collapsed. Reasons for this are unknown but with the great depression it was probably centered around money and the priority of its use as related to Chamber dues. Henshaw kept the paper going even after the Chamber folded. He was the epitome of public service to his community. He was a Boy Scout leader, civic leader and Minister. In addition, he and his wife were personally involved in all the civic projects. He was doing all he could

The date of the last copy in the file is March 30th 1928. By this date the Chamber of Commerce was defunct and had been so for about 3 or 4 months. In the copy dated January 27th, 1928 is an article dealing with a letter sent to Editor Henshaw. It was to Henshaw from the Fulford Chamber because, "The local C of C is not operative at the present time." There were other statements in earlier copies that indicated that the Chamber was not functional.

The March 30th copy may be the last copy. Henshaw gave no clue that it was the last. The last 3 or 4 copies prior to March 30th were very short on news and the quantity of advertising. I believe he shut the paper down at this time or shortly thereafter. I feel sure the paper was taking up a lot of his time and the Chamber of Commerce was dead. I am sure that just being the local minister gave him enough problems for a lifetime. I think it is apparent that he is the only Chamber member working and his personal time and resources are being pushed to the limit. I think that he came to the conclusion the if the merchants did not support the Chamber (themselves) then he had better things to do. I believe publication ended on March 30th or shortly thereafter.

There is a weekly column in the paper that I did not try to understand even after trying to read it several times. The column is written in a poor Irish phonetic dialect. There did not seem to be any local significant historical value. There were no names or business to any great extent but it was sort of philosophical advice to the community. It was too hard to read and so I leave it up to you to read it and make your own judgments and understandings about the "Letters from Michael "Marty" O'Toole." The weekly cartoon about "Jobless Jerry" was another mystery in the philosophical dialogue of that area. I believe the "Jobless Jerry" Cartoon and the O'Toole letters were the work of Earl Henshaw the brother of Don Henshaw. Earl Henshaw was the Scoutmaster of BSA Troop #42 in 1927 and when I was a Boy Scout in 1942 he was still the Scoutmaster of Troop #42. Below is the Index for quick use as a reference to life and times of 1927-28 Greater North Miami.
