Common Cause And Helplessness

Selma Rappaport, Sisterhood's President, has invited Mr. Pat Riley to speak about COMMON CAUSE and how it operates to help citizens to take an effective part in government. People who at one time felt helpless to do anything about what was happening around them in the political arena soon learned to become quite adept at responding with positive action with the help of COMMON CAUSE. Plan now to attend on Wednesday, November 28th at 8:00 P.M. in the Social Hall. $1.00 admission includes coffee and dessert. R.S.V.P.: Temple Office—667-5587.

Blood Drive Report

Beth Am's Blood Drive was a greater success than ever. A record 155 pints were collected in a quick moving, efficient manner. A party mood prevailed, with pleasant socializing and Brotherhood's good food. The men in the kitchen were great, as were the hostesses who guided the donors. We give special thanks to the many women on the Telephone Squad, without whom none of this would have been possible. Our congratulations to Doreen Marx, the Chairman of the Blood Donor Drive, who coordinated so masterfully.

Most important, some very sick people received fresh, clean blood. Our congregants really understood the term "Blood Medicine", and we thank them gratefully.

FROM THE RABBIS STUDY

THE DEEPER MEANING OF BEING A JEW

Abraham was not born of Jewish parents. What made him a Jew was the simple fact that he entered into a covenant (a contract, brit) with God. The Bible tells us that God promised Abraham the land of Canaan (Israel) and agreed to watch over Abraham. Abraham, for his part, promised to "walk in God's ways" (i.e., to follow God's laws) and to be a "blessing" to other nations (i.e., to mediate God's teachings to others).

A thousand years later, the Prophet Amos emphasizes the fact that God chose Israel (through Abraham) to be His "special treasure", but this did not mean Israel would receive special rewards. On the contrary, being chosen implied extra responsibility in following God's law closely, "For you only have I known intimately amongst the nations."

Moses tells us, in the Book of Leviticus, that God wants us to imitate Him in His holiness, i.e., to strive to be like Him with respect to His concern for the poor and disenfranchised. Much of the Torah (the first five Books of the Bible) gives us detailed laws requiring the Israelites to act in this noble and charitable fashion.

If we are to understand how the Jews have survived for 4,000 years and why they refused to convert to the often exotic majority religions of the nations in which they lived, we must know that they considered themselves to have a precious mission. They deeply believed that as God's chosen, they had a special responsibility not to melt into "the nations, ha-goyim". They believed it important to God that they maintain their religion undiluted by pagan and non-Jewish religions. Accordingly, they refused to adopt the customs of the peoples around them, however attractive and rewarding and pleasurable they were. They steadfastly maintained their own customs and ethical standards and view of man's purpose in the world.

One wonders how many Jews today are mindful of the deeper meaning of being a Jew. One wonders how many modern Jews understand that they are under the divine command to try to be "like God" and to be a "blessing" to those about them.

Surely ours is a heritage which does not permit us to imitate those who live by commonly accepted standards of morality. To the extent that we do so we cease to be Jews, and we betray the generations of Jews who suffered tragically but heroically before us.
