A. Randall Tiggett has been named Director of the Special Opportunities Grant in the Division of University Services and Continuing Education at Florida International University, the new state university in Miami.

The $49,528 grant was awarded to the University to determine the feasibility of establishing an educational center in the Model Cities area.

Formerly the Assistant Director for Model Cities Coordination in Dade County, Tiggett was recently awarded a certificate for completion of a course in Evaluation in the Model Cities Program.

From 1952-57, Tiggett was a public school teacher in Savannah, Georgia. In 1957 he began his career in social work as a probation officer in the Juvenile Domestic Relations Court in Savannah. From 1965-66, he served as project director of the Seven Hills Neighborhood Houses in Cincinnati. During 1966-68, he held the same position with the Roxbury Federation of Neighborhood Centers in Massachusetts. In 1968, he joined Economic Opportunity Coordinating Group, Inc., as the Director of Neighborhood Services, a position he held until joining the Model Cities Program in 1969 as Assistant Director for Community Organization.
