Dear Mr. Carson:

This is the first day for more than a week that I have been at the office. Absence from the city and an attack of ptomaine poisoning have kept me out of business.

Meanwhile, Judge Farris has been away and his office does not seem to know anything about anything. This is a confidential expression, of course, which may just as much reflect my personal feeling as it does actual conditions.

Very truly yours,

Pres. & Gen. Mngr.
