Mrs. J. M. Wilson,
Kissimmee, Fla.

Dear Madam:-

I saw account in the Tampa Morning Tribune of Jan. 13th of an interview you had had with a Mr. York with reference to getting some moving pictures of the Seminole Indians. In this connection, I had a friend that lived at Everglades for several years, and some time during last Spring he purchased a moving picture outfit, employed a photographer, and spent some two or three months in the wilds of the Everglades country, taking not only some splendid pictures of the Seminoles in their native haunts, but also of all other wild life. After completing the picture he took it to Boston and had it developed, stating that it made a wonderful picture, which he expected to show throughout the north during the Summer months, but I think his finances gave out, and he did not make a go of it - I do not think he even had the picture copyrighted.

I thought this might be of interest to you, and if so it might be possible for me to get him to send this reel to me, and it could be shown to you, then if it was what is wanted it might be possible for you to sell it at a price that would at least give the boy back what it cost him to make the picture.

If you are interested in this, will be glad to hear from you, and in turn I will take up with the owner, who is some place up in Georgia now.

Very respectfully,

L. D. Hingate
